Position of the Appellant:

The appellant argues in the Notice of Appeal that she disagrees with the ministry's decision because she needed some help with her rent.

Position of the ministry:

The ministry position is that the appellant received earned income in October 2016 that was in excess of her income assistance rate, therefore she is ineligible for income assistance for the month of December 2016.

Panel decision:

- The appellant is a single parent with two dependent children and under Schedule A EAR, is entitled to shelter allowance of $660.00; support allowance of $375.58; and a diet supplement of $35 for a total of $1,070.58 per month.
- The appellant included pay stubs with her monthly declaration report for October 2016 confirming earnings of $2,030.95 received in October 2016. After deducting the exemption of $400.00 as provided in s.3(6)(b) of Schedule B EAR, the appellant earned non-exemptible employment income of $1,630.95 in October 2-16.
- Under s.10(2) EAR, a family unit is not eligible for assistance if the net income of the family unit determined under Schedule B equals or exceeds the amount of income assistance determined under Schedule A for a family unit matching that family unit.

The appellant earned net income in October 2016 as determined under Schedule B EAR of $1,630.95 which is greater than the appellants' income assistance of $1,070.58 as determined under Schedule A EAR. Therefore, the Panel finds that the Ministry reasonably determined that the Appellant is not eligible for December 2016 income assistance under section 10(2), EAR because she had income in excess of her income assistance rate.

The Panel therefore confirms the Ministry decision. The Appellant is not successful on appeal.
