A. Taxpayers are liable for tax at the time of and after the transaction or incident giving rise to tax, until payment is made. Taxes are due on and after the date on which their payment is required, until payment is made.

B. Every taxpayer shall, on or before the date on which payment of any tax is due, complete and file a tax return in a form prescribed and according to the regulations issued by the secretary. Except as provided in Section 7-1-13.1 NMSA 1978 or by regulation, ruling, order or instruction of the secretary, the payment of any tax or the filing of any return may be accomplished by mail.

C. If any adjustment is made in the basis for computation of any federal tax as a result of an audit by the internal revenue service or the filing of an amended federal return changing a prior election or making any other change for which federal approval is required by the Internal Revenue Code, the taxpayer affected shall, within thirty days of the internal revenue service audit adjustment or payment of the federal refund, file an amended return with the department. Payment of any additional tax due shall accompany the return.

D. Payment of the total amount of all taxes that are due from the taxpayer shall precede or accompany the return. Delivery to the department of a check that is not paid upon presentment does not constitute payment.

E. The secretary or the secretary's delegate may, for good cause, extend in favor of a taxpayer or a class of taxpayers, for no more than a total of twelve months, the date on which payment of any tax is required or on which any return required by provision of the Tax Administration Act shall be filed, but no extension shall prevent the accrual of interest as otherwise provided by law. Section 5

Section 5. Section 7-1-13.1 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1988, Chapter 99, Section 3, as amended) is amended to read:

"7-1-13.1. METHOD OF PAYMENT OF CERTAIN TAXES DUE.--

A. Payment of the taxes, including any applicable penalties and interest, described in Paragraph (1), (2) or (3) of this subsection shall be made on or before the date due in accordance with Subsection B of this section if the taxpayer's average tax payment for the group of taxes during the preceding calendar year equaled or exceeded twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000):

(3) Group 3: the tax due under the Natural Gas Processors Tax Act.

For taxpayers who have more than one identification number issued by the department, the average tax payment shall be computed by combining the amounts paid under the several identification numbers.

When an automated clearinghouse transaction is reversed or a check is dishonored by the taxpayer's financial institution, neither the department nor the fiscal agent is obligated to resubmit the automated clearinghouse transaction or check for payment. If the reversal or dishonoring causes the final payment of taxes to be not timely under the provisions of this section, then the provisions of Sections 7-1-67 and 7-1-69 NMSA 1978 apply.

D. For the purposes of this section:

(1) "automated clearinghouse transaction" means an electronic credit or debit transmitted through an automated clearinghouse payable to the state treasurer and deposited with the fiscal agent of the state;

becomes a delinquent taxpayer if the taxpayer does not pay, protest or furnish security within the time allowed by the retroactive extension of time;

(3) security is furnished for payment; or

(4) no part of the assessment remains unabated.

B. Any taxpayer who fails to provide security as required by Subsection D of Section 7-1-54 NMSA 1978 shall be deemed to be a delinquent taxpayer.

C. If a taxpayer files a protest as provided in Section 7-1-24 NMSA 1978, the taxpayer nevertheless becomes a delinquent taxpayer upon failure of the taxpayer to appear, in person or by authorized representative, at the hearing set or upon failure to perfect an appeal from any decision or part thereof adverse to the taxpayer to the next higher appellate level, as provided in that section, unless the taxpayer makes payment of the total amount of all taxes assessed and remaining unabated or furnishes security for payment."

C. In case of the failure by a taxpayer to complete and file any required return, the tax relating to the period for which the return was required may be assessed at any time within seven years from the end of the calendar year in which the tax was due, and no proceeding in court for the collection of such tax without the prior assessment thereof shall be begun after the expiration of such period.

D. If a taxpayer in a return understates by more than twenty-five percent the amount of his liability for any tax for the period to which the return relates, appropriate assessments may be made by the department at any time within six years from the end of the calendar year in which payment of the tax was due.

E. If any adjustment in the basis for computation of any federal tax is made that results in liability for any tax, the amount thereof may be assessed at any time but not after one year after the date of the receipt of the amended return or not after the end of the period limited by Subsection A of this section, whichever is later.

F. If the taxpayer has signed a waiver of the limitations on assessment imposed by this section, an assessment of tax may be made or a proceeding in court begun without regard to the time at which payment of the tax was due."

"7-1-24. ADMINISTRATIVE HEARING--PROCEDURE.--

A. Any taxpayer may dispute the assessment to the taxpayer of any amount of tax, the application to the taxpayer of any provision of the Tax Administration Act or the denial of or failure to either allow or deny a claim for refund made in accordance with Section 7-1-26 NMSA 1978 by filing with the secretary a written protest against the assessment or against the application to the taxpayer of the provision or against the denial of or the failure to allow or deny the amount claimed to have been erroneously paid as tax. Every protest shall identify the taxpayer and the tax or taxes involved and state the grounds for the taxpayer's protest and the affirmative relief requested. The statement of grounds for protest shall specify individual grounds upon which the protest is based and a summary statement of the evidence expected to be produced supporting each ground asserted, if any; provided that the taxpayer may supplement the statement at any time prior to any hearing conducted on the protest under Subsection E of this section. The secretary may, in appropriate cases, provide for an informal conference before setting a hearing of the protest or acting on any claim for refund.

B. Any protest by a taxpayer shall be filed within thirty days of the date of the mailing to the taxpayer by the department of the notice of assessment or mailing to, or service upon, the taxpayer of other peremptory notice or demand, or the date of mailing or filing a return. Upon written request of the taxpayer made within the time permitted for filing a protest, the secretary may grant an extension of time, not to exceed sixty days, within which to file the protest. If a protest is not filed within the time required for filing a protest or, if an extension has not been granted within the extended time, the secretary may proceed to enforce collection of any tax if the taxpayer is delinquent within the meaning of Section 7-1-16 NMSA 1978. Upon written request of the taxpayer made after the time for filing a protest but not more than sixty days after the expiration of the time for filing a protest, the secretary may grant a retroactive extension of time, not to exceed sixty days, within which to file the protest provided that the taxpayer demonstrates to the secretary's satisfaction that the taxpayer was not able to file a protest or to request an extension within the time to file the protest and that the grounds for the protest have substantial merit. The fact that the department did not mail the assessment or other peremptory notice or demand by certified or registered mail or otherwise demand and receive acknowledgement of receipt by the taxpayer shall not be deemed to demonstrate the taxpayer's inability to protest or request an extension within the time for filing a protest within the required time. The secretary shall not grant a retroactive extension if a levy has already been served under Sections 7-1-31, 7-1-33 and 7-1-34 NMSA 1978 or a jeopardy assessment under Section 7-1-59 NMSA 1978. No proceedings other than those to enforce collection of any amount assessed as tax and to protect the interest of the state by injunction, as provided in Sections 7-1-31, 7-1-33, 7-1-34, 7-1-40, 7-1-53, 7-1-56 and 7-1-58 NMSA 1978, are stayed by timely filing of a protest under this section.

C. Claims for refund shall be filed as provided for in Section 7-1-26 NMSA 1978.

D. Upon timely receipt of a protest, the department or hearing officer shall promptly set a date for hearing and on that date hear the protest or claim.

E. A hearing officer shall be designated by the secretary to conduct the hearing. Taxpayers may appear at a hearing for themselves or be represented by a bona fide employee, an attorney, certified public accountant or registered public accountant. Hearings shall not be open to the public except upon request of the taxpayer and may be postponed or continued at the discretion of the hearing officer.

F. In hearings before the hearing officer, the technical rules of evidence shall not apply, but in ruling on the admissibility of evidence, the hearing officer may require reasonable substantiation of statements or records tendered, the accuracy or truth of which is in reasonable doubt.

G. In hearings before the hearing officer, the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts shall not apply, but the hearing shall be conducted so that both complaints and defenses are amply and fairly presented. To this end, the hearing officer shall hear arguments, permit discovery, entertain and dispose of motions, require written expositions of the case as the circumstances justify and render a decision in accordance with the law and the evidence presented and admitted.

H. In the case of the hearing of any protest, the hearing officer shall make and preserve a complete record of the proceedings. At the beginning of the hearing, the hearing officer shall inform the taxpayer of the taxpayer's right to representation. The hearing officer, within thirty days of the hearing, shall inform the protestant in writing of the decision, informing the protestant at the same time of the right to, and the requirements for perfection of, an appeal from the decision to the court of appeals and of the consequences of a failure to appeal. The written decision shall embody an order granting or denying the relief requested or granting such part thereof as seems appropriate.

I. Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize any criminal proceedings hereunder or to authorize an administrative protest of the issuance of a subpoena or summons."

Every claim for refund shall state the nature of the person's complaint and contain information sufficient to allow processing of the claim; provided, however, that the filing of a fully completed original income tax return, corporate income tax return, corporate income and franchise tax return or estate tax return that shows a balance due the taxpayer or a fully completed amended income tax return, an amended corporate income tax return, an amended corporate income and franchise tax return, an amended estate tax return or an amended oil and gas tax return that shows a lesser tax liability than the original return constitutes the filing of a claim for refund for the difference in tax due shown on the original and amended returns. The secretary or the secretary's delegate may allow the claim in whole or in part or may deny the claim. If the claim is denied in whole or in part in writing, the claim may not be refiled. If the claim is not granted in full, the person, within ninety days after either the mailing of the denial of all or any part of the claim may elect to pursue one, but not more than one, of the remedies in Paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection. If the department has neither granted nor denied any portion of a claim for refund within one hundred twenty days of the date the claim was mailed or delivered to the department, the taxpayer may refile it within the time limits set forth in Subsection B of this section or may within ninety days elect to pursue one, but only one, of the remedies in Paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection. In any case, if a person does timely pursue more than one remedy, the person shall be deemed to have elected the first remedy invoked. The remedies are as follows:

(1) the taxpayer may direct to the secretary a written protest against the denial of, or failure to either allow or deny, the claim, which shall be set for hearing by a hearing officer designated by the secretary promptly after the receipt of the protest in accordance with the provisions of Section 7-1-24 NMSA 1978 and pursue the remedies of appeal from decisions adverse to the protestant as provided in Section 7-1-25 NMSA 1978; or

(2) the taxpayer may commence a civil action in the district court for Santa Fe county by filing a complaint setting forth the circumstance of the claimed overpayment, alleging that on account thereof the state is indebted to the plaintiff in the amount stated, together with any interest allowable, demanding the refund to the plaintiff of that amount and reciting the facts of the claim for refund. The taxpayer or the secretary may appeal from any final decision or order of the district court to the court of appeals.

B. Except as otherwise provided in Subsections C and D of this section, no credit or refund of any amount may be allowed or made to any person unless as the result of a claim made by that person as provided in this section:

(1) within three years of the end of the calendar year in which:

(a) the payment was originally due or the overpayment resulted from an assessment by the department pursuant to Section 7-1-17 NMSA 1978, whichever is later;

(b) the final determination of value occurs with respect to any overpayment that resulted from a disapproval by any agency of the United States or the state of New Mexico or any court of increase in value of a product subject to taxation under the Oil and Gas Severance Tax Act, the Oil and Gas Conservation Tax Act, the Oil and Gas Emergency School Tax Act, the Oil and Gas Ad Valorem Production Tax Act or the Natural Gas Processors Tax Act; or

(c) property was levied upon pursuant to the provisions of the Tax Administration Act;

(2) within one year of the date an assessment of tax is made or a proceeding begun in court by the department with respect to any period that is covered by a waiver signed on or after July 1, 1993 by the taxpayer pursuant to Subsection F of Section 7-1-18 NMSA 1978; or

(3) for assessments made on or after the effective date of this act, within one year of the date of an assessment of tax made under Subsection B, C or D of Section 7-1-18 NMSA 1978 when the assessment applies to a period ending at least three years prior to the beginning of the year in which the assessment was made, but the claim for refund shall not be made with respect to any period not covered by the assessment.

C. No credit or refund shall be allowed or made to any person claiming a refund of gasoline tax under Section 7-13-11 NMSA 1978 unless notice of the destruction of the gasoline was given the department within thirty days of the actual destruction and the claim for refund is made within six months of the date of destruction. No credit or refunds shall be allowed or made to any person claiming a refund of gasoline tax under Section 7-1314 NMSA 1978 unless the refund is claimed within six months of the date of purchase of the gasoline and the gasoline has been used at the time the claim for refund is made.

D. If, as a result of an audit by the internal revenue service or the filing of an amended federal return changing a prior election or making any other change for which federal approval is required by the Internal Revenue Code, any adjustment of federal tax is made with the result that there would have been an overpayment of tax if the adjustment to federal tax had been applied to the taxable period to which it relates, claim for credit or refund of only that amount based on the adjustment may be made as provided in this section within one year of the date of the internal revenue service audit adjustment or payment of the federal refund or within the period limited by Subsection B of this section, whichever expires later. Interest, computed at the rate specified in Subsection B of Section 7-1-68 NMSA 1978, shall be allowed on any such claim for refund from the date one hundred twenty days after the claim is made until the date the final decision to grant the credit or refund is made.

Only buyers or lessees who have a registration number or have applied for a registration number and have not been refused one under Subsection C of Section 7-1-12 NMSA 1978 shall execute nontaxable transaction certificates. On and after July 1, 1993, if a person is shown on the department's records to be a delinquent taxpayer, the department may refuse to approve the application of the person until the person is no longer shown to be a delinquent taxpayer, and the taxpayer may protest that refusal pursuant to Section 7-1-24 NMSA 1978. A. Effective for property tax years beginning on or after January 1, 1994, the local government administering an enterprise zone may elect by resolution to use the tax increment procedures set forth in Section 11 of the Enterprise Zone Act for financing enterprise zone projects. Such procedures may be used in addition to or in conjunction with other methods provided by law for financing such projects.

B. The tax increment method of financing enterprise zone projects is the dedication for further use in enterprise zone projects of that increase in property tax revenue directly resulting from the increased net taxable value of a parcel of project property attributable to its rehabilitation, redevelopment or other improvement because of its inclusion within an enterprise zone project.

Section 11

Section 11. TAX INCREMENT PROCEDURES.--

A. Upon approval of an enterprise zone project, the local government administering an enterprise zone shall notify the county assessor and the taxation and revenue department of the approval and of the identification of the parcels of property within the project subject to taxation under the Property Tax Code.

B. Upon receipt of notification pursuant to Subsection A of this section, the county assessor and the taxation and revenue department shall identify the parcels of project property within the enterprise zone within their respective valuation jurisdictions and at the time tax rates are certified under the Property Tax Code shall certify to the county treasurer the net taxable value of the property as of January 1 of the year in which the notification was made. This certified value is the "base value" for the distribution of property tax revenues authorized by the Property Tax Code under the tax increment method. If property within the enterprise zone becomes tax exempt because of acquisition by any local government, the county assessor and the taxation and revenue department shall note that fact on their respective records and so notify the county treasurer, but the county assessor, the taxation and revenue department and the county treasurer shall preserve the record of the base value for the purpose of distribution of property tax revenues when the parcel again becomes taxable.

C. If a property within the enterprise zone that became tax exempt because of acquisition by a local government again becomes taxable, the local government administering the enterprise zone shall notify the county assessor and the taxation and revenue department of the property which, because of improvements to the property, are to be revalued for property tax purposes. A new taxable value of this property shall then be determined by the county assessor or by the taxation and revenue department if the property is within the valuation jurisdiction of that department.

D. The amount by which the general property tax revenue received from the tax on property within an enterprise zone exceeds that which would have been received by application of the same rates to the base value before inclusion in the enterprise zone shall be credited to the local government administering the enterprise zone and deposited in the enterprise zone fund of that local government. This transfer shall take place only after the county treasurer has been notified to apply the tax increment method to a specific property included in an enterprise zone. Unless the entire enterprise zone is specifically included by the local government for purposes of tax increment financing, the payment by the county treasurer to the local government shall be limited to those properties specifically included. The remaining revenue shall be distributed to participating units of government as authorized by the Property Tax Code.

E. The procedures and methods specified in this section shall be followed annually for a maximum period of five years following the date of notification of inclusion of property as coming under the provisions of this section.

Section 12

Section 12. ENTERPRISE ZONE FUND--CREATION--USE.--

A. Every local government administering an enterprise zone shall create an "enterprise zone fund" for purposes of the Enterprise Zone Act.

B. Enterprise zone fund proceeds shall be used by a local government administering an enterprise zone to acquire property within the enterprise zone, prepare property for redevelopment, provide necessary infrastructure improvements, pay all necessary related expenses to redevelop and finance enterprise zone projects and fund the administration of the enterprise zone in an amount not to exceed ten percent of the funds available annually. None of the proceeds shall be used for the construction of buildings or other improvements that are not owned by a local government participating in an enterprise zone.

Section 13

Section 13. TAX INCREMENT METHOD APPROVAL.--The tax increment method shall be used only upon prior approval by a majority of the units of government participating in property tax revenue derived from property within an enterprise zone project. The local government administering the enterprise zone shall request in writing such approval for a period of no more than five years for property included in the tax increment funding. The governing body of each other participating unit shall approve or disapprove by ordinance or resolution the use of the method for their respective units. All participating units shall notify the local government seeking approval within thirty days of receipt of the request. Upon approval by a majority of the participating units of the tax increment method of financing, it shall be deemed approved for the period requested.

Section 14

Section 14. TAX INCREMENT METHOD--BASE VALUE FOR DISTRIBUTION.--If the tax increment method of financing enterprise zone projects is used, the base value shall be the value used in calculating the limit of general obligation indebtedness imposed by the constitution of New Mexico and the statutes of New Mexico.

Section 15

Section 15. REGULATIONS.--The secretary of finance and administration and the secretary of taxation and revenue are authorized to promulgate such rules and regulations necessary for the proper administration of Sections 10 through 14 of the Enterprise Zone Act.

"32-1-16. APPEALS.--

A. Any party may appeal from a judgment of the court to the court of appeals in the manner provided by law. The appeal shall be heard by the court of appeals upon the files, records and transcript of the evidence of the children's court. The name of the child shall not appear in the record on appeal.

B. The appeal to the court of appeals does not stay the judgment appealed from, but the court of appeals may order a stay upon application and hearing consistent with the provisions of the Children's Code if suitable provision is made for the care and custody of the child. If the order appealed from grants the legal custody of the child to, or withholds it from, one or more of the parties to the appeal, the appeal shall be heard at the earliest practicable time.

C. If the court of appeals does not dismiss the petition and order the child released, it shall affirm the court's judgment or it shall modify the court's judgment and remand the child to the jurisdiction of the children's court for disposition consistent with the appellate court's decision on the appeal. Any party may appeal to the supreme court in the manner provided by law.

D. A child who has filed notice of appeal shall be furnished a transcript of the proceedings, or as much of it as is requested, without cost upon the filing of an affidavit that the child, or the person who is legally responsible for the care and support of the child, is financially unable to purchase the transcript.

E. Appeals from the children's court to the court of appeals shall proceed in accordance with time limits to be established by the supreme court."

B. Upon application of a party the court shall issue, and upon its own motion the court may issue, subpoenas requiring attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of records, documents or other tangible objects at any hearing.

C. Subject to the laws relating to the procedures therefor and the limitations thereon, the court may punish a person for contempt of court for disobeying an order of the court or for obstructing or interfering with the proceedings of the court or the enforcement of its orders.

D. In any proceeding under the Children's Code, either on motion of a party or on the court's own motion, the court may make an order restraining the conduct of any party over whom the court has obtained jurisdiction if:

(1) the court finds that the person's conduct is or may be detrimental or harmful to the child and will tend to defeat the execution of the judgment of disposition made; and

(2) due notice of the motion and the grounds therefor and an opportunity to be heard thereon have been given to the person against whom the order is directed."

Section 28

Section 28. A new Section 32-1-18 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

(2) reasonable compensation for services and related expenses of a guardian ad litem appointed by the court; and

(3) the expenses of service of summonses, notices, subpoenas, traveling expenses of witnesses and other like expenses incurred in any proceeding under the Children's Code.

B. The court may order the parent or other person legally obligated to care for and support a child to pay all or part of the costs and expenses pursuant to paragraph A of this section when:

(1) the child has been found to be a delinquent child, a child of a family in need of court-ordered services, an abused or neglected child, or a mentally ill or developmentally disabled child;

(2) the parent or other person legally obligated to care for and support a child is given notice and a hearing to determine the parent or person's financial ability to pay the costs and expenses; and

(3) the court finds that the parent or person is able to pay all or part of the costs and expenses. Unless otherwise ordered, payment shall be made to the court for remittance to those to whom compensation is due, or if costs and expenses have been paid by the court, to the court for remittance to the state. The court may prescribe the manner of payment.

C. Whenever legal custody of an adjudicated child is vested in someone other than the child's parents, including an agency, institution or department of this state, if the court, after notice to the parents or other persons legally obligated to support the child, and after a hearing, finds that they are financially able to pay all or part of the costs and expenses of the support and treatment, the court may order the parent or other legally obligated person to pay to the custodian in the manner the court directs a reasonable sum that will cover all or part of the expenses of the support and treatment of the child subsequent to the entry of the custody order. The court may use the child support guidelines set forth in Section 40-4-11.1 NMSA 1978 to calculate a reasonable payment. If the parent or other legally obligated person willfully fails or refuses to pay the sum ordered, the court may proceed with contempt charges and the order for payment may be filed and if filed shall have the effect of a civil judgment."

A. The department shall promulgate updated standards for all detention facilities, including standards for the site, design, construction, equipment, care, program, personnel and clinical services. The department shall certify as approved all detention facilities in the state meeting the standards promulgated. The department may establish by rule appropriate procedures for provisional certification and the waiving of any of its standards for facilities in existence at the time of the adoption of the standards, except that it shall not allow waiver of any standard pertaining to adequate health and safety protection of the residents and staff of the facility. No child shall be detained in a detention facility unless it is certified as approved by the department, except as otherwise provided in this article.

B. The department shall inspect all detention facilities in the state at least once each twelve months and shall require those reports it deems necessary from detention facilities in a form and containing the information determined by the department. If, as the result of an inspection, a certified detention facility is determined as failing to meet the required standards, its certification is subject to revocation or refusal for renewal by the department.

C. The department shall promulgate rules establishing procedures that provide for prior notice and public hearings on detention facilities standards adoption and changes. The department shall also promulgate rules establishing procedures for facility certification, renewal of certification, refusal to renew certification and revocation of certification. The procedures adopted on these matters shall provide for adequate prior notice of intended action by the department, opportunity for the aggrieved person to have an administrative hearing and written notification of the administrative decision. Rules promulgated under this subsection shall not be effective unless filed in accordance with the State Rules Act.

D. Any person aggrieved by an administrative decision of the department rendered under the provisions of this section may petition for the review of the administrative decision by filing a petition requesting judicial review in the district court for the county in which the detention facility involved in the decision is located. A. Juvenile probation and parole services shall be provided by the department.

B. To carry out the objectives and provisions of the Delinquency Act, but subject to its limitations, the department has the power and duty to:

(4) supervise and assist a child placed on probation or parole or under supervision by court order or by the juvenile parole board;

(5) give notice to any individual who has been the subject of a petition filed pursuant to the provisions of the Delinquency Act of the sealing of that individual's records in accordance with that act;

(6) expunge of up to three misdemeanor charges brought against a child within two years;

(7) give notice to the children's court attorney of the receipt of any felony complaint and of any recommended adjustment of such felony complaint;

(8) identify an Indian child for the purpose of contacting the child's tribe in delinquency cases; and

(9) contact an Indian child's tribe to consult and exchange information for the purpose of preparing a predisposition report when commitment or placement of an Indian child is contemplated or has been ordered, and indicate in the report the name of the person contacted in the Indian child's tribe and the results of the contact.

C. A juvenile probation and parole officer does not have the powers of a law enforcement officer. A juvenile probation and parole officer may take into physical custody and place in detention a child who is under supervision as a delinquent child when there is reasonable cause to believe that the child has violated the conditions of his probation or parole or that the child may leave the jurisdiction of the court. Taking a child into custody under this subsection is subject to and shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of the Delinquency Act relating to custody and detention procedures and criteria."

A. If it appears to a tribunal in a criminal matter that the defendant was under the age of eighteen years at the time the offense charged was alleged to have been committed and the offense charged is a delinquent act pursuant to the provisions of the Delinquency Act, the tribunal shall promptly transfer jurisdiction of the matter and the defendant to the court together with a copy of the accusatory pleading and other papers, documents and transcripts of testimony relating to the case. The tribunal shall not transfer a serious youthful offender.

B. Upon transfer the court shall have exclusive jurisdiction over the proceedings and the defendant. The transferring tribunal shall order that the defendant promptly be taken to the court, or taken to a place of detention designated by the court, or released to te custody of a parent, guardian, custodian or other person legally responsible for the defendant to be brought before the court at a time designated by the court. Upon transfer to the court a petition shall be prepared and filed in the court in accordance with the provisions of the Delinquency Act.
If the defendant is not a child at the time of transfer the court retains jurisdiction over the matter only until disposition is made by the court."

Section 36

Section 36. A new Section 32-2-7 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-7. COMPLAINTS--REFERRAL--PRELIMINARY INQUIRY--TIME WAIVER.--

A. Complaints alleging delinquency shall be referred to probation services, which shall conduct a preliminary inquiry to determine the best interests of the child and of the public with regard to any action to be taken.

B. During the preliminary inquiry on a delinquency complaint, the matter may be referred to another appropriate agency and conferences may be conducted for the purpose of effecting adjustments or agreements that will obviate the necessity for filing a petition. At the commencement of the preliminary inquiry, the parties shall be advised of their basic rights pursuant to Section 32-2-14 NMSA 1978, and no party may be compelled to appear at any conference, to produce any papers or to visit any place. The preliminary inquiry shall be completed within the time limits set forth in the Children's Court Rules and Forms.

C. When a child is in detention or custody, and the children's court attorney does not file a petition within the time limits authorized by the Children's Court Rules and Forms, the child shall be released immediately.

D. After completion of the preliminary inquiry on a delinquency complaint involving a misdemeanor, probation services may notify the children's court attorney and recommend an appropriate disposition for the case. If the child has been referred for three or more prior misdemeanors within two years of the instant offense, probation services shall notify the children's court attorney and recommend an appropriate disposition for the case.

E. Probation services shall notify the children's court attorney of the receipt of any complaint involving an act that constitutes a felony under the applicable criminal law. Probation services shall also recommend a disposition to the children's court attorney.

F. The child, through counsel, and the children's court attorney may agree, without judicial approval, to a waiver of time limitations imposed after a petition is filed. A time waiver defers adjudication of the charges. The children's court attorney may place restrictions on a child's behavior as a condition of a time waiver. If the child completes the agreed upon conditions, and no new charges are filed against the child, the pending petition shall be dismissed. If the children's court attorney files a new petition against the child, the children's court attorney may proceed on both the original petition and the new charges. The department shall become a party if probation services are requested as a condition of the time waiver."

Section 37. A new Section 32-2-8 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

The children's court attorney shall furnish legal services in connection with the authorization and preparation of the petition."

Section 38

B. pursuant to the laws of arrest for commission of a delinquent act; or

C. by a juvenile probation and parole officer proceeding pursuant to the provisions of Section 32-2-5 NMSA 1978."

(1) release the child to the child's parent, guardian or custodian and issue verbal counsel or warning as may be appropriate;

(2) release the child to the child's parent, guardian or custodian upon their written promise to bring the child before the court when requested by the court, and if the parent, guardian or custodian fails, when requested, to bring the child before the court as promised, the court may order the child taken into custody and brought before the court;

(3) deliver the child to a place of detention as provided in Section 32-2-11 NMSA 1978;

(4) deliver the child to a medical facility, if available, if the child is believed to be suffering from a serious illness that requires prompt treatment or prompt diagnosis; or

(5) deliver the child to an evaluation facility, if available, if the person taking the child into custody has reasonable grounds to believe the child presents a likelihood of serious harm to himself or others or is suffering from some other serious mental condition or illness that requires prompt treatment or prompt diagnosis.

B. When an alleged delinquent child is delivered to a place of detention as provided in Section 32-2-12 NMSA 1978, a department designee, prior to the placing of the child in detention, shall review the need for detention and shall release the child from custody unless detention is appropriate under criteria set forth in the Delinquency Act or has been ordered by the court pursuant to those criteria.

C. If a child is taken into custody and is not released to the child's parent, guardian or custodian, the person taking the child into custody shall give written notice thereof as soon as possible, and in no case later than twenty-four hours, to the child's parent, guardian or custodian and to the court together with a statement of the reason for taking the child into custody.

D. In all cases when a child is taken into custody, the child shall be released to the child's parent, guardian or custodian in accordance with the conditions and time limits set forth in the Children's Court Rules and Forms."

Section 40

Section 40. A new Section 32-2-11 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-11. CRITERIA FOR DETENTION OF CHILDREN.--

A. Unless ordered by the court pursuant to the provisions of the Delinquency Act, a child taken into custody for a delinquent act shall not be placed in detention prior to the court's disposition unless probable cause exists to believe that:

(1) detention of the child is necessary to protect the community;

(2) the child will run away or be taken away so as to be unavailable for proceedings of the court or its officers;

(3) the child will commit injury to others; or

(4) if not detained, the child will cause injury to himself or be subject to injury by others.

B. The criteria for detention in this section shall govern the decisions of all persons responsible for determining whether detention is appropriate prior to the court's disposition.

C. The department shall promulgate guidelines by January 1, 1994 to implement the criteria for detention set forth in Subsection A of this section and shall collect data regarding the application of the criteria."

Section 41

Section 41. A new Section 32-2-12 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-12. PLACEMENT OR DETENTION.--

A. A child alleged to be a delinquent child may be placed or detained pending court hearing in any of the following places:

(1) a licensed foster home or a home otherwise authorized under the law to provide foster or group care;

(2) a facility operated by a licensed child welfare services agency;

(3) a shelter-care facility provided for in the Children's Shelter Care Act or a detention facility certified by the department for children alleged to be delinquent children; or

(4) any other suitable place, other than a facility for the long-term care and rehabilitation of delinquent children to which children adjudicated as delinquent may be confined under Section 32-2-19 NMSA 1978, designated by the court which meets the standards for detention facilities under the Children's Code and federal law.

B. A child alleged to be a serious youthful offender may be detained pending a hearing in any of the following places, prior to arraignment in metropolitan, magistrate or district court:

(1) a detention facility, licensed by the department, for children alleged to be delinquent children;

(2) any other suitable place, other than a facility for the long-term care and rehabilitation of delinquent children to which children adjudicated as delinquent children may be confined under Section 32-2-19 NMSA 1978, designated by the court which meets the standards for detention facilities under the Children's Code and federal law; or

(3) a county jail, if a facility in Paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection is not appropriate. In the event that a child is detained in a jail, the director of the facility shall presume that the child is vulnerable to victimization by detainees within the adult population because of his age, and shall take measures to provide protection to the child. However, no such protective measure should result in diminishing a child's civil rights to less than those existing for an incarcerated adult."

Section 42

Section 42. A new Section 32-2-13 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-13. DETENTION HEARING REQUIRED ON DETAINED CHILDREN--PROBABLE CAUSE DETERMINATION--COURT DETERMINATION--DISPOSITION.--

A. When a child who has been taken into custody is not released but is detained:

(1) a judicial determination of probable cause shall be made by a judge or special master or magistrate within forty-eight hours including Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, except for children taken into custody under an arrest warrant pursuant to the Children's Court Rules and Forms. A statement by a law enforcement officer, which shall include the charges, may be the basis of a probable cause determination. The probable cause determination shall be nonadversarial, may be held in the absence of the child and counsel and may be conducted by telephone. If the court finds no probable cause to believe the child committed an offense, the child shall be released;

(2) a petition shall be filed within forty-eight hours from the time the child is taken into custody, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, and if not filed within the stated time the child shall be released; and

(3) a detention hearing shall be held within twenty-four hours, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, from the time of filing the petition to determine whether continued detention is required pursuant to the criteria established by the Children's Code.

B. The judge may appoint one or more persons to serve as special master on a full- or part-time basis for the purpose of holding detention hearings. A juvenile probation and parole officer shall not be appointed as a special master. The judge shall approve all contracts with special masters and shall fix their hourly compensation subject to the approval of the director of the administrative office of the court.

C. Notice of the detention hearing, either oral or written, stating the time, place and purpose of the hearing shall be given by the person designated by the court to the child's parents, guardian or custodian, if they can be found, and to the child. The department shall be provided with reasonable oral or written notification and an opportunity to be heard. At any hearing held pursuant to this subsection, the department may appear as a party.

D. At the commencement of the detention hearing, the judge or special master shall advise the parties of their basic rights provided in the Children's Code and shall appoint counsel, guardians and custodians, if appropriate.

E. If the judge or special master finds that the child's detention is appropriate under the criteria established by the Children's Code, the judge or special master shall order detention in an appropriate facility in accordance with the Children's Code.

F. If the judge or special master finds that detention of the child is not appropriate under the criteria established by the Children's Code, the judge or special master shall order the release of the child, but, in so doing, may order one or more of the following conditions:

(1) place the child in the custody of a parent, guardian or custodian or under the supervision of an agency agreeing to supervise the child;

(2) place restrictions on the child's travel, association with other persons or place of abode during the period of the child's release; or

(3) impose any other condition deemed reasonably necessary and consistent with the criteria for detaining children established by the Children's Code, including a condition requiring that the child return to custody as required.

G. An order releasing a child on any conditions specified in this section may at any time be amended to impose additional or different conditions of release or to return the child to custody or detention for failure to conform to the conditions originally imposed.

H. At the detention hearing, all relevant and material evidence helpful in determining the need for detention may be admitted by the judge or special master even though it would not be admissible in a hearing on the petition.

I. If the child is not released at the detention hearing and a parent, guardian or custodian was not notified of the hearing and did not appear or waive appearance at the detention hearing, the judge or special master shall rehear the detention matter without unnecessary delay upon the filing of an affidavit stating the facts and a motion for rehearing."

Section 43

Section 43. A new Section 32-2-14 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-14. BASIC RIGHTS.--

A. A child subject to the provisions of the Delinquency Act is entitled to the same basic rights as an adult, except as otherwise provided in the Children's Code.

B. If after due notice to the parent, guardian or custodian, and after a hearing determining indigency, the parent, guardian or custodian is declared indigent by the court, the public defender shall represent the child. If the court finds that the parent, guardian or custodian is financially able to pay for an attorney but is unwilling to do so, the court shall order the parent, guardian or custodian to reimburse the state for public defender representation.

C. No person subject to the provisions of the Delinquency Act who is alleged or suspected of being a delinquent child shall be interrogated or questioned without first advising the child of the child's constitutional rights and securing a knowing, intelligent and voluntary waiver.

D. Before any statement or confession may be introduced at a trial or hearing when a child is alleged to be a delinquent child, the state shall prove that the statement or confession offered in evidence was elicited only after a knowing, intelligent and voluntary waiver of the child's constitutional rights was obtained.

E. In determining whether the child knowingly, intelligently and voluntarily waived the child's rights, the court shall consider the following factors:

(1) the age and education of the respondent;

(2) whether or not the respondent is in custody;

(3) the manner in which the respondent was advised of his rights;

(4) the length of questioning and circumstances under which the respondent was questioned;

(5) the condition of the quarters where the respondent was being kept at the time he was questioned;

(6) the time of day and the treatment of the respondent at the time that he was questioned;

(7) the mental and physical condition of the respondent at the time that he was questioned; and

(8) whether or not the respondent had the counsel of an attorney, friends or relatives at the time of being questioned.

F. Notwithstanding any other provision to the contrary, no confessions, statements or admissions may be introduced against a child under the age of thirteen years on the allegations of the petition. There is a rebuttable presumption that any confessions, statements or admissions made by a child thirteen or fourteen years old to a person in a position of authority are inadmissible.

G. An extrajudicial admission or confession made by the child out of court is insufficient to support a finding that the child committed the delinquent acts alleged in the petition unless it is corroborated by other evidence.

H. The child and the parent, guardian or custodian of the child shall be advised by the court or its representative that the child shall be represented by counsel at all stages of the proceedings on a delinquency petition. If counsel is not retained for the child, or if it does not appear that counsel will be retained, counsel shall be appointed for the child.

I. A child under the age of thirteen alleged or adjudicated to be a delinquent child shall not be fingerprinted or photographed for identification purposes without obtaining a court order.

J. The court, at any stage of the proceeding on a petition under the Children's Code, may appoint a guardian ad litem for a child who is a party if the child has no parent, guardian or custodian appearing on behalf of the child or if the parent's, guardian's or custodian's interests conflict with those of the child. A party to the proceeding or an employee or representative of a party shall not be appointed as guardian ad litem.

K. The court shall appoint a guardian for a child if the court determines that the child does not have a parent or a legally appointed guardian in a position to exercise effective guardianship. No officer or employee of an agency that is vested with the legal custody of the child shall be appointed guardian of the child except when parental rights have been terminated and the agency is authorized to place the child for adoption.

L. A person afforded rights under the Delinquency Act shall be advised of those rights at that person's first appearance before the court on a petition under that act.

M. A serious youthful offender who is detained prior to trial in an adult facility has a right to bail, as provided under SCRA 1986, Rule 5-401. A child held in a juvenile facility designated as a place of detention prior to adjudication does not have a right to bail but may be released pursuant to the provisions of the Delinquency Act."

Section 44

Section 44. A new Section 32-2-15 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-15. TIME LIMITATIONS ON DELINQUENCY ADJUDICATORY HEARING.--The adjudicatory hearing in a delinquency proceeding shall be held in accordance with the time limits set forth in the Children's Court Rules and Forms."

Section 45

Section 45. A new Section 32-2-16 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-16. CONDUCT OF HEARINGS--FINDINGS--DISMISSAL--DISPOSITIONAL MATTERS--PENALTY.--

A. Hearings on petitions shall be conducted by the court separate from other proceedings. A jury trial on the issues of alleged delinquent acts may be demanded by the child, parent, guardian, custodian or counsel in proceedings on petitions alleging delinquency when the offense alleged would be triable by jury if committed by an adult. If a jury is demanded and the child is entitled to a jury trial, the jury's function is limited to that of trier of the factual issue of whether the child committed the alleged delinquent acts. If no jury is demanded, the hearing shall be by the court without a jury. Jury trials shall be conducted in accordance with rules promulgated under the provisions of Subsection B of Section 32-1-4 NMSA 1978. A delinquent child facing a juvenile disposition shall be entitled to a six- member jury. If the children's court attorney has filed a motion to invoke an adult sentence, the child is entitled to a twelve-member jury. A unanimous verdict is required for all jury trials. The proceedings shall be recorded by stenographic notes or by electronic, mechanical or other appropriate means.

B. All hearings to declare a person in contempt of court and all hearings on petitions pursuant to the provisions of the Delinquency Act shall be open to the general public, except where the court in its discretion, after a finding of exceptional circumstances, deems it appropriate to conduct a closed delinquency hearing. Only the parties, their counsel, witnesses and other persons approved by the court may be present at a closed hearing. Those other persons the court finds to have a proper interest in the case or in the work of the court may be admitted by the court to closed hearings on the condition that they refrain from divulging any information concerning the exceptional circumstances that resulted in the need for a closed hearing. Accredited representatives of the news media shall be allowed to be present at closed hearings subject to the conditions that they refrain from divulging information concerning the exceptional circumstances that resulted in the need for a closed hearing and subject to such enabling regulations as the court finds necessary for the maintenance of order and decorum and for the furtherance of the purposes of the Delinquency Act.

C. Those persons or parties granted admission to a closed hearing who intentionally divulge information in violation of Subsection B of this section are guilty of a petty misdemeanor.

D. The court shall determine if the allegations of the petition are admitted or denied. If the allegations are denied, the court shall proceed to hear evidence on the petition. The court after hearing all of the evidence bearing on the allegations of delinquency shall make and record its findings on whether the delinquent acts subscribed to the child were committed by the child. If the court finds that the allegations of delinquency have not been established, it shall dismiss the petition and order the child released from any detention or legal custody imposed in connection with the proceedings.

E. The court shall make a finding of delinquency based on a valid admission of the allegations of the petition or on the basis of proof beyond a reasonable doubt.

F. If the court finds on the basis of a valid admission of the allegations of the petition or on the basis of proof beyond a reasonable doubt that the child is a delinquent, the court may proceed immediately or at a postponed hearing to make disposition of the case.

G. In that part of the hearings held under the Delinquency Act on dispositional issues, all relevant and material evidence helpful in determining the questions presented, including oral and written reports, may be received by the court and may be relied upon to the extent of its probative value even though not competent had it been offered during the part of the hearings on adjudicatory issues.

H. On the court's motion or that of a party, the court may continue the hearing on the petition for a reasonable time to receive reports and other evidence in connection with disposition. The court may continue the hearing pending the receipt of the predisposition study and report if that document has not been prepared and received. During any continuances under this subsection, the court shall make an appropriate order for detention or legal custody."

Section 46

Section 46. A new Section 32-2-17 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-17. PREDISPOSITION STUDIES--REPORTS AND EXAMINATIONS.--

A. After a petition has been filed and either a finding with respect to the allegations of the petition has been made or a notice of intent to admit the allegations of the petition has been filed, the court may direct that a predisposition study and report to the court be made in writing by the department or an appropriate agency designated by the court concerning the child, the family of the child, the environment of the child and any other matters relevant to the need for treatment or to appropriate disposition of the case. The following predisposition reports shall be provided to the parties and the court five days before actual disposition or sentencing:

(1) the adult probation and parole division of the corrections department shall prepare a predisposition report for serious youthful offenders;

(2) the department shall prepare a predisposition report for serious youthful offenders who are convicted of an offense other than first degree murder;

(3) the department shall prepare a predisposition report for youthful offenders; and

(4) the department shall prepare a predisposition report for delinquent offenders, upon the court's request.

B. Where there are indications that the child may be mentally disordered or developmentally disabled, the court, on motion by the children's court attorney or that of counsel for the child, may order the child to be examined at a suitable place by a physician, a licensed psychologist or a licensed, independent social worker prior to a hearing on the merits of the petition. An examination made prior to the hearing or as a part of the predisposition study and report shall be conducted on an outpatient basis, unless the court finds that placement in a hospital or other appropriate facility is necessary.

C. The court, after a hearing, may order examination by a physician, a licensed psychologist or a licensed, independent social worker of a parent or custodian whose ability to care for or supervise a child is an issue before the court.

D. The court may order that a child adjudicated as a delinquent child be transferred to the facility designated by the secretary of the department for a period of not more than fifteen days within a three hundred sixty-five day time period for purposes of diagnosis, with direction that the court be given a report indicating what disposition appears most suitable when the interests of the child and the public are considered.

E. Once committed, the department shall determine when the child is released. The release shall be any time after commitment, but not more than fifteen days after commitment. Upon petition by the department to the court, the judge may extend the commitment for an additional fifteen days upon good cause shown."

Section 47. A new Section 32-2-18 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-18. JUDGMENT--NONCRIMINAL NATURE--NONADMISSABILITY.--The court shall enter a judgment setting forth the court's findings and disposition in the proceeding. A judgment in proceedings on a petition under the Delinquency Act resulting in a juvenile disposition shall not be deemed a conviction of crime nor shall it impose any civil disabilities ordinarily resulting from conviction of a crime, nor shall it operate to disqualify the child in any civil service application or appointment. The juvenile disposition of a child, and any evidence given in a hearing in court, shall not be admissible as evidence against the child in any case or proceeding in any other tribunal whether before or after reaching the age of majority, except in sentencing proceedings after conviction of a felony and then only for the purpose of a presentence study and report. If a judgment on a proceeding under the Delinquency Act results in an adult sentence, the determination of guilt at trial becomes a conviction for purposes of the Criminal Code."

Section 48

Section 48. A new Section 32-2-19 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-19. DISPOSITION OF AN ADJUDICATED DELINQUENT OFFENDER.--

A. At the conclusion of the dispositional hearing, the court may make and include in the dispositional judgment its findings on the following:

(1) the interaction and interrelationship of the child with the child's parent, siblings and any other person who may significantly affect the child's best interest;

(2) the child's adjustment to his home, school and community;

(3) the mental and physical health of all individuals involved;

(4) the wishes of the child as to his custodian;

(5) the wishes of the child's parent or parents as to the child's custody;

(6) whether there exists a relative of the child or other individual who, after study by the department, is found to be qualified to receive and care for the child;

(7) the availability of services recommended in the predisposition report; and

(8) the ability of the parents to care for the child in the home.

B. If a child is found to be delinquent, the court may impose a fine not to exceed the fine that could be imposed if the child were an adult and may enter its judgment making any of the following dispositions for the supervision, care and rehabilitation of the child:

(1) any disposition that is authorized for the disposition of a neglected or abused child, in accordance with the Abuse and Neglect Act;

(2) transfer legal custody to the department, an agency responsible for the care and rehabilitation of delinquent children, which shall receive the child at a facility designated by the secretary of the department as a juvenile reception facility. The department shall thereafter determine the appropriate placement, supervision and rehabilitation program for the child. The judge may include recommendations for placement of the child. Commitments are subject to limitations and modifications set forth in Section 32-2-23 NMSA 1978. The types of commitments include:

(a) a short-term commitment of one year, of which no more than six months may be in a facility for the long-term care and rehabilitation of adjudicated delinquent children; or

(b) a long-term commitment for no more than two years in a long-term facility for the care and rehabilitation of adjudicated delinquent children;

(3) place the child on probation under those conditions and limitations as the court may prescribe;

(4) place the child in a local detention facility that has been certified in accordance with the provisions of Section 32-2-4 NMSA 1978 for a period not to exceed fifteen days within a three hundred sixty-five day time period;

(5) if a child is found to be delinquent solely on the basis of Paragraph (3) of Subsection A of Section 32-2-3 NMSA 1978, the court shall only enter a judgment placing the child on probation or ordering restitution or imposing a fine not to exceed the fine which could be imposed if the child were an adult or any combination of these dispositions; or

(6) if a child is found to be delinquent solely on the basis of Paragraph (2), (4) or (5) of Subsection A of Section 32-2-3 NMSA 1978, the court may make any disposition provided by this section and may enter its judgment placing the child on probation and, as a condition of probation, transfer custody of the child to the department for a period not to exceed six months without further order of the court; provided that this transfer shall not be made unless the court first determines that the department is able to provide or contract for adequate and appropriate treatment for the child and that the treatment is likely to be beneficial.

C. When the child is an Indian child, the Indian child's cultural needs shall be considered in the dispositional judgment and reasonable access to cultural practices and traditional treatment shall be provided.

D. No child found to be delinquent shall be committed or transferred to a penal institution or other facility used for the execution of sentences of persons convicted of crimes.

E. Whenever the court vests legal custody in an agency, institution or department, it shall transmit with the dispositional judgment copies of the clinical reports, predisposition study and report and other information it has pertinent to the care and treatment of the child.

F. Prior to any child being placed in the custody of the department, the department shall be provided with reasonable oral or written notification and an opportunity to be heard.

G. In addition to any other disposition pursuant to this section or any other penalty provided by law, if a child fifteen years of age or older is adjudicated delinquent on the basis of Paragraph (2), (4) or (5) of Subsection A of Section 32-2-3 NMSA 1978, the child's driving privileges may be denied or the child's driver's license may be revoked for a period of ninety days. For a second or a subsequent adjudication, the child's driving privileges may be denied or the child's driver's license revoked for a period of one year. Within twenty-four hours of the dispositional judgment, the court may send to the motor vehicle division of the taxation and revenue department the order adjudicating delinquency. Upon receipt of an order from the court adjudicating delinquency, the director of the motor vehicle division of the taxation and revenue department may revoke or deny the delinquent's driver's license or driving privileges. Nothing in this section may prohibit the delinquent from applying for a limited driving privilege pursuant to Section 66-5-35 NMSA 1978, and nothing in this section precludes the delinquent's participation in an appropriate educational, counseling or rehabilitation program."

Section 49

Section 49. A new Section 32-2-20 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-20. DISPOSITION OF A YOUTHFUL OFFENDER.--

A. The children's court judge has the discretion to invoke either an adult sentence or juvenile sanctions on a youthful offender. The children's court attorney must file a notice of intent to invoke an adult sentence within ten working days of the filing of the petition, provided that the court may extend the time for filing of the notice of intent to invoke an adult sentence, for good cause shown, prior to the adjudicatory hearing. A preliminary hearing by the children's court or a hearing before a grand jury shall be held, within ten days after the filing of the intent to invoke an adult sentence, to determine whether probable cause exists to support the allegations contained in the petition.

B. If the children's court attorney has filed a notice of intent to invoke an adult sentence and the child is adjudicated as a youthful offender, the court shall make the following findings in order to invoke an adult sentence:

(1) the child is not amenable to treatment or rehabilitation as a child in available facilities; and

(2) the child is not eligible for commitment to an institution for the developmentally disabled or mentally disordered.

C. In making the findings set forth in Subsection B of this section, the judge shall consider the following factors:

(1) the seriousness of the alleged offense;

(2) whether the alleged offense was committed in an aggressive, violent, premeditated or willful manner;

(3) whether the alleged offense was against persons or against property, greater weight being given to offenses against persons, especially if personal injury resulted;

(4) the sophistication and maturity of the child as determined by consideration of the child's home, environmental situation, emotional attitude and pattern of living;

(5) the record and previous history of the juvenile;

(6) the prospects for adequate protection of the public and the likelihood of reasonable rehabilitation of the child by the use of procedures, services and facilities currently available; and

(7) any other relevant factor, provided that factor is stated on the record.

D. If a judge invokes an adult sentence, the judge may sentence the child to less than, but shall not exceed, the mandatory adult sentence. A youthful offender given an adult sentence shall be treated as an adult offender and shall be transferred to the legal custody of an agency responsible for incarceration of persons sentenced to adult sentences. This transfer terminates the jurisdiction of the court over the child with respect to the delinquent acts alleged in the petition.

E. If a juvenile disposition is appropriate, the judge shall follow the provisions set forth in Section 32-2-19 NMSA 1978. A youthful offender may be subject to extended commitment in the care of the department until the age of twenty-one, pursuant to the provisions of Section 32-2-23 NMSA 1978.

F. A sixteen or seventeen year old child charged with first degree murder, but convicted of an offense less than first degree murder, is subject to the dispositions set forth in this section."

Section 50

Section 50. A new Section 32-2-21 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-21. DISPOSITION OF A MENTALLY DISORDERED OR DEVELOPMENTALLY DISABLED CHILD IN A PROCEEDING.--

A. If in a hearing at any stage of a proceeding on a delinquency petition the evidence indicates that the child is or may be developmentally disabled or mentally disordered, the court may:

(1) order the child detained if appropriate under the criteria established under the Delinquency Act;

(2) stay the delinquency petition; and

(3) initiate proceedings for the involuntary placement of the child as a mentally disordered or developmentally disabled minor pursuant to the provisions of the Children's Code.

B. If a child is involuntarily placed as a developmentally disabled or mentally disordered child under Subsection A of this section, the petition may be stayed pursuant to the Children's Court Rules and Forms.

C. Upon proper notice to parties pursuant to the provisions of the Children's Code, the court may proceed directly to an involuntary placement hearing.

D. If the child is placed for residential treatment or habilitation under the Children's Code, the department or department of health shall retain legal custody during the period of involuntary placement or until further order of the court.

E. If a child is committed to a psychiatric hospital for treatment or habilitation, and in the event that the department should be required to pay more than four hundred dollars ($400) per day because of the individualized treatment plan, the annual costs over four hundred dollars ($400) per child per day will be reported annually by the department to the legislative finance committee.

F. At such time as the child is to be released from residential treatment or habilitation, the court may resume the delinquency proceedings.

G. Whenever a residential treatment or habilitation facility petitions for extended placement and the petition for extended placement is dismissed, the court may resume the delinquency proceedings. The child may remain in the residential treatment or habilitation facility pending the disposition of the delinquency petition.

H. If the department has reason to believe that a child in departmental custody needs residential mental health or developmental disability services as a result of a mental disorder or developmental disability, the department shall petition for that child's placement pursuant to the provisions of the Children's Code."

Section 51

Section 51. A new Section 32-2-22 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-22. CONTINUANCE UNDER SUPERVISION WITHOUT JUDGMENT--CONSENT DECREE--DISPOSITION.--

A. At any time after the filing of a delinquency petition and before the entry of a judgment, the court may on motion of the children's court attorney or that of counsel for the child suspend the proceedings and continue the child under supervision in the child's own home under terms and conditions negotiated with probation services and agreed to by all the parties affected. The court's order continuing the child under supervision under this section shall be known as a "consent decree".

B. If the child objects to a consent decree, the court shall proceed to findings, adjudication and disposition of the case. If the child does not object but an objection is made by the children's court attorney after consultation with probation services, the court shall after considering the objections and the reasons given proceed to determine whether it is appropriate to enter a consent decree and may, in its discretion, enter the consent decree.

C. A consent decree shall remain in force for six months unless the child is discharged sooner by probation services. Prior to the expiration of the six-month period and upon the application of probation services or any other agency supervising the child under a consent decree, the court may extend the decree for an additional six months in the absence of objection to extension by the child. If the child objects to the extension, the court shall hold a hearing and make a determination on the issue of extension.

D. If either prior to discharge by probation services or expiration of the consent decree the child allegedly fails to fulfill the terms of the decree, the children's court attorney may file a petition to revoke the consent decree. Proceedings on the petition shall be conducted in the same manner as proceedings on petitions to revoke probation. If the child is found to have violated the terms of the consent decree, the court may:

(1) extend the period of the consent decree; or

(2) make any other disposition which would have been appropriate in the original proceeding.

E. A child who is discharged by probation services or who completes a period under supervision without reinstatement of the original delinquency petition shall not again be proceeded against in any court for the same offense alleged in the petition or an offense based upon the same conduct and the original petition shall be dismissed with prejudice. Nothing in this subsection precludes a civil suit against the child for damages arising from the child's conduct.

F. A judge who pursuant to this section elicits or examines information or material about a child that would be inadmissible in a hearing on the allegations of the petition shall not over the objection of the child participate in any subsequent proceedings on the delinquency if:

(1) a consent decree is denied and the allegations in the petition remain to be decided in a hearing where the child denies the allegations; or

(2) a consent decree is granted but the delinquency petition is subsequently reinstated.

G. If a consent decree has been entered pursuant to the filing of a delinquency petition based on Paragraph (2), (4) or (5) of Subsection A of Section 32-2-3 NMSA 1978 for a child who is fifteen years of age or older, a condition of the consent decree agreement may be the denial of the child's driving privileges or the revocation of the child's driver's license for a period of ninety days. For the second or subsequent adjudication, the child's driving privileges may be denied or the child's driver's license revoked for a period of one year. Within twenty-four hours of the entry by the court of a decree consenting to the revocation or denial of the child's driver's license or driving privileges, the court shall send the decree to the motor vehicle division of the taxation and revenue department. Upon receipt of the decree from the court consenting to the denial or revocation of the child's driving privilege or driver's license, the director of the motor vehicle division of the taxation and revenue department shall revoke or deny the delinquent child's driver's license or driving privileges. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the delinquent child from applying for a limited driving privilege pursuant to Section 66-5-35 NMSA 1978, and nothing in this section precludes the delinquent child's participation in an appropriate educational, counseling or rehabilitation program."

Section 52

Section 52. A new Section 32-2-23 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-23. LIMITATIONS ON DISPOSITIONAL JUDGMENTS--MODIFICATION--TERMINATION OR EXTENSION OF COURT ORDERS.--

A. A judgment transferring legal custody of an adjudicated delinquent child to an agency responsible for the care and rehabilitation of delinquent children divests the court of jurisdiction at the time of transfer of custody, unless the transfer of legal custody is for a commitment not exceeding fifteen days pursuant to the provisions of Section 32-2-19 NMSA 1978, in which case the court retains jurisdiction, and:

(1) the juvenile parole board pursuant to the Juvenile Parole Board Act has the exclusive power to parole or release the child;

(2) the supervision of a child after release under Paragraph (1) of this subsection may be conducted by the juvenile parole board in conjunction with the department or any other suitable state agency or under any contractual arrangements the juvenile parole board deems appropriate; and

(3) the period of time a child absconds from parole or probation supervision shall toll all time limits for the requirement of filing a petition to revoke probation or parole and shall toll the computation of the period of probation or parole supervision pursuant to the provisions of the Delinquency Act.

B. A judgment of probation or protective supervision shall remain in force for an indeterminate period not to exceed the term of commitment from the date entered.

C. A child shall be released by an agency and probation or supervision shall be terminated by juvenile probation and parole services or the agency providing supervision when it appears that the purpose of the order has been achieved before the expiration of the period of the judgment. A release or termination and the reasons therefor shall be reported promptly to the court in writing by the releasing authority.

D. Prior to the expiration of a long-term commitment, as provided for in Section 32-2-19 NMSA 1978, the court may extend the judgment for additional periods of one year until the child reaches the age of twenty-one, if the court finds that the extension is necessary to safeguard the welfare of the child or the public interest.

E. Prior to the expiration of a six-month commitment, as provided for in Section 32-2-19 NMSA 1978, the court may extend the judgment for additional periods of six months until the child reaches the age of twenty-one, if the court finds that the extension is necessary to safeguard the welfare of the child or the public interest.

F. Prior to the expiration of a judgment of probation, the court may extend the judgment for an additional period of one year until the child reaches the age of twenty-one, if it finds that the extension is necessary to protect the community or to safeguard the welfare of the child.

G. The court may dismiss a motion if it finds after preliminary investigation that the motion is without substance. If the court is of the opinion that the matter should be reviewed, it may upon notice to all necessary parties proceed to a hearing in the manner provided for hearings on petitions alleging delinquency. The court may terminate a judgment if it finds that the child is no longer in need of care, supervision or rehabilitation or it may enter a judgment extending or modifying the original judgment if it finds that action necessary to safeguard the child or the public interest.

H. A child may make a motion to modify a children's court or adult disposition within thirty days of the judge's decision. If the court is of the opinion that the matter should be reviewed, it may upon notice to all necessary parties proceed to a hearing in the manner provided for hearins on petitions alleging delinquency."

Section 53

Section 53. A new Section 32-2-24 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:
"32-2-24. PROBATION REVOCATION--DISPOSITION.--

A. A child on probation incident to an adjudication as a delinquent child who violates a term of the probation may be proceeded against in a probation revocation proceeding. A proceeding to revoke probation shall be begun by filing in the original proceeding a petition styled as a "petition to revoke probation". Petitions to revoke probation shall be screened, reviewed and prepared in the same manner and shall contain the same information as petitions alleging delinquency. Procedures of the Delinquency Act regarding taking into custody and detention shall apply. The petition shall state the terms of probation alleged to have been violated and the factual basis for these allegations.

B. The standard of proof in probation revocation proceedings shall be evidence beyond a reasonable doubt and the hearings shall be before the court without a jury. In all other respects, proceedings to revoke probation shall be governed by the procedures, rights and duties applicable to proceedings on a delinquency petition. If a child is found to have violated a term of his probation the court may extend the period of probation or make any other judgment or disposition that would have been appropriate in the original disposition of the case."

Section 54

Section 54. A new Section 32-2-25 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-25. PAROLE REVOCATION--PROCEDURES.--

A. A child on parole from an agency that has legal custody who violates a term of parole may be proceeded against in a parole revocation proceeding conducted by the department or the supervising agency in accordance with procedures established by the department in cooperation with the juvenile parole board. A juvenile probation and parole officer may detain a child on parole status who is alleged to have violated a term or condition of parole until the completion and review of a preliminary parole revocation hearing.

B. If a retake warrant is issued by the department upon the completion of the preliminary parole revocation hearing, the juvenile institution to which the warrant is issued shall promptly transport the child to that institution at the expense of the department. If a child absconds from parole supervision and is apprehended in another state after the issuance of a retake warrant by the department, the juvenile justice services division of the department shall cause the return of the child to this state at the expense of the department."

Section 55

Section 55. A new Section 32-2-26 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-26. SEALING OF RECORDS.--

A. On motion by or on behalf of an individual who has been the subject of a delinquency petition or on the court's own motion, the court shall vacate its findings, orders and judgments on the petition, and order the legal and social files and records of the court, probation services and any other agency in the case sealed, and if requested in the motion the court shall also order law enforcement files and records sealed. An order sealing records and files shall be entered if the court finds that:

(1) two years have elapsed since the final release of the individual from legal custody and supervision or two years have elapsed since the entry of any other judgment not involving legal custody or supervision; and

(2) the individual has not, within the two years immediately prior to filing the motion, been convicted of a felony or of a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or been found delinquent by a court, and no proceeding is pending seeking such a conviction or finding.

B. Reasonable notice of the motion shall be given to:

(1) the children's court attorney;

(2) the authority granting the release;

(3) the law enforcement officer, department and central depository having custody of the law enforcement files and records if those records are included in the motion; and

(4) any other agency having custody of records or files subject to the sealing order.

C. Upon the entry of the sealing order the proceedings in the case shall be treated as if they never occurred, and all index references shall be deleted and the court, law enforcement officers and departments and agencies shall reply, and the individual may reply, to an inquiry that no record exists with respect to such person. Copies of the sealing order shall be sent to each agency or official named in the order.

D. Inspection of the files and records or the release of information in the records included in the sealing order may thereafter be permitted by the court only:

(1) upon motion by the individual who is the subject of the records and only to those persons named in the motion; and

(2) in its discretion, in an individual case, to any clinic, hospital or agency that has the individual under care or treatment or to persons engaged in fact finding or research.

E. Any finding of delinquency or need of services, or conviction of a crime, subsequent to the sealing order may at the court's discretion be used by the court as a basis to set aside the sealing order.

F. A person who has been the subject of a petition filed pursuant to the provisions of the Delinquency Act shall be notified in writing by the juvenile probation and parole officer of the right to have records sealed at the expiration of the disposition."

Section 56

Section 56. A new Section 32-2-27 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-2-27. INJURY TO PERSON OR DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY--LIABILITY--COSTS AND ATTORNEYS' FEES--RESTITUTION.--

A. Any person may recover damages not to exceed four thousand dollars ($4,000) in a civil action in a court or tribunal of competent jurisdiction from the parent, guardian or custodian having custody and control of a child when the child has maliciously or willfully injured a person or damaged, destroyed or deprived use of property, real or personal, belonging to the person bringing the action.

Accredited representatives of the news media shall be allowed to be present at closed hearings, subject to the condition that they refrain from divulging information that would identify any child involved in the proceedings or the parent, guardian or custodian of that child and subject to enabling regulations as the court finds necessary for the maintenance of order and decorum and for the furtherance of the purposes of the Children's Code.

E. If the court finds that it is in the best interest of the child, the child may be excluded from a neglect or an abuse hearing. Under the same conditions, a child may be excluded by the court during a hearing on dispositional issues.

F. Those persons or parties granted admission to a closed hearing who intentionally divulge information in violation of this section are guilty of a petty misdemeanor.

G. The court shall determine if the allegations of the petition are admitted or denied. If the allegations are denied, the court shall proceed to hear evidence on the petition. The court after hearing all of the evidence bearing on the allegations of neglect or abuse shall make and record its findings on whether the child is a neglected child, an abused child or both.

H. If the court finds on the basis of a valid admission of the allegations of the petition or on the basis of clear and convincing evidence, competent, material and relevant in nature, that the child is neglected or abused, the court may proceed immediately or at a postponed hearing to make disposition of the case. If the court does not find that the child is neglected or abused, the court shall dismiss the petition and may refer the family to the department for appropriate services.

I. In that part of the hearings held under the Children's Code on dispositional issues, all relevant and material evidence helpful in determining the questions presented, including oral and written reports, may be received by the court and may be relied upon to the extent of its probative value even though not competent had it been offered during the part of the hearings on adjudicatory issues.

J. On the court's motion or that of a party, the court may continue the hearing on the petition for a reasonable time to receive reports and other evidence in connection with disposition. The court shall continue the hearing pending the receipt of the predisposition study and report if that document has not been prepared and received. (c) a description of the steps that will be taken to minimize any harm to the child that may result if separation from the child's parent occurs or continues;

(d) a description of the behavior that will be expected before a determination is made that supervision of the family or placement is no longer necessary; and

C. A copy of the predisposition report shall be provided by the department to counsel for all parties five days before the dispositional hearing.

D. Any child in department custody who is placed for residential treatment or habilitation pursuant to the provisions of the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act shall remain in the legal custody of the department while in residential treatment or habilitation or until further order of the court.

When placement preferences have not been followed, good cause for noncompliance shall be clearly stated and supported.

(3) return the child to his parent and place the child under the protective supervision of the department;

(5) continue the child in the legal custody of the department with or without any required parental involvement in a treatment plan;

(6) make additional orders regarding the treatment plan or placement of the child to protect the child's best interests if the court determines the department has failed in implementing any material provision of the treatment plan or abused its discretion in the placement or proposed placement of the child; or

(7) if, during a judicial review, the court finds that the child's parent, guardian or custodian has not complied with the court-ordered treatment plan, the court may order:

(a) the child's parent, guardian or custodian to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court; or

(b) a hearing on the merits of terminating parental rights.

(3) a stepparent with whom the child has resided; or

(4) a person who wishes to become the child's permanent guardian.

B. When determining whether a person described in Subsection A of this section should be permitted to intervene, the court shall consider:

(1) the person's rationale for the purposed intervention; and

(2) whether intervention is in the best interest of the child.

C. When the court determines that the child's best interest will be served as a result of intervention by a person described in Subsection A of this section, the court may permit intervention unless the party opposing intervention can demonstrate that a viable plan for reunification with the respondents is in progress and that intervention could impede the progress of the reunification plan.

D. The persons described in this subsection shall be permitted to intervene during any stage of an abuse or neglect proceeding:

(1) a parent of the child who is not named in the petition alleging abuse or neglect; and

"32-4-26. TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS--ADOPTION DECREE.--

A. In proceedings to terminate parental rights, the court shall give primary consideration to the physical, mental and emotional welfare and needs of the child.

B. The court shall terminate parental rights with respect to a child when:

(1) there has been an abandonment of the child by his parents;

(2) the child has been a neglected or abused child as defined in the Abuse and Neglect Act and the court finds that the conditions and causes of the neglect and abuse are unlikely to change in the foreseeable future despite reasonable efforts by the department or other appropriate agency to assist the parent in adjusting the conditions which render the parent unable to properly care for the child; provided, the court may find in some cases that efforts by the department or another agency would be unnecessary, when there is a clear showing that the efforts would be futile; or

(3) the child has been placed in the care of others, including care by other relatives, either by a court order or otherwise and the following conditions exist:

(a) the child has lived in the home of others for an extended period of time;

(b) the parent-child relationship has disintegrated;

(c) a psychological parent-child relationship has developed between the substitute family and the child;

(d) if the court deems the child of sufficient capacity to express a preference, the child no longer prefers to live with the natural parent; and

(e) the substitute family desires to adopt the child.

C. A finding by the court that all of the conditions set forth in Paragraph (3) of Subsection B of this section exist shall create a rebuttable presumption of abandonment.

D. The termination of parental rights involving a child subject to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 shall comply with the requirements of that act.

E. When the court finds that parental rights should be terminated and requirements for the adoption of an abandoned, abused or neglected child have been satisfied, the court may proceed to grant adoption of the child. The adoption decree shall conform to the requirements of the Adoption Act and shall have the same force and effect as other adoption decrees entered pursuant to that act. The court clerk shall assign an adoption case number to the adoption decree."

Section 123

Section 123. A new Section 32-4-27 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

B. The motion for termination of parental rights shall be signed, verified by the moving party and filed with the court. The motion shall set forth:

(1) the date, place of birth and marital status of the child, if known;

(2) the grounds for termination and the facts and circumstances supporting the grounds for termination;

(3) the names and addresses of the persons or authorized agency or agency officer to whom custody might be transferred;

(4) whether the child resides or has resided with a foster parent who desires to adopt this child;

(5) whether the motion is in contemplation of adoption;

(6) the relationship or legitimate interest of the moving party to the child; and

(7) whether the child is subject to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 and, if so:

(a) the tribal affiliations of the child's parents;

(b) the specific actions taken by the moving party to notify the parents' tribe and the results of the contacts, including the names, addresses, titles and telephone numbers of the persons contacted. Copies of any correspondence with the tribes shall be attached as exhibits to the petition; and

(c) what specific efforts were made to comply with the placement preferences set forth in the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 or the placement preferences of the appropriate Indian tribes.

C. A parent who has not previously been a party to the proceeding shall be named in the motion and shall become a party to the proceeding.

D. Notice of the filing of the motion, accompanied by a copy of the motion, shall be served by the moving party on the parents of the child, any parent who has not previously been made a party to the proceeding, foster parents with whom the child is residing, foster parents with whom the child has resided for six months within the previous twelve months, the custodian of the child, the department, any person appointed to represent any party, including the child's guardian ad litem, and any other person the court orders. Service shall be in accordance with the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts for the service of process in a civil action in this state, except that foster parents and attorneys of record in this proceeding may be served by certified mail. The notice shall state specifically that the person served must file a written response to the motion within twenty days if the person intends to contest the termination. In any case involving a child subject to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978, notice shall also be served upon the tribes of the child's parents and upon any "Indian custodian" as that term is defined in 25 U.S.C. Section 1903(6).

E. If the identity or whereabouts of a person entitled to service are unknown, the moving party shall file a motion for an order granting service by publication supported by the affidavit of the moving party or his agent or attorney detailing the efforts made to locate the person entitled to service. Upon being satisfied that reasonable efforts to locate the person entitled to service have been made and that information as to the identity or whereabouts of the person is still insufficient to effect service in accordance with the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts, the court shall order service by publication pursuant to the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts.

F. After a motion for the termination of parental rights is filed, the parent shall be advised of the right to counsel, unless the parent is already represented by counsel. Counsel shall be appointed, upon request, for any parent who is unable to obtain counsel due to financial reasons or, if in the court's discretion, the interests of justice require appointment of counsel.

G. The court shall assure that a guardian ad litem represents the child in all proceedings for the termination of parental rights.

H. When a motion to terminate parental rights is filed, the moving party shall request a hearing on the motion. The hearing date shall be at least thirty days after service is effected upon the parties entitled to service under this section.

I. In any action for the termination of parental rights brought by a party other than the department and involving a child in the custody of the department, the department may:

(1) litigate a motion for the termination of parental rights that was initially filed by another party; or

(2) move that the motion for the termination of parental rights be found premature and denied.

J. The grounds for any attempted termination shall be proved by clear and convincing evidence. In any proceeding involving a child subject to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978, the grounds for any attempted termination shall be proved beyond a reasonable doubt and shall meet the requirements set forth in 25 U.S.C. Section 1912(f).

K. When the court terminates parental rights, it shall appoint a custodian for the child and fix responsibility for the child's support.

L. In any termination proceeding involving a child subject to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978, the court shall in any termination order make specific findings that the requirements of that act have been met.

M. A judgment of the court terminating parental rights divests the parent of all legal rights and privileges, and dispenses with both the necessity for the consent to or receipt of notice of any subsequent adoption proceeding concerning the child. A judgment of the court terminating parental rights shall not affect the child's rights of inheritance from and through the child's biological parents."

Section 124

Section 124. A new Section 32-4-28 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-4-28. ATTORNEYS' FEES.--The court may order the department to pay attorneys' fees for the child's guardian ad litem if:

A. the child is in the custody of the department;

B. the child's guardian ad litem:

(1) requests in writing that the department move for the termination of parental rights;

(2) gives the department written notice that if the department does not move for termination of parental rights, the guardian ad litem intends to move for the termination of parental rights and seek an award of attorneys' fees;

(3) successfully moves for the termination of parental rights; and

(4) applies to the court for an award of attorneys' fees; and

C. the department refuses to litigate the motion for the termination of parental rights or fails to act in a timely manner."

Section 125

Section 125. A new Section 32-4-29 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-4-29. PERMANENT GUARDIANSHIP OF A CHILD.--

A. In proceedings for permanent guardianship, the court shall give primary consideration to the physical, mental and emotional welfare and needs of the child. Permanent guardianship vests in the guardian all rights and responsibilities of a parent, other than those rights and responsibilities of the natural or adoptive parent, if any, set forth in the decree of permanent guardianship.

B. Any adult, including a relative or foster parent, may be considered as a permanent guardian, provided that the department grants consent to the guardianship if the child is in the department's custody. An agency or institution may not be a permanent guardian. The court shall appoint a person nominated by the child, if the minor is fourteen years of age or older, unless the court finds the appointment contrary to the best interests of the child.

C. The court may establish a permanent guardianship between a child and the guardian when the prospective guardianship is in the child's best interest and when:

(1) the child has been adjudicated as an abused or neglected child;

(2) the department has made reasonable efforts to reunite the parent and child and further efforts by the department would be unproductive;

(3) reunification of the parent and child is not in the child's best interests because the parent continues to be unwilling or unable to properly care for the child; and

(4) the likelihood of the child being adopted is remote or it is established that termination of parental rights is not in the child's best interest."

Section 126

Section 126. A new Section 32-4-30 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-4-30. PERMANENT GUARDIANSHIP--PROCEDURE.--

A. A motion for permanent guardianship may be filed by any party.

B. Any application for permanent guardianship shall be signed and verified by the petitioner, filed with the court and set forth:

(1) the date, place of birth and marital status of the child, if known;

(2) the facts and circumstances supporting the ground for permanent guardianship;

(3) the name and address of the prospective guardian and a statement that the person agrees to accept the duties and responsibilities of guardianship;

(4) the basis for the court's jurisdiction;

(5) the relationship of the child to the petitioner and the prospective guardian; and

(6) whether the child is subject to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 and, if so:

(a) the tribal affiliations of the child's parents;

(b) the specific actions taken by the petitioner to notify the parents' tribe and the results of the contacts, including the names, addresses, titles and telephone numbers of the persons contacted. Copies of any correspondence with the tribes shall be attached as exhibits to the petition; and

(c) what specific efforts were made to comply with the placement preferences set forth in the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 or the placement preferences of the appropriate Indian tribes.

C. If the petition is not filed by the prospective guardian, the petition shall be verified by the prospective guardian.

D. Notice of the filing of the motion, accompanied by a copy of the motion, shall be served by the moving party on any parent who has not previously been made a party to the proceeding, the parents of the child, foster parents with whom the child is residing, foster parents with whom the child has resided for six months, the child's custodian, the department, any person appointed to represent any party, including the child's guardian ad litem, and any other person the court orders provided with notice. Service shall be in accordance with the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts for the service of process in a civil action in this state. The notice shall state specifically that the person served must file a written response to the application within twenty days if the person intends to contest the guardianship.

E. When the child is an Indian child, subject to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978, notice shall also be served upon the Indian tribes of the child's parents and upon any "Indian custodian" as that term is defined in 25 U.S.C. Section 1903(6).

F. The grounds for permanent guardianship shall be proved by clear and convincing evidence. The grounds for permanent guardianship must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt and meet the requirements of 25 U.S.C. Section 1912(f) in any proceeding involving a child subject to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978.

G. A judgment of the court vesting permanent guardianship with an individual divests the biological or adoptive parent of legal custody or guardianship of the child, but is not a termination of the parent's rights. A child's inheritance rights from and through the child's biological or adoptive parents are not affected by this proceeding.

H. Upon a finding that grounds exist for a permanentguardianship, the court may incorporate into the final order provisions for visitation with the natural parents, siblings or other relatives of the child and any other provision necessary to rehabilitate the child or provide for the child's continuing safety and well being.

I. The court shall retain jurisdiction to enforce its judgment of permanent guardianship.

J. Any party to the abuse or neglect proceeding, the child or a parent of the child may make a motion for revocation of the order granting guardianship when there is a significant change of circumstances including:

(1) the child's parent is able and willing to properly care for the child; or

(2) the child's guardian is unable to properly care for the child.

K. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for the child in all proceedings for the revocation of permanent guardianship.

L. The court may revoke the order granting guardianship when a change of circumstances has been proven by clear and convincing evidence and it is in the child's best interests to revoke the order granting guardianship."

The parent, guardian or legal custodian shall also have the right to the results of the investigation and the right to petition the court for full access to all department records and information except those records and information the department finds would be likely to endanger the life or safety of any person providing information to the department.

Section 143

Section 143. A new Section 32-5-16 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-5-16. TERMINATION PROCEDURES.--

A. A proceeding to terminate parental rights may be initiated in connection with or prior to an adoption proceeding. (1) the department;

(2) an agency; or

(3) any other person having a legitimate interest in the matter, including a petitioner for adoption, the child's guardian, the child's guardian ad litem in another action, an agency, a foster parent, a relative of the child or the child.

Copies of any correspondence with the Indian tribe shall be attached as exhibits to the petition; and

(c) what specific efforts were made to comply with the placement preferences set forth in the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 or the placement preferences of the appropriate Indian tribes.

C. Notice of the filing of the petition, accompanied by a copy of the petition, shall be served by the petitioner on the parents of the child, the child's guardian, the legal custodian of the child, the person with whom the child is residing, any person with whom the child has resided within the past six months and the department. Service shall be in accordance with the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts for the service of process in a civil action in this state, with the exception that the department may be served by certified mail. The notice shall state specifically that the person served must file a written response to the petition within twenty days if the person intends to contest the termination. In any case involving an Indian child, notice shall also be served on the child's Indian tribe pursuant to the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978.

D. If the identification or whereabouts of a parent is unknown, the petitioner shall file a motion for an order granting service by publication supported by the affidavit of the petitioner, the agency or the petitioner's attorney detailing the efforts made to locate the parent. E. The court shall, upon request, appoint counsel for any parent who is unable to obtain counsel for financial reasons, or, if in the court's discretion, appointment of counsel is required in the interest of justice. Payment for the appointed counsel shall be made by the petitioner.

F. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for the child in all contested proceedings for termination of parental rights.

G. Within thirty days after the filing of a petition to terminate parental rights, the petitioner shall request a hearing on the petition. The hearing date shall be at least thirty days after service is effected upon the parent of the child or completion of publication.

H. The grounds for any attempted termination shall be proved by clear and convincing evidence. In any proceeding involving an Indian child, the grounds for any attempted termination shall be proved beyond a reasonable doubt and meet the requirements set forth in the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978.

I. If the court terminates parental rights, it shall appoint a custodian for the child. Upon entering an order terminating the parental rights of a parent, the court may commit the child to the custody of the department, the petitioner or an agency willing to accept custody for the purpose of placing the child for adoption. In any termination proceeding involving an Indian child, the court shall in any termination order make specific findings that the requirements of the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 were met.

J. A judgment of the court terminating parental rights divests the parent of all legal rights. Termination of parental rights shall not affect the child's right of inheritance through the former parent."

B. In any adoption involving an Indian child, consent to adoption by the petitioner or relinquishment of parental rights shall be obtained from an "Indian custodian", as required pursuant to the provisions of the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978.

Section 146

Section 146. A new Section 32-5-19 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-5-20. PUTATIVE FATHER REGISTRY--NOTICE--PENALTY.--

A. The purpose of the putative father registry is to protect the parental rights of fathers who affirmatively assume responsibility for children they may have fathered and to expedite adoptions of children whose biological fathers are unwilling to assume responsibility for their children by registering with the putative father registry or otherwise acknowledging their children. The registry does not relieve the obligation of mothers to identify known fathers.

B. A putative father registry shall be established by the department of health to record the names and addresses of:

F. No registration fee shall be charged for registering the intent to claim paternity of a child or acknowledgment of paternity. The department of health may charge a reasonable fee as prescribed by regulation for processing searches of the putative father registry.

G. An unrevoked notice of intent to claim paternity of a child may be introduced in evidence by any party in any proceeding in which that fact may be relevant.

H. The department of health shall, upon request, provide the names and addresses of persons listed with the registry to any court, the department, an agency, the petitioner's attorney or the mother of the child. The information shall not be divulged to any other person, except upon order of the court for good cause shown. If the registry has not received a notice of intent to claim paternity or an acknowledgment of paternity, the department of health shall provide a written statement to that effect to the person making the inquiry. The person making inquiry shall provide a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the department of health for the department's response to the inquiry.

I. The department of health may promulgate any regulations or forms necessary to implement the provisions of this section.

(4) if a relinquishment of parental rights is being executed, the name and address of the agency or the department;

(5) that the person executing the consent or relinquishment has been counseled, as provided in Section 32-5-22 NMSA 1978, by a certified counselor of the person's choice and with this knowledge the person is voluntarily and unequivocally consenting to the adoption of the named adoptee;

(6) that the consenting party has been advised of the legal consequences of the relinquishment or consent either by independent legal counsel or a judge;

(7) that the consent to or relinquishment for adoption cannot be withdrawn;

C. In cases when the consent or relinquishment is in English and English is not the first language of the consenting or relinquishing person, the person taking the consent or relinquishment shall certify in writing that the document has been read and explained to the person whose consent or relinquishment is being taken in that person's first language, by whom the document was so read and explained and that the meaning and implications of the document are fully understood by the person giving the consent or relinquishment.

D. Unconditional consents or relinquishments are preferred and therefore, conditional consents or relinquishments must be for good cause and approved by the court. However, if the condition is for a specific petitioner or the condition requires the other parent to consent before the decree of adoption is entered, the condition shall be deemed for good cause. In any event, any and all conditions permitted under this subsection shall be met within one hundred eighty days of the execution of the conditional consent or relinquishment or the conclusion of any litigation concerning the petition for adoption. I. A consent to or relinquishment for adoption shall not be withdrawn prior to the entry of a decree of adoption unless the court finds, after notice and opportunity to be heard is afforded to the petitioner, to the person seeking the withdrawal and to the agency placing a child for adoption, that the consent or relinquishment was obtained by fraud. In no event shall a consent or relinquishment be withdrawn after the entry of a decree of adoption."

If the court determines by a preponderance of the evidence that the person is not the biological father of the adoptee or that the child was conceived through an act of rape or incest, the petition shall be dismissed and the person shall no longer be a party to the adoption. If the court determines that the person is the biological father of the adoptee, the court shall further determine whether the person qualifies as a presumed or acknowledged father whose consent is necessary for adoption, pursuant to Section 32-5-17 NMSA 1978. If the court determines that the person is the biological father, but does not qualify as a presumed or acknowledged father, the court shall adjudicate the person's rights pursuant to the provisions of the Adoption Act.

D. If the mother or father of the adoptee has appeared before the court and filed a written petition that alleges the invalidity of the mother's or father's own consent or relinquishment for adoption previously filed in the adoption proceeding, the court shall hear evidence as to the merits of the petition. If the court determines that the allegations have not been proved by a preponderance of the evidence, the petition shall be dismissed. If the court determines that the allegations of the petition are true, the consent or relinquishment for adoption shall be held invalid, and the court shall determine, in the best interests of the adoptee, the person who shall have custody of the child.

E. The petitioner shall present and prove each allegation set forth in the petition for adoption by clear and convincing evidence.

F. The court shall grant a decree of adoption if it finds that the petitioner has proved by clear and convincing evidence that:

(2) the adoptee has been placed with the petitioner for a period of ninety days if the adoptee is under the age of one year at the time of placement or for a period of one hundred eighty days if the adoptee is one year of age or older at the time of placement, unless, for good cause shown, the requirement is waived by the court;

(7) the petitioner is a suitable adoptive parent and the best interests of the adoptee are served by the adoption;

(8) if visitation between the biological family and the adoptee is contemplated, that the visitation is in the child's best interests;

(12) when the child is an Indian child, the placement preferences set forth in the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 or the placement preferences of the appropriate Indian tribes have been followed, or if not followed, good cause for noncompliance has been clearly stated and supported, as required by the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 and provision has been made to insure that the Indian child's cultural ties to the Indian child's tribe are protected and fostered; and

(13) if the adoption involves the interstate placement of the adoptee, the requirements of the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children have been met.

G. In addition to the findings required by Subsection E of this section, the court in any decree of adoption shall make findings with respect to each allegation of the petition.

H. If the court determines that any of the requirements for a decree of adoption under Subsections E and F of this section has not been met or that the adoption is not in the best interests of the adoptee, the court shall deny the petition and determine, in the best interests of the adoptee, the person who shall have custody of the child.

I. The decree of adoption shall include the new name of the adoptee and shall not include any other name by which the adoptee has been known or the names of the former parents. The decree of adoption shall order that from the date of the decree, the adoptee shall be the child of the petitioner and accorded the status set forth in Section 32-5-37 NMSA 1978.

J. A decree of adoption shall be entered within six months of the filing of the petition if the adoptee is under the age of one year at the time of placement, or twelve months if the adoptee is one year of age or older at the time of placement, except that the time may be extended by the court upon request of any of the parties or upon the court's own motion for good cause shown.

K. A decree of adoption may not be attacked upon the expiration of one year from the entry of the decree; provided, however, that in any adoption involving an Indian child, the Indian child's parent or Indian custodian may petition the court pursuant to the provisions of the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 to invalidate the adoption.

B. After adoption, the adoptee and the petitioner shall sustain the legal relation of parent and child as if the adoptee were the biological child of the petitioner and the petitioner were the biological parent of the child. These findings shall be certified by the court and included with the application for a birth certificate.

B. The state registrar of vital statistics shall prepare a birth record in the new name of the adoptee in accordance with the vital statistics laws, but subject to the requirements of the Adoption Act as to the confidentiality of adoption records."

"32-5-41. APPOINTMENT OF CONFIDENTIAL INTERMEDIARY.--

A. The court may appoint a confidential intermediary to ascertain whether an individual is willing to be contacted, is willing to release his name or identity or is willing to meet or otherwise communicate about any condition that may affect the moving party's physical or mental health, upon petition to the court by:

(1) an adoptee who is eighteen years of age or older;

(2) an adoptive parent of an adoptee who is less than 18 years of age; or

(3) an adoptee's former parent, when the adoptee is eighteen years of age or older.

B. The confidential intermediary shall make a reasonable effort to determine if the individual whose identity is sought by the petitioner has filed a signed document authorizing or refusing to authorize the release of the individual's name or identity.

C. When the confidential intermediary finds a signed authorization for a party to be contacted or for the release of identifying information, the intermediary shall release that information to the petitioner. Upon the petitioner's written request, the intermediary may assist the petitioner in locating the individual who authorized the release of identifying information, in ascertaining whether the individual is willing to meet or communicate with the petitioner and in facilitating a meeting or other communication.

D. When the confidential intermediary finds a signed refusal to authorize the release of identifying information, the intermediary shall report this to the petitioner and the court and shall not attempt to locate or contact the individual who has refused to authorize contact or the release of identifying information. The petitioner may then withdraw the petition or request the release of identifying information for good cause shown, pursuant to the provisions of Section 32-5-40 NMSA 1978.

E. When the confidential intermediary does not find any documents concerning the release of identifying information or if the intermediary finds a document indicating that an individual whose identity is sought by the petitioner is undecided about whether to release identifying information, the intermediary shall make a reasonable search for and discreetly contact the individual to ascertain whether the individual is willing to release information to the petitioner or willing to meet or communicate with the petitioner, whom the intermediary may describe to the individual only in general, nonidentifying terms. When the individual consents in writing to the release of information, the intermediary shall release the information to the petitioner, and upon the mutual written request and consent of the petitioner and the individual, the intermediary shall facilitate a meeting or other communication between the petitioner and the individual. If the individual refuses to authorize the release of information sought by the petitioner, the intermediary shall report this to the petitioner and the court and the petitioner may withdraw the motion or file a motion with the court for an order to release identifying information for good cause shown, pursuant to Section 32-5-40 NMSA 1978.

F. When an individual sought by the confidential intermediary is deceased, the intermediary shall report this to the petitioner and the court and, upon the petitioner's request, the court shall determine on the basis of the factors listed in Section 32-5-40 NMSA 1978 whether good cause exists to release identifying information about the individual to the petitioner.

G. When an individual sought by the confidential intermediary cannot be located within a year, the intermediary shall report this to the petitioner and the court. The court may authorize an additional search for a specified period of time or determine on the basis of the factors listed in Section 32-5-40 NMSA 1978 whether good cause exists to release identifying information about the individual to the petitioner.

H. A confidential intermediary may charge the petitioner for actual expenses incurred in providing a service requested under this section. Upon motion by the intermediary, the court may authorize a reasonable fee in addition to the expenses.

I. A confidential intermediary shall complete training provided by the department or any other entity approved by the court and shall file an oath of confidentiality in every court in which the intermediary expects to serve.

J. The confidential intermediary oath shall state:

"I,_____, signing under penalty of perjury, affirm that I have completed the requisite training for a confidential intermediary in this state.

I will not disclose to the petitioner, directly or indirectly, any identifying information in sealed records except under the conditions specified in this section.

I will conduct a reasonable search for an individual being sought and make a discreet and confidential inquiry as to whether the individual consents to the release of identifying or medical information to the petitioner, or to meeting or communicating with the petitioner. I will report to the petitioner or the court the results of my search and inquiry, along with any signed request or consent I receive from the individual.

If the individual and the petitioner request and consent in writing to meet or communicate with each other, I will act in accordance with the instructions of the petitioner or the court to facilitate any meeting or communication between them.

I will not charge or accept any fee for my services except for reimbursement from the petitioner for actual expenses incurred in performing my services or as authorized by the court.

I recognize that unauthorized release of information is a violation of the Adoption Act and subjects me to penalties pursuant to the provisions of Section 32-5-42 NMSA 1978 and may subject me to being found in contempt of court with penalties, dismissal by the court and ciil liability."."

K. Upon reaching the age of majority, the child, who was a voluntary admittee to a residential treatment program, may petition the district court for the records of the court regarding all mtters pertinent to his voluntary admission to a residential treatment program. The court, upon receipt of the petition and upon a determination that the petitioner was in fact the child who was a voluntary admittee to a residential treatment program, shall give all court records regarding the admission to the petitioner, including all copies in the court's possession.

L. No child, who is a person seeking voluntary admission to a residential treatment program, shall be represented or counseled by an attorney who, in the previous two years, has advised or represented the child's parents, guardians or the residential treatment facility or who would otherwise have a serious conflict of interest.

M. Any child voluntarily admitted to a residential treatment program has the right to an immediate discharge from the residential treatment program upon his request, except as provided in this section. If a child informs the director, physician or any other member of the residential treatment program staff that he desires to be discharged from the voluntary program, the director, physician or other member shall provide for the child's immediate discharge. Upon the request, the residential treatment program shall notify the child's parent, guardian or other suitable party to take custody of the child and remit the child to the parent's, guardian's or custodian's care. The residential treatment program shall also notify the child's attorney. If the child's family refuses to take physical custody of the child, the hospital shall refer the case to the department for an abuse and neglect or family in need of court-ordered services investigation. The department may take the child into custody pursuant to the provisions of the Abuse and Neglect Act or the Family in Need of Services Act. If the child's family refuses to take physical custody of the child, the court may order an alternative living arrangement for the child and grant custody of the child to another person. In such cases, the court shall retain jurisdiction until such time as the child is placed in his family's home or attains the age of eighteen or arrangement of permanent custody is made. A child requesting immediate discharge shall be discharged, except in those situations when the director of the residential treatment program, a physician or a licensed psychologist determines that the child requires continued treatment and that the child meets the criteria for involuntary residential treatment as otherwise provided under the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act. In that event, the director, physician or licensed psychologist, after making the determination, shall, on the first business day following the child's request for release from the voluntary program, request that the children's court attorney initiate involuntary placement proceedings. The children's court attorney may petition for such a placement. The child has a right to a hearing on his continued treatment within seven days of his request for release.

N. A child who is a voluntary admittee to a residential treatment program shall have his voluntary admission reviewed at the end of a sixty-day period from the child's initial date of admission to the program. The review shall be accomplished by having the child's physician or licensed psychologist reviewing the child's treatment and determining whether it would be in the best interests of the child to continue the voluntary admission. If the child's physician or licensed psychologist concludes that continuation of treatment is in the child's best interests, the child's physician, licensed psychologist or licensed independent social worker shall so state in a form to be filed in the child's patient record. The residential treatment program shall notify the attorney for the child at least seven days prior to the date that the sixty-day period is to run or if necessary, request an attorney pursuant to the provisions of the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act. The attorney shall then personally meet with the child and ensure that the child understands his rights, as set forth in Subsection I of this section, that the child understands the method for voluntary termination of his admission and that the child knowingly and voluntarily consents to his continued treatment. If the attorney determines that the child understands these rights and that the child voluntarily and knowingly desires to remain as a patient in the residential treatment program and that the physician, licensed psychologist or licensed independent social worker has recommended the continued stay in the program, the attorney shall so certify on a form designated by the district court. The disposition of these forms shall be as set forth in this section, with one copy going in the child's patient record and the other being sent to the district court in a manner that preserves the child's anonymity. This procedure shall take place every sixty days from the last admission or attorney's certification, whichever comes first.

O. If the attorney determines that the child does not voluntarily desire to remain in the program or if the physician, licensed psychologist or licensed independent social worker of the child has not recommended continued stay by the child in the residential treatment program, the child shall be released, or the involuntary commitment procedures of Subsection M of this section and the provisions of the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act shall be followed.

P. Nothing in this section shall limit the right of a child to petition the court for a writ of habeas corpus."

Section 185

Section 185. A new Section 32-6-13 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:
"32-6-13. INVOLUNTARY RESIDENTIAL TREATMENT.--

A. No child may receive treatment for mental disorders or habilitation for developmental disabilities on an involuntary residential basis except as provided in this section.

B. Any person who believes that a child, as a result of a mental disorder or developmental disability, is in need of residential mental health or developmental disabilities services may request that a children's court attorney file a petition with the court for the child's involuntary placement. The petition shall include a detailed description of the symptoms or behaviors of the child that support the allegations in the petition; a list of prospective witnesses for involuntary placement; and a summary of matters to which they will testify. The petition should also contain a discussion of the alternatives to residential care that have been considered and the reasons for rejecting the alternatives. A copy of the petition shall be served upon the child and a copy of the petition shall be served upon a parent, legal guardian or custodian. If the child has a guardian ad litem, a copy of the petition shall be served on the child's guardian ad litem.

C. The court shall, upon receiving the petition, appoint counsel for the child, unless the child has retained an attorney, or an attorney has been appointed pursuant to the provisions of Section 32-6-12 NMSA 1978. The attorney shall represent the child at all stages of the proceedings. In no case shall the child's attorney be a person who, in the previous two years, has advised or represented either the person seeking the involuntary placement of the child or the residential treatment facility, or who would otherwise have a significant conflict of interest.

D. If, after interviewing the child client, the child's attorney determines that the child understands his rights and desires to waive the child's presence at the hearing on the issue of involuntary placement, the attorney shall submit a verified written statement to the court explaining the attorney's understanding of the child's intent. If the court is satisfied that the child has voluntarily and knowingly waived his right to be present at the hearing, the child may be involuntarily placed for residential treatment or habilitation at a hearing at which the child is not present. By waiving the right to be present at the involuntary placement hearing, the child waives no other rights.

E. An involuntary placement hearing shall be held within ten days of the appointment of counsel, or within seven days of the emergency admission of the child to a residential facility under this section, or within seven days from a child's declaration that he desires to terminate his voluntary admission to a residential treatment program for mental disorder.

F. At the involuntary placement hearing, the child shall:

(1) at all times be represented by counsel;

(2) have the right to present evidence, including the testimony of a mental health and developmental disabilities professional of his own choosing;

(3) have the right to cross-examine witnesses;

(4) have the right to a complete record of the proceedings; and

(5) have the right to an expeditious appeal of an adverse ruling.

G. The parents, guardian or custodian of a child involved in an involuntary placement hearing shall have automatic standing as witnesses and shall be allowed to testify by telephone or through a written affidavit if circumstances make personal testimony too burdensome.

H. The court shall include in its findings either a statement of the child's parents', guardian's or custodian's opinion about whether the child should be involuntarily placed in a residential treatment program or a statement detailing the efforts made to ascertain the parent's or guardian's opinion or a statement of why it was not in the child's best interests to have the parent or guardian involved.

I. The court shall make an order involuntarily placing the child in residential care only if it is shown by clear and convincing evidence:

(1) that as a result of mental disorder or developmental disability the child needs and is likely to benefit from the treatment or habilitation services proposed; and

(2) that the proposed involuntary placement is consistent with the treatment needs of the child and with the least drastic means principle.

J. If the court determines that the child does not meet the criteria for involuntary placement set forth in Subsection I of this section, it may order the child to undergo nonresidential treatment as may be appropriate and necessary, or it may order no treatment. If the court determines that the child should not be involuntarily placed in residential care and if the child's family refuses to take the child back into the home, the court shall refer the case to the department for an abuse and neglect investigation. The department may take the child into custody pursuant to the provisions of the Abuse and Neglect Act or the Family in Need of Services Act. If the court determines that the child should not be involuntarily placed in residential care and if the child's family refuses to take the child back into the home, the court may order an alternative living arrangement for the child and grant custody of the child to another person. In such cases, the court shall retain jurisdiction until such time as the child is placed back in the child's family's home, attains the age of eighteen or arrangement for permanent custody is made.

K. Every child receiving involuntary residential treatment for a mental disorder or developmental disability under this section shall have a right to periodic review of his involuntary placement at the end of every involuntary placement period. The involuntary placement period shall not exceed sixty days, and any involuntary placement period commencing thereafter shall not exceed six months. At the expiration of an involuntary placement period, the child may continue in residential care only after a new involuntary placement hearing, and entry of a new order of involuntary placement for one involuntary placement period.

L. Nothing in this section shall limit the right of a child to petition the court for a writ of habeas corpus.

M. If the person seeking the involuntary placement of a child to residential treatment or habilitation believes that the child is likely to cause serious bodily harm to himself or to others during the period that would be required to hold an involuntary placement hearing as provided in this section, the child may be admitted to residential care on an emergency basis. If the child is admitted on an emergency basis, appointment of counsel and other procedures shall then take place as provided elsewhere in this section.

N. Nothing set forth in the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act prohibits a child, who has been involuntarily placed and thereafter discharged and released, from subsequently voluntarily consenting to admission under the provisions of that act."

Section 186

Section 186. Section 32-6-14 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-6-14. TREATMENT AND HABILITATION OF CHILDREN--LIABILITY.--

A. Any child shall have the right, with or without parental consent, to consent to and receive individual psychotherapy, group psychotherapy, guidance, counseling or other forms of verbal therapy that do not include any aversive stimuli or substantial deprivations.

B. No psychosurgery or convulsive treatment shall be performed on a child, except by order of a court upon a finding that the treatment is necessary to prevent serious harm to the child. Consent of a child or his parent to the treatment without a courtorder shall be invalid and shall not be a defense against any legal action that might be brought against the provider of the treatment.

C. No psychotropic medications or behavior modification program shall be administered to any child client without proper consent. If the child client is capable of understanding the proposed nature of treatment and its consequences and is capable of informed consent, his consent shall be obtained before the treatment is performed.

D. Psychotropic medications and behavior modification programs may be administered to children under the age of fourteen only with the consent of the child's parent, guardian or treatment guardian. If the treatment is proposed for a child under the age of fourteen and in the custody of the state, the children's court attorney shall petition the court for the appointment of a treatment guardian. A treatment guardian may serve until the child reaches the age of fourteen.

E. Psychotropic medications and behavior modification programs may be administered to children fourteen years of age and older with the consent of the child, unless the child's parent or guardian objects. If the consent of the child is not obtained, or the child's parent or guardian objects, or if the mental health or developmental disabilities professional or physician who is proposing this or any other course of treatment or any other interested person believes that the child is incapable of informed consent, and the treatment provider or another interested person believes that the administration of the drug or program is necessary to protect the child from serious harm, any interested party may request that the children's court attorney petition the court for appointment of a treatment guardian to make a substitute decision for the child client. The petition shall be served on the child client and the child's attorney. A hearing on the petition shall be held within three court days. At the hearing, the child client shall be represented by counsel and shall have the right to be present, to present witnesses and to cross-examine opposing witnesses. If, after the hearing, the court finds that the child client is not capable of making treatment decisions, the court may order the appointment of a treatment guardian. When reasonable and appropriate, the court may appoint the child's CASA, surrogate parent or other appropriate person as the child's treatment guardian. The treatment guardian shall make a decision on behalf of the child client whether to accept treatment, depending on whether the treatment appears to be in the child client's best interest and is the least drastic means for accomplishing the treatment objective. In making this decision, the treatment guardian shall consult with the child client and consider the child's expressed opinions, if any, even if those opinions do not constitute valid consent or rejection of treatment. The treatment guardian shall give consideration to any previous decisions made by the child client in similar circumstances when the child client was able to make treatment decisions. If a child client, who is not a resident of a medical facility and for whom a treatment guardian has been appointed, refuses to comply with the decision of the treatment guardian, the treatment guardian may apply to the court for an enforcement order. The enforcement order may authorize any peace officer to take the child client into custody and to transport the child to an evaluation facility and may authorize the facility to forcibly administer treatment. The treatment guardian shall consult with the physician or other professional who is proposing treatment, the child client's attorney and interested friends or relatives of the client as the treatment guardian deems appropriate in making this decision. A child client, physician or other professional wishing to appeal the decision of the treatment guardian may do so by filing an appeal with the court within three calendar days of receiving notice of the treatment guardian's decision. In such a decision, the child client shall be represented by counsel. The court may overrule the treatment guardian's decision if it finds that decision to be against the best interests of the child client.

F. When the court appoints a treatment guardian, it shall specify the length of time during which the treatment guardian may exercise treatment guardian powers, up to a maximum period of one year. If, at the end of the guardianship period, the treatment guardian believes that the child client is still incapable of making treatment decisions, the treatment guardian shall petition the court for reappointment or for appointment of a new treatment guardian. The guardianship shall be extended or a new guardian shall be appointed only if the court finds the child client is, at the time of the hearing, incapable of understanding and expressing an opinion regarding treatment decisions. The child client shall be represented by counsel and shall have the right to be present and present evidence at all such hearings.

G. If during the period of a treatment guardian's power, the treatment guardian, the child client, the treatment provider, a member of the child client's family or the child client's attorney believes that the child client has regained competence to make treatment decisions, that person may petition the court for a termination of the treatment guardianship. If the court finds the child client is capable of making treatment decisions, it shall terminate the power of the treatment guardian and restore to the child client the power to make treatment decisions.

H. A treatment guardian shall only have those powers enumerated in the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act.

I. If a licensed physician believes that the administration of psychotropic medication is necessary to protect the child from serious harm that would occur while the provisions of this section are being satisfied, the licensed physician may administer the medication on an emergency basis. When medication is administered to a child on an emergency basis, the treating physician shall prepare and place in the child's medical records a report explaining the nature of the emergency and the reason that no treatment less drastic than administration of psychotropic medication without proper consent would have protected the child from serious harm.

J. Liability of persons providing mental health and developmental disability services to children shall be as follows:

(1) no mental health or developmental disability professional or treatment facility is required to detain, treat or provide services to a child when the child does not require detention, treatment or services;

(2) no mental health or developmental disability professional or facility may be held liable solely on the basis of misrepresentations made to them by a child seeking treatment or habilitation services or by a child's parent; provided that the professional or the facility's staff acted in good faith;

(3) nothing in the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act shall be construed to relieve any professional or facility from liability for negligence in the diagnosis and treatment or services provided to any child; and

(4) nothing in the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act shall be construed to relieve any professional or facility from duties placed on them by reporting laws relating to the detection of child abuse.

K. A parent shall be responsible for the cost of mental health services provided to the parent's child. This section does not affect the right of any child to receive free mental health or developmental disability services under any publicly supported program or the right of any parent to reimbursement from, or payment on the child's behalf by, any publicly supported program or private insurer; provided that the state shall pay no more than four hundred dollars ($400) per day for the cost of such services. The state may adjust this rate. However, any adjustment should be based on a cost analysis conducted by the department and reviewed by the legislative finance committee."

Section 187

Section 187. A new Section 32-6-15 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"32-6-15. DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION.--

A. Except as otherwise provided in the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act, no person shall, without the authorization of the child client, disclose or transmit any confidential information from which a person well acquainted with the child client might recognize the child client as the described person, or any code, number or other means that could be used to match the child client with confidential information regarding him.

B. Authorization from the child client shall not be required for the disclosure or transmission of confidential information in the following circumstances:

(1) when the request is from a mental health or developmental disability professional or from an employee or trainee working with mentally disordered or developmentally disabled persons, to the extent their practice, employment or training on behalf of the child client requires that they have access to the information;

(2) when the disclosure is necessary to protect against a clear and substantial risk of imminent serious physical injury or death inflicted by the child client on himself or another;

(3) when the disclosure of the information to the parent or the legal guardian is essential for the treatment of the child;

(4) when the disclosure of the information is to the primary caregiver of the client and the disclosure is only of information necessary for the continuity of the child client's treatment in the judgment of the treating physician, licensed psychologist or licensed independent social worker who discloses the information;

(5) when the disclosure is to an insurer contractually obligated to pay part or all of the expenses relating to the treatment of the child client at the residential facility. The information disclosed shall be limited to data identifying the child client, facility and treating or supervising physician and the dates and duration of the residential treatment. It shall not be a defense to an insurer's obligation to pay that the information relating to the residential treatment of the child client, apart from information disclosed pursuant to this section, has not been disclosed to the insurer; or

(6) when the disclosure is to a protection and advocacy representative pursuant to the federal Developmental Disabilities Assistance and Bill of Rights Act and the federal Protection and Advocacy for Mentally Ill Individuals Act of 1991.

C. No authorization given for the transmission or disclosure of confidential information shall be effective unless it:

(1) is in writing and signed; and

(2) contains a statement of the child client's right to examine and copy the information to be disclosed, the name or title of the proposed recipient of the information and a description of the use that may be made of the information.

D. The child client has a right of access to confidential information about himself and has the right to make copies of any information and to submit clarifying or correcting statements and other documentation of reasonable length for inclusion with the confidential information. The statements and other documentation shall be kept with the relevant confidential information, shall accompany it in the event of disclosure and shall be governed by the provisions of this section to the extent the statements or other documentation contain confidential information. Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit the denial of access to the records when a physician or other mental health or developmental disabilities professional believes and notes in the child client's medical records that the disclosure would not be in the best interests of the child client. In any case, the child client has the right to petition the court for an order granting access.

E. When there exists evidence that the child client whose consent to disclosure of confidential information is sought is incapable of giving or withholding valid consent and the child client does not have a guardian or treatment guardian appointed by a court, the person seeking the authorization shall petition the court for the appointment of a treatment guardian to make a substitute decision for the child client, except that if the child client is less than fourteen years of age, the child client's parent or guardian is authorized to consent to disclosure on behalf of the child client.

F. Information concerning a child client disclosed under this section shall not be released to any other person, agency or governmental entity or placed in files or computerized data banks accessible to any persons not otherwise authorized to obtain information under this section.

G. Nothing in the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act shall limit the confidentiality rights afforded by federal statute or regulation.

H. Nothing in this section shall prohibit a clerk of a district court from providing, to any person authorized under Sections 47-4-1 through 47-4-8 NMSA 1978 to conduct abstracter's business or any person authorized pursuant to Chpter 59A NMSA 1978 to conduct business as a title insurer or title insurance agent within New Mexico, information concerning the appointment of a guardian or conservator pursuant to Sections 45-5-201 through 45-5-432 NMSA 1978; provided that the information shall be limited to:

(1) docket entries;

(2) date of the proceeding, appointment and termination;

(3) duration and type of the guardianship or conservatorship;

(4) limitations, if any, on the powers of the guardian or conservator; and

(5) the name and other information necessary to identify the ward; provided, however, the disclosure shall not include any diagnostic treatment or other medical information."

"32-6-16. SPECIAL COMMISSIONER.--The court may conduct the proceedings required by the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act, or may, by general or special order, appoint a special commissioner to do so. The special commissioner shall be a licensed attorney. Upon conclusion of the hearing, the special commissioner shall file his findings and recommendations with the court promptly."

Release on convalescent status shall include provisions for continuing responsibility to and of the hospital. Prior to the expiration of the child client's involuntary placement period, the director of the residential facility shall re-examine the facts relating to the involuntary placement of the child client on convalescent status and, if the director determines that in view of the condition of the child client, involuntary placement is no longer appropriate, the director shall discharge the child client.

B. Prior to the discharge, the director of the residential facility from which the child client is given convalescent status may at any time re-admit the child client. If there is reason to believe that the child client requires rehospitalization, the director of the residential facility may issue an order for the immediate return of the child client. The order, if not voluntarily complied with, shall, upon order by a judge of the district court of the county in which the child client is resident or present, authorize any peace officer to take the child client into custody and transport the child to the residential facility."

If the applicant or permittee is dissatisfied with the action taken by the constituent agency, he may file a petition for hearing before the commission. "66-7-413. PERMITS FOR EXCESSIVE SIZE AND WEIGHT--SPECIAL NOTIFICATION REQUIRED ON MOVEMENT OF MANUFACTURED HOMES.--

A. The motor transportation division and local highway authorities may, in their discretion, upon application in writing and good cause being shown, issue a special permit in writing authorizing the applicant to operate or move a vehicle or load of a size or weight exceeding the maximum specified in Sections 66-7-401 through 66-7-416 NMSA 1978 on any highway under the jurisdiction of the state highway commission or local authorities. In every other case, the permit shall be issued for a single trip and may designate the route to be traversed and contain any other restrictions or conditions deemed necessary by the body granting the permit. Every permit shall be carried in the vehicle to which it refers and shall be opened for inspection to any peace officer. It is a misdemeanor for any person to violate any of the conditions or terms of the special permit.

B. The motor transportation division shall charge and collect, when the movement consists of any load of a width of twenty feet or greater for a distance of five miles or more, the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) a day or fraction thereof to defray the cost of state or local police escort. The permit issued and the fee charged shall be based upon the entire movement at one time requiring police escort and not upon the number of vehicles involved.

C. The motor transportation division shall promulgate regulations in accordance with the State Rules Act pertaining to safety practices, liability insurance and equipment for escort vehicles provided by the motor carrier himself and for escort vehicles provided by a private business in this state.

(1) If a motor carrier provides his own escort vehicles and personnel, the motor transportation division shall not charge an escort fee but shall provide the motor carrier escort personnel with a copy of applicable regulations and shall inspect the escort vehicles for the safety equipment required by the regulations. If the escort vehicles and personnel meet the requirements set forth in the regulations and if the motor carrier holds a valid certificate of public convenience and necessity or permit, as applicable, issued pursuant to Chapter 65, Article 2 NMSA 1978, the motor transportation division shall issue the special permit.

(2) If the escort service is a private business, the business shall have applied to the state corporation commission for and been issued a permit or certificate to operate as a contract or common motor carrier pursuant to Chapter 65, Article 2 NMSA 1978. The state corporation commission shall supply copies of applicable regulations to the business by mail and shall supply additional copies upon request. After making that determination, the state highway and transportation department shall hold public hearings in the area of the state affected by the determination, after which it may adopt regulations designating those four-lane highways as being safe for the operation or movement of manufactured homes without an escort. If any portion of such a four-lane highway lies within the boundaries of a municipality, the state highway and transportation department, after obtaining the approval of the municipal governing body, shall include such portions in its regulations.

D. Except for the movement of manufactured homes, special permits may be issued for a single vehicle or combination of vehicles by the motor transportation division for a period not to exceed one year for a fee of sixty dollars ($60.00). The permits may allow excessive height, length and width for a vehicle or combination of vehicles or load thereon and may include a provision for excessive weight if the operation is to be within the vicinity of a municipality.

E. Special permits for a single trip for a vehicle or combination of vehicles or load thereon of excessive weight, width, length and height may be issued for a single vehicle for a fee of fifteen dollars ($15.00).

F. If the vehicle for which a permit is issued under this section is a manufactured home, the motor transportation division or local highway authority issuing the permit shall furnish the following information to the property tax division which shall then forward the information:

(1) to the county assessor of any county from which a manufactured home is being moved, the date the permit was issued, the location being moved from, the location being moved to if within the same county, the name of the owner of the manufactured home and the identification and registration numbers of the manufactured home;

G. Except as provided in Subsection H of this section, if the movement of a manufactured home originates in this state, no permit shall be issued under Subsection F of this section until the owner of the manufactured home or his authorized agent obtains and presents to the motor transportation division proof that a certificate has been issued by the county assessor or treasurer of the county in which the manufactured home movement originates showing that either:

(1) all property taxes due or to become due on the manufactured home for the current tax year or any past tax years have been paid, except for manufactured homes located on an Indian reservation; or

(2) no liability for property taxes on the manufactured home exists for the current tax year or any past tax years, except for manufactured homes located on an Indian reservation.

H. The movement of a manufactured home from the lot or business location of a manufactured home dealer to its destination designated by an owner-purchaser is not subject to the requirements of Subsection G of this section if the manufactured home movement originates from the lot or business location of the dealer and the manufactured home was part of his inventory prior to the sale to the owner-purchaser; however, the movement of a manufactured home by a dealer or his authorized agent as a result of a sale or trade-in from a nondealer-owner is subject to the requirements of Subsection G of this section whether the destination is the business location of a dealer or some other destination.

I. No permit shall be issued under this section for movement of a manufactured home whose width exceeds eighteen feet with no more than a six-inch roof overhang on the left side or twelve inches on the right side in addition to the eighteen foot width of the manufactured home. Manufactured homes exceeding the limitations of this section shall only be moved on dollies placed on the front and the rear of the structure.

The department shall charge a fee for each self-issued permit not to exceed fifteen dollars ($15.00).

L. Any private motor carrier requesting an oversize or overweight permit must provide proof of insurance in at least the following amounts:

CHAPTER 159

RELATING TO CRIMINAL PROCEDURE; ESTABLISHING A PROCEDURE FOR FORFEITURE OF BAIL BONDS; AMENDING SECTION 31-3-2 NMSA 1978 (BEING LAWS 1972, CHAPTER 71, SECTION 9, AS AMENDED).

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

Section 1

Section 1. Section 31-3-2 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1972, Chapter 71, Section 9, as amended) is amended to read:

"31-3-2. FAILURE TO APPEAR--FORFEITURE OF BAIL BONDS.--

A. Whenever any person fails to appear at the time and place fixed by the terms of recognizance, the court may issue a warrant for his arrest.

B. Whenever a person fails to appear at the time and place fixed by the terms of his bail bond, the court:

(1) may issue a warrant for his arrest; and

(2) may declare a forfeiture of the bail. If the court declares a forfeiture, it shall:

(a) declare such forfeiture at the time of nonappearance;

(b) give written notice thereof to the surety within four working days of declaration; and

(c) issue a bench warrant for the person's arrest.

C. The court may direct that a forfeiture be set aside, upon such conditions as the court may impose, if it appears that justice does not require the enforcement of the forfeiture.

D. When a forfeiture has not been set aside, the court shall on motion enter a judgment of default, and execution may issue thereon. By entering into a bail bond, the obligors submit to the jurisdiction of the court and irrevocably appoint the clerk of the court as their agent upon whom papers affecting their liability may be served. Liability of the surety may be enforced on motion without the necessity of an independent action.

E. Notice of the motion to enter a judgment of default may be served pursuant to the rules of criminal procedure or may be served on the clerk of the court, who shall forthwith mail copies to the obligors at their last known address. The notice shall require the sureties to appear on or before a given date and show cause why judgment shall not be entered against them for the amount of the bail bond or recognizance. If good cause is not shown, the court may then enter judgment against the obligors on the recognizance, for such sum as it sees fit, not exceeding the penalty fixed by the bail bond or recognizance.

F. When a judgment has been rendered against the defendant or surety for the whole or part of the penalty of a forfeited recognizance, the court rendering such judgment shall remit the amount thereof when, after such rendition, the accused has been arrested and surrendered to the proper court to be tried on such charge or to answer the judgment of the court, provided that the apprehension of the accused in some way was aided by the surety's efforts or by information supplied by the surety.

G. If any amount remains unpaid ten days after entry of judgment, the court may issue execution for satisfaction of judgment.

H. In the event that an obligor does not possess property in this state sufficient to satisfy a judgment against it for the whole or part of the penalty of a forfeited recognizance, the court entering judgment against the obligor on the recognizance shall send written notification to the superintendent of insurance. Immediately upon receipt of such written notification and pursuant to Section 46-6-4 NMSA 1978, the superintendent of insurance shall inform the obligor that unless the judgment is paid or an appeal, writ of error or supersedeas is taken within thirty days of the rendition of the judgment or decree, such obligor shall forfeit all right to do business in this state. If timely appeal, writ of error or supersedeas is not taken, the superintendent of insurance shall immediately take whatever steps necessary to revoke the right of the obligor to do business in this state." "DISABILITY RETIREMENT.--

A. There is created a disability review committee of the retirement board. The disability review committee shall consist of at least three but not more than five retirement board members and at least one physician licensed in New Mexico appointed by the retirement board. The disability review committee shall review all applications for disability retirement, review reports required under this section and approve or deny applications for disability retirement.

B. The disability review committee may retire a member on account of disability before the time the member would otherwise be eligible for retirement if the following requirements are satisfied:

(1) the member applying for disability retirement was a member at the time the disability was incurred;

(2) a written application for disability retirement, in the form and containing the information prescribed by the association, has been filed with the association by the member or by the member's affiliated public employer;

(3) employment is terminated within forty-five days of the date of approval of the application for disability retirement;

(4) if:

(b) the incapacity is likely to be permanent; or

(2) if the member is not a currently employed, contributing employee of an affiliated public employer:

(a) the member is mentally or physically totally incapacitated for any gainful employment; and

(b) the incapacity is likely to be permanent.

D. The disability retirement pension shall be paid for a period of one year after approval of the initial application unless the disability review committee for good cause shown grants disability retirement for a longer period of time. After approval, payment shall be effective commencing the first of the month following submission of the initial application and termination of employment.

E. At the end of the first year that a disability retirement pension is paid, the disability retired member's condition shall be reevaluated to determine eligibility for continuation of payment of a disability retirement pension. If the disability retired member has applied for disability benefits under the federal social security program, he shall submit copies of his application. The association shall continue payment of the state disability retirement pension if the disability retired member presents a written final determination from the federal social security administration that the disability retired member qualifies, based on the same condition or conditions as presented in the application for a state disability retirement pension, for federal disability benefits.

F. If the disability retired member applied for federal disability benefits within thirty days of receiving approval for a state disability retirement pension but the federal social security administration has not made a written final determination of entitlement by the end of the first year that the disability retired member has received a state disability retirement pension, eligibility for continued payment of the state disability retirement pension shall be determined by the disability review committee. The state disability retirement pension shall be discontinued if the disability review committee finds that the disability retired member is capable of any gainful employment.

G. The disability retired member shall notify the association of the federal social security administration's final determination within fifteen working days of the date of issuance of the final written determination. If the federal social security administration denies federal disability benefits, the state disability retirement pension shall be discontinued effective the first of the month following the month in which the written final determination of the federal social security administration was issued. If the federal social security administration grants federal disability benefits, the state disability retirement pension shall be continued, so long as the disability retired member provides annually, on or before the anniversary date of commencement of payment of the state disability retirement pension, written evidence of continuation of payment of federal disability benefits. If the disability review committee has denied continuation of payment of a state disability retirement pension, and the disability retired member is later granted federal disability benefits, the state disability retirement pension shall be reinstated effective the first of the month following the month in which the state disability retirement pension was discontinued.

H. If, at the time of reevaluation under Subsection E of this section, the disability retired member has applied for and has qualified for federal disability benefits, but for a different condition than was reviewed by the disability review committee, the disability review committee shall review the disability retired member's condition as described by the application for federal disability benefits. The process set forth in Subsection I of this section shall be followed to determine whether payment of a state disability retirement pension should be continued.

I. If the disability retired member is not eligible to apply for federal disability benefits or is not a member of the federal social security program, the disability review committee annually shall determine eligibility for continuation of payment of a state disability retirement pension. To make its determination of continued entitlement, the disability review committee shall use the guidelines established by the federal social security administration for determination of eligibility for federal disability benefits. The determination shall be based on:

(1) the medical and all other information provided by the disability retired member;

(2) at least one independent medical or other examination performed at the association's expense if required by the disability review committee; and

(3) any and all medical, vocational or other information related to the disability compiled during the period of disability by any medical or other practitioner consulted by the disability retired member regarding the disability which was not paid for by the association.

J. Each disability retired member annually shall submit to the association, prior to July 1, a statement of earnings from gainful employment during the preceding calendar year. The statement of earnings shall be in the form prescribed by the association. Payment of the state disability retirement pension shall be discontinued if the amount of earnings from gainful employment is one hundred percent or more of the amount which causes a decrease or suspension of an old age benefit under the federal social security program, or fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000), whichever is less. Payment of the state disability retirement pension shall be discontinued starting with the month of July if the statement of earnings is not received by the association prior to July 1.

K. Upon prior approval by the association, a disability retired member may return to employment with an affiliated public employer or other employer for a trial period not to exceed one hundred twenty calendar days without becoming a member or causing suspension or discontinuation of payment of a state disability retirement pension. If the trial period of employment is successfully completed, payment of the disability retirement pension shall be discontinued beginning the first of the month following the one hundred twentieth day of the trial period of employment. Trial periods of employment shall be limited to two in any five-year period following disability retirement.

L. If the disability retired member meets the minimum age and service credit requirements for normal retirement while receiving a disability retirement pension, the disability retirement pension shall be reclassified by the association as a normal retirement pension, and no further determinations of eligibility for continuation of payment of the disability retirement pension shall be made. Upon reclassification as a normal retirement pension, all the provisions of this act regarding normal retirement shall be applicable.

M. If the disability review committee found the disability to be the natural and proximate result of causes arising solely and exclusively out of and in the course of the member's employment with an affiliated public employer, service credit shall continue to accrue during the disability retirement period as though the disability retired member was actively employed.

N. The amount of a disability retirement pension shall be calculated according to the provisions of the coverage plan applicable to the member at the time of application, except that the service credit requirement shall be waived and the actual amount of service credit shall be used instead. If the disability is the natural and proximate result of causes arising solely and exclusively out of and in the course of the member's performance of duty for an affiliated public employer, the amount of disability retirement pension shall be calculated according to the provisions of the coverage plan applicable to the member, imputing the amount of service credit necessary to meet the minimum service credit requirements for normal retirement.

O. For the purposes of this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) "continued employment with the affiliated public employer" means the ability of the member to fulfill the required duties of the position in which the member was last employed by his affiliated public employer;

(2) "gainful employment" means remunerative employment or self-employment that is commensurate with the applicant's background, age, education, experience and any new skills or training the applicant may have acquired after terminating public employment or incurring the disability;

(3) "state disability retirement pension" means the pension paid pursuant to the provisions of this section; and

(4) "federal disability benefits" means those benefits paid by the federal social security program."

"DEATH BEFORE RETIREMENT--SURVIVOR PENSIONS.--

A. Applications may be filed on behalf of the potential survivor beneficiary or beneficiaries by a person legally authorized to represent them.

B. If the retirement board finds the death to have been the natural and proximate result of causes arising solely and exclusively out of and in the course of the member's performance of duty with an affiliated pubic employer, a survivor pension shall be payable to the eligible surviving spouse. The amount of the survivor pension shall be the greater of:

(1) eighty percent of the amount of pension calculated in the same manner as a normal retirement pension under form of payment A using the actual amount of service credit attributable to the deceased member at the time of death; or

(2) fifty percent of the deceased member's final average salary.

C. A survivor pension shall also be payable to eligible surviving children, if the retirement board finds the death to have been the natural and proximate result of causes arising solely and exclusively out of and in the course of the member's performance of duty with an affiliated public employer. The total amount of survivor pension payable for all eligible surviving children shall be either:

(1) fifty percent of the deceased member's final average salary if an eligible surviving spouse is not paid a pension; or

(2) twenty-five percent of the deceased member's final average salary if an eligible surviving spouse is paid a pension.

The total amount of survivor pension shall be divided equally between all eligible surviving children. If there is only one eligible child, the amount of pension shall be twenty-five percent of the deceased member's final average salary.

D. If the member had five or more years of service credit, but the retirement board did not find the death to have been the natural and proximate result of causes arising solely and exclusively out of and in the course of the member's performance of duty with an affiliated public employer, a survivor pension shall be payable to the eligible surviving spouse. The amount of the survivor pension shall be the greater of:

(1) eighty percent of the amount of pension calculated in the same manner as a normal retirement pension under form of payment A using the total amount of actual service credit attributable to the deceased member at the time of death; or

(2) thirty percent of the deceased member's final average salary.

E. If the member had five or more years of service credit, but the retirement board did not find the death to have been the natural and proximate result of causes arising solely and exclusively out of and in the course of the member's performance of duty with an affiliated public employer, and if there is not an eligible surviving spouse or the eligible surviving spouse subsequently dies, a survivor pension shall be payable to and divided equally between all eligible surviving children, if any. The total amount of survivor pension payable for all eligible surviving children shall be the greater of:

(1) fifty percent of an amount calculated in the same manner as a normal retirement pension under form of payment A using the total amount of actual service credit attributable to the deceased member at the time of death; or

(2) twenty-five percent of the deceased member's final average salary.

F. An eligible surviving spouse is the spouse to whom the deceased member was married at the time of death. An eligible surviving child is a child under the age of eighteen years and who is an unmarried, natural or adopted child of the deceased member.

G. An eligible surviving spouse's pension shall terminate upon death. An eligible surviving child's pension shall terminate upon death or marriage or reaching age eighteen years, whichever comes first.

H. If there is no eligible surviving child, the eligible surviving spouse may elect to be refunded the deceased member's accumulated member contributions instead of receiving a survivor pension.

I. A member who has five or more years of service credit may designate one or more survivor beneficiaries to receive a survivor pension, subject to the following conditions:

(1) a written designation, in the form prescribed by the association, is filed by the member with the association;

(2) if the member is married at the time of designation, the designation shall only be made with the consent of the member's spouse, in the form prescribed by the association;

(3) if the member is married subsequent to the time of designation, any prior designations shall automatically be revoked upon the date of the marriage;

(4) if the member is divorced subsequent to the time of designation, any prior designation of the former spouse as survivor beneficiary shall automatically be revoked upon the date of divorce;

(5) a designation of survivor beneficiary may be changed, with the member's spouse's consent if the member is married, by the member at any time prior to the member's death;

(6) if more than one survivor beneficiary is designated, only those designated survivor beneficiaries who are under the age of twenty-five years at the time of the deceased member's death shall be eligible to receive a survivor pension;

(7) each designated survivor beneficiary who is under the age of twenty-five years shall be paid a pension until reaching the age of twenty-five years or until death before the age of twenty-five years;

(8) if there is more than one designated survivor beneficiary, the amount of pension to be paid each designated survivor beneficiary for a month is equal to the amount as calculated under the coverage plan applicable to the deceased member at the time of death as though the deceased member had retired the day preceding death under form of payment B with the oldest designated survivor beneficiary as the survivor beneficiary, divided by the number of designated survivor beneficiaries who will be paid for the month; and

(9) if there is only one designated survivor beneficiary, the amount of pension shall be calculated under the coverage plan applicable to the member at the time of death as though the deceased member had retired the day preceding death under form of payment B with the designated survivor beneficiary as survivor beneficiary.

J. A member who has less than five years of service credit may designate one or more survivor beneficiaries to receive a survivor pension if the member dies prior to the retirement and the retirement board finds the member's death to be the natural and proximate result of causes arising solely and exclusively out of and in the course of the member's performance of duty with an affiliated public employer. If more than one survivor beneficiary is designated, the survivor pension shall be calculated according to the provisions of Subsection C of this section, subject to the same conditions listed in Subsection I of this section. If one survivor beneficiary is designated, the survivor pension shall be calculated according to the provisions of Subsection B of this section, subject to the same conditions listed in Paragraphs (1) through (5) of Subsection I of this section.

K. Designation of one or more survivor beneficiaries pursuant to the provisions of Subsection I or J of this section shall preclude payment of a survivor beneficiary pursuant to the provisions of Subsections B through E of this section.

L. If all pension payments permanently terminate before there is paid an aggregate amount equal to the deceased member's accumulated member contributions at time of death, the difference between the amount of accumulated member contributions and the aggregate amount of pension paid shall be paid to the deceased member's refund beneficiary. If no refund beneficiary survives the survivor beneficiary, the difference shall be paid to the estate of the deceased member."

Section 5. Section 10-11-118.1 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1992, Chapter 116, Section 9) is amended to read:

"10-11-118.1. ADJUSTMENT OF BENEFITS.--

A. If payment of a pension or other retirement benefit causes a decrease in the amount of monetary payments or other needs-based benefits due to a payee from any other governmental agency, the pension or other retirement benefit shall be reduced for the period during which the pension or other retirement benefit prevents payment of another needs-based benefit to result in payment of the maximum amount possible by the association and the other governmental agency to the payee. Any amounts which would otherwise be paid out which are not paid in accordance with the provisions of this section shall not be recoverable by a payee at any later date.

B. If there is a change in the effect of a pension or other retirement benefit on any monetary payments or other needs-based benefits due to a payee from any other governmental agency, the pension or other retirement benefits shall be adjusted to result in the maximum total benefit to the payee. In no event shall any pension be increased in an amount greater than that authorized by the Public Employees Retirement Act.

C. The provisions of this section are mandatory and may not be waived or declined by a payee. Each payee shall provide the association with all information necessary for the association to carry out the requirements imposed by this section.

D. If the payee fails to provide all the facts necessary to comply with the requirements imposed by this section, and payment of a pension or other retirement benefit is made without making the adjustment required by this section, neither the retirement board, the executive secretary nor any officer or employee of the association or the retirement board shall be liable to any third party because the adjustment was not made as required.

Section 6

"10-11-124. MEMBER CONTRIBUTION FUND.--

A. The member contribution fund is the accounting fund in which shall be accumulated contributions of members and from which shall be made refunds and transfers of accumulated member contributions as provided in the Public Employees Retirement Act. Each affiliated public employer shall cause the member contributions specified by the coverage plan applicable to each of that affiliated public employer's members to be deducted from the salary of each member. Each affiliated public employer shall remit the deducted member contributions to the association in accordance with the procedures and schedules established by the association. The association may assess an interest charge and a penalty charge on any remittance not made by its due date. Each member shall be deemed to consent and agree to the deductions made and provided for in this section by continuing employment with the affiliated public employer. Contributions by members shall be credited to the members' individual accounts in the member contribution fund.

B. A member's accumulated contributions shall be transferred to the retirement reserve fund if a pension becomes payable upon the retirement or death of the member. If a disability retirement pension is terminated for a reason other than the death of the disability retired member before an amount equal to the disability retired member's accumulated member contributions has been paid, the unexpended balance of the accumulated member contributions shall be transferred from the retirement reserve fund to the former disability retired member's individual account in the member contribution fund.

C. If a member terminates affiliated public employment or is on leave of absence frm an affiliated public employer as a consequence of the entry into active duty with the armed forces of the United States, the member may, with the written consent of the member's spouse, if any, withdraw the member's accumulated member contributions, upon making written request in a form prescribed by the association. Upon written request of the member in the form prescribed by the association, a refund of member contributions may be made by a trustee-to-trustee transfer of the contributions from the member contribution fund directly to another qualified plan as allowed by the Internal Revenue Code. Withdrawal of member contributions shall result in forfeiture of the service credit accrued for the period during which the contributions were made.

D. A member shall, upon commencement of membership, designate a refund beneficiary who shall receive the refund of the member contributions, plus interest if any, if the member dies and no survivor pension is payable. If the member is married at the time of designation, written spousal consent shall be required if the designated refund beneficiary is other than the spouse. Marriage subsequent to the designation shall automatically revoke a previous designation, and the spouse shall become the refund beneficiary unless or until another designation is filed with the association. Divorce subsequent to the designation shall automatically revoke designation of the former spouse as refund beneficiary, or the right of the former spouse to be refund beneficiary if no designation has been filed, and the refund shall be paid to the deceased member's estate unless the member filed a designation of refund beneficiary subsequent to the divorce. The refund shall be paid to the refund beneficiary named in the most recent designation of refund beneficiary on file with the association unless that beneficiary is deceased. If there is not a living refund beneficiary named in the most recent designation of refund beneficiary on file with the association, the deceased member's accumulated member contributions shall be paid to the estate of the deceased member."

The court shall not alter the manner in which the amount of pensions or other benefits is calculated by the association or cause any increase in the actuarial present value of the pensions or other benefits to be paid by the association."

Section 8

The court shall not alter the manner in which the amount of pensions or other benefits is calculated by the association. The court shall not cause any increase in the actuarial present value of the pensions or other benefits to be paid by the association. BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

Section 1

Section 1. Section 57-16-5 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1973, Chapter 6, Section 5, as amended) is amended to read:

"57-16-5. UNLAWFUL ACTS--MANUFACTURERS--DISTRIBUTORS--REPRESENTATIVES.--It is unlawful for any manufacturer, distributor or representative to:

A. coerce or attempt to coerce a dealer to order or accept delivery of any motor vehicle, appliances, equipment, parts or accessories therefor or any other commodity that the motor vehicle dealer has not voluntarily ordered;

B. coerce or attempt to coerce a dealer to order or accept delivery of any motor vehicle with special features, appliances, accessories or equipment not included in the list price of the motor vehicles as publicly advertised by the manufacturer;

C. coerce or attempt to coerce a dealer to order for any person any parts, accessories, equipment, machinery, tools, appliances or any commodity whatsoever;

D. refuse to deliver, in reasonable quantities and within a reasonable time after receipt of dealer's order, to any motor vehicle dealer having a franchise or contractual arrangement for the retail sale of any motor vehicles sold or distributed by the manufacturer, distributor or representative, any such motor vehicles, parts or accessories as are covered by the franchise or contract specifically publicly advertised by the manufacturer, distributor or representative to be available for immediate delivery; provided, however, the failure to deliver any motor vehicle, parts or accessories shall not be considered a violation of Chapter 57, Article 16 NMSA 1978 if such failure is due to an act of God, work stoppage or delay due to a strike or labor difficulty, shortage of materials, freight embargo or other cause over which the manufacturer, distributor or representative or any agent thereof has no control;

E. coerce or attempt to coerce any motor vehicle dealer to enter into any agreement with the manufacturer, distributor or representative or to do any other act prejudicial to the dealer by threatening to cancel any franchise or any contractual agreement existing between the manufacturer, distributor or representative and the dealer; provided, however, that notice in good faith to any motor vehicle dealer of the dealer's violation of any terms or provisions of the franchise or contractual agreement shall not constitute a violation of Chapter 57, Article 16 NMSA 1978;

F. terminate or cancel the franchise or selling agreement of any dealer without due cause. The nonrenewal of a franchise or selling agreement, without due cause, shall constitute an unfair termination or cancellation regardless of the terms or provisions of the franchise or selling agreement. The manufacturer, distributor or representative shall notify a motor vehicle dealer in writing by registered mail of the termination or cancellation of the franchise or selling agreement of the dealer at least sixty days before the effective date thereof, stating the specific grounds for termination or cancellation; and the manufacturer, distributor or representative shall notify a motor vehicle dealer in writing by registered mail at least sixty days before the contractual term of his franchise or selling agreement expires that the same will not be renewed, stating the specific grounds for nonrenewal in those cases where there is no intention to renew, and in no event shall the contractual term of any franchise or selling agreement expire without the written consent of the motor vehicle dealer involved prior to the expiration of at least sixty days following the written notice. During the sixty-day period, either party may in appropriate circumstances petition a court to modify the sixty-day stay or to extend it pending a final determination of proceedings on the merits. The court shall have authority to grant preliminary and final injunctive relief;

G. use false, deceptive or misleading advertising in connection with his business;

H. offer to sell or to sell any motor vehicle to any motor vehicle dealer in this or any other state of the United States at a lower actual price than the actual price offered to any other motor vehicle dealer in this state for the same model vehicle similarly equipped or to utilize any device, including, but not limited to, sales promotion plans or programs that result in such lesser actual price; provided, however, the provisions of this subsection shall not apply to sales to a motor vehicle dealer for resale to any unit of the United States government, the state or any of its political subdivisions; and provided, further, the provisions of this subsection shall not apply to sales to a motor vehicle dealer of any motor vehicle ultimately sold, donated or used by the dealer in a driver education program; and provided, further, that the provisions of this subsection shall not apply so long as a manufacturer, distributor or representative offers to sell or sells new motor vehicles to all motor vehicle dealers at an equal price. For the purposes of this subsection, "actual price" means the price to be paid by the dealer less any incentive paid by the manufacturer, distributor or representative, whether paid to the dealer or the ultimate purchaser of the vehicle. This provision shall not apply to sales by the manufacturer, distributor or representatives to the United States government or any agency thereof. The provisions of this subsection dealing with vehicle prices in any other state and defining actual price shall not apply to any manufacturer or distributor which has no dealer within fifty miles of a state line, which dealer is in a different region from that other state;

I. willfully discriminate, either directly or indirectly, in price between different purchasers of a commodity of like grade or quality where the effect of the discrimination may be to lessen substantially competition or tend to create a monopoly or to injure or destroy the business of a competitor;

J. offer to sell or to sell parts or accessories to any motor vehicle dealer for use in his own business for the purpose of repairing or replacing the same or a comparable part or accessory at a lower actual price than the actual price charged to any other motor vehicle dealer for similar parts or accessories for use in his own business; provided, however, in those cases where motor vehicle dealers have a franchise to operate and serve as wholesalers of parts and accessories to retail outlets or other dealers, whether or not the dealer is regularly designated as a wholesaler, nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent a manufacturer, distributor or representative from selling to the motor vehicle dealer who operates and services as a wholesaler of parts and accessories such parts and accessories as may be ordered by the motor vehicle dealer for resale to retail outlets at a lower actual price than the actual price charged a motor vehicle dealer who does not operate or serve as a wholesaler of parts and accessories;

K. prevent or attempt to prevent by contract or otherwise any motor vehicle dealer from changing the capital structure of his dealership or the means by or through which he finances the operation of his dealership, provided the dealer at all times meets any reasonable capital standards agreed to between the dealership and the manufacturer, distributor or representative, and provided such change by the dealer does not result in a change in the executive management control of the dealership;

L. prevent or attempt to prevent by contract or otherwise any motor vehicle dealer or any officer, partner or stockholder of any motor vehicle dealer from selling or transferring any part of the interest of any of them to any other person or party; provided, however, that no dealer, officer, partner or stockholder shall have the right to sell, transfer or assign the franchise or power of management or control thereunder without the consent of the manufacturer, distributor or representative except that consent shall not be unreasonably withheld;

M. obtain money, goods, services, anything of value or any other benefit from any other person with whom the motor vehicle dealer does business on account of or in relation to the transactions between the dealer and the other person, unless such benefit is promptly accounted for and transmitted to the motor vehicle dealer;

N. require a motor vehicle dealer to assent to a release, assignment, novation, waiver or estoppel that would relieve any person from liability imposed by Chapter 57, Article 16 NMSA 1978;

O. require any motor vehicle dealer to provide installment financing with a specified financial institution;

P. establish an additional franchise for the same line-make in a community where the same line-make is presently being served by an existing motor vehicle dealer if such addition would be inequitable to the existing dealer; provided, however, that the sales and service needs of the public shall be given due consideration in determining the equities of the existing dealer. The sole fact that the manufacturer, distributor or representative desires further penetration of the market shall not be grounds for establishing an additional franchise; provided further, that the manufacturer, distributor or representative shall give a ninety-day written notice by registered mail to all same line-make dealers in a community of its intention to establish an additional franchise;

Q. offer to sell, lease or to sell or lease any new motor vehicle to any person, except a distributor at a lower actual price therefor than the actual price offered and charged to a motor vehicle dealer for the same model vehicle similarly equipped or to utilize any device that results in such lesser actual price;

R. sell, lease or provide motorcycles, parts or accessories to any person not a dealer or distributor for the line-make sold, leased or provided. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to sales, leases or provisions of motor vehicles, parts or accessories by manufacturer, distributor or representative to the United States government or any agency thereof or the state or any of its political subdivisions; or

S. offer any finance program, either directly or through any affiliate, based on the physical location of the selling dealer or the residence of the buyer. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to any manufacturer or distributor which has no dealer within fifty miles of a state line, which dealer is in a different region from that other state."

Every manufacturer, distributor or representative shall properly fulfill any warranty agreement and adequately and fairly compensate each of its motor vehicle dealers for labor, parts and other expenses incurred by the dealer to perform the required warranty repairs. All compensation for labor shall be the same as the dealer would have made to and collected from an individual retail customer for the same repairs if performed in the normal course of business not covered by a warranty. Compensation for parts shall be in an amount not less than the manufacturer's warranty reimbursement rate for parts or the amount received by the motor vehicle dealer from retail customers for parts used in non-warranty work of like kind. All claims made by motor vehicle dealers under this section and under Section 57-16-6 NMSA 1978 shall be paid within thirty days following their approval. All claims shall be either approved or disapproved within thirty days after their receipt, and when any claim is disapproved, the motor vehicle dealer who submits it shall be notified in writing of its disapproval within that period, and each notice shall state the specific grounds upon which the disapproval is based. Any special handling of claims required by the manufacturer, distributor or representative not uniformly required of all dealers of that make may be enforced only after thirty days' notice in writing and upon good and sufficient reason.

B. The provisions of this section shall not apply to recreational travel trailers or to parts of systems, fixtures, appliances, furnishings, accessories and features of motor homes."

(1) the dealer cost of the new, unsold and undamaged motorcycles, current model year motor vehicles and motor vehicles purchased from the manufacturer or distributor six months prior to receipt of a notice of termination;

(2) an amount equal to ninety-five percent of the current price of new, unused and undamaged motorcycle attachments and motor vehicle repair parts; and

(3) an amount equal to an additional five percent of the current price of new, unused and undamaged motorcycle attachments and motor vehicle repair parts unless the manufacturer or distributor performs the handling, packing and loading of the parts, in which case no additional amount is required under this paragraph.

B. The manufacturer or distributor may subtract from the sum due under Subsection A of this section the amount of debts owed by the dealer to the manufacturer or distributor. The manufacturer or distributor and the dealer are each responsible for one-half of the cost of delivering the inventory to the manufacturer or distributor.

C. The manufacturer or distributor shall pay the amount due under this section before the sixty-first day after the day that the manufacturer or distributor receives inventory from the dealer.

D. On payment of the amount due under this section, title to the inventory is transferred to the manufacturer or distributor.

RELATING TO EDUCATION; REQUIRING THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC EDUCATION TO ESTABLISH A PROGRAM FOR AT-RISK STUDENTS.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

Section 1

Section 1. LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS.--The legislature finds that a high percentage of students continues to drop out of school prior to earning a high school diploma. The legislature finds that many of these students could be identified as at-risk students, who with additional assistance or through the use of alternative educational programs might be retained in the education system. The legislature also finds that keeping at-risk students in school may result in such students becoming more productive citizens, less likely to eventually rely on state assistance programs.

Section 2

Section 2. PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT.--The department shall develop a program by which to contract for services with the appropriate private, nonprofit entities who apply to the department and who meet guidelines determined by the department for the purpose of providing alternative education opportunities to at-risk students. The department shall consider the involvement and advice of community educational advancement organizations and geographic diversity in determining the best disbursement of the funds. The department shall also monitor and evaluate the results of these programs. Based on the results obtained, the department may recommend to the legislature possible amendments to the Public School Finance Act to eventually incorporate funding of alternative education opportunities for at-risk students. For the purpose of this appropriation, "at-risk student" means a student who has failed at least three classes in his ninth grade year. SB 710

A. If a testator's surviving spouse married the testator after the testator executed his will, the surviving spouse is entitled to receive, as an intestate share, no less than the value of the share of the estate he would have received if the testator had died intestate as to that portion of the testator's estate, if any, that neither is devised to a child of the testator who was born before the testator married the surviving spouse and who is not a child of the surviving spouse nor is devised or passes pursuant to Section 45-2-603 or 45-2-604 NMSA 1978 to a descendant of such a child, unless:

(1) it appears from the will or other evidence that the will was made in contemplation of the testator's marriage to the surviving spouse;

(2) the will expresses the intention that it is to be effective notwithstanding any subsequent marriage; or

(3) the testator provided for the spouse by transfer outside the will and the intent that the transfer be in lieu of a testamentary provision is shown by the testator's statements or is reasonably inferred from the amount of the transfer or other evidence.

B. In satisfying the share provided by this section, devises made by the will to the testator's surviving spouse, if any, are applied first, and other devises, other than a devise to a child of the testator who was born before the testator married the surviving spouse and who is not a child of the surviving spouse or a devise or substitute gift pursuant to Section 45-2-603 or 45-2-604 NMSA 1978 to a descendant of such a child, abate as provided in Section 45-3-902 NMSA 1978."

Section 18

Section 18. Section 45-2-302 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-302, as amended) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-302 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-302. OMITTED CHILDREN.--

A. Except as provided in Subsection B of this section, if a testator fails to provide in his will for any of his children born or adopted after the execution of the will, the omitted after-born or after-adopted child receives a share in the estate as follows:

(1) if the testator had no child living when he executed the will, an omitted after-born or after-adopted child receives a share in the estate equal in value to that which the child would have received had the testator died intestate, unless the will devised all or substantially all of the estate to the other parent of the omitted child and that other parent survives the testator and is entitled to take under the will; or

(2) if the testator had one or more children living when he executed the will and the will devised property or an interest in property to one or more of the then-living children, an omitted after-born or after-adopted child is entitled to share in the testator's estate as follows:

(a) the portion of the testator's estate in which the omitted after-born or after-adopted child is entitled to share is limited to devises made to the testator's then-living children under the will;

(b) the omitted after-born or after-adopted child is entitled to receive the share of the testator's estate, as limited in Subparagraph (a) of Paragraph (2) of Subsection A of this section, that the child would have received had the testator included all omitted after-born and after-adopted children with the children to whom devises were made under the will and had given an equal share of the estate to each child;

(c) to the extent feasible, the interest granted an omitted after-born or after-adopted child under this section must be of the same character, whether equitable or legal, present or future, as that devised to the testator's then-living children under the will; and

(d) in satisfying a share provided by Paragraph (2) of Subsection A of this section, devises to the testator's children who were living when the will was executed abate ratably. In abating the devices of the then-living children, the court shall preserve to the maximum extent possible the character of the testamentary plan adopted by the testator.

B. Neither Subsection A or C of this section applies if:

(1) it appears from the will that the omission was intentional; or

(2) the testator provided for the omitted after-born or after-adopted child by transfer outside the will and the intent that the transfer be in lieu of a testamentary provision is shown by the testator's statements or is reasonably inferred from the amount of the transfer or other evidence.

C. Except as provided in Subsection B of this section, if at the time of execution of the will the testator fails to provide in his will for a living child solely because he believes the child to be dead, the child is entitled to share in the estate as if the child were an omitted after-born or after-adopted child.

D. In satisfying a share provided by Paragraph (1) of Subsection A of this section, devises made by the will abate pursuant to Section 45-3-902 NMSA 1978."

Section 19. Section 45-2-401 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-401) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-401 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-401. APPLICABLE LAW.--Chapter 45, Article 2, Part 4 NMSA 1978 applies to the estate of a decedent who dies domiciled in this state. Rights to family allowance and personal property allowance for a decedent who dies not domiciled in this state are governed by the laws of the decedent's domicile at death."

Section 20

Section 20. Section 45-2-402 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-402) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-402 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-402. FAMILY ALLOWANCE.--A decedent's surviving spouse is entitled to a family allowance of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000). If there is no surviving spouse, each minor child and each dependent child of the decedent is entitled to a family allowance amounting to fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) divided by the number of minor and dependent children of the decedent. The family allowance is exempt from and has priority over all claims against the estate. Family allowance is in addition to any share passing to the surviving spouse or minor or dependent children by the decedent's will, unless otherwise provided, or by intestate succession."

Section 21

Section 21. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-403 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:
"45-2-403. PERSONAL PROPERTY ALLOWANCE.--In addition to the family allowance, the decedent's surviving spouse is entitled from the estate to a value, not exceeding ten thousand dollars ($10,000) in excess of any security interests therein, in household furniture, automobiles, furnishings, appliances and personal effects. If there is no surviving spouse, the decedent's children are entitled jointly to the same value. If encumbered chattels are selected and the value in excess of security interests plus that of other exempt property is less than ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or if there is not ten thousand dollars ($10,000) worth of exempt property in the estate, the spouse or children are entitled to other assets of the estate, if any, to the extent necessary to make up the ten-thousand-dollar ($10,000) value. Rights to specific property for the family allowance and assets needed to make up a deficiency in the property have priority over all claims against the estate, but the rightto any assets to make up a deficiency of exempt property abates as necessary to permit earlier payment of the family allowance. These rights are in addition to any benefit or share passing to the surviving spouse or children by the decedent's will, unless otherwise provided, or by intestate succession."

Section 22. Section 45-2-404 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-404) is repealed and that section number is reserved.

"45-2-405. SOURCE, DETERMINATION AND DOCUMENTATION.--If the estate is otherwise sufficient, property specifically devised may not be used to satisfy rights to family allowance or personal property allowance. Subject to this restriction, the surviving spouse, guardians of minor children or children who are adults may select property of the estate as family allowance and personal property allowance. The personal representative may make those selections if the surviving spouse, the children or the guardians of the minor children are unable or fail to do so within a reasonable time or there is no guardian of a minor child. The personal representative may execute an instrument or deed of distribution to establish the ownership of property taken as family allowance or personal property allowance. The personal representative or an interested person aggrieved by any selection, determination, payment, proposed payment or failure to act under this section may petition the court for appropriate relief, which may include a family allowance or personal property allowance other than that which the personal representative determined or could have determined."

Section 24

Section 24. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-406 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-406. MODIFICATION OF EXEMPTIONS.--With respect to the estate of a decedent, the allowances granted pursuant to Sections 45-2-402 and 45-2-403 NMSA 1978 are in lieu of the exemptions provided in Sections 42-10-1 through 42-10-12 NMSA 1978."

A. every will shall be in writing, signed by the testator or in the testator's name by some other person in the testator's presence and by his direction and attested in the presence of the testator by two or more credible witnesses; and

B. the witnesses to a will shall be present, see the testator sign the will, or one sign it for him at his request as and for his last will and testament, and shall sign as witnesses in his presence and in the presence of each other."

"45-2-505. WHO MAY WITNESS.--

A. An individual generally competent to be a witness may act as a witness to a will.

B. The signing of a will by an interested witness does not invalidate the will or any provision of it."

Section 29

Section 29. Section 45-2-506 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-506) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-506 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-506. CHOICE OF LAW AS TO EXECUTION.--A written will is valid if executed in compliance with Section 45-2-502 NMSA 1978 or if its execution complies with the law at the time of execution of the place where the will is executed or of the law of the place where at the time of execution or at the time of death the testator is domiciled or is a national."

Section 30

Section 30. Section 45-2-507 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-507) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-507 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-507. REVOCATION BY WRITING OR BY ACT.--

A. A will or any part thereof is revoked:

(1) by executing a subsequent will that revokes the previous will or part expressly or by inconsistency; or

(2) by performing a revocatory act on the will if the testator performed the act with the intent and for the purpose of revoking the will or part or if another individual performed the act in the testator's conscious presence and by the testator's direction. For purposes of this paragraph, "revocatory act on the will" includes burning, tearing, canceling, obliterating or destroying the will or any part of it. A burning, tearing or canceling is a "revocatory act on the will", whether or not the burn, tear or cancellation touched any of the words on the will.

B. If a subsequent will does not expressly revoke a previous will, the execution of the subsequent will wholly revokes the previous will by inconsistency if the testator intended the subsequent will to replace rather than supplement the previous will.

C. The testator is presumed to have intended a subsequent will to replace rather than supplement a previous will if the subsequent will makes a complete disposition of the testator's estate. If this presumption arises and is not rebutted by clear and convincing evidence, the previous will is revoked; only the subsequent will is operative on the testator's death.

D. The testator is presumed to have intended a subsequent will to supplement rather than replace a previous will if the subsequent will does not make a complete disposition of the testator's estate. If this presumption arises and is not rebutted by clear and convincing evidence, the subsequent will revokes the previous will only to the extent the subsequent will is inconsistent with the previous will; each will is fully operative on the testator's death to the extent they are not inconsistent."

Section 31

Section 31. Section 45-2-508 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-508) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-508 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-508. REVOCATION BY CHANGE OF CIRCUMSTANCES.--Except as provided in Sections 45-2-803 and 45-2-804 NMSA 1978, a change of circumstances does not revoke a will or any part of it."

Section 32

Section 32. Section 45-2-509 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-509) is repealed and anew section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-509 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-509. REVIVAL OF REVOKED WILL.--

A. If a subsequent will that wholly revoked a previous will is thereafter revoked by a revocatory act pursuant to Paragraph (2) of Subsection A of Section 45-2-507 NMSA 1978, the previous will remains revoked unless it is revived. The previous will is revived if it is evident from the circumstances of the revocation of the subsequent will or from the testator's contemporary or subsequent written declarations that the testator intended the previous will to take effect as executed.

B. If a subsequent will that partly revoked a previous will is thereafter revoked by a revocatory act pursuant to Paragraph (2) of Subsection A of Section 45-2-507 NMSA 1978, a revoked part of the previous will is revived unless it is evident from the circumstances of the revocation of the subsequent will or from the testator's contemporary or subsequent written declarations that the testator did not intend the revoked part to take effect as executed.

C. If a subsequent will that revoked a previous will in whole or in part is thereafter revoked by another, later, will, the previous will remains revoked in whole or in part unless it or its revoked part is revived. The previous will or its revoked part is revived to the extent it appears from the terms of the later will that the testator intended the previous will to take effect."

Section 33

Section 33. Section 45-2-510 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-510) is amended to read:

"45-2-510. INCORPORATION BY REFERENCE.--A writing in existence when a will is executed may be incorporated by reference if the language of the will manifests this intent and describes the writing sufficiently to permit its identification."

"45-2-511. TESTAMENTARY ADDITIONS TO TRUST.--

A. A will may validly devise property to the trustee of a trust established or to be established:

(1) during the testator's lifetime by the testator, by the testator and some other person or by some other person, including a funded or unfunded life insurance trust, although the settlor has reserved any or all rights of ownership of the insurance contracts; or

(2) at the testator's death by the testator's devise to the trustee if the trust is identified in the testator's will and its terms are set forth in a written instrument, other than a will, executed before, concurrently with or after the execution of the testator's will or in another individual's will if that other individual has predeceased the testator regardless of the existence, size or character of the corpus of the trust.

The devise is not invalid because the trust is amendable or revocable or because the trust was amended after the execution of the will or the testator's death.

B. Unless the testator's will provides otherwise, property devised to a trust described in Subsection A of this section is not held under a testamentary trust of the testator, but it becomes a part of the trust to which it is devised and must be administered and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of the governing instrument setting forth the terms of the trust, including any amendments thereto made before or after the testator's death.

C. Unless the testator's will provides otherwise, a revocation or termination of the trust before the testator's death causes the devise to lapse."

Section 35

Section 35. Section 45-2-512 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-512) is amended to read:

"45-2-512. EVENTS OF INDEPENDENT SIGNIFICANCE.--A will may dispose of property by reference to acts and events that have significance apart from their effect upon the dispositions made by the will, whether they occur before or after the execution of the will or before or after the testator's death. The execution or revocation of another individual's will is such an event."

Section 36

Section 36. Section 45-2-513 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-513) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-513 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-513. SEPARATE WRITING IDENTIFYING DEVISE OF CERTAIN TYPES OF TANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY.--A will may refer to a written statement or list to dispose of items of tangible personal property not otherwise specifically disposed of by the will, other than money. To be admissible under this section as evidence of the intended disposition, the writing must be signed by the testator and must describe the items and the devisees with reasonable certainty. The writing may be:

A. referred to as one to be in existence at the time of the testator's death;

B. prepared before or after the execution of the will;

C. altered by the testator after its preparation; or

D. a writing that has no significance apart from its effect on the dispositions made by the will."

A. A contract to make a will or devise or not to revoke a will or devise or to die intestate, if executed after the effective date of this article, may be established only by:

(1) provisions of a will stating material provisions of the contract;

(2) an express reference in a will to a contract and extrinsic evidence proving the terms of the contract; or

(3) a writing signed by the decedent evidencing the contract.

B. The execution of a joint will or of mutual wills does not create a presumption of a contract not to revoke the will or wills."

Section 38

Section 38. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-515 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-515. DEPOSIT OF WILL WITH COURT IN TESTATOR'S LIFETIME.--A will may be deposited by the testator or his agent with the clerk of any district court in New Mexico for safekeeping pursuant to rules of that court. The will shall be kept confidential. During the testator's lifetime, a deposited will shall be delivered only to him or to a person authorized in writing signed by him to receive the will. A conservator may be allowed to examine a deposited will of a protected testator under district court procedures designed to maintain the confidential character of the document to the extent possible and to assure that it will be resealed and left on deposit after the examination. Upon being informed of the testator's death, the district court clerk shall notify any person designated to receive the will and deliver it to him on request, or the court clerk may deliver the will to the appropriate court."

Section 39

Section 39. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-516 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-516. DUTY OF CUSTODIAN OF WILL--LIABILITY.--

B. If any person having the custody of a will fails to produce the will as provided for in Subsection A of this section, after receiving a reasonable notice to do so, he is liable to any person aggrieved for the damages that may be sustained by the failure.

C. Any person who refuses or fails to deliver a will after being ordered by the court in a proceeding brought for the purpose of compelling delivery is subject to penalty for contempt of court."

Section 41

Section 41. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-602 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-602. WILL MAY PASS ALL PROPERTY AND AFTER-ACQUIRED PROPERTY.--A will may provide for the passage of all property the testator owns at death and all property acquired by the estate after the testator's death, subject to the provisions of Section 45-2-101 NMSA 1978."

Section 42

Section 42. Section 45-2-603 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-603) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-603 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-603. ANTILAPSE--DECEASED DEVISEE--CLASS GIFTS.--

A. As used in this section:

(1) "alternative devise" means a devise that is expressly created by the will and, under the terms of the will, can take effect instead of another devise on the happening of one or more events, including survival of the testator or failure to survive the testator, whether an event is expressed in condition-precedent, condition-subsequent or any other form. A residuary clause constitutes an alternative devise with respect to a nonresiduary devise only if the will specifically provides that, upon lapse or failure, the nonresiduary devise, or nonresiduary devises in general, pass under the residuary clause;

(2) "class member" includes an individual who fails to survive the testator but who would have taken under a devise in the form of a class gift had he survived the testator;

(3) "devise" includes an alternative devise, a devise in the form of a class gift and an exercise of a power of appointment;

(4) "devisee" includes:

(a) a class member if the devise is in the form of a class gift;

(b) an individual or class member who was deceased at the time the testator executed his will as well as an individual or class member who was then living but who failed to survive the testator; and

(c) an appointee under a power of appointment exercised by the testator's will;

(5) "stepchild" means a child of the surviving, deceased or former spouse of the testator or of the donor of a power of appointment and not of the testator or donor;

(6) "surviving devisee" or "surviving descendant" means a devisee or a descendant who neither predeceased the testator nor is deemed to have predeceased the testator pursuant to the provisions of Section 45-2-702 NMSA 1978; and

(7) "testator" includes the donee of a power of appointment if the power is exercised in the testator's will.

B. If a devisee fails to survive the testator and is a grandparent, a descendant of a grandparent or a stepchild of either the testator or the donor of a power of appointment exercised by the testator's will, the following apply:

(1) except as provided in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, ifthe devise is not in the form of a class gift and the deceased devisee leaves surviving descendants, a substitute gift is created in the devisee's surviving descendants. They take by representation the property to which the devisee would have been entitled had the devisee survived the testator;

(2) except as provided in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, if the devise is in the form of a class gift, other than a devise to "issue", "descendants", "heirs of the body", "heirs", "next of kin", "relatives" or "family" or a class described by language of similar import, a substitute gift is created in the deceased devisee or devisee's surviving descendants. The property to which the devisees would have been entitled had all of them survived the testator passes to the surviving devisees and the surviving descendants of the deceased devisees. Each surviving devisee takes the share to which he would have been entitled had the deceased devisees survived the testator. Each deceased devisee's surviving descendants who are substituted for the deceased devisee take by representation the share to which the deceased devisee would have been entitled had the deceased devisee survived the testator. For the purposes of this paragraph, "deceased devisee" means a class member who failed to survive the testator and left one or more surviving descendants;

(3) for the purposes of Section 45-2-601 NMSA 1978, words of survivorship, such as in a devise to an individual "if he survives me" or in a devise to "my surviving children" are not, in the absence of additional evidence, a sufficient indication of an intent contrary to the application of this section;

(4) if the will creates an alternative devise with respect to a devise for which a substitute gift is created by Paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection, the substitute gift is superseded by the alternative devise only if an expressly designated devisee of the alternative devise is entitled to take under the will; and

(5) unless the language creating a power of appointment expressly excludes the substitution of the descendants of an appointee for the appointee, a surviving descendant of a deceased appointee of a power of appointment can be substituted for the appointee pursuant to the provisions of this section whether or not the descendant is an object of the power.

C. If, pursuant to the provisions of Subsection B of this section, substitute gifts are created and not superseded with respect to more than one devise and the devises are alternative devises, one to the other, the determination of which of the substitute gifts takes effect is resolved as follows:

(1) except as provided in Paragraph (2) of this subsection, the devised property passes under the primary substitute gift; and

(2) if there is a younger-generation devise, the devised property passes under the younger-generation substitute gift and not under the primary substitute gift.

D. As used in Subsections C and D of this section:

(1) "primary devise" means the devise that would have taken effect had all the deceased devisees of the alternative devises who left surviving descendants survived the testator;

(2) "primary substitute gift" means the substitute gift created with respect to the primary devise;

(3) "younger-generation devise" means a devise that:

(a) is to a descendant of a devisee of the primary devise;

(b) is an alternative devise with respect to the primary devise;

(c) is a devise for which a substitute gift is created; and

(d) would have taken effect had all the deceased devisees who left surviving descendants survived the testator except the deceased devisee or devisees of the primary devise; and

(4) "younger-generation substitute gift" means the substitute gift created with respect to the younger-generation devise."

Section 43

Section 43. Section 45-2-604 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-604) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-604 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-604. FAILURE OF TESTAMENTARY PROVISION.--

A. Except as provided in Section 45-2-603 NMSA 1978, a devise, other than a residuary devise, that fails for any reason becomes a part of the residue.

B. Except as provided in Section 45-2-603 NMSA 1978, if the residue is devised to two or more persons, the share of a residuary devisee that fails for any reason passes to the other residuary devisee or to other residuary devisees in proportion to the interest of each in the remaining part of the residue."

Section 44

Section 44. Section 45-2-605 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-605, as amended) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-605 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-605. INCREASE IN SECURITIES--ACCESSIONS.--

A. If a testator executes a will that devises securities and the testator then owned securities that meet the description in the will, the devise includes additional securities owned by the testator at death to the extent the additional securities were acquired by the testator after the will was executed as a result of the testator's ownership of the described securities and are securities of any of the following types:

(1) securities of the same organization acquired by reason of action initiated by the organization or any successor, related or acquiring organization, excluding any acquired by exercise of purchase options;

(2) securities of another organization acquired as a result of merger, consolidation, reorganization or other distribution by the organization or any successor, related or acquiring organization; or

(3) securities of the same organization acquired as a result of a plan of reinvestment.

B. Distributions in cash before death with respect to a described security are not part of the devise."

Section 45

Section 45. Section 45-2-606 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-606) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-606 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-606. NONADEMPTION OF SPECIFIC DEVISES--UNPAID PROCEEDS OF SALE, CONDEMNATION OR INSURANCE--SALE BY CONSERVATOR OR AGENT.--

A. A specific devisee has a right to the specifically devised property in the testator's estate at death and:

(1) any balance of the purchase price, together with any security agreement, owing from a purchaser to the testator at death by reason of sale of the property;

(2) any amount of a condemnation award for the taking of the property unpaid at death;

(3) any proceeds unpaid at death on fire or casualty insurance on or other recovery for injury to the property;

(4) property owned by the testator at death and acquired as a result of foreclosure or obtained in lieu of foreclosure of the security interest for specifically devised obligation; and

(5) real or tangible personal property owned by the testator at death that the testator acquired as a replacement for specifically devised real or tangible personal property.

B. If specifically devised property is sold or mortgaged by a conservator or by an agent acting within the authority of a durable power of attorney for an incapacitated principal or if a condemnation award, insurance proceeds or recovery for injury to the property are paid to a conservator or to an agent acting within the authority of a durable power of attorney for an incapacitated principal, the specific devisee has the right to a general pecuniary devise equal to the net sale price, the amount of the unpaid loan, the condemnation award, the insurance proceeds or the recovery.

C. The right of a specific devisee pursuant to Subsection B of this section is reduced by any right the devisee has pursuant to Subsection A of this section.

D. For the purposes of the references in Subsection B of this section to a conservator, Subsection B of this section does not apply if after the sale, mortgage, condemnation, casualty or recovery, it was adjudicated that the testator's incapacity ceased and the testator survived the adjudication by one year.

E. For the purposes of the references in Subsection B of this section to an agent acting within the authority of a durable power of attorney for an incapacitated principal:

(1) "incapacitated principal" means a principal who is an incapacitated person;

(2) no adjudication of incapacity before death is necessary; and

(3) the acts of an agent within the authority of a durable power of attorney are presumed to be for an incapacitated principal."

Section 46

Section 46. Section 45-2-607 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-607) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-607 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-607. NONEXONERATION.--A specific devise passes subject to any mortgage interest existing at the date of death without right of exoneration regardless of a general directive in the will to pay debts."

Section 47

Section 47. Section 45-2-608 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1976 (S.S.), Chapter 37, Section 5) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-608 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-608. EXERCISE OF POWER OF APPOINTMENT.--In the absence of a requirement that a power of appointment be exercised by a reference or by an express or specific reference to the power, a general residuary clause in a will or a will making general disposition of all of the testator's property expresses an intention to exercise a power of appointment held by the testator only if:

A. the power is a general power and the creating instrument does not contain a gift if the power is not exercised; or

B. the testator's will manifests an intention to include the property subject to the power."

Section 48

Section 48. Section 45-2-609 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-609) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-609 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-609. ADEMPTION BY SATISFACTION.--

A. Property a testator gave in his lifetime to a person is treated as a satisfaction of a devise in whole or in part only if:

(1) the will provides for deduction of the gift;

(2) the testator declared in a contemporaneous writing that the gift is in satisfaction of the devise or that its value is to be deducted from the value of the devise; or

(3) the devisee acknowledged in writing that the gift is in satisfaction of the devise or that its value is to be deducted from the value of the devise.

B. For purposes of partial satisfaction, property given during lifetime is valued as of the time the devisee came into possession or enjoyment of the property or at the testator's death, whichever occurs first.

C. If the devisee fails to survive the testator, the gift is treated as a full or partial satisfaction of the devise, as appropriate, in applying Sections 45-2-603 and 45-2-604 NMSA 1978, unless the testator's contemporaneous writing provides otherwise."

Section 49

Section 49. Section 45-2-701 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-701) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-701 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-701. SCOPE.--In the absence of a finding of a contrary intention, the rules of construction in Chapter 45, Article 2, Part 7 NMSA 1978 control the construction of a governing instrument. The rules of construction in Chapter 45, Article 2, Part 7 NMSA 1978 apply to a governing instrument of any type, except as the application of a particular section is limited by its terms to a specific type or types of provision or governing instrument."

Section 50

Section 50. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-702 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-702. REQUIREMENT OF SURVIVAL BY ONE HUNDRED TWENTY HOURS.--

A. For the purposes of the Uniform Probate Code, except for purposes of Chapter 45, Article 6, Part 3 NMSA 1978 and except as provided in Subsection D of this section, an individual who is not established by clear and convincing evidence to have survived an event, including the death of another individual, by one hundred twenty hours is deemed to have predeceased the event.

B. Except as provided in Subsection D of this section and except for a security registered in beneficiary form (TOD) pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 45,

Article 6, Part 3 NMSA 1978, for purposes of a provision of a governing instrument that relates to an individual surviving an event, including the death of another individual, an individual who is not established by clear and convincing evidence to have survived the event by one hundred twenty hours is deemed to have predeceased the event.

C. Except as provided in Subsection D of this section:

(1) if it is not established by clear and convincing evidence that one of two co-owners with right of survivorship survived the other co-owner by one hundred twenty hours, one-half of the property passes as if one had survived by one hundred twenty hours and one-half as if the other had survived by one hundred twenty hours; and

(2) if there are more than two co-owners and it is not established by clear and convincing evidence that at least one of them survived the others by one hundred twenty hours, the property passes in the proportion that one bears to the whole number of co-owners.

For the purposes of this subsection, "co-owners with right of survivorship" includes joint tenants and other co-owners of property or accounts held under circumstances that entitles one or more to the whole of the property or account on the death of the other or others.

D. This section does not apply if:

(1) the governing instrument contains language dealing explicitly with simultaneous deaths or deaths in a common disaster and that language is operable under the facts of the case;

(2) the governing instrument expressly indicates that an individual is not required to survive an event, including the death of another individual, by any specified period or expressly requires the individual to survive the event by a specified period;

(3) the imposition of a one-hundred-twenty-hour requirement of survival would cause a nonvested property interest or a power of appointment to fail to qualify for validity pursuant to the provisions of Paragraph (1) of Subsection A, Paragraph (1) of Subsection B or Paragraph (1) of Subsection C of Section 45-2-901 NMSA 1978 or to become invalid pursuant to the provisions of Paragraph (2) of Subsection A, Paragraph (2) of Subsection B or Paragraph (2) of Subsection C of Section 45-2-901 NMSA 1978; or

(4) the application of this section to multiple governing instruments would result in an unintended failure or duplication of a disposition.

E. A payor or other third party is not liable for having made a payment or transferred an item of property or any other benefit to a beneficiary designated in a governing instrument who, under this section, is not entitled to the payment or item of property or for having taken any other action in good faith reliance on the beneficiary's apparent entitlement under the terms of the governing instrument before the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this section. A payor or other third party is liable for a payment made or other action taken after the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this section.

Written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement pursuant to the provisions of this subsection must be mailed to the payor's or other third party's main office or home by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or served upon the payor or other third party in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. Upon receipt of written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this section, a payor or other third party may pay any amount owed or transfer or deposit any item of property held by it to or with the court having jurisdiction of the probate proceedings relating to the decedent's estate, or if no proceedings have been commenced, to or with the court having jurisdiction of probate proceedings relating to decedents' estates located in the county of the decedent's residence. The court shall hold the funds or item of property and, upon its determination under this section, shall order disbursement in accordance with the determination. Payments, transfers or deposits made to or with the court discharge the payor or other third party from all claims for the value of amounts paid to or items of property transferred to or deposited with the court.

F. A person who purchases property for value and without notice or who receives a payment or other item of property in partial or full satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation is neither obligated under this section to return the payment, item of property or benefit nor is liable under this section for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit. But a person who, not for value, receives a payment, item of property or any other benefit to which the person is not entitled under this section is obligated to return the payment, item of property or benefit or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit to the person who is entitled to it under this section.

G. If this section or any part of this section is pre-empted by federal law with respect to a payment, an item of property or any other benefit covered by this section, a person who, not for value, receives the payment, item of property or any other benefit to which the person is not entitled under this section is obligated to return the payment, item of property or benefit or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit to the person who would have been entitled to it were this section or part of this section not pre-empted."

Section 51. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-703 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-703. CHOICE OF LAW AS TO MEANING AND EFFECT OF GOVERNING INSTRUMENT.--The meaning and legal effect of a governing instrument is determined by the local law of the state selected by the transferor in the governing instrument unless the application of that law is contrary to the provisions relating to allowances described in Chapter 45, Article 2, Part 4 NMSA 1978 or any other public policy of this state otherwise applicable to the disposition."

Section 52

Section 52. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-704 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-704. POWER OF APPOINTMENT--MEANING OF SPECIFIC REFERENCE REQUIREMENT.--If a governing instrument creating a power of appointment expressly requires that the power be exercised by a reference, an express reference or a specific reference to the power or its source, it is presumed that the donor's intention, in requiring that the donee exercise the power by making reference to the particular power or to the creating instrument, was to prevent an inadvertent exercise of the power."

Section 53

Section 53. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-705 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-705. CLASS GIFTS CONSTRUED TO ACCORD WITH INTESTATE SUCCESSION.--

A. Adopted individuals and individuals born out of wedlock and their respective descendants if appropriate to the class are included in class gifts and other terms of relationship in accordance with the rules for intestate succession. Terms of relationship that do not differentiate relationships by blood from those by affinity, such as "uncles", "aunts", "nieces" or "nephews", are construed to exclude relatives by affinity. Terms of relationship that do not differentiate relationships by the half blood from those by the whole blood, such as "brothers", "sisters", "nieces" or "nephews", are construed to include both types of relationships.

B. In addition to the requirements of Subsection A of this section, in construing a dispositive provision of a transferor who is not the natural parent, an individual born to the natural parent is not considered the child of that parent unless the individual lived while a minor as a regular member of the household of that natural parent or of that parent's parent, brother, sister, spouse or surviving spouse.

C. In addition to the requirements of Subsection A of this section, in construing a dispositive provision of a transferor who is not the adopting parent, an adopted individual is not considered the child of the adopting parent unless the adopted individual lived while a minor, either before or after the adoption, as a regular member of the household of the adopting parent."

Section 54

Section 54. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-706 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-706. LIFE INSURANCE--RETIREMENT PLAN--ACCOUNT WITH POD DESIGNATION--TRANSFER-ON-DEATH REGISTRATION--DECEASED BENEFICIARY.--

A. As used in this section:

(1) "alternative beneficiary designation" means a beneficiary designation that is expressly created by the governing instrument and, under the terms of the governing instrument, can take effect instead of another beneficiary designation on the happening of one or more events, including survival of the decedent or failure to survive the decedent, whether an event is expressed in condition-precedent, condition-subsequent or any other form;

(2) "beneficiary" means the beneficiary of a beneficiary designation and includes:

(a) a class member if the beneficiary designation is in the form of a class gift; and

(b) an individual or class member who was deceased at the time the beneficiary designation was executed as well as an individual or class member who was then living but who failed to survive the decedent;

(3) "beneficiary designation" includes an alternative beneficiary designation and a beneficiary designation in the form of a class gift;

(4) "class member" includes an individual who fails to survive the decedent but who would have taken under a beneficiary designation in the form of a class gift had he survived the decedent;

(5) "stepchild" means a child of the decedent's surviving, deceased or former spouse and not of the decedent; and

(6) "surviving beneficiary" or "surviving descendant" means a beneficiary or a descendant who neither predeceased the decedent nor is deemed to have predeceased the decedent pursuant to the provisions of Section 45-2-702 NMSA 1978.

B. If a beneficiary fails to survive the decedent and is a grandparent, a descendant of a grandparent or a stepchild of the decedent, the following apply:

(1) except as provided in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, if the beneficiary designation is not in the form of a class gift and the deceased beneficiary leaves surviving descendants, a substitute gift is created in the beneficiary's surviving descendants. They take by representation the property to which the beneficiary would have been entitled had the beneficiary survived the ecedent;

(2) except as provided in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, if the beneficiary designation is in the form of a class gift, other than a beneficiary designation to "issue", "descendants", "heirs of the body", "heirs", "next of kin", "relatives" or "family" or a class described by language of similar import, a substitute gift is created in the deceased beneficiary or beneficiaries' surviving descendants. The property to which the beneficiaries would have been entitled had all of them survived the decedent passes to the surviving beneficiaries and the surviving descendants of the deceased beneficiaries. Each surviving beneficiary takes the share to which he would have been entitled had the deceased beneficiaries survived the decedent. Each deceased beneficiary's surviving descendants who are substituted for the deceased beneficiary take by representation the share to which the deceased beneficiary would have been entitled had the deceased beneficiary survived the decedent. For the purposes of this paragraph, "deceased beneficiary" means a class member who failed to survive the decedent and left one or more surviving descendants;

(3) for the purposes of Section 45-2-701 NMSA 1978, words of survivorship, such as in a beneficiary designation to an individual "if he survives me" or in a beneficiary designation to "my surviving children", are not, in the absence of additional evidence, a sufficient indication of an intent contrary to the application of this section; and

(4) if a governing instrument creates an alternative beneficiary designation with respect to a beneficiary designation for which a substitute gift is created by Paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection, the substitute gift is superseded by the alternative beneficiary designation only if an expressly designated beneficiary of the alternative beneficiary designation is entitled to take.

C. If, pursuant to the provisions of Subsection B of this section, substitute gifts are created and not superseded with respect to more than one beneficiary designation and the beneficiary designations are alternative beneficiary designations, one to the other, the determination of which of the substitute gifts takes effect is resolved as follows:

(1) except as provided in Paragraph (2) of this subsection, the property passes under the primary substitute gift; and

(2) if there is a younger-generation beneficiary designation, the property passes under the younger-generation substitute gift and not under the primary substitute gift.

D. As used in Subsections C and D of this section:

(1) "primary beneficiary designation" means the beneficiary designation that would have taken effect had all the deceased beneficiaries of the alternative beneficiary designations who left surviving descendants survived the decedent;

(2) "primary substitute gift" means the substitute gift created with respect to the primary beneficiary designation;

(3) "younger-generation beneficiary designation" means as a beneficiary designation that:

(a) is to a descendant of a beneficiary of the primary beneficiary designation;

(b) is an alternative beneficiary designation with respect to the primary beneficiary designation;

(c) is a beneficiary designation for which a substitute gift is created; and

(d) would have taken effect had all the deceased beneficiaries who left surviving descendants survived the decedent except the deceased beneficiary or beneficiaries of the primary beneficiary designation; and

(4) "younger-generation substitute gift" means the substitute gift created with respect to the younger-generation beneficiary designation.

E. A payor is protected from liability in making payments under the terms of the beneficiary designation until the payor has received written notice of a claim to a substitute gift under this section. Payment made before the receipt of written notice of a claim to a substitute gift under this section discharges the payor, but not the recipient, from all claims for the amounts paid. A payor is liable for a payment made after the payor has received written notice of the claim. A recipient is liable for a payment received whether or not written notice of the claim is given.

The written notice of the claim must be mailed to the payor's main office or home by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or served upon the payor in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. Upon receipt of written notice of the claim, a payor may pay any amount owed by it to the court having jurisdiction of the probate proceedings relating to the decedent's estate or, if no proceedings have been commenced, to the court having jurisdiction of probate proceedings relating to decedents' estates located in the county of the decedent's residence. The court shall hold the funds and, upon its determination under this section, shall order disbursement in accordance with the determination. Payment made to the court discharges the payor from all claims for the amounts paid.

F. A person who purchases property for value and without notice or who receives a payment or other item of property in partial or full satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation is neither obligated pursuant to the provisions of this section to return the payment, item of property or benefit nor is liable pursuant to the provisions of this section for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit. But a person who, not for value, receives a payment, item of property or any other benefit to which the person is not entitled pursuant to the provisions of this section is obligated to return the payment, item of property or benefit or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit to the person who is entitled to it pursuant to the provisions of this section.

G. If this section or any part of this section is pre-empted by federal law with respect to a payment, an item of property or any other benefit covered by this section, a person who, not for value, receives the payment, item of property or any other benefit to which the person is not entitled pursuant to the provisions of this section is obligated to return the payment, item of property or benefit or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit to the person who would have been entitled to it were this section or part of this section not pre-empted."

Section 55

Section 55. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-707 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-707. SURVIVORSHIP WITH RESPECT TO FUTURE INTERESTS UNDER TERMS OF TRUST--SUBSTITUTE TAKERS.--

A. As used in this section:

(1) "alternative future interest" means an expressly created future interest that can take effect in possession or enjoyment instead of another future interest on the happening of one or more events, including survival of an event or failure to survive an event, whether an event is expressed in condition-precedent, condition-subsequent or any other form. A residuary clause in a will does not create an alternative future interest with respect to a future interest created in a nonresiduary devise in the will, whether or not the will specifically provides that lapsed or failed devises are to pass under the residuary clause;

(2) "beneficiary" means the beneficiary of a future interest and includes a class member if the future interest is in the form of a class gift;

(3) "class member" includes an individual who fails to survive the distribution date but who would have taken under a future interest in the form of a class gift had he survived the distribution date;

(4) "distribution date", with respect to a future interest, means the time when the future interest is to take effect in possession or enjoyment. The distribution date need not occur at the beginning or end of a calendar day, but can occur at a time during the course of a day;

(5) "future interest" includes an alternative future interest and a future interest in the form of a class gift;

(6) "future interest under the terms of a trust" means a future interest that was created by a transfer creating a trust or to an existing trust or by an exercise of a power of appointment to an existing trust, directing the continuance of an existing trust, designating a beneficiary of an existing trust or creating a trust; and

(7) "surviving beneficiary" or "surviving descendant" means a beneficiary or a descendant who neither predeceased the distribution date nor is deemed to have predeceased the distribution date pursuant to the provisions of Section 45-2-702 NMSA 1978.

B. A future interest under the terms of a trust is contingent on the beneficiary's surviving the distribution date. If a beneficiary of a future interest under the terms of a trust fails to survive the distribution date, the following apply:

(1) except as provided in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, if the future interest is not in the form of a class gift and the deceased beneficiary leaves surviving descendants, a substitute gift is created in the beneficiary's surviving descendants. They take by representation the property to which the beneficiary would have been entitled had the beneficiary survived the distribution date;

(2) except as provided in Paragraph (4) of this subsection, if the future interest is in the form of a class gift, other than a future interest to "issue", "descendants", "heirs of the body", "heirs", "next of kin", "relatives" or "family" or a class described by language of similar import, a substitute gift is created in the deceased beneficiary or beneficiaries' surviving descendants. The property to which the beneficiaries would have been entitled had all of them survived the distribution date passes to the surviving beneficiaries and the surviving descendants of the deceased beneficiaries. Each surviving beneficiary takes the share to which he would have been entitled had the deceased beneficiaries survived the distribution date. Each deceased beneficiary's surviving descendants who are substituted for the ceased beneficiary take by representation the share to which the deceased beneficiary would have been entitled had the deceased beneficiary survived the distribution date. For the purposes of this paragraph, "deceased beneficiary" means a class member who failed to survive the distribution date and left one or more surviving descendants;

(3) for the purposes of Section 45-2-701 NMSA 1978, words of survivorship attached to a future interest are not, in the absence of additional evidence, a sufficient indication of an intent contrary to the application of this section. Words of survivorship include words of survivorship that relate to the distribution date or to an earlier or an unspecified time, whether those words of survivorship are expressed in condition-precedent, condition-subsequent or any other form; and

(4) if a governing instrument creates an alternative future interest with respect to a future interest for which a substitute gift is created by Paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection, the substitute gift is superseded by the alternative future interest only if an expressly designated beneficiary of the alternative future interest is entitled to take in possession or enjoyment.

C. If, pursuant to the provisions of Subsection B of this section, substitute gifts are created and not superseded with respect to more than one future interest and the future interests are alternative future interests, one to the other, the determination of which of the substitute gifts takes effect is resolved as follows:

(1) except as provided in Paragraph (2) of this subsection, the property passes under the primary substitute gift; and

(2) if there is a younger-generation future interest, the property passes under the younger-generation substitute gift and not under the primary substitute gift.

D. As used in Subsections C and D of this section:

(1) "primary future interest" means the future interest that would have taken effect had all the deceased beneficiaries of the alternative future interests who left surviving descendants survived the distribution date;

(2) "primary substitute gift" means the substitute gift created with respect to the primary future interest;

(3) "younger-generation future interest" means a future interest that:

(a) is to a descendant of a beneficiary of the primary future interest;

(b) is an alternative future interest with respect to the primary future interest;

(c) is a future interest for which a substitute gift is created; and

(d) would have taken effect had all the deceased beneficiaries who left surviving descendants survived the distribution date except the deceased beneficiary or beneficiaries of the primary future interest; and

(4) "younger-generation substitute gift" means the substitute gift created with respect to the younger-generation future interest.

E. If, after the application of Subsections B and C of this section, there is no surviving taker, the property passes in the following order:

(1) if the trust was created in a nonresiduary devise in the transferor's will or in codicil to the transferor's will, the property passes under the residuary clause in the transferor's will; for purposes of this section, the residuary clause is treated as creating a future interest under the terms of a trust; and

(2) if no taker is produced by the application of Paragraph (1) of this subsection, the property passes to the transferor's heirs pursuant to the provisions of Section 45-2-711 NMSA 1978."

Section 56

Section 56. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-708 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-708. CLASS GIFTS TO DESCENDANTS, ISSUE OR HEIRS OF THE BODY--FORM OF DISTRIBUTION IF NONE SPECIFIED.--If a class gift in favor of "descendants", "issue" or "heirs of the body" does not specify the manner in which the property is to be distributed among the class members, the property is distributed among the class members who are living when the interest is to take effect in possession or enjoyment in such shares as they would receive pursuant to the applicable law of intestate succession if the designated ancestor had then died intestate owning the subject matter of the class gift."

Section 57

Section 57. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-709 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-709. REPRESENTATION--PER CAPITA AT EACH GENERATION--PER STIRPES.--

A. As used in this section:

(1) "deceased child" or "deceased descendant" means a child or a descendant who either predeceased the distribution date or is deemed to have predeceased the distribution date pursuant to the provisions of Section 45-2-702 NMSA 1978;

(2) "distribution date", with respect to an interest, means the time when the interest is to take effect in possession or enjoyment. The distribution date need not occur at the beginning or end of a calendar day, but can occur at a time during the course of a day; and

(3) "surviving ancestor", "surviving child" or "surviving descendant" means an ancestor, a child or a descendant who neither predeceased the distribution date nor is deemed to have predeceased the distribution date pursuant to the provisions of Section 45-2-702 NMSA 1978.

B. If an applicable statute or a governing instrument calls for property to be distributed "by representation" or "per capita at each generation", the property is divided into as many equal shares as there are:

(1) surviving descendants in the generation nearest to the designated ancestor that contains one or more surviving descendants; and

(2) deceased descendants in the same generation who left surviving descendants, if any.

Each surviving descendant in the nearest generation is allocated one share. The remaining shares, if any, are combined and then divided in the same manner among the surviving descendants of the deceased descendants as if the surviving descendants who were allocated a share and their surviving descendants had predeceased the distribution date.

C. If a governing instrument calls for property to be distributed "per stirpes", the property is divided into as many equal shares as there are:

(1) surviving children of the designated ancestor; and

(2) deceased children who left surviving descendants. Each surviving child is allocated one share.

The share of each deceased child with surviving descendants is divided in the same manner, with subdivision repeating at each succeeding generation until the property is fully allocated among surviving descendants.

D. For the purposes of Subsections B and C of this section, an individual who is deceased and left no surviving descendant is disregarded and an individual who leaves a surviving ancestor who is a descendant of the designated ancestor is not entitled to a share."

Section 58

Section 58. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-710 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-710. WORTHIER-TITLE DOCTRINE ABOLISHED.--The doctrine of worthier title is abolished as a rule of law and as a rule of construction. Language in a governing instrument describing the beneficiaries of a disposition as the transferor's "heirs", "heirs at law", "next of kin", "distributees", "relatives" or "family" or language of similar import does not create or presumptively create a reversionary interest in the transferor."

Section 59

Section 59. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-711 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-711. FUTURE INTERESTS IN HEIRS AND LIKE.--If an applicable statute or a governing instrument calls for a future distribution to or creates a future interest in a designated individual's "heirs", "heirs at law", "next of kin", "relatives" or "family" or language of similar import, the property passes to those persons, including the state pursuant to the provisions of Section 45-2-105 NMSA 1978, and in such shares as would succeed to the designated individual's intestate estate under the intestate succession law of the designated individual's domicile if the designated individual died when the disposition is to take effect in possession or enjoyment. If the designated individual's surviving spouse is living but is remarried at the time the disposition is to take effect in possession or enjoyment, the surviving spouse is not an heir of the designated individual."

Section 60

Section 60. Section 45-2-801 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-801, as amended) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-801 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-801. DISCLAIMER OF PROPERTY INTERESTS.--

A. A person or the representative of a person to whom an interest in or with respect to property or an interest therein devolves by whatever means may disclaim it in whole or in part by delivering or filing a written disclaimer pursuant to the provisions of this section. The right to disclaim exists notwithstanding:

(1) any limitation on the interest of the disclaimant in the nature of a spendthrift provision or similar restriction; or

(2) any restriction or limitation on the right to disclaim contained in the governing instrument.

For purposes of this subsection, the "representative of a person" includes a personal representative of a decedent, a conservator of a disabled person, a guardian of a minor or incapacitated person and an agent acting on behalf of the person within the authority of a power of attorney.

B. The following rules govern the time when a disclaimer must be filed or delivered:

(1) if the property or interest has devolved to the disclaimant under a testamentary instrument or by the laws of intestacy, the disclaimer must be filed, if of a present interest, not later than nine months after the death of the deceased owner or deceased donee of a power of appointment and, if of a future interest, not later than nine months after the event determining that the taker of the property or interest is finally ascertained and his interest is indefeasibly vested. The disclaimer must be filed in the court of the county in which proceedings for the administration of the estate of the deceased owner or deceased donee of the power have been commenced. A copy of the disclaimer must be delivered in person or mailed by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to any personal representative or other fiduciary of the decedent or donee of the power;

(2) if a property or interest has devolved to the disclaimant under a nontestamentary instrument or contract, the disclaimer must be delivered or filed, if of a present interest, not later than nine months after the effective date of the nontestamentary instrument or contract and, if of a future interest, not later than nine months after the event determining that the taker of the property or interest is finally ascertained and his interest is indefeasibly vested. If the person entitled to disclaim does not know of the existence of the interest, the disclaimer must be delivered or filed not later than nine months after the person learns of the existence of the interest. The effective date of a revocable instrument or contract is the date on which the maker no longer has power to revoke it or to transfer to himself or another the entire legal and equitable ownership of the interest. The disclaimer or a copy thereof must be delivered in person or mailed by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the person who has legal title to or possession of the interest disclaimed;

(3) a surviving joint tenant may disclaim as a separate interest any property or interest therein devolving to him by right of survivorship. A surviving joint tenant may disclaim the entire interest in any property or interest therein that is the subject of a joint tenancy devolving to him if the joint tenancy was created by act of a deceased joint tenant, the survivor did not join in creating the joint tenancy and has not accepted a benefit under it; and

(4) if real property or an interest therein is disclaimed, a copy of the disclaimer may be recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the property or interest disclaimed is located.

C. The disclaimer must:

(1) describe the property or interest disclaimed;

(2) declare the disclaimer and extent thereof; and

(3) be signed by the disclaimant.

D. The effects of a disclaimer are:

(1) if property or an interest therein devolves to a disclaimant under a testamentary instrument under a power of appointment exercised by a testamentary instrument or pursuant to the laws of intestacy and the decedent has not provided for another disposition of that interest, should it be disclaimed, or of disclaimed or failed interests in general, the disclaimed interest devolves as if the disclaimant had predeceased the decedent; but if by law or under the testamentary instrument the descendants of the disclaimant would take the disclaimant's share by representation were the disclaimant to predecease the decedent, then the disclaimed interest passes by representation to the descendants of the disclaimant who survived the decedent. A future interest that takes effect in possession or enjoyment after the termination of the estate or interest disclaimed takes effect as if the disclaimant had predeceased the decedent. A disclaimer relates back for all purposes to the date of death of the decedent;

(2) if property or an interest therein devolves to a disclaimant under a nontestamentary instrument or contract and the instrument or contract does not provide for another disposition of that interest, should it be disclaimed, or of disclaimed or failed interests in general, the disclaimed interest devolves as if the disclaimant has predeceased the effective date of the instrument or contract; but if by law or under the nontestamentary instrument or contract the descendants of the disclaimant would take the disclaimant's share by representation were the disclaimant to predecease the effective date of the instrument, then the disclaimed interest passes by repesentation to the descendants of the disclaimant who survive the effective date of the instrument. A disclaimer relates back for all purposes to that date. A future interest that takes effect in possession or enjoyment at or after the termination of the disclaimed interest takes effect as if the disclaimant had died before the effective date of the instrument or contract that transferred the disclaimed interest; and

(3) the disclaimer or the written waiver of the right to disclaim is binding upon the disclaimant or person waiving and all persons claiming through or under either of them.

E. The right to disclaim property or an interest therein is barred by:

(1) an assignment, conveyance, encumbrance, pledge or transfer of the property or interest or a contract therefor;

(2) a written waiver of the right to disclaim;

(3) an acceptance of the property or interest or a benefit under it; or

(4) a sale of the property or interest under judicial sale made before the disclaimer is made.

F. This section does not abridge the right of a person to waive, release, disclaim or renounce property or an interest therein under any other statute.

G. An interest in property that exists on the effective date of this section as to which, if a present interest, the time for filing a disclaimer under this section has not expired or, if a future interest, the interest has not become indefeasibly vested or the taker finally ascertained may be disclaimed within nine months after the effective date of this section."

Section 61

Section 61. Section 45-2-802 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-802) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-802 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-802. EFFECT OF DIVORCE, ANNULMENT AND DECREE OF SEPARATION.--

A. An individual who is divorced from the decedent or whose marriage to the decedent has been annulled is not a surviving spouse unless, by virtue of a subsequent marriage, he is married to the decedent at the time of death. A decree of separation that does not terminate the status of husband and wife is not a divorce for purposes of this section.

B. For purposes of Chapter 45, Article 2, Parts 1 through 4 and Section 45-3-203 NMSA 1978, a surviving spouse does not include:

(1) an individual who obtains or consents to a final decree or judgment of divorce from the decedent or an annulment of their marriage, which decree or judgment is not recognized as valid in this state, unless subsequently they participate in a marriage ceremony purporting to marry each to the other or live together as husband and wife;

(2) an individual who, following an invalid decree or judgment of divorce or annulment obtained by the decedent, participates in a marriage ceremony with a third individual; or

(3) an individual who was a party to a valid proceeding concluded by an order purporting to terminate all marital property rights."

Section 62

Section 62. Section 45-2-803 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-803) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-803 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-803. EFFECT OF HOMICIDE ON INTESTATE SUCCESSION, WILLS, TRUSTS, JOINT ASSETS, LIFE INSURANCE AND BENEFICIARY DESIGNATIONS.--

A. As used in this section:

(1) "disposition or appointment of property" includes a transfer of an item of property or any other benefit to a beneficiary designated in a governing instrument; and

(2) "revocable", with respect to a disposition, appointment, provision or nomination, means one under which the decedent, at the time of or immediately before death, was alone empowered, by law or under the governing instrument, to cancel the designation, in favor of the killer, whether or not the decedent was then empowered to designate himself in place of his killer and the decedent then had capacity to exercise the power.

B. An individual who feloniously and intentionally kills the decedent forfeits all benefits pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 45, Article 2 NMSA 1978 with respect to the decedent's estate, including an intestate share, an omitted spouse's or child's share, a family allowance and a personal property allowance. If the decedent died intestate, the decedent's intestate estate passes as if the killer disclaimed his intestate share.

C. The felonious and intentional killing of the decedent:

(1) revokes any revocable:

(a) disposition or appointment of property made by the decedent to the killer in a governing instrument;

(b) provision in a governing instrument executed by the decedent conferring a general or nongeneral power of appointment on the killer; and

(c) nomination of the killer in a governing instrument executed by the decedent, nominating or appointing the killer to serve in any fiduciary or representative capacity, including a personal representative, executor, trustee or agent; and

(2) severs the interests of the decedent and killer in property held by them at the time of the killing as joint tenants with the right of survivorship, transforming the interests of the decedent and killer into tenancies in common.

D. A severance pursuant to the provisions of Paragraph (2) of Subsection C of this section does not affect any third-party interest in property acquired for value and in good faith reliance on an apparent title by survivorship in the killer unless a writing declaring the severance has been noted, registered, filed or recorded in records appropriate to the kind and location of the property that are relied upon in the ordinary course of transactions involving such property as evidence of ownership.

E. Provisions of a governing instrument executed by the decedent that are not revoked by this section are given effect as if the killer disclaimed all revoked provisions or, in the case of a revoked nomination in a fiduciary or representative capacity, as if the killer predeceased the decedent.

F. An acquisition of property or interest by a killer not covered by this section must be treated in accordance with the principle that a killer cannot profit from his wrong.

G. After all right to appeal has been exhausted, a judgment of conviction establishing criminal accountability for the felonious and intentional killing of the decedent conclusively establishes the convicted individual as the decedent's killer for purposes of this section. In the absence of a conviction, the court upon the petition of an interested person must determine whether under the preponderance of evidence standard the individual would be found criminally accountable for the felonious and intentional killing of the decedent. If the court determines that under that standard the individual would be found criminally accountable for the felonious and intentional killing of the decedent, the determination conclusively establishes that individual as the decedent's killer for purposes of this section.

H. A payor or other third party is not liable for having made a payment or transferred an item of property or any other benefit to a beneficiary designated in a governing instrument executed by the decedent affected by an intentional and felonious killing or for having taken any other action in good faith reliance on the validity of the governing instrument executed by the decedent upon request and satisfactory proof of the decedent's death before the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed forfeiture or revocation under this section. A payor or other third party is liable for a payment made or other action taken after the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed forfeiture or revocation under this section.

Written notice of a claimed forfeiture or revocation pursuant to the provisions of this section must be mailed to the payor's or other third party's main office or home by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or served upon the payor or other third party in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. Upon receipt of written notice of a claimed forfeiture or revocation pursuant to the provisions of this section, a payor or other third party may pay any amount owed or transfer or deposit any item of property held by it to or with the court having jurisdiction of the probate proceedings relating to the decedent's estate or if no proceedings have been commenced, to or with the court having jurisdiction of probate proceedings relating to decedents' estates located in the county of the decedent's residence. The court shall hold the funds or item of property and, upon its determination pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall order disbursement in accordance with the determination. Payments, transfers or deposits made to or with the court discharge the payor or other third party from all claims for the value of amounts paid to or items of property transferred to or deposited with the court.

I. A person who purchases property for value and without notice or who receives a payment or other item of property in partial or full satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation is neither obligated pursuant to the provisions of this section to return the payment, item of property or benefit nor is liable pursuant to the provisions of this section for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit. But a person who, not for value, receives a payment, item of property or any other benefit to which the person is not entitled pursuant to the provisions of this section is obligated to return the payment, item of property or benefit or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit to the person who is entitled to it pursuant to the provisions of this section.

J. If this section or any part of this section is pre-empted by federal law with respect to a payment, an item of property or any other benefit covered by this section, a person who, not for value, receives the payment, item of property or any other benefit to which the person is not entitled pursuant to the provisions of this section is obligated to return the payment, item of property or benefit or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit to the person who would have been entitled to it were this section or part of this section not pre-empted."

Section 63

Section 63. A new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-2-804 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-2-804. REVOCATION OF PROBATE AND NONPROBATE TRANSFERS BY DIVORCE--NO REVOCATION BY OTHER CHANGES OF CIRCUMSTANCES.--

A. As used in this section:

(1) "disposition or appointment of property" includes a transfer of an item of property or any other benefit to a beneficiary designated in a governing instrument;

(2) "divorce or annulment" means any divorce or annulment or any dissolution or declaration of invalidity of a marriage that would exclude the spouse as a surviving spouse within the meaning of Section 45-2-802 NMSA 1978. A decree of separation that does not terminate the status of husband and wife is not a divorce for purposes of this section;

(3) "divorced individual" includes an individual whose marriage has been annulled;

(4) "governing instrument" means a governing instrument executed by the divorced individual before the divorce or annulment of his marriage to his former spouse;

(5) "relative of the divorced individual's former spouse" means an individual who is related to the divorced individual's former spouse by blood, adoption or affinity and who, after the divorce or annulment, is not related to the divorced individual by blood, adoption or affinity; and

(6) "revocable", with respect to a disposition, appointment, provision or nomination, means one under which the divorced individual, at the time of the divorce or annulment, was alone empowered by law or under the governing instrument to cancel the designation in favor of his former spouse or former spouse's relative whether or not the divorced individual was then empowered to designate himself in place of his former spous or in place of his former spouse's relative and whether or not the divorced individual then had the capacity to exercise the power.

B. Except as provided by the express terms of a governing instrument, a court order or a contract relating to the division of the marital estate made between the divorced individuals before or after the marriage, divorce or annulment, the divorce or annulment of a marriage:

(1) revokes any revocable:

(a) disposition or appointment of property made by a divorced individual to his former spouse in a governing instrument and any disposition or appointment created by law or in a governing instrument to a relative of the divorced individual's former spouse;

(b) provision in a governing instrument conferring a general or nongeneral power of appointment on the divorced individual's former spouse or on a relative of the divorced individual's former spouse; and

(c) nomination in a governing instrument, nominating a divorced individual's former spouse or a relative of the divorced individual's former spouse to serve in any fiduciary or representative capacity, including a personal representative, executor, trustee, conservator, agent or guardian; and

(2) severs the interests of the former spouses in property held by them at the time of the divorce or annulment as joint tenants with the right of survivorship, transforming the interests of the former spouses into tenancies in common.

C. A severance pursuant to the provisions of Paragraph (2) of Subsection B of this section does not affect any third-party interest in property acquired for value and in good faith reliance on an apparent title by survivorship in the survivor of the former spouses unless a writing declaring the severance has been noted, registered, filed or recorded in records appropriate to the kind and location of the property that are relied upon in the ordinary course of transactions involving such property as evidence of ownership.

D. Provisions of a governing instrument that are not revoked by this section are given effect as if the former spouse and relatives of the former spouse disclaimed the revoked provisions or, in the case of a revoked nomination in a fiduciary or representative capacity, as if the former spouse and relatives of the former spouse died immediately before the divorce or annulment.

E. Provisions revoked solely by this section are revived by the divorced individual's remarriage to the former spouse or by a nullification of the divorce or annulment.

F. No change of circumstances other than as described in this section and in Section 45-2-803 NMSA 1978 effects a revocation.

G. A payor or other third party is not liable for having made a payment or transferred an item of property or any other benefit to a beneficiary designated in a governing instrument affected by a divorce, annulment or remarriage or for having taken any other action in good faith reliance on the validity of the governing instrument before the payor or other third party received written notice of the divorce, annulment or remarriage. A payor or other third party is liable for a payment made or other action taken after the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed forfeiture or revocation pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Written notice of the divorce, annulment or remarriage pursuant to the provisions of this section must be mailed to the payor's or other third party's main office or home by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or served upon the payor or other third party in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. Upon receipt of the written notice of the divorce, annulment or remarriage, a payor or other third party may pay any amount owed or transfer or deposit any item of property held by it to or with the court having jurisdiction of the probate proceedings relating to the decedent's estate or, if no proceedings have been commenced, to or with the court having jurisdiction of probate proceedings relating to decedents' estates located in the county of the decedent's residence. The court shall hold the funds or item of property and, upon its determination pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall order disbursement or transfer in accordance with the determination. Payments, transfers or deposits made to or with the court discharge the payor or other third party from all claims for the value of amounts paid to or items of property transferred to or deposited with the court.

H. A person who purchases property from a former spouse, relative of a former spouse or any other person for value and without notice or who receives from a former spouse, relative of a former spouse or any other person a payment or other item of property in partial or full satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation is neither obligated pursuant to the provisions of this section to return the payment, item of property or benefit nor is liable pursuant to the provisions of this section for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit. But a former spouse, relative of a former spouse or other person who, not for value, received a payment, item of property or any other benefit to which that person is not entitled pursuant to the provisions of this section is obligated to return the payment, item of property or benefit or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit to the person who is entitled to it pursuant to the provisions of this section.

I. If this section or any part of this section is pre-empted by federal law with respect to a payment, an item of property or any other benefit covered by this section, a former spouse, relative of the former spouse or any other person who, not for value, received a payment, item of property or any other benefit to which that person is not entitled pursuant to the provisions of this section is obligated to return that payment, item of property or benefit or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit to the person who would have been entitled to it were this section or part of this section not pre-empted."

Section 64. RECOMPILATION.--Section 45-2-804 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 2-804, as amended) is recompiled as Section 45-2-805 NMSA 1978.

Section 67

Section 67. RECOMPILATION.--Sections 45-2-1101 through 45-2-1110 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1992, Chapter 66, Sections 7 through 16) are recompiled as Sections 45-2-1001 through 45-2-1010 NMSA 1978.

Section 68

Section 68. Section 45-3-108 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-108) is amended to read:

"45-3-108. PROBATE, TESTACY AND APPOINTMENT PROCEEDINGS--ULTIMATE TIME LIMIT.--

A. No informal probate or appointment proceeding or formal testacy or appointment proceeding, other than a proceeding to probate a will previously probated at the testator's domicile or appointment proceedings relating to an estate in which there has been a prior appointment, may be commenced more than three years after the decedent's death, except:

(1) if a previous proceeding was dismissed because of doubt about the fact of the decedent's death, then appropriate probate, appointment or testacy proceedings may be maintained at any time thereafter upon a finding that the decedent's death occurred prior to the initiation of the previous proceeding and the applicant or petitioner has not delayed unduly in initiating the subsequent proceeding;

(2) appropriate probate, appointment or testacy proceedings may be maintained in relation to the estate of an absent, disappeared or missing person for whose estate a conservator has been appointed at any time within three years after the conservator becomes able to establish the death of the protected person;

(3) a proceeding to contest an informally probated will and to secure appointment of the person with legal priority for appointment in the event the contest is successful may be commenced within the later of twelve months from the informal probate or three years from the decedent's death; and

(4) if no proceeding concerning the succession or administration of the estate has occurred within three years after decedent's death, a formal testacy proceeding may be commenced at any time thereafter for the sole purpose of establishing a devise of property that the devisee or his successors and assigns possessed in accordance with the will or property that was not possessed or claimed by anyone by virtue of the decedent's title during the three-year period and the order of the court shall be limited to that property.

B. The limitations set out in Subsection A of this section do not apply to proceedings to construe probated wills or determine heirs of an intestate. In cases pursuant to the provisions of Paragraph (1) or (2) of Subsection A of this section, the date on which a testacy or appointment proceeding is properly commenced shall be deemed to be the date of the decedent's death for purposes of other limitation provisions of the Uniform Probate Code that relate to the date of death."

Section 69

Section 69. Section 45-3-705 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-705) is amended to read:

"45-3-705. DUTY OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE--NOTICE TO HEIRS AND DEVISEES.--

A. Not later than ten days after his appointment, every personal representative, except any special administrator, shall give notice of his appointment to the heirs and devisees, including, if there has been no formal testacy proceeding and if the personal representative was appointed on the assumption that the decedent died intestate, the devisees in any will mentioned in the application or petition for appointment of a personal representative.

B. The notice shall be delivered or mailed to each of the heirs and devisees whose address is reasonably available to the personal representative. The duty does not extend to require notice to persons who have been adjudicated in a prior formal testacy proceeding to have no interest in the estate. The notice shall:

(1) include the name and address of the personal representative;

(2) indicate that it is being sent to persons who have or may have some interest in the estate being administered;

(3) indicate whether bond has been filed; and

(4) describe the court where papers relating to the estate are on file.

C. The notice shall state that the estate is being administered by the personal representative pursuant to the provisions of the Uniform Probate Code without supervision by the court but that recipients are entitled to information regarding the administration from the personal representative and can petition the court in any matter relating to the estate, including distribution of assets and expenses of administration.

D. The personal representative shall file a statement with the appointing court giving the names and addresses of those persons notified pursuant to Subsection A of this section.

E. The personal representative's failure to give notice pursuant to this section is a breach of his duty to the persons concerned but does not affect the validity of his appointment, his powers or other duties. A personal representative may inform other persons of his appointment by delivery or mail."

Section 70

Section 70. Section 45-3-708 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-708) is amended to read:

"45-3-708. DUTY OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE--SUPPLEMENTARY INVENTORY.--

A personal representative shall give written notice by mail or other delivery to any known creditor and to any creditor who is reasonably ascertainable by the personal representative within three months after the personal representative's appointment. A personal representative shall notify a creditor to present his claim within two months of the published notice, if given as provided in Subsection B of this section, or within two months after the mailing or other delivery of the notice, whichever is later, or be forever barred.

B. A personal representative, within a reasonable time after his appointment, may also publish a notice to creditors once a week for two successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the county announcing the appointment and the personal representative's address and the name of the decedent and notifying creditors of the estate to present their claims within two months after the date of the first publication of the notice or be forever barred.

C. A personal representative who has proceeded in accordance with Subsection A of this section is not liable to a creditor whose claim was not identified or to a successor of the decedent for giving or failing to give notice pursuant to the provisions of this section."

Section 72

Section 72. Section 45-3-802 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-802) is amended to read:

"45-3-802. STATUTES OF LIMITATIONS.--

A. Unless an estate is insolvent, the personal representative, with the consent of all successors, may waive any defense of limitations available to the estate. If the defense is not waived, no claim that was barred by any statute of limitations at the time of the decedent's death shall be allowed or paid.

B. The running of a statute of limitations measured from an event other than death or the giving of notice to creditors is suspended for four months after the decedent's death but resumes thereafter as to claims not barred by other sections.

C. For purposes of a statute of limitations, the presentation of a claim pursuant to Section 45-3-804 NMSA 1978 is equivalent to commencement of a proceeding on the claim."

Section 73

Section 73. Section 45-3-803 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-803) is amended to read:

"45-3-803. LIMITATIONS ON PRESENTATION OF CLAIMS.--

A. All claims against a decedent's estate that arose before the death of the decedent, including claims of the state and any subdivision of the state, whether due or to become due, absolute or contingent, liquidated or unliquidated or founded on contract, tort or other legal basis, if not barred earlier by another statute of limitations or non-claim statute, are barred against the estate, the personal representative and the heirs and devisees of the decedent unless presented within the earlier of the following:

(1) one year after the decedent's death; or

(2) the time provided by Subsection A of Section 45-3-801 NMSA 1978 for creditors who are given actual notice and the time provided in Subsection B of Section 45-3-801 NMSA 1978 for all creditors barred by publication.

B. A claim described in Subsection A of this section that is barred by the non-claim statute of the decedent's domicile before the giving of notice to creditors in this state is barred in this state.

C. All claims against a decedent's estate that arise at or after the death of the decedent, including claims of the state and any subdivision of the state, whether due or to become due, absolute or contingent, liquidated or unliquidated or founded on contract, tort or other legal basis, are barred against the estate, the personal representative and the heirs and devisees of the decedent unless presented as follows:

(1) a claim based on a contract with the personal representative within four months after performance by the personal representative is due; or

(2) any other claim within the later of four months after it arises or the time specified in Paragraph (1) of this subsection.

D. Nothing in this section affects or prevents:

(1) any proceeding to enforce any mortgage, pledge or other lien upon property of the estate;

(2) to the limits of the insurance protection only, any proceeding to establish liability of the decedent or the personal representative for which he is protected by liability insurance; or

(3) collection of compensation for services rendered and reimbursement for expenses advanced by the personal representative or by the attorney or accountant for the personal representative of the estate."

Section 74

Section 74. Section 45-3-806 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-806) is amended to read:

"45-3-806. ALLOWANCE OF CLAIMS.--

A. As to claims presented in the manner described in Section 45-3-804 NMSA 1978 within the time limit prescribed in Section 45-3-803 NMSA 1978, the personal representative may mail a notice to any claimant stating that the claim has been disallowed. If after allowing or disallowing a claim the personal representative changes his decision concerning the claim, he shall notify the claimant. The personal representative may not change a disallowance of a claim after the time for the claimant to file a petition for allowance or to commence a proceeding on the claim has run and the claim has been barred. Every claim that is disallowed in whole or in part by the personal representative is barred so far as not allowed unless the claimant files a petition for allowance in the district court or commences a proceeding against the personal representative not later than sixty days after the mailing of the notice of disallowance or partial allowance. Failure of the personal representative to mail notice to a claimant of action on his claim for sixty days after the time for original presentation of the claim has expired has the effect of a notice of allowance.

B. After allowing or disallowing a claim the personal representative may change the allowance or disallowance as hereafter provided. The personal representative may prior to payment change the allowance to a disallowance in whole or in part but not after allowance by a court order or judgment or an order directing payment of the claim. He shall notify the claimant of the change to disallowance, and the disallowed claim is then subject to bar as provided in Subsection A of this section. The personal representative may change a disallowance to an allowance, in whole or in part, until it is barred pursuant to Subsection A of this section; after it is barred, it may be allowed and paid only if the estate is solvent and all successors whose interests would be affected consent.

C. Upon the petition of the personal representative or of a claimant in a proceeding for the purpose, the district court may allow in whole or in part any claim presented to the personal representative or filed with the clerk of the district court in due time and not barred by Subsection A of this section. Notice in this proceeding shall be given to the claimant, the personal representative and those other persons interested in the estate, as the court may direct by order entered at the time the proceeding is commenced.

D. A judgment in a proceeding in another court against a personal representative to enforce a claim against a decedent's estate is an allowance of the claim.

E. Unless otherwise provided in any judgment in another court entered against the personal representative, allowed claims bear interest at the legal rate for the period commencing sixty days after the time for original presentation of the claim has expired unless based on a contract making a provision for interest, in which case they bear interest in accordance with that provision."

Section 75

Section 75. Section 45-3-807 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-807) is amended to read:

"45-3-807. PAYMENT OF CLAIMS.--

A. Upon the expiration of the earlier of the time limitations provided in Section 45-3-803 NMSA 1978, the personal representative shall proceed to pay the claims allowed against the estate in the order of priority described, after making provision for family and personal property allowances, for claims already presented that have not yet been allowed or whose allowance has been appealed and for unbarred claims that may yet be presented, including costs and expenses of administration. By petition to the district court in a proceeding for the purpose or by appropriate motion if the administration is supervised, a claimant whose claim has been allowed but not paid may secure an order directing the personal representative to pay the claim to the extent funds of the estate are available to pay it.

B. The personal representative at any time may pay any just claim that has not been barred, with or without formal presentation, but he is personally liable to any other claimant whose claim is allowed and who is injured by its payment if:

(1) payment was made before the expiration of the time limit stated in Subsection A of this section and the personal representative failed to require the payee to give adequate security for the refund of any of the payment necessary to pay other claimants; or

(2) payment was made, due to negligence or willful fault of the personal representative, in such manner as to deprive the injured claimant of priority."

Section 76

Section 76. Section 45-3-906 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-906) is amended to read:

"45-3-906. DISTRIBUTION IN KIND--VALUATION--METHOD.--

A. Unless a contrary intention is indicated by the will, the distributable assets of a decedent's estate shall be distributed in kind to the extent possible through application of the following provisions:

(1) a specific devisee is entitled to distribution of the thing devised to him, and a spouse or child who has selected particular assets of an estate as provided in Section 45-2-402 NMSA 1978 shall receive the items selected;

(2) any family allowance, personal property allowance or devise of a stated sum of money may be satisfied in kind, provided:

(a) the person entitled to the payment has not demanded payment in cash;

(b) the property distributed in kind is valued at fair market value as of the date of its distribution; and

(c) no residuary devisee has requested that the asset in question remain a part of the residue of the estate; and

(3) the residuary estate shall be distributed in any equitable manner.

B. For the purpose of valuation pursuant to Paragraph (2) of Subsection A of this section, securities regularly traded on recognized exchanges, if distributed in kind, are valued at the price for the last sale of like securities traded on the business day prior to distribution or, if there was no sale on that day, at the median between amounts bid and offered at the close of that day. Assets consisting of sums owed the decedent or the estate by solvent debtors as to which there is no known dispute or defense are valued at the sum due with accrued interest or discounted to the date of distribution. For assets that do not have readily ascertainable values, a valuation as of a date not more than thirty days prior o the date of distribution, if otherwise reasonable, controls. For purposes of facilitating distribution, the personal representative may ascertain the value of the assets as of the time of the proposed distribution in any reasonable way, including the employment of qualified appraisers, even if the assets may have been previously appraised.

C. After the probable charges against the estate are known, the personal representative may mail or deliver a proposal for distribution to all persons who have a right to object to the proposed distribution. The right of any distributee to object to the proposed distribution on the basis of the kind or value of asset he is to receive, if not waived earlier in writing, terminates if he fails to object in writing received by the personal representative within thirty days after mailing or delivery of the proposal."

Section 77. Section 45-3-910 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-910) is repealed and a new section of the Uniform Probate Code, Section 45-3-910 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"45-3-910. PURCHASES FROM DISTRIBUTEES PROTECTED.--If property distributed in kind or a security interest therein is acquired for value by a purchaser from or lender to a distributee who has received an instrument or deed of distribution from the personal representative, or is so acquired by a purchaser from or lender to a transferee from such distributee, the purchaser or lender takes title free of rights of any interested person in the estate and incurs no personal liability to the estate, or to any interested person, whether or not the distribution was proper or supported by court order or the authority of the personal representative was terminated before execution of the instrument or deed. This section protects a purchaser from or lender to a distributee who, as personal representative, has executed a deed of distribution to himself, as well as a purchaser from or lender to any other distributee or transferee. To be protected under this provision, a purchaser or lender need not inquire whether a personal representative acted properly in making the distribution in kind, even if the personal representative and the distributee are the same person, or whether the authority of the personal representative had terminated before the distribution."

Section 78

Section 78. Section 45-3-914 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-914) is amended to read:

"45-3-914. DISPOSITION OF UNCLAIMED ASSETS.--If an heir, devisee or claimant cannot be found, the personal representative shall distribute the share of the missing person to his conservator, if any. Otherwise, the personal representative shall sell the share of the missing person and distribute the proceeds to the state treasurer as prescribed by the Uniform Unclaimed Property Act."

Section 79

Section 79. Section 45-3-915 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-915) is amended to read:

"45-3-915. DISTRIBUTION TO PERSON UNDER DISABILITY.--

A. A personal representative may discharge his obligation to distribute to any minor or person under disability by distributing in a manner expressly provided in the will.

B. Unless contrary to an express provision in the will, the personal representative may discharge his obligation to distribute to a minor or person under other disability as authorized by Section 45-5-101 NMSA 1978 or any other statute. If the personal representative knows that a conservator has been appointed or that a proceeding for appointment of a conservator is pending, the personal representative is authorized to distribute only to the conservator.

C. If the heir or devisee is under disability other than minority, the personal representative is authorized to distribute to:

(1) an attorney in fact who has authority under a power of attorney to receive property for that person; or

(2) the spouse, parent or other close relative with whom the person under disability resides if the distribution is of amounts not exceeding ten thousand dollars ($10,000) a year or property not exceeding ten thousand dollars ($10,000) in value unless the court authorizes a larger amount or greater value.

Persons receiving money or property for the disabled person are obligated to apply the money or property to the support of the disabled person. Persons may not pay themselves except by way of reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenses for goods and services necessary for the support of the disabled person. Excess sums must be preserved for future support of the disabled person. The personal representative is not responsible for the proper application of money or property distributed pursuant to this subsection."

Section 80

Section 80. Section 45-3-916 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-916) is amended to read:

"45-3-916. APPORTIONMENT OF ESTATE TAXES.--

A. For purposes of this section:

(1) "estate" means the gross estate of a decedent as determined for the purpose of federal estate tax and any death taxes payable to New Mexico;

(2) "person" means any individual, partnership, association, joint stock company, corporation, government, political subdivision, governmental agency or local governmental agency;

(3) "person interested in the estate" means any person entitled to receive or who has received from a decedent or by reason of the death of a decedent any property or interest therein included in the decedent's estate. It includes a personal representative, conservator and trustee;

(4) "state" means any state, territory or possession of the United States, the District of Columbia and the commonwealth of Puerto Rico;

(5) "tax" means the federal estate tax and any death taxes imposed by New Mexico and interest and penalties imposed in addition to the tax; and

(6) "fiduciary" means personal representative or trustee.

B. Except as provided in Subsection I of this section and, unless the will otherwise provides, the tax shall be apportioned among all persons interested in the estate. The apportionment is to be made in the proportion that the value of the interest, subject to tax of each such person interested in the estate, bears to the total value of the interests, subject to tax of all such persons interested in the estate. The values used in determining the tax are to be used for that purpose. If the decedent's will directs a method of apportionment of tax different from the method described in the Uniform Probate Code, the method described in the will controls.

C. The district court in which venue lies for the administration of the estate of a decedent, on petition for such purpose, may determine the apportionment of the tax. If the district court finds that it is inequitable to apportion interest and penalties in the manner provided in Subsection B of this section, it may direct equitable apportionment thereof. If the district court finds that the assessment of penalties and interest assessed in relation to the tax is due to delay caused by the negligence of the fiduciary, the district court may charge him with the amount of the assessed penalties and interest.

D. The personal representative or other person in possession of the property of the decedent required to pay the tax may withhold from any property distributable to any person interested in the estate, upon its distribution to him, the amount of tax attributable to his interest. If the property in possession of the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax and distributable to any person interested in the estate is insufficient to satisfy the proportionate amount of the tax determined to be due from the person, the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax may recover the deficiency from the person interested in the estate. If the property is not in the possession of the personal representative or the other person required to pay the tax, the personal representative or the other person required to pay the tax may recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person in accordance with this section. If property held by the personal representative is distributed prior to final apportionment of the tax, the distributee shall provide a bond or other security for the apportionment liability in the form and amount prescribed by the personal representative.

E. Under the provisions of this section:

(1) in making an apportionment, allowances shall be made for any exemptions granted, any classification made of persons interested in the estate and for any deductions and credits allowed by the law imposing the tax;

(2) any exemption or deduction allowed by reason of the relationship of any person to the decedent or by reason of the purposes of the gift inures to the benefit of the person bearing such relationship or receiving the gift; but if an interest is subject to a prior present interest which is not allowable as a deduction, the tax apportionable against the present interest shall be paid from principal;

(3) any deduction for property previously taxed and any credit for gift taxes or death taxes of a foreign country paid by the decedent or his estate inures to the proportionate benefit of all persons liable to apportionment;

(4) any credit for inheritance, succession or estate taxes or taxes in the nature thereof applicable to property or interests includable in the estate inures to the benefit of the persons or interests chargeable with the payment thereof to the extent proportionately that the credit reduces the tax; and

(5) to the extent that property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse or any charitable, public or similar gift or devise is not an allowable deduction for purposes of the tax solely by reason of an inheritance tax or other death tax imposed upon and deductible from the property, the property is not included in the computation provided for in Subsection B of this section and to that extent no apportionment is made against the property. The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to any case if the result would be to deprive the estate of a deduction otherwise allowable under Subsection D of Section 2053 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, of the United States, relating to deduction for state death taxes on transfers for public, charitable or religious uses.

F. No interest in income and no estate for years or for life or other temporary interest in any property or fund is subject to apportionment as between the temporary interest and the remainder. The tax on the temporary interest and the tax, if any, on the remainder is chargeable against the corpus of the property or funds subject to the temporary interest and remainder.

G. Neither the personal representative nor other person required to pay the tax is under any duty to institute any action to recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person until the expiration of the three months next following final determination of the tax. A personal representative or other person required to pay the tax who institutes the action within a reasonable time after the three months' period is not subject to any liability or surcharge because any portion of the tax apportioned to any person interested in the estate was collectible at a time following the death of the decedent but thereafter became uncollectible. If the personal representative or other person required to pay the tax cannot collect from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person, the amount not recoverable shall be equitably apportioned among the other persons interested in the estate who are subject to apportionment.

H. A personal representative acting in another state or a person required to pay the tax domiciled in another state may institute an action in the courts of New Mexico and may recover a proportionate amount of the federal tax, of an estate tax payable to another state or of a death duty due by a decedent's estate to another state, from a person interested in the estate who is either domiciled in New Mexico or who owns property in New Mexico subject to attachment or execution. For the purposes of the action, the determination of apportionment by the court having jurisdiction of the administration of the decedent's estate in the other state is prima facie correct.

I. If the liabilities of persons interested in the estate as prescribed by the provisions of the Uniform Probate Code differ from those which result under the Federal Estate tax law, the liabilities imposed by the federal law will control and the balance of this section shall apply as if the resulting liabilities had been rescribed by the Uniform Probate Code."

Section 81

Section 81. Section 45-3-1003 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1975, Chapter 257, Section 3-1003, as amended) is amended to read:

"45-3-1003. CLOSING ESTATES--BY SWORN STATEMENT OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE.--

A. Unless prohibited by order of the district court and except for estates being administered in supervised administration proceedings, a personal representative may close an estate by filing with the court, no earlier than three months after the date of original appointment of a general personal representative for the estate, a verified statement stating that the personal representative or a previous personal representative has:

(1) determined that the time limited for presentation of creditors' claims has expired;

(2) fully administered the estate of the decedent by making payment, settlement or other disposition of all claims that were presented, expenses of administration and estate, inheritance and other death taxes, except as specified in the statement, and that the assets of the estate have been distributed to the persons entitled. If any claims remain undischarged, the statement shall state whether the personal representative has distributed the estate subject to possible liability with the agreement of the distributees or it shall state in detail other arrangements that have been made to accommodate outstanding liabilities; and

(3) sent a copy of the statement to all distributees of the estate and to all creditors or other claimants of whom the personal representative is aware whose claims are neither paid nor barred and has furnished a full account in writing of the personal representative's administration to the distributees whose interests are affected thereby, including guardians ad litem appointed pursuant to Section 45-1-403 NMSA 1978, conservators and guardians.
