PRESENT: The Honourable Mr. Justice Scott

BETWEEN:

S. CUNARD & COMPANY LIMITED

Applicant

and

ATTORNEY GENERAL OF CANADA

Respondent

REASONS FOR JUDGMENT AND JUDGMENT

I. Introduction

[1] This is an application pursuant to section 18.1 of the Federal Courts Act, RCS, 1985, c F-7, by S. Cunard & Company Limited (the Applicant) for judicial review of a decision rendered on May 7, 2010, by Ms. Barbara Toole, Assistant Director – Audit Division (Minister's delegate), of the Canada Revenue Agency [CRA]. The decision under review denied the Applicant's request for a late filing of a Form T2057 under subsection 85(7.1) of the Income Tax Act, RSC, 1985, c 1 (5th supp) [the Act].

[2] For the following reasons, this application for judicial review is dismissed.

II. Facts

[3] On June 7, 2004, the Applicant entered into a purchase and sale agreement with 612482 NB Limited (NBL) for a twenty percent interest in Irving Oil, LLC in exchange for one hundred thousand preferred shares of NBL.

[4] The purchase and sale agreement provided that the Applicant and NBL would complete the transaction on a rollover basis under subsection 85(1) of the Act. The agreement further specified, in section 4, that the parties “jointly agree to file the required election within the time and in the manner prescribed for such filing by the Act.”

[5] The transaction was completed on June 7, 2004. However, the required form containing the election to process the transaction on a rollover basis was not filed with the CRA within the prescribed delay.

[6] On June 11, 2004, the directors of 612482 NB Limited passed a resolution to voluntarily dissolve the corporation. A Certificate of Dissolution was issued by the Province of New Brunswick on July 20, 2004.

[7] On June 2, 2009, the CRA proposed a reassessment of the Applicant since the T2057 election form had not been filed as required by the Act in order to complete a tax-deferred transaction under subsection 85(1). The transaction would therefore be reassessed at its fair market value, thereby creating a taxable capital gain for the Applicant.

[8] On July 1, 2009, the Applicant wrote a letter requesting the Minister of National Revenue to accept a late-filed election as permitted under subsection 85(7.1) of the Act and in the alternative under the fairness provisions of subsection 220(3.2) of the Act.

[9] On July 8, 2009, the Applicant filed a T2057 form, pursuant to subsection 85(7.1) of the Act, with the inclusion of $5,500.00 in penalty.

[10] The Minister's delegate advised the Applicant of her decision on May 7, 2010. She concluded that:

“After careful consideration of the facts of your request, please be advised that we are willing to accept your late filed s. 85 election dated July 06, 2009 between S. Cunard & Company Limited (Cunard) and 612482 NB Limited (NBL) pursuant to the provisions of ss. 85(7.1), on the condition that it is established that NBL has the legal capacity to execute this election notwithstanding that the Certificate of Dissolution issued regarding NBL by the Province of New Brunswick dated July 20, 2004.

In that regard, your correspondence dated November 12, 2009 indicated that legal counsel had been engaged to commence a process to revive NBL under the New Brunswick Business Corporations Act for the sole purpose of making the election under ss. 85(1) and the application under ss. 85(7.1) of the ITA. Please provide proof of the revival of the corporation by June 07, 2010 in order that we may bring this matter to a close.

In the event that we do not receive confirmation that NBL's legal existence has been revived by the date requested above, your late filed s. 85 election will not be accepted and S. Cunard and Company Limited will be reassessed to reflect proceeds of disposition at fair market value in accordance with our Query No. 87 proposal of June 2, 2009" (see tab No 3 of the Applicant's Record).

III. Legislation

[11] Relevant sections of the Income Tax Act, RSC, 1985, c 1 (5th supp) and the Business Corporation Act, SNB 1981, c B-9.1 [Business Corporation Act] are appended to this decision.

IV. Issues

- 1. *What is the appropriate standard of review?
- 2. *Did the Minister's delegate err in requiring that 612482 NB Limited be revived in order to accept form T2057?

V. Parties' submissions

A. Applicant's position

[12] The Applicant submits that the appropriate standard of review in this instance is correctness because the issue raised by this application rests upon an error in law committed by the Minister's delegate when she decided not to accept the late-filed election.

[13] According to the Applicant, paragraph 55 of Dunsmuir v New Brunswick, 2008 SCC 9, specifies three criteria to meet in order to apply the reasonableness standard. Defining the issue as one of corporate law dealing with the capacity of an authorized representative to bind a dissolved corporation the Applicant claims that the CRA does not possess a special expertise or unique interest in questions of corporate law, including questions of corporate capacity. Hence it is subject to the standard of correctness.

[14] The Applicant submits that the decision under review is erroneous because there is no necessity to revive a dissolved corporation in order for CRA to accept forms and documents completed after dissolution.

[15] According to the Applicant, there is no requirement that a T2057 form be signed personally; it may also be executed by the authorized representative of a taxpayer. To support its allegations, the Applicant relies on Barnabe Estate v Minister of National Revenue, [1999] 4 FC 541 [Barnabe], where the Federal Court of Appeal concluded that a deceased individual can file a T2057 form if an authorized representative signs the form on his behalf.

[16] It is the Applicant's position that, just as a deceased taxpayer may have an authorized representative for the purpose of completing an election form, so may a dissolved corporation. It also affirms that its proposition is consistent with the scheme of the Act. The Act contemplates that a dissolved corporation will file its final tax return up to six months after the corporation has been dissolved, and, in these circumstances, compels an authorized representative to sign the final tax return on behalf of the corporation, specifically, paragraph 150 (1)(a) of the Act.

[17] Had the T2057 form been filed within the prescribed delay as required by subsection 85(6) of the Act, the form would have nonetheless been signed by Mr. Rod Jenkins, the authorized representative of NBL.

[18] The Applicant also relies on section 236 of the Act which reads:

236. A return, certificate or other document made by a corporation pursuant to this Act or a regulation shall be signed on its behalf by the President, Secretary or Treasurer of the corporation or by any other officer or person thereunto duly authorized by the Board of Directors or other governing body of the corporation.

236. Une déclaration, un certificat ou tout autre document fait par une société en conformité avec la présente loi ou avec son règlement doit être signé en son nom par le président, le secrétaire ou le trésorier de la société ou par tout autre cadre ou personne qui y est régulièrement autorisée par le conseil d'administration ou par tout autre organe de direction de la société.

[19] The Applicant alleges that the Minister's position leads to an absurdity. The T2057 form will not be accepted as validly executed when completed and filed by a dissolved corporation after the six months deadline provided by the Act. The Applicant asserts that nothing prevents the Minister from accepting such a duly executed form.

[20] The applicant also submits that, should the Court determine the applicable standard of review to be reasonableness, then his application should also be allowed because the Minister's delegate decision remains unreasonable because she is applying a different standard under section 150 of the Act then under subsection 85(6).

B. Respondent's position

[21] The Respondent alleges that the decision under review is reasonable. The Minister's delegate reviewed all the documents presented in support of the Applicant's request. It also considered section 36 of the IT-291R3 guidelines (Transfer of Property to a Corporation under subsection 85(1)), which specify that :

“Occasionally, following a transfer of property under subsection 85(1), the corporate transferor or the transferee may be amalgamated with another corporation or liquidated. Where the corporation has been amalgamated and the relevant corporate legislation provides that the amalgamated corporation is a continuation of its predecessors, a valid subsection 85(1) election may be filed by the amalgamated corporation on behalf of its predecessors. However, where the corporation has been liquidated, the corporation has no legal existence following its dissolution. Consequently, any elections must be filed before the corporation is formally dissolved.”

[22] The Minister's delegate decided that the election would only be accepted on the condition that NBL had the legal capacity to execute the election notwithstanding its voluntary dissolution. She also noted the letter forwarded by Applicant's legal counsel indicating that procedures were being taken in order to revive NBL for the purpose of making the election (Affidavit of Barb Toole at para 11, Tab B of the Respondent's Record; see also the letter from Irving Oil Limited dated November 12, 2009, Tab F of the Applicant's Record).

[23] The decision, according to Respondent constituted a proper exercise of discretion and the Minister's delegate was not required to grant relief.

[24] In the alternative, Respondent claims that should the Court determine the applicable standard of review to be correctness, then the Minister's decision is correct in law.

[25] Pursuant to section 138 of the Business Corporation Act, directors of a corporation may propose the voluntary dissolution of the corporation. The corporation ceases to exist on the date shown in the certificate of dissolution. No person can bind a corporation after its dissolution unless the corporation is subsequently revived, according to the Respondent, who also submits that a director of a corporation ceases to represent the corporation on the day of its dissolution (Aujla v Canada, 2008 FCA 304, [2009] 3 FCR 93 at paras 14 and 26; R v Gill (1989), 40 BCLR (2d) 360 at page 367 (B.C. Co.Ct.)).

[26] The Respondent further contends that Barnabe cited above can be distinguished from the present case. The Federal Court of Appeal determined that the persons who signed the election in that case were both executors of the estate and officers of the taxable Canadian corporation. As such, the transferee's authorization was provided by "officers of the company [who] had the capacity to sign on behalf of the transferee" (see Barnabe cited above at para 14). In the present case, no officers had the capacity to sign on behalf of the transferee.

[27] According to the laws of New Brunswick, NBL is a voluntarily dissolved corporation. Hence, there are no “heirs, executors, liquidators of a succession, administrators or other legal representatives” of NBL as in Barnabe cited above.

[28] The Respondent underlines that, support for the proposition that a corporation without existence has no legal representatives can be found within the provincial legislation itself. The Business Corporations Act does not contain provisions enabling pre-incorporation contracts. Thus, a corporation’s existence is essential to be bound by agents or representatives performing an act on behalf of the corporation.

VI. Analysis

1. *What is the appropriate standard of review?

[29] The Applicant argues that there is no privative clause in the Act and that the question of law raised by this application is not central to the CRA’s jurisdiction. Consequently, the correctness standard must prevail and no deference must be awarded to the decision of the Minister’s delegate.

[30] On the other hand, the Respondent alleges that a decision pursuant to subsection 85(7.1) of the Act calls for a broad discretion on the Minister’s part. It also involves his relative expertise in the application of the statutory provisions of the Act to the facts of the case.

[31] In Bugera v Canada (Minister of National Revenue – M.N.R.), 2003 FCT 392, [2003] FCJ No 553, at para 14, the Court specified that a “wide discretion is conferred on the Minister by subsection 85(7.1) of the [Income Tax Act]. On an application for judicial review the Court may not exercise the discretion given to the Minister. Rather, the Court may only intervene and set aside the discretionary decision under review if the decision was made in bad faith, or without regard to material facts, or on the basis of irrelevant facts, or if the decision was contrary to law” (see also Barron v Canada (Minister of National Revenue – M.N.R.), [1997] FCJ No 175 at para 5).

[32] The Supreme Court of Canada, in Smith v Alliance Pipeline Ltd, 2011 SCC 7, [2011] 1 SCR 160 summarized the Dunsmuir categories.

[33] Under Dunsmuir, cited above, the identified categories are subject to review for either correctness or “reasonableness. The standard of correctness governs (1) a constitutional issue; (2) a question of general law “that is both of central importance to the legal system as a whole and outside the adjudicator’s specialized area of expertise.” (Dunsmuir at para 60).

[34] In the present case, the Minister’s delegate had to determine whether or not it is permitted to accept a late-filed election form on behalf of the Applicant and NBL. That decision is discretionary in nature and called for the interpretation of statutes closely connected to its function, with which it will have a particular familiarity. As corporations are often used as vehicles for fiscal purposes, it is to be expected that the CRA will have a particular familiarity with the provincial and federal Corporations Acts. Hence, the appropriate standard of review is reasonableness. The officer’s decision was discretionary in nature. It must therefore be reviewed under the reasonableness standard (see Dunsmuir cited above at para 53). “In judicial review, reasonableness is concerned mostly with the existence of justification, transparency and intelligibility within the decision-making process … it is also concerned with whether the decision falls within a range of possible, acceptable outcomes which are defensible in respect of the facts and law” [Dunsmuir].

2. *Did the Minister’s delegate err in requiring that 612482 NB Limited be revived in order for the form T2057 to be validly accepted?

[35] On November 12, 2009, Mr. Dean Mullin, a representative of the Applicant, wrote to Mr. Brian Baird to explain why the election should have been accepted by the Minister under subsection 85(7.1) of the Act. According to Mr. Mullin, the purchase agreement between the Applicant and NBL indicated the parties’ intention to apply for a section 85 rollover to the transaction and was explicitly referred to in the agreement. Mr. Mullin further indicated that he had engaged legal counsel to revive NBL for the sole purpose of making the election under subsection 85(1) of the Act.

[36] On May 7, 2010, the Minister’s delegate wrote in her decision that, in the event the CRA did not receive confirmation of the revival of the legal existence of NBL, the Applicant’s election would not be accepted and the Applicant would be reassessed in accordance with the proposal contained in Query No 87 (see Affidavit of Barb Toole at para 11, Tab B of the Respondent’s Record).

[37] No confirmation of the revival was ever provided to the CRA because a New Brunswick corporation that has voluntarily been dissolved cannot be revived.

[38] In making her decision, the Minister's delegate further considered the IT-291R3 policy statements of the CRA which stipulate that "...where the corporation has been liquidated, the corporation has no legal existence following its dissolution. Consequently, any elections must be filed before the corporation is formally dissolved".

[39] Also of relevance is Information Circular IC07-1 entitled "Taxpayer Relief Provisions" which cancelled Information Circular IC 92-1. Relevant provisions are paragraphs 56 and 57. They provide as follows:

Acceptance of a Late, Amended, or Revoked Election

56. A request may be accepted in the following situations:

(a) There have been tax consequences not intended by the taxpayer, and there is evidence that the taxpayer took reasonable steps to comply with the law. This could include, for example, the situation where the taxpayer obtained a bona fide valuation for a property, but after the CRA's review the valuation was found to be not correct.

(b) The request arises from circumstances that are clearly beyond the taxpayer's control. Such extraordinary circumstances could include natural or man-made disasters such as flood or fire; civil disturbances or disruptions in services, such as a postal strike; a serious illness or accident; or serious emotional or mental distress such as death in the immediate family.

(c) It is evident that the taxpayer acted on incorrect information given by the CRA. This could include incorrect written replies to queries and errors in CRA publications.

(d) The request results from what is a mechanical error. This could include using the net book value amount when obviously the taxpayer intended to use the undepreciated capital cost or using an incorrect cost.

(e) The later accounting of the transactions by all parties is as if the election had been made, or had been made in a particular manner.

(f) The taxpayer can demonstrate that he or she was not aware of the election provision, even though they took a reasonable amount of care to comply with the law, and took remedial action as quickly as possible.

Denial of a Late, Amended, or Revoked Election

57. A request will not be accepted in the following instances:

(a) It is reasonable to conclude that the taxpayer made the request for retroactive tax planning purposes. This could include taking advantage of changes to the law enacted after the due date of the election.

(b) Adequate records do not exist.

(c) It is reasonable to conclude that the taxpayer had to make the request because he or she was negligent or careless in complying with the law.

[40] Moreover, subsection 85(6) of the Act clearly states that:

85.(6) Any election under subsection 85(1) or 85(2) shall be made on or before the day that is the earliest of the days on or before which any taxpayer making the election is required to file a return of income pursuant to section 150 for the taxation year in which the transaction to which the election relates occurred.

85.(6) Tout choix visé au paragraphe (1) ou (2) doit être fait au plus tard à la date qui survient la première parmi les dates auxquelles un contribuable faisant le choix doit, au plus tard, produire une déclaration de revenu, en application de l'article 150, pour l'année d'imposition pendant laquelle a eu lieu l'opération à laquelle se rapporte le choix.

[41] Subsection 85(7) specifies that :

(7) Where the election referred to in subsection 85(6) was not made on or before the day on or before which the election was required by that subsection to be made and that day is after May 6, 1974, the election shall be deemed to have been made on that day if, on or before the day that is 3 years after that day,

(a) the election is made in prescribed form; and

(b) an estimate of the penalty in respect of that election is paid by the taxpayer or the partnership, as the case may be, when that election is made.

(7) Lorsque le choix visé au paragraphe (6) n'a pas été fait au plus tard à la date à laquelle ou avant laquelle il devait être fait aux termes de ce paragraphe et que cette date est postérieure au 6 mai 1974, le choix est réputé avoir été fait à cette date, si, au plus tard 3 ans suivant cette date :

a) d'une part, le choix est fait selon le formulaire prescrit;

b) d'autre part, le contribuable ou la société de personnes, selon le cas, paye le montant estimatif de la pénalité relative au choix au moment où celui-ci est fait.

[42] Finally, subsection 85(7.1) stipulates that:

85.(7.1) Where, in the opinion of the Minister, the circumstances of a case are such that it would be just and equitable

(a) to permit an election under subsection 85(1) or 85(2) to be made after the day that is 3 years after the day on or before which the election was required by subsection 85(6) to be made, or

(b) to permit an election

85.(7.1) Lorsque le ministre est d'avis que les circonstances d'un cas sont telles qu'il serait juste et équitable :

a) soit de permettre qu'un choix visé au paragraphe (1) ou (2) soit fait après la fin du délai de 3 ans qui suit la date à laquelle il devait être fait au plus tard en vertu du paragraphe (6);

b) soit de permettre qu'un choix fait en vertu du made under subsection 85(1) or 85(2) to be amended, the election or amended election shall be deemed to have been made on the day on or before which the election was so required to be made if

(c) the election or amended election is made in prescribed form, and

(d) an estimate of the penalty in respect of the election or amended election is paid by the taxpayer or partnership, as the case may be, when the election or amended election is made, and where this subsection applies to the amendment of an election, that election shall be deemed not to have been effective.

paragraphe (1) ou (2) soit modifié, le choix ou choix modifié est réputé avoir été fait au plus tard à la date à laquelle le choix devait être ainsi fait, si les conditions suivantes sont réunies :

c) le choix ou choix modifié est fait selon le formulaire prescrit;

d) le contribuable ou la société de personnes, selon le cas, paie le montant estimatif de la pénalité relative au choix ou choix modifié, au moment où celui-ci est fait.

Lorsque le présent paragraphe s'applique à la modification d'un choix, celui-ci est réputé n'avoir jamais été en vigueur.

[43] It is clear for this Court that in order to fulfill the requirements of subsection 85(1), both the transferee and the transferor must make the election. Form T2057 requires both signatures, that of the transferor and that of an authorized officer of the transferee which, in the present case, is NBL.

[44] It is also well established in jurisprudence that a person cannot bind a corporation after its dissolution unless the corporation is subsequently revived (see Biondich v Kingscroft Investments Ltd, [2002] OJ No 4742; Royal Bank of Canada v Starr (c.o.b. Ettmor Ltd), [1985] OJ No 1763).

[45] Having considered all the evidence adduced before her, the Minister's delegate reasonably determined that, due to its voluntary dissolution, NBL did not have the legal capacity of making the appropriate election under subsection 85(1) of the Act. This conclusion is consistent with paragraph 57(b) of Information Circular IC07-1 which provides that a request will not be accepted if "Adequate records do not exist". Adequate record did not exist in this case since NBL was voluntarily dissolved by its directors. "...Where the corporation has been liquidated, the corporation has no legal existence following its dissolution. Consequently, any elections must be filed before the corporation is formally dissolved" (see section 36 of IT-291R3 Guidelines (Transfer of Property to a Corporation under Subsection 85(1)). The minister's delegate followed the existing guidelines.

[46] This case is distinct from Barnabe cited above since there were no officers to sign on behalf of NBL.

[47] It is this Court's view that the decision under review was reasonable. The wording of subsections 85(1) and 85(2) of the Act calls for a joint election by two corporations legally capable of complying with all the provisions found in subsections 85(6), 85(7) and 85(7.1). The election had to be made in the prescribed form. In this instance it was not. One party to the transaction could not comply with the requirement notwithstanding its representation that it was taking steps to fulfill the requirement.

[48] The interpretation of the applicable provisions of section 85 by the Minister's delegate was reasonable. Section 85 does not contain a provision dispensing of the requirement to file in the prescribed form.
