E. In lieu of a site assessment under this section, following adoption of the regulations, the operator or owner of an existing mining operation that has completed all reclamation measures may apply to the director for an inspection of the reclaimed areas to determine whether the completed reclamation satisfies the requirements of the New Mexico Mining Act and the substantive requirements for reclamation pursuant to the applicable regulatory standards. If the director determines that those requirements are met, the operator or owner shall be released from further requirements under the New Mexico Mining Act.

Section 6

Section 6. MINING COMMISSION--CREATED--MEMBERS.--

A. The "mining commission" is created. The commission shall consist of seven voting members, including:

(1) the director of the bureau of mines and mineral resources of the New Mexico institute of mining and technology or an academic from a mining-related field to be appointed for a four-year term by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate;

(2) the secretary of environment or his designee;

(3) the state engineer or his designee;

(4) the commissioner of public lands or his designee;

(5) the director of the department of game and fish or his designee; and

(6) two members of the public and an alternate for each, all to be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate. The public members shall be chosen to represent and to balance environmental and mining interests while minimizing conflicts of interest. No more than one of the public members and one of the alternates appointed may belong to the same political party. When the initial appointments are made, one of the public members and his alternate will be designated to serve for two-year terms, after which all public members shall serve for four years. An alternate member may vote only in the absence of the public member for whom he is the alternate.

B. The chairman of the soil and water conservation commission and the director of the agricultural experiment station of New Mexico state university or their designees shall be nonvoting ex-officio members to the commission.

C. The commission shall elect a chairman and other necessary officers and keep records of its proceedings.

D. The commission shall convene upon the call of the chairman or a majority of its members.

E. A majority of the voting members of the commission shall be a quorum for the transaction of business. However, no action of the commission shall be valid unless concurred upon by at least four of the members present.

F. No member of the commission, with the exception of one of the public members and his alternate, shall receive, or shall have received during the previous two years, more than ten percent of his income directly or indirectly from permit holders or applicants for permits. Each member of the commission shall, upon acceptance of his appointment and prior to the performance of any of his duties, file a statement of disclosure with the secretary of state stating:

(1) the amount of money or other valuable consideration received, whether provided directly or indirectly, from persons subject to or who appear before the commission;

(2) the identity of the source of money or other valuable consideration; and

(3) whether the money or other valuable consideration was in excess of ten percent of his gross personal income in either of the preceding two years.

G. No commissioner with any financial interest affected or potentially affected by a permit action may participate in proceedings related to that permit action.

Section 7

Section 7. COMMISSION--DUTIES.--The commission shall:

A. within one year of the effective date of the New Mexico Mining Act, adopt and file reasonable regulations, consistent with the purposes and intent of the New Mexico Mining Act, necessary to implement that act, including regulations that:

(1) consider the economic and environmental effects of their implementation;

(2) require permitting of all new and existing mining operations and exploration; and

(3) require annual reporting of production information to the commission, which shall be kept confidential if otherwise required by law;

B. adopt regulations for new mining operations that allow the director to select a qualified expert who may:

(1) review and comment to the director on the adequacy of baseline data gathered prior to submission of the permit application for use in the permit application process;

(2) recommend to the director additional baseline data that may be necessary in the review of the proposed mining activity;

(3) recommend to the director methodology guidelines to be followed in the collection of all baseline data; and

(4) review and comment on the permit application;

C. adopt regulations that require and provide for the issuance and renewal of permits for new and existing mining operations and exploration and that establish schedules to bring existing mining operations into compliance with the requirements of the New Mexico Mining Act; provided the term of a permit for a new mining operation shall not exceed twenty years and the term of renewals of permits for new mining operations shall not exceed ten years;

D. adopt regulations that provide for permit modifications. The commission shall establish criteria to determine which permit modifications may have significant environmental impact. Modifications that the director determines will have significant environmental impact shall require public notice and an opportunity for public hearing pursuant to Subsection K of this section. A permit modification to the permit for an existing mining operation shall be obtained for each new discrete processing, leaching, excavation, storage or stockpile unit located within the permit area of an existing mining operation and not identified in the permit of an existing mining operation, and for each expansion of such a unit identified in the permit for an existing mining operation that exceeds the design limits specified in the permit. The regulations shall require that permit modifications for such units be approved if the director determines that the unit will:

(1) comply with the regulations regarding permit modifications;

(2) incorporate the requirements of Paragraphs (1), (2), (4), (5) and (6) of Subsection H of this section; and

(3) be sited and constructed in a manner that facilitates, to the maximum extent practicable, contemporaneous reclamation consistent with the closeout plan;

E. adopt regulations that require new and existing mining operations to obtain and maintain permits for standby status. A permit for standby status shall be issued for a maximum term of five years; provided that upon application the director may renew a permit for standby status for no more than three additional five-year terms. The regulations shall require that before a permit for standby status is issued or renewed an owner or operator shall:

(1) identify the projected term of standby status for each unit of the new or existing mining operation;

(2) take measures that reduce, to the extent practicable, the formation of acid and other toxic drainage to prevent releases that cause federal or state environmental standards to be exceeded;

(3) meet applicable federal and state environmental standards and regulations during the period of standby status;

(4) stabilize waste and storage units, leach piles, impoundments and pits during the term of standby status;

(5) comply with applicable requirements of the New Mexico Mining Act and the regulations adopted pursuant to that act; and

(6) provide an analysis of the economic viability of each unit proposed for standby status;

F. establish by regulation closeout plan requirements for existing mining operations that incorporate site-specific characteristics, including consideration of disturbances from previous mining operations, and that take into account the mining method utilized;

G. establish by regulation a procedure for the issuance of a permit for an existing mining operation and for modifications of that permit to incorporate approved closeout plans or portions of closeout plans and financial assurance requirements for performance of the closeout plans. The permit shall describe the permit area of the existing mining operation and the design limits of units of the existing mining operation based upon the site assessment submitted by the operator. The permit shall contain a schedule for completion of a closeout plan. The permit shall thereafter be modified to incorporate the approved closeout plan or portions of the closeout plan once financial assurance has been provided for completion of the closeout plan or the approved portions of the closeout plan. The permit may be modified for new mining units, expansions beyond the design limits of a unit at an existing mining operation or standby status;

H. establish by regulation permit and reclamation requirements for new mining operations that incorporate site-specific characteristics. These requirements shall, at a minimum:

(1) require that new mining operations be designed and operated using the most appropriate technology and the best management practices;

(2) assure protection of human health and safety, the environment, wildlife and domestic animals;

(3) include backfilling or partial backfilling only when necessary to achieve reclamation objectives that cannot be accomplished through other mitigation measures;

(4) require approval by the director that the permit area will achieve a self-sustaining ecosystem appropriate for the life zone of the surrounding areas following closure unless conflicting with the approved post-mining land use;

(5) require that new mining operations be designed in a manner that incorporates measures to reduce, to the extent practicable, the formation of acid and other toxic drainage that may otherwise occur following closure to prevent releases that cause federal or state standards to be exceeded;

(6) require that nonpoint source surface releases of acid or other toxic substances shall be contained within the permit area;

(7) require that all waste, waste management units, pits, heaps, pads and any other storage piles are designed, sited and constructed in a manner that facilitates, to the maximum extent practicable, contemporaneous reclamation and are consistent with the new mining operation's approved reclamation plan; and

(8) where sufficient topsoil is present, take measures to preserve it from erosion or contamination and assure that it is in a usable condition for sustaining vegetation when needed;

I. adopt regulations that establish a permit application process for new mining operations that includes:

(1) disclosure of ownership and controlling interests in the new mining operation or submission of the applicant's most recent form 10K required by the federal securities exchange commission;

(2) a statement of all mining operations within the United States owned, operated or directly controlled by the applicant, owner or operator and by persons or entities that directly control the applicant and the names and the addresses of regulatory agencies with jurisdiction over the environmental aspects of those operations and that could provide a compliance history for those operations and over the preceding ten years. The operator shall assist the applicant in obtaining compliance history information;

(3) a description of the type and method of mining and the engineering techniques proposed;

(4) the anticipated starting and termination dates of each phase of the new mining operation and the number of acres of land to be affected;

(5) the names of all affected watersheds, the location of any perennial, ephemeral or intermittent surface stream or tributary into which surface or pit drainage will be discharged or may possibly be expected to reach and the location of any spring within the permit area and the affected area;

(6) a determination of the probable hydrologic consequences of the new mining operation and reclamation, both on and off the permit area, with respect to the hydrologic regime, quantity and quality of surface and ground water systems, including the dissolved and suspended solids under seasonal flow conditions;

(7) cross-sections or plans of the permit area depicting:

(a) the nature and depth of the various formations of overburden;

(b) the location of subsurface water, if encountered, and its quality;

(c) the nature and location of any ore body to be mined;

(d) the location of aquifers and springs;

(e) the estimated position and flow of the water table;

(f) the proposed location of waste rock, tailings, stockpiles, heaps, pads and topsoil preservation areas; and

(g) premining vegetation and wildlife habitat features present at the site;

(8) the potential for geochemical alteration of overburden, the ore body and other materials present within the permit area;

(9) a reclamation plan that includes a detailed description of the proposed post-mining land use and how that use is to be achieved; and

(10) premining baseline data as required by regulations adopted by the commission;

J. adopt regulations to coordinate the roles of permitting agencies involved in regulating activities related to new and existing mining operations and exploration, including regulatory requirements to avoid duplicative and conflicting administration of the permitting process and other requirements;

K. except for regulations enacted pursuant to Subsection L of this section, adopt regulations that ensure that the public and permitting agencies receive notice of each application for issuance, renewal or revision of a permit for a new or existing mining operation, for standby status, or exploration, a variance or an application for release of financial assurance and any inspection prior to the release of financial assurance, including a provision that no action shall be taken on any application until an opportunity for a public hearing, held in the locality of the operation, is provided and that all interested persons shall be given a reasonable chance to submit data, views or arguments orally or in writing and to examine witnesses testifying at the hearing. These regulations shall require at a minimum that the applicant for issuance, renewal or revisions of a permit or a variance or an application for release of financial assurance and any inspection prior to release of financial assurance shall provide to the director proof that notice of the application has been:

(1) provided by certified mail to the owners of record, as shown by the most recent property tax schedule, of all properties within one-half mile of the property on which the mining operation is located or is proposed to be located;

(2) provided by certified mail to all municipalities and counties within a ten-mile radius of the property on which the mining operation is or will be located;

(3) published once in a newspaper of general circulation in each county in which the property on which the mining operation is or will be located; provided that this notice shall appear in either the classified or legal advertisements section of the newspaper and at one other place in the newspaper calculated to give the general public the most effective notice and, when appropriate, shall be printed in both English and Spanish;

(4) posted in at least four publicly accessible and conspicuous places, including the entrance to the new or existing mining operation if that entrance is publicly accessible and conspicuous; and

(5) mailed to all persons who have made a written request to the director for notice;

L. adopt regulations to provide for permits, without notice and hearing, to address mining operations that have minimal impact on the environment; provided that such permits shall require general plans and shall otherwise reduce the permitting requirements of the New Mexico Mining Act;

M. establish by regulation a schedule of annual administrative and permit fees, which shall equal and not exceed the estimated costs of administration, implementation, enforcement, investigation and permitting pursuant to the provisions of the New Mexico Mining Act. The size of the operation, anticipated inspection frequency and other factors deemed relevant by the commission shall be considered in the determination of the fees. The fees established pursuant to this subsection shall be deposited in the mining act fund;

N. establish by regulation a continuing process of review of mining and reclamation practices in New Mexico that provides for periodic review and amendment of regulations and procedures to provide for the protection of the environment and consider the economic effects of the regulations;

O. adopt regulations governing the provision of variances issued by the director, stating the procedures for seeking a variance, including provisions for public notice and an opportunity for a hearing in the locality where the variance will be operative, the limitations on provision of variances, requiring the petitioner to present sufficient evidence to prove that failure to grant a variance will impose an undue economic burden, and that granting the variance will not result in a significant threat to human health, safety or the environment;

P. provide by regulation that, prior to the issuance of any permit for a new mining operation pursuant to the provisions of the New Mexico Mining Act, the permit applicant or operator:

(1) shall provide evidence to the director that other applicable state and federal permits required to be obtained by the new or existing mining operation either have been or will be issued before the activities subject to those permits begin; and

(2) shall provide to the director a written determination from the secretary of environment stating that the permit applicant has demonstrated that the activities to be permitted or authorized will be expected to achieve compliance with all applicable air, water quality and other environmental standards if carried out as described;

Q. require by regulation that the applicant file with the director, prior to the issuance of a permit, financial assurance. The amount of the financial assurance shall be sufficient to assure the completion of the performance requirements of the permit, including closure and reclamation, if the work had to be performed by the director or a third party contractor and shall include periodic review to account for any inflationary increases and anticipated changes in reclamation or closure costs. The regulations shall specify that financial requirements shall neither duplicate nor be less comprehensive than the federal financial requirements. The form and amount of the financial assurance shall be subject to the approval of the director as part of the permit application; provided, financial assurance does not include any type or variety of self-guarantee or self-insurance;

R. require by regulation that the permittee may file an application with the director for the release of all or part of the permittee's financial assurance. The permittee shall not file an application for release of financial assurance more than once per year for each mining operation. The application shall describe the reclamation measures completed and shall contain an estimate of the costs of reclamation measures that have not been completed. Prior to release of any portion of the permittee's financial assurance, the director shall conduct an inspection and evaluation of the reclamation work involved. The director shall notify persons who have requested advance notice of the inspection. Interested members of the public shall be allowed to be present at the inspection of the reclamation work by the director.

(1) The director may release in whole or in part the financial assurance if the reclamation covered by the financial assurance has been accomplished as required by the New Mexico Mining Act; provided that the director shall retain financial assurance at least equal to the approved estimated costs of completing reclamation measures that have not been completed; and provided further that for revegetated areas, the director shall retain the amount of financial assurance necessary for a third party to reestablish vegetation for a period of twelve years after the last year of augmented seeding, fertilizing, irrigation or other work, unless a post-mining land use is achieved that is inconsistent with the further need for revegetation. For new mining operations only, no part of the financial assurance necessary for a third party to reestablish vegetation shall be released so long as the lands to which the release would be applicable are contributing suspended solids above background levels to streamflow of intermittent and perennial streams.

(2) A person with an interest that is or will be adversely affected by release of the financial assurance may file, with the director within thirty days of the date of the inspection, written objections to the proposed release from financial assurance. If written objections are filed and a hearing is requested, the director shall inform all the interested parties of the time and place of the hearing at least thirty days in advance of the public hearing, and hold a public hearing in the locality of the new or existing mining operation or exploration operation proposed for release from financial asurance. The date, time and location of the public hearing shall be advertised by the director in a newspaper of general circulation in the locality for two consecutive weeks, and all persons who have submitted a written request in advance to the director to receive notices of hearings shall be provided notice at least thirty days prior to the hearing;

S. establish coordinated procedures that avoid duplication for the inspection, monitoring and sampling of air, soil and water and enforcement of applicable requirements of the New Mexico Mining Act, regulations adopted pursuant to that act and permit conditions for new and existing mining operations and exploration. The regulations shall require, at a minimum:

(1) inspections by the director occurring on an irregular basis averaging not less than one inspection per month when the mining operation is conducting significant reclamation activities and one on-site inspection per calendar quarter at all other times and on a schedule to be established by the commission for mining operations having a minimal impact on the environment and exploration operations covered by each permit;

(2) inspections shall occur without prior notice to the permittee or his agents or employees except for necessary on-site meetings with the permittee;

(3) when the director determines that a condition or practice exists that violates a requirement of the New Mexico Mining Act, a regulation adopted pursuant to that act or a permit issued under that act, which condition, practice or violation also creates an imminent danger to the health or safety of the public or will cause significant imminent environmental harm, the director shall immediately order a cessation of the new or existing mining operation or the exploration operation or the portion of that operation relevant to the condition, practice or violation. The cessation order shall remain in effect until the director determines that the condition, practice or violation has been abated or until modified, vacated or terminated by the director or the commission;

(4) when the director determines that an owner or operator is in violation of a requirement of the New Mexico Mining Act, a regulation adopted pursuant to that act or a permit issued pursuant to that act but the violation does not create an imminent danger to the health or safety of the public or will not cause significant imminent environmental harm, the director shall issue a notice to the owner or operator fixing a reasonable time, not to exceed sixty days, for the abatement of the violation. If, upon expiration of the period of time as originally fixed or subsequently extended for good cause shown, the director finds that the violation has not been abated, he shall immediately order a cessation of new or existing mining operations or exploration operations or the portion thereof relevant to the violation. The cessation order shall remain in effect until the director determines that the violation has been abated; and

(5) when the director determines that a pattern of violations of the requirements of the New Mexico Mining Act or of the regulations adopted pursuant to that act or the permit required by that act exists or has existed and, if the director also finds that such violations are caused by the unwarranted failure of the owner or operator to comply with the requirements of that act, regulation or permit or that such violations are willfully caused by the owner or operator, the director shall immediately issue an order to the owner or operator to show cause as to why the permit should not be suspended or revoked;

T. provide for the transfer of a permit to a successor operator, providing for release of the first operator from obligations under the permit, including financial assurance, following the approved assumption of such obligations and financial assurance by the successor operator;

U. adopt regulations providing that the owner or operator of an existing mining operation or a new mining operation who has completed some reclamation measures prior to the effective date of the regulations adopted pursuant to the New Mexico Mining Act may apply for an inspection of those reclamation measures and a release from further requirements pursuant to that act for the reclaimed areas if, after an inspection, the director determines that the reclamation measures satisfy the requirements of that act and the substantive requirements for reclamation pursuant to the applicable regulatory standards; and

V. develop and adopt other regulations necessary and appropriate to carry out the purposes and provisions of the New Mexico Mining Act.

Section 8

Section 8. REGULATIONS--ADOPTION PROCESS.--

A. No regulation shall be adopted, amended or repealed without a public hearing before the commission or a hearing officer appointed by the commission.

B. Any person may recommend or propose regulations to the commission for adoption, amendment or repeal. The commission shall determine within sixty days of submission of a proposed regulation whether to hold a hearing. If the commission determines not to hold a hearing, the determination shall be subject to review under Section 16 of the New Mexico Mining Act.

C. The public hearing shall be held in Santa Fe, and a verbatim record shall be maintained of all proceedings. Notice of the subject, time and place of the hearing, the manner in which interested persons may present their views and the method by which copies of the proposed regulation or amendment may be obtained shall be:

(1) published at least thirty days prior to the hearing date in a newspaper of general circulation in the state and in the New Mexico register, if published; and

(2) mailed at least thirty days prior to the hearing date to all persons who have made a written request to the commission for advance notice of hearings.

D. The commission shall allow all interested persons a reasonable opportunity to submit arguments and to examine witnesses testifying at the hearing.

E. A person appearing or represented at the hearing shall, upon a written request, be given written notice of the commission's action on the proposed adoption, amendment or repeal of regulation.

F. No regulation, its amendment or repeal shall be effective except as provided by the Public Records Act.

Section 9

Section 9. DIRECTOR--DUTIES.--The director shall:

A. exercise all powers of enforcement and administration arising under the New Mexico Mining Act not otherwise expressly delegated to the commission, execute and administer the commission's regulations and coordinate the review and issuance of permits for new and existing mining operations and exploration with all other state or federal permit processes applicable to the proposed operations;

B. enter into agreements with appropriate federal and state agencies for coordinating the review and issuance of all necessary permits to conduct new and existing mining operations and exploration in New Mexico;

C. create an advisory committee, the membership of which shall balance the interests of affected government entities, the mining industry, environmental groups, regulatory agencies and other persons as determined by the director to represent a constituency that will be affected by the provisions of the New Mexico Mining Act;

D. confer and cooperate with the secretary of environment in administering the New Mexico Mining Act, in developing proposed regulations and obtain the concurrence of the secretary of environment regarding areas of the regulations that have an impact upon programs administered by the department of environment;

E. approve a permit area and design limits for new and existing mining operations and exploration following submission of the site assessment, where applicable and prior to issuing a permit. The director shall incorporate the permit area and design limits into the permit issued;

F. review at least twelve months of baseline data and other information submitted by the applicant for a permit for a new mining operation, before the permit is approved or denied; and

G. prepare an environmental evaluation, before a permit for a new mining operation is approved or denied, which shall include an analysis of the reasonably foreseeable impacts of proposed activities on the premining and post-mining environment and the local community, including other past, present and reasonably foreseeable future actions, regardless of the agency or persons that undertake the other action or whether the actions are on private, state or federal land. The director may contract with, and the applicant shall pay for, a third party to prepare the analysis and assessment.

Section 10

Section 10. CONFIDENTIALITY.--If the operator designates as confidential an exploration map, financial information, information concerning the grade or location of ore reserves or trade secret information, the director shall maintain the information as confidential and not subject to public records or disclosure laws; provided that if a request is made for public review of the information, the director shall notify the operator and provide a reasonable opportunity for substantiation of the claim that public disclosure of the information could harm the competitive position of the operator. If the claim of confidentiality is not substantiated to the satisfaction of the director, the information shall be released.

Section 11

Section 11. EXISTING MINING OPERATIONS--CLOSEOUT PLAN REQUIRED.--

A. An owner or operator of an existing mining operation shall submit a permit application to the director by December 31, 1994. The permit application shall contain all information required by regulation of the commission, including a proposed compliance schedule for submission of a closeout plan within the shortest time practicable. The director shall approve or deny the permit application within six months after it has been deemed complete.

B. The owner or operator of an existing mining operation shall submit a closeout plan in accordance with the compliance schedule in the permit. The compliance schedule in the permit shall require submission of a closeout plan by December 31, 1995 unless the operator shows good cause for a further extension of time. The director shall approve a modification of a permit for an existing mining operation incorporating a closeout plan or portion of a closeout plan if:

(1) the closeout plan and permit application is complete;

(2) the closeout plan permit fee has been paid and the financial assurance is adequate and has been provided;

(3) the closeout plan specifies incremental work to be done within specific time frames that, if followed, will reclaim the physical environment of the permit area to a condition that allows for the reestablishment of a self-sustaining ecosystem on the permit area following closure, appropriate for the life zone of the surrounding areas unless conflicting with the approved post-mining land use; provided that for purposes of this section, upon a showing that achieving a post-mining land use or self-sustaining ecosystem is not technically or economically feasible or is environmentally unsound, the director may waive the requirement to achieve a self-sustaining ecosystem or post-mining land use for an open pit or waste unit if measures will be taken to ensure that the open pit or waste unit will meet all applicable federal and state laws, regulations and standards for air, surfacewater and ground water protection following closure and will not pose a current or future hazard to public health or safety; and

(4) the secretary of environment has provided a written determination in the form prescribed in Paragraph (2) of Subsection P of Section 7 of the New Mexico Mining Act.

C. An approval granted pursuant to this section may be revoked or suspended by order of the director for violation of a provision of the approved closeout plan or permit for the existing mining operation, an approval condition, a regulation of the commission or a provision of the New Mexico Mining Act.

Section 12

Section 12. NEW MINING OPERATIONS--MINING OPERATION PERMIT REQUIRED.--

A. After the effective date of the New Mexico Mining Act, except as provided in Section 5 of that act, no person shall conduct a new mining operation without a permit issued by the director. Applications for permits for new mining operations operating pursuant to Section 5 of the New Mexico Mining Act shall be received by the director by December 31, 1995. The director may grant one extension for the submission of a permit application for a new mining operation for six months for good cause shown. Prior to receiving a permit for a new mining operation, an applicant shall submit an applicatio that complies with the New Mexico Mining Act and regulation of the commission, including at a minimum, one year of baseline data as required by regulation.

B. The director shall issue the permit for a new mining operation if the director finds that:

(1) the permit application is complete;

(2) the permit application fee has been paid and the financial assurance is adequate and has been provided;

(3) reclamation in accordance with the proposed reclamation plan is economically and technically feasible;

(4) the mining operation is designed to meet without perpetual care all applicable environmental requirements imposed by the New Mexico Mining Act and regulations adopted pursuant to that act and other laws following closure; and

(5) the applicant, the operator or owner or any persons or entities directly controlled by the applicant, operator, owner or any persons or entities that directly control the applicant, operator or owner:

(a) are not currently in violation of the terms of another permit issued by the division or in violation of any substantial environmental law or substantive environmental regulation at a mining operation in the United States, which violation is unabated and is not the subject of appeal, and have not forfeited or had forfeited financial assurance required for any mining, reclamation or exploration permit in the United States; provided that a violation that occurred prior to the initiation of a legal relationship between the permit applicant and the violator shall not be considered for purposes of this paragraph; and

(b) have not demonstrated a pattern of willful violations of the New Mexico Mining Act or other New Mexico environmental statutes; provided that a violation that occurred prior to the initiation of a legal relationship between the permit applicant and the violator shall not be considered for purposes of this paragraph.

C. The permit for a new mining operation may be revoked or suspended by order of the director for violation of its terms or conditions, a regulation of the commission or a provision of the New Mexico Mining Act.

Section 13

Section 13. EXPLORATION PERMIT.--

A. After December 31, 1994, a person shall not engage in exploration operations in New Mexico without first obtaining a permit to conduct exploration from the director. In order to be approved by December 31, 1994, the application for a permit to conduct exploration shall be submitted by September 1, 1994. A permit to conduct exploration shall not be issued for a period of more than one year from the date of issue and is renewable from year to year upon application. An application for renewal of a permit to conduct exploration shall be filed within thirty days preceding the expiration of the current permit. A permit to conduct exploration shall not be renewed if the applicant for renewal is in violation of any provision of the New Mexico Mining Act.

B. A person shall not be issued a permit to conduct exploration if that person's failure to comply with the provisions of the New Mexico Mining Act, the regulations adopted pursuant to that act or a permit issued under that act has resulted in the forfeiture of financial assurance.

C. An applicant for a permit to conduct exploration shall not be issued a permit to conduct exploration until he:

(1) pays a permit fee for exploration;

(2) agrees to reclaim any surface area damaged by the applicant during exploration operations in accordance with a reclamation plan submitted to and approved by the director; and

(3) certifies that he is not in violation of any other obligation under the New Mexico Mining Act or the regulations adopted pursuant to that act.

D. The application for a permit to conduct exploration shall include an exploration map in sufficient detail to locate the area to be explored and to determine whether environmental problems would be encountered. The commission shall establish regulations to determine the precise nature of and requirements for the exploration map. The application shall state what type of exploration and excavation techniques will be employed in disturbing the land during exploration operations.

E. Prior to the issuance of a permit to conduct exploration, the applicant shall provide to the division financial assurance in a form and amount as determined by the director pursuant to Section 7 of the New Mexico Mining Act. The financial assurance shall be released only in accordance with the provisions of that act.

F. In the event that the holder of a permit to conduct exploration desires to mine the permit area to conduct exploration and he has fulfilled all of the requirements for a permit for new mining operations, the director shall allow postponement of the reclamation of the acreage explored if that acreage is incorporated into the complete reclamation plan submitted with the application for a permit for a new mining operation. Land affected by exploration or excavation under a permit for exploration and not covered by the reclamation plan shall be reclaimed in a manner acceptable to the director within two years after the completion of exploration or abandonment of the site.

Section 14

Section 14. CITIZENS SUITS.--

A. A person having an interest that is or may be adversely affected may commence a civil action on his own behalf to compel compliance with the New Mexico Mining Act. Such action may be brought against:

(1) the department of environment, the energy, minerals and natural resources department or the commission alleging a violation of the New Mexico Mining Act or of a rule, regulation, order or permit issued pursuant to that act;

(2) a person who is alleged to be in violation of a rule, regulation, order or permit issued pursuant to the New Mexico Mining Act; or

(3) the department of environment, the energy, minerals and natural resources department or the commission alleging a failure to perform any nondiscretionary act or duty under the New Mexico Mining Act; provided, however, that no action pursuant to this section shall be commenced if the department of environment, the energy, minerals and natural resources department or the commission has commenced and is diligently prosecuting a civil action in a court of this state or an administrative enforcement proceeding to require compliance with that act. In an administrative or court action commenced by the department of environment, the energy, minerals and natural resources department or the commission, a person whose interest may be adversely affected and who has provided notice pursuant to Subsection B of this section prior to the initiation of the action may intervene as a matter of right.

B. No action shall be commenced pursuant to this section prior to sixty days after the plaintiff has given written notice to the department of environment, the energy, minerals and natural resources department, the commission, the attorney general and the alleged violator of the New Mexico Mining Act; provided, however, when the violation or order complained of constitutes an immediate threat to the health or safety of the plaintiff or would immediately and irreversibly impair a legal interest of the plaintiff, an action pursuant to this section may be brought immediately after notification of the proper parties.

C. An action brought pursuant to this section alleging a violation of the New Mexico Mining Act or the regulations adopted pursuant to that act other than suits against the department of environment, the energy, minerals and natural resources department or the commission shall be brought in the judicial district in which the mining operation complained of is located. Suits against the department of environment, the energy, minerals and natural resources department or the commission shall be brought in the district court of Santa Fe.

D. In an action brought pursuant to this section, the department of environment, the energy, minerals and natural resources department or the commission, if not a party, may intervene.

Section 71

Section 71. USE OF UNEXPENDED PROCEEDS.--Any unexpended balance of such security proceeds remaining after the completion of the acquisition or improvement and equipment of the project or the completion of the purpose for which such securities were issued shall be paid immediately into the fund created for the payment of the principal of such securities and shall be used therefor, subject to the provisions as to the times and methods for their payment as stated in the securities and the proceedings authorizing or otherwise appertaining to their issuance, or so paid into a reserve therefor.

Section 72

Section 72. VALIDITY UNAFFECTED BY USE OF PROCEEDS.--The validity of such securities shall not be dependent on nor affected by the validity or regularity of any proceedings relating to the acquisition or improvement and equipment of the project or the proper completion of any project for which the securities are issued. The purchaser or purchasers of the securities shall in no manner be responsible for the application of the proceeds of the securities by the authority or any of its officers, agents and employees.

Section 73

Section 73. COVENANTS IN SECURITY PROCEEDINGS.--Any resolution or trust indenture authorizing the issuance of securities or any other instrument appertaining thereto may contain covenants and other provisions, notwithstanding such covenants and provisions may limit the exercise of powers conferred by the Solid Waste Authority Act, in order to secure the payment of such securities in agreement with the holders and owners of such securities, as the board may determine, including without limiting the generality of the foregoing, all such acts and things as may be necessary or convenient or desirable in order to secure the authority's securities, or in the discretion of the board tend to make the securities more marketable, notwithstanding that such covenant, act or thing may not be enumerated in that act, it being the intention of that act to give the authority power to do all things in the issuance of securities and for their security except as specifically limited in that act.

Section 74

Section 74. REMEDIES OF SECURITY HOLDERS.--Subject to any contractual limitations binding upon the holders of any issue or series of securities, or trustee therefor, including but not limited to the restriction of the exercise of any remedy to a specified proportion, percentage or number of such holders, and subject to any prior or superior rights of others, any holder of securities, or trustee therefor, shall have the right and power for the equal benefit and protection of all holders of securities similarly situated:

A. by mandamus or other suit, action or proceeding at law or in equity to enforce his rights against the authority and the board and any of its officers, agents and employees, and to require and compel the authority or the board or any such officers, agents or employees to perform and carry out its and their duties, obligations or other commitments under the Solid Waste Authority Act and its and their covenants and agreements with the holder of any security;

B. by action or suit in equity to require the authority and the board to account as if they were the trustee of an express trust;

C. by action or suit in equity to have appointed a receiver, which receiver may enter and take possession of any system or project or services revenues from which are pledged for the payment of the securities, prescribe sufficient fees derived from the operation thereof, and collect, receive and apply all revenues or other money pledged for the payment of the securities in the same manner as the authority itself might do in accordance with the obligations of the authority; and

D. by action or suit in equity to enjoin any acts or things which may be unlawful or in violation of the rights of the holder of any security and to bring suit thereupon.

Section 75

Section 75. LIMITATIONS UPON LIABILITIES.--Neither the directors nor any person executing securities issued under the Solid Waste Authority Act shall be liable personally on the securities by reason of the issuance thereof. Securities issued pursuant to that act shall not be in any way a debt or liability of the state or of any municipality or other public body and shall not create or constitute any indebtedness, liability or obligation of the state or of any such municipality or other public body, either legal, moral or otherwise, and nothing contained in that act shall be construed to authorize the authority to incur any indebtedness on behalf of or in any way to obligate the state or any municipality or other public body, except the authority and except as otherwise expressly stated or necessarily implied in that act.

Section 76

Section 76. CANCELLATION OF PAID SECURITIES.--Whenever the treasurer shall redeem and pay any of the securities issued under the provisions of the Solid Waste Authority Act, he shall cancel the same by writing across the face thereof or stamping thereon the word "paid", together with the date of its payment, sign his name thereto and transmit the same to the secretary, taking his receipt therefor, which receipt shall be filed in the records of the authority. The secretary shall credit the treasurer on his books for the amount so paid.

Section 77

Section 77. INTEREST AFTER MATURITY.--No interest shall accrue on any security in the Solid Waste Authority Act authorized after it becomes due and payable; provided, funds for the payment of the principal of and the interest on the security and any prior redemption premium due are available to the paying agent for such payment without default.

Section 78

Section 78. REFUNDING BONDS.--Any bonds issued under the Solid Waste Authority Act may be refunded, without an election, but subject to provisions concerning their payment and to any other contractual limitations in the proceedings authorizing their issuance or otherwise appertaining thereto, pursuant to a resolution or resolutions to be adopted by the board in the manner provided in that act for the issuance of other securities, to refund, pay or discharge all or any part of the authority's outstanding bonds, heretofore or hereafter issued, including any interest thereon in arrears or about to become due, or for the purpose of reducing interest costs or effecting other economies or of modifying or eliminating restrictive contractual limitations appertaining to the issuance of additional bonds or any project, or any combination thereof.

Section 79

Section 79. METHOD OF ISSUANCE.--Any bonds issued for refunding purposes may either be delivered in exchange for the outstanding bonds authorized to be refunded or may be sold as provided in the Solid Waste Authority Act for the sale of other bonds.

Section 80

Section 80. LIMITATIONS UPON ISSUANCE.--No bonds may be refunded under the Solid Waste Authority Act unless the holders of the bonds voluntarily surrender them for exchange or payment or unless they either mature or are callable for prior redemption under their terms within ten years from the date of issuance of the refunding bonds. Provision shall be made for paying the bonds within that period of time. No maturity of any bonds refunded may be extended over fifteen years nor may any interest on the bonds be increased to any coupon rate exceeding the maximum net effective interest rate permitted by the Public Securities Act. The principal amount of the refunding bonds may exceed the principal amount of the refunded bonds if the aggregate principal and interest costs of the refunding bonds do not exceed such unaccrued costs of the bonds refunded. The principal amount of the refunding bonds may also be less than or the same as the principal amount of the bonds refunded so long as provision is duly and sufficiently made for their payment.

Section 81

Section 81. USE OF REFUNDING BOND PROCEEDS.--The proceeds of refunding bonds shall either be immediately applied to the retirement of the bonds to be refunded or be placed in escrow to be applied to the payment of the bonds upon their presentation; provided, however, any accrued interest and any premium appertaining to a sale of refunding bonds may be applied to the payment of the interest or the principal or both interest and principal or may be deposited in a reserve therefor as the board may determine. The escrow shall not necessarily be limited to refunding bond proceeds but may include other money made available for such purpose. Any escrowed proceeds pending such use may be invested or reinvested in federal securities. Escrowed proceeds and investments, together with any interest to be derived from any such investment, shall be in an amount at all times sufficient as to principal, interest, any prior redemption premium due and any charges of the escrow agent payable therefrom to pay the bonds refunded as they become due at their respective maturities or due at designated prior redemption date or dates upon which the board shall exercise a prior redemption option. Upon establishment of an escrow in accordance with this section, the refunded bonds payable therefrom no longer constitute outstanding indebtedness of the authority.

Section 82

Section 82. PAYMENT OF REFUNDING BONDS.--Refunding revenue bonds may be made payable from any revenues derived from the operation of the solid waste system or any project, notwithstanding the pledge of such revenues for the payment of the outstanding bonds issued by the authority which are to be refunded is thereby modified. Any refunding revenue bonds shall not be made payable from taxes unless the bonds thereby refunded are payable from taxes.

Section 83

Section 83. COMBINATION OF REFUNDING AND OTHER BONDS.--Bonds for refunding and bonds for any other purpose or purposes authorized in the Solid Waste Authority Act may be issued separately or issued in combination in one series or more.

Section 84

Section 84. SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.--Except as specifically provided or necessarily implied in the Solid Waste Authority Act, the relevant provisions of that act pertaining to bonds generally shall be equally applicable in the authorization and issuance of refunding bonds, including their terms and security, the bond resolution, trust indenture, taxes and service charges and other aspects of the bonds.

Section 85

Section 85. BOARD'S DETERMINATION FINAL.--The determination of the board that the limitations imposed upon the issuance of refunding bonds under the Solid Waste Authority Act have been met shall be conclusive in the absence of fraud or arbitrary and gross abuse of discretion.

Section 86

Section 86. ISSUANCE OF INTERIM DEBENTURES AND PLEDGE OF BONDS AS COLLATERAL SECURITY.--Notwithstanding any limitation or other provision in the Solid Waste Authority Act, whenever a majority of the qualified electors of the authority voting on a proposal to issue bonds has authorized the authority to issue bonds for any purpose authorized in that act, the authority is authorized to borrow money without any other election in anticipation of taxes, the proceeds of the bonds or any other revenues of the authority, or any combination thereof, and to issue interim debentures to evidence the amount so borrowed. Interim debentures may mature at such time not exceeding a period of time equal to the estimated time needed to effect the purpose for which the bonds are so authorized to be issued, plus two years, as the board may determine. Except as otherwise provided in this section and in Sections 87 and 88 of the Solid Waste Authority Act, interim debentures shall be issued as provided in that act for securities in Sections 66 and 68 of that act. Taxes, other revenues of the authority, including without limiting the generality of the foregoing proceeds of bonds to be thereafter issued or reissued or bonds issued for the purpose of securing the payment of interim debentures may be pledged for the purpose of securing the payment of the interim debentures. Any bonds pledged as collateral security for the payment of any interim debentures shall mature at such time as the board may determine, but in no event exceeding forty years from the date of either any of such bonds or any of such interim debentures, whichever date is the earlier. Any such bonds pledged as collateral security shall not be issued in an aggregate principal amount exceeding the aggregate principal amount of the interim debenture secured by a pledge of such bonds nor shall they bear interest at any time which with any interest accruing at the same time on the interim debenture so secured exceeds six percent per year.

Section 87

Section 87. INTERIM DEBENTURES NOT TO BE EXTENDED.--No interim debenture issued pursuant to the provisions of Section 86 of the Solid Waste Authority Act shall be extended or funded except by the issuance or reissuance of a bond or bonds in compliance with Section 88 of that act.

Section 88

Section 88. FUNDING.--For the purpose of funding any interim debenture or interim debentures, any bond or bonds pledged as collateral security to secure the payment of such interim debenture or interim debentures may be reissued without an election, and any bonds not previously issued but authorized to be issued at an election for a purpose the same as or encompassing the purpose for which the interim debentures were issued may be issued for such a funding. Any such bonds shall mature at such time as the board may determine, but in no event exceeding forty years from the date of either any of the interim debentures so funded or any of the bonds so pledged as collateral security, whichever date is the earlier. Bonds for funding, including but not necessarily limited to any such reissued bonds, and bonds for any other purpose or purposes authorized in the Solid Waste Authority Act may be issued separately or issued in combination in one series or more. Except as otherwise provided in Sections 83 and 88 of that act and in this section, any such funding bonds shall be issued as is provided for refunding bonds in Sections 78 through 84 of the Solid Waste Authority Act and provided for securities in Section 44 and Sections 81 through 87 of that act.

Section 89

Section 89. PUBLICATION OF RESOLUTION OR PROCEEDINGS.--In its discretion, the board may provide for the publication once in full of either any resolution or other proceedings adopted by the board ordering the issuance of any securities or, in the alternative, of notice thereof, which resolution, other proceedings or notice so published shall state the fact and date of such adoption and the place where such resolution or other proceedings have been filed for public inspection and also the date of the first publication of such resolution, other proceedings or notice and also state that any action or proceeding of any kind or nature in any court questioning the validity of the creation and establishment of the authority, or the validity or proper authorization of securities provided for by the resolution or other proceedings, or the validity of any covenants, agreements or contracts provided for by the resolution or other proceedings, shall be commenced within twenty days after the first publication of such resolution, other proceedings or notice.

Section 90

Section 90. FAILURE TO CONTEST LEGALITY CONSTITUTES BAR.--If no such action or proceedings are commenced or instituted within twenty days after the first publication of such resolution, other proceedings or notice, then all residents and taxpayers and owners of property in the authority and all public bodies and all other persons whatsoever shall be forever barred and foreclosed from instituting or commencing any action or proceeding in any court or from pleading any defense to any action or proceedings questioning the validity of the creation and establishment of the authority, the validity or proper authorization of such securities or the validity of any such covenants, agreements or contracts. The securities, covenants, agreements and contracts shall be conclusively deemed to be valid and binding obligations in accordance with their terms and tenor.

Section 91

Section 91. CONFIRMATION OF CONTRACT PROCEEDINGS.--In its discretion, the board may file a petition at any time in the district court in and for any county in which the authority is located wholly or in part, praying a judicial examination and determination of any power conferred or of any tax or rates or charges levied or of any act, proceeding or contract of the authority, whether or not the contract has been executed, including proposed contracts for the acquisition, improvement, equipment, maintenance, operation or disposal of any project for the authority. Such petition shall set forth the facts whereon the validity of such power, assessment, act, proceeding or contract is founded and shall be verified by the chairman of the board. Such action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem, and jurisdiction of all parties interested may be had by publication and posting as provided in the Solid Waste Authority Act. Notice of the filing of the petition shall be given by the clerk of the court, under the seal thereof, stating in brief outline the contents of the petition and showing where a full copy of any contract therein mentioned may be examined. The notice shall be served by publication in at least five consecutive issues of a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the county in which the principal office of the authority is located, and by posting the same in the office of the authority at least thirty days prior to the date fixed in the notice for the hearing on the petition. Jurisdiction shall be complete after such publication and posting. Any owner of property in the authority or person interested in the contract or proposed contract or in the premises may appear and move to dismiss or answer the petition at any time prior to the date fixed for the hearing or within such further time as may be allowed by the court, and the petition shall be taken as confessed by all persons who fail so to appear.

Section 92

Section 92. REVIEW AND JUDGMENT OF COURT.--The petition and notice shall be sufficient to give the court jurisdiction, and upon hearing the court shall examine into and determine all matters and things affecting the question submitted, shall make such findings with reference thereto and render such judgment and decree thereon as the case warrants. Costs may be divided or apportioned among any contesting parties in the discretion of the trial court. Review of the judgment of the court may be had as in other similar cases, except that such review shall be applied for within thirty days after the time of the rendition of such judgment or within such additional time as may be allowed by the court within thirty days. The rules of civil procedure shall govern in matters of pleading and practice where not otherwise specified in the Solid Waste Authority Act. The court shall disregard any error, irregularity or omission which does not affect the substantial rights of the parties.

Section 93

Section 93. PURPOSE OF TAX EXEMPTIONS.--The effectuation of the powers authorized in the Solid Waste Authority Act shall and will be in all respects for the benefit of the people of the state, including but not necessarily limited to those residing in the authority exercising any power under that act, for the improvement of their health and living conditions and for the increase of their commerce and prosperity.

Section 94

Section 94. PROPERTY EXEMPT FROM GENERAL TAXES.--The authority shall not be required to pay any general (ad valorem) taxes upon any property appertaining to any project authorized in the Solid Waste Authority Act and acquired within the state nor the authority's interest therein.

Section 95

Section 95. SECURITIES AND INCOME THEREFROM EXEMPT.--Securities issued under the Solid Waste Authority Act and the income therefrom shall forever be and remain free and exempt from taxation by the state, the authority and any other public body, except transfer, inheritance and estate taxes.

Section 96

Section 96. FREEDOM FROM JUDICIAL PROCESS.--Execution or other judicial process shall not issue against any property of the authority authorized in the Solid Waste Authority Act, nor shall any judgment against the authority be a charge or lien upon its property.

Section 97

Section 97. RESORT TO JUDICIAL PROCESS.--Section 96 of the Solid Waste Authority Act does not apply to or limit the right of the holder of any security, his trustee or any assignee of all or part of his interest, the federal government when it is a party to any contract with the authority, and any other obligee under that act to foreclose, otherwise to enforce, and to pursue any remedies for the enforcement of any pledge or lien given by the authority on the proceeds of taxes, service charges or other revenues.

Section 98

Section 98. LEGAL INVESTMENTS IN SECURITIES.--It shall be legal for the state and any of its agencies, departments, instrumentalities, corporations or political subdivisions or any political or public corporation, any bank, trust company, banker, savings bank or institution, any building and loan association, savings and loan association, investment company and any other person carrying on a banking or investment business, any insurance company, insurance association or any other person carrying on an insurance business and any executor, administrator, curator, trustee or any other fiduciary to invest funds or money in their custody in any of the securities authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Solid Waste Authority Act. Such securities shall be authorized security for all public deposits. Nothing contained in this section with regard to legal investments shall be construed as relieving any public body or other person of any duty of exercising reasonable care in selecting securities.

Section 99

Section 99. CIVIL RIGHTS.--The authority damaged by any such act may also bring a civil action for damages sustained by any such act, and in such proceeding the prevailing party shall also be entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of court.

Section 100

Section 100. LIBERAL CONSTRUCTION.--The Solid Waste Authority Act, being necessary to secure and preserve the public health, safety and general welfare, the rule of strict consideration shall have no application to that act, but it shall be liberally construed to effect the purposes and objects for which that act is intended. "59A-1-1. SHORT TITLE.--Chapter 59A NMSA 1978 shall be known and may be cited as the New Mexico Insurance Code and, in this chapter, may also be referred to as the "Insurance Code"."

Section 2

Section 2. Section 59A-2-4 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 22) is amended to read:

"59A-2-4. STAFF.--

A. With the corporation commission's approval, the superintendent may designate an employee of the insurance department as chief deputy superintendent, who shall be acting superintendent when the office of superintendent is vacant or the superintendent is unable to perform the duties of that office because of mental or physical disability.

B. With the corporation commission's approval, the superintendent may employ such other administrative and clerical assistants and such examiners and other personnel as may be required for insurance department operations.

C. Subject to applicable state personnel laws, the corporation commission may, with or without the superintendent's recommendation, remove any deputy, assistant, or other insurance department personnel.

D. With the corporation commission's approval and subject to applicable state personnel laws, the superintendent may make reasonable rules and regulations regarding staff development through job-related college courses, professional programs or other training programs that are commensurate with the duties and responsibilities of all professional and other personnel whose positions require specialized knowledge of insurance."

Section 3

Section 3. Section 59A-4-5 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 49) is amended to read:

"59A-4-5. EXAMINATION OF INSURERS.--

A. For the purpose of determining financial condition, fulfillment of contractual obligations, methods of doing business, treatment accorded policyholders, and compliance with law, the superintendent shall, as often as he deems advisable, examine or investigate the affairs, transactions, accounts, records and assets of each authorized insurer, and of any other person as to any matter which the superintendent in his sole discretion has determined to be relevant to the financial affairs of the insurer or to the examination. Except as expressly otherwise provided, the superintendent shall so examine each domestic insurer not less frequently than every five years. In scheduling and determining the nature, scope and frequency of the examinations, the superintendent may consider such matters as the results of financial statement analyses and ratios, changes in management or ownership, actuarial opinions, reports of independent certified public accountants, evidence of market practices, policyholder complaints and other criteria as set forth in the handbooks for financial or market conduct examiners adopted by the national association of insurance commissioners in effect when the superintendent exercises discretion under this section.

B. For like purposes, the superintendent shall examine each insurer, or proposed insurer, applying for an initial certificate of authority to transact insurance in this state.

C. Whenever the superintendent examines the affairs of any domestic insurer he may invite the representative of the insurance supervisory agency of at least one other state, if any, in which the insurer is an authorized insurer, to participate in the examination.

D. Until January 1, 1994, in lieu of making his own examination of a foreign or alien insurer the superintendent may accept a full report of an examination of the insurer made by competent examiners as of a date not more than one year prior and participated in by at least two states in which the insurer was authorized to transact insurance. The report shall be certified by the insurance supervisory official of the state under whose jurisdiction the examination was conducted. The superintendent may, at discretion, so accept such report of examination so made as of a date more than one year but not more than three years prior; and with respect to an alien insurer, the superintendent may at discretion so accept such a report of recent examination made by the insurance supervisory official of the port of entry state of the insurer into the United States without participation therein of another state.

E. After January 1, 1994, examination reports prepared by examiners employed by other state insurance departments may be accepted only if:

(1) made as of a date not more than five years prior to acceptance and the examiner in charge was employed by and under the direction of the insurance commissioners of the insurer's state of domicile or port of entry, which insurance department was at the time of the examination accredited under the financial regulation standards and accreditation program of the national association of insurance commissioners; or

(2) made as of a date not more than three years prior to acceptance and the examination was performed under the supervision of an accredited insurance department or with the participation of one or more examiners who were employed by an accredited state insurance department and who, after a review of the examination work papers and report, state under oath that the examination was performed in a manner consistent with the standards and procedures required by their insurance department.

F. As far as practical the superintendent shall conduct examination of a foreign or alien insurer in cooperation with the insurance supervisory officials of other states in which the insurer is authorized to transact business."

Section 4

Section 4. Section 59A-4-6 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 50) is amended to read:

"59A-4-6. EXAMINERS AND SPECIALISTS.--

A. The superintendent may appoint one or more competent individuals, sufficiently knowledgeable in applicable accounting and operations, as examiners to represent the superintendent in an examination, and shall fix the reasonable compensation of the examiners.

B. The superintendent may also employ and fix reasonable compensation of independently contracting accountants knowledgeable of insurance accounting principles and practices, actuaries, attorneys, appraisers and other specialists not otherwise part of the insurance department staff, as the superintendent deems necessary for the examination, the cost of which shall be borne by the company which is the subject of the examination. All specialists shall be under the direction and control of the superintendent.

C. All examiners and specialists shall be subject to Sections 59A-2-5 and 59A-2-6 NMSA 1978."

Section 5

Section 5. Section 59A-4-7 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 51, as amended) is repealed and a new Section 59A-4-7 is enacted to read:

"59A-4-7. CONDUCT OF EXAMINATION--ACCESS TO INFORMATION--CORRECTION OF RECORDS--PENALTIES.--

A. Upon determining that an examination should be conducted, the superintendent or the superintendent's designee shall issue an order appointing one or more examiners to perform the examination and instructing them as to the scope of the examination. In conducting the examination, the examiner shall observe those guidelines and procedures set forth in the examiners' handbook adopted by the national association of insurance commissioners. The superintendent may also employ such other guidelines or procedures as the superintendent may deem appropriate.

B. Every company or person from whom information is sought, its officers, directors and agents must provide to the examiners appointed under Subsection A of this section timely, convenient and free access at all reasonable hours at its offices to all books, records, accounts, papers, documents and any or all computer or other recordings relating to the property, assets, business and affairs of the company being examined. The officers, directors, employees and agents of the company or person shall facilitate the examination and aid in the examination so far as it is in their power to do so. The refusal of any company, by its officers, directors, employees or agents, to submit to examination or to comply with any reasonable written request of the examiners shall be grounds for suspension or refusal of, or nonrenewal of, any license or authority held by the company to engage in an insurance or other business subject to the superintendent's jurisdiction.

C. The superintendent or any of his examiners shall have the power to issue subpoenas, to administer oaths and to examine under oath any person as to any matter pertinent to the examination. Upon the failure or refusal of any person to obey a subpoena, the superintendent may petition a court of competent jurisdiction, and upon proper showing, the court may enter an order compelling the witness to appear and testify or produce documentary evidence. Failure to obey the court order shall be punishable as contempt of court.

D. If the superintendent or examiner finds any accounts or records to be inadequate or inadequately or improperly kept or posted, the superintendent may employ experts to reconstruct, rewrite, post or balance them at the expense of the person being examined if such person has failed to maintain, complete or correct such records or accounting after the superintendent or examiner has given written notice and reasonable opportunity to do so.

E. Any individual giving false testimony or information as to any matter material to the examination with knowledge of such falsity, shall upon conviction thereof be guilty of a fourth degree felony and shall be punished by a fine not to exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000). Any individual who willfully refuses or fails to attend at the examination, or to produce books, records, accounts or files requested, or to give the superintendent or the examiner full and truthful information in writing in response to any written inquiry of the superintendent or examiner in regard to matters under examination, or to appear and testify under oath before the superintendent or examiner when so requested and given reasonable opportunity to do so, or who willfully obstructs or interferes with the superintendent or examiner in the conduct of the examination, shall upon conviction thereof be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each such offense.

F. Nothing contained in Chapter 59A, Article 4 NMSA 1978 shall be construed to limit the superintendent's authority to terminate or suspend any examination in order to pursue other legal or regulatory action pursuant to the insurance laws of this state. Findings and conclusions made pursuant to any examination shall be prima facie evidence in any legal or regulatory action.

G. Nothing contained in Chapter 59A, Article 4 NMSA 1978 shall be construed to limit the superintendent's authority to use and, if appropriate, to make public any final or preliminary examination report, any examiner or company workpapers or other documents or any other information discovered or developed during the course of any examination in the furtherance of any legal or regulatory action which the superintendent may, in his sole discretion, deem appropriate."

Section 6

Section 6. Section 59A-4-10 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 54, as amended) is amended to read:

"59A-4-10. EXAMINATION REPORT--DISTRIBUTION--CONFERENCE AND HEARING--ADOPTING.--

A. Upon completion of the examination and receipt of the examination report, the superintendent shall furnish two copies thereof to the person examined and shall allow the person a reasonable period, but not to exceed twenty days, within which to review the report and to file with the superintendent in writing requested corrections or modifications, with the reasons therefor. For good cause shown, the superintendent may grant reasonable extension of the review period.

B. As soon as reasonably possible after the superintendent's receipt of such request, the person examined shall confer with the superintendent and examiner relative to requested corrections and modification. If through such conference the report is acceptable to the person examined with such changes as the superintendent approves, the superintendent shall adopt the report as so changed. If the report is not acceptable, the superintendent shall hold a hearing with respect to the report and adopt the report with such changes as result with the superintendent's approval from the conference and hearing.

C. If no changes are requested, upon expiration of the period allowed by the superintendent for review of the report, the superintendent may adopt the report.

D. At any point prior to adoption of the examination report, the superintendent may reject the report with directions to the examiners to reopen the examination for purposes of obtaining additional data, documentation or information, and the examiner in charge shall subsequently report in accordance with Section 59A-4-9 NMSA 1978."

Section 7

Section 7. Section 59A-4-11 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 55) is amended to read:

"59A-4-11. EXAMINATION REPORT--FILING FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION--CONFIDENTIALITY.--

A. When the superintendent has adopted a report of examination he shall so notify the examinee in writing and file the report for public inspection in the insurance department. If deemed advisable the superintendent may, after adoption of the report, cause the results of the examination to be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the state. The superintendent shall expedite review and adoption of the report and cause it to be filed for public inspection as soon as reasonably possible.

B. Except as expressly otherwise provided, pending, during or after examination of any insurer or other person, the superintendent shall not make public, or permit to be made public, any financial statement, report or finding affecting the status, standing or rights of the insurer or person until after the report of examination has been adopted by the superintendent, and all working papers, recorded information, documents and copies thereof produced by, obtained by or disclosed to the superintendent or any other person in the course of an examination shall remain confidential, are not subject to subpoena and may not be made public by the superintendent or any other person, except to the extent permitted by Sections 59A-4-7 and 59A-4-13 NMSA 1978. The superintendent may grant access to the national association of insurance commissioners on condition that it agree in writing prior to receiving the information to accord it the same confidential treatment as required by this section, unless the prior written consent of the insurer or person to which it pertains has been obtained."

Section 8

Section 8. Section 59A-4-13 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 57) is amended to read:

"59A-4-13. EXAMINATION REPORT AS EVIDENCE--PROCEEDINGS DURING EXAMINATION.--

A. In any proceeding by or against the examinee or any officer or agent thereof the examination report as adopted by the superintendent shall be admissible as evidence of the facts stated therein, and shall constitute prima facie evidence of such facts.

B. Nothing contained in the Insurance Code shall prevent or be construed as prohibiting the superintendent from disclosing the content of an examination report, preliminary examination report or results, or any matter relating thereto, to the insurance department of this or any other state or country, or to law enforcement officials of this or any other state or agency of the federal government at any time, so long as such agency or office receiving the report or matters relating thereto agrees in writing to hold it confidential and in a manner consistent with Chapter 59A, Article 4 NMSA 1978.

C. In the event the superintendent determines that regulatory action is appropriate as a result of any examination, whether completed, adopted or not, he may initiate any proceedings or actions as provided by law, and the superintendent or examiners may testify and give evidence, including any evidence received by them during the course of the examination."

Section 9

Section 9. Section 59A-4-19 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 63) is amended to read:

"59A-4-19. TESTIMONY COMPELLED--IMMUNITY.--

A. If any individual refuses to attend or testify or to produce any books, papers, records, contracts, correspondence or other documents in connection with any examination, hearing or investigation on the ground that the testimony or evidence required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to penalty or forfeiture, and is nonetheless, upon written application by a prosecuting attorney, directed by a court of competent jurisdiction in a written order finding that the testimony, or the record, document or other object may be necessary to the public interest and that the person has refused or is likely to refuse to testify or to produce the record, document or other subject on the basis of his privilege against self-incrimination, to give such testimony or produce such evidence, he must comply with such direction; but no testimony so given or evidence produced shall be used against him upon any criminal action, investigation or proceedings. However, no such individual so testifying or producing evidence shall be exempt from:

(1) prosecution or punishment for any perjury committed by him in such testimony, and the testimony or evidence so given or produced shall be admissible against him upon any criminal action, investigation or proceeding concerning such perjury; or

(2) refusal, suspension or revocation of any license, permission or authority conferred pursuant to the Insurance Code.

B. Any such individual may execute, acknowledge and file in the offices of the superintendent and attorney general a statement expressly waiving such immunity or privilege in respect to any transaction, matter or thing specified in such statement, and thereupon the testimony of such individual or such evidence in relation to such transaction, matter or thing may be received or produced before any judge or court, tribunal, grand jury or otherwise; and if such testimony or evidence is so received or produced the individual shall not be entitled to any immunity or privileges on account of the testimony or evidence given or produced."

B. No cause of action shall arise nor shall any liability be imposed against any person for the act of communicating or delivering information or data to the superintendent or the superintendent's authorized representative or examiner pursuant to an examination made under Chapter 59A, Article 4 NMSA 1978, if such act of communication or delivery was performed in good faith and without fraudulent intent or the intent to deceive.

C. This section does not abrogate or modify in any way any common law or statutory privilege or immunity heretofore enjoyed by any person identified in Subsection A of this section.

D. A person identified in Subsection A of this section shall be entitled to an award of attorneys' fees and costs if he is the prevailing party in a civil cause of action for libel, slander or any other relevant tort arising out of activities in carrying out the provisions of Chapter 59A, Article 4 NMSA 1978 and the party bringing the action was not substantially justified in doing so. For purposes of this section a proceeding is "substantially justified" if it had a reasonable basis in law or fact at the time that it was initiated."

B. During the suspension period the insurer shall not solicit or write any new business in this state, but shall file its annual statement, pay fees, licenses and taxes as required under the Insurance Code, and may service its business already in force in this state, as if the certificate of authority had continued in full force. Upon failure of the insurer to continue its certificate of authority in accordance with this subsection, the insurer's certificate of authority shall be revoked.

C. If the suspension of the certificate of authority is for a fixed period of time and the certificate of authority has not been otherwise terminated, upon expiration of the suspension period, the insurer's certificate of authority shall automatically reinstate unless the superintendent finds that the insurer is not in compliance with the requirements of the Insurance Code.

D. If the suspension of the certificate of authority was until the occurrence of a specific event and the certificate of authority has not been otherwise terminated, upon the presentation of evidence satisfactory to the superintendent that the specific event has occurred, the insurer's certificate of authority shall be reinstated unless the superintendent finds that the insurer is otherwise not in compliance with the requirements of the Insurance Code. The superintendent shall promptly notify the insurer of such reinstatement, and the insurer shall not consider its certificate of authority reinstated until so notified by the superintendent. If satisfactory evidence as to the occurrence of the specific event has not been presented to the superintendent within two years of the date of the suspension, the certificate of authority shall be revoked.

E. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the superintendent from revoking a certificate of authority at any time upon any ground specified in the Insurance Code."

C. If the insurer's statement is in any language other than English or in monetary amounts other than United States dollars, the statement shall be accompanied by an English-language translation and monetary amounts shall be shown in United States dollars with statement of the basis upon and date as of which the monetary conversion was made.

D. The superintendent may suspend or revoke the certificate of authority of any insurer failing to file its annual statement when due.

E. At time of filing the insurer shall pay the fee for filing its annual statement with the superintendent as prescribed by Section 59A-6-1 NMSA 1978, and pay to the national association of insurance commissioners the fee established for filing, review or processing of the information, unless such fee has been disapproved by the superintendent.

F. In the absence of actual malice, members of national association of insurance commissioners, their duly authorized committees, subcommittees and task forces, their delegates, employees and all others charged by the superintendent or the national association of insurance commissioners with the responsibility of collecting, reviewing, analyzing and disseminating the information developed from the filing of the annual statement blanks shall be acting as agents of the superintendent under the authority of the Insurance Code and shall not be subject to civil liability for libel, slander or any other cause of action by virtue of their collection, review and analysis or dissemination of the data and information collected from the filings required hereunder.

(4) each property bondsman, as that person is defined in Section 59A-51-2 NMSA 1978, as to any consideration received as security or surety for a bail bond in connection with a judicial proceeding, which consideration shall be considered "gross premiums" for the purposes of this section; and

B. Each such taxpayer shall pay in accordance with this subsection three percent of the gross premiums and membership and policy fees received by it on insurance or contracts covering risks within this state during the preceding calendar year, less all return premiums, including dividends paid or credited to policyholders or contract holders and premiums received for reinsurance on New Mexico risks. For each calendar quarter, an estimated payment shall be made on April 15, July 15, October 15 and the following January 15. The final adjustment for payments due for the prior year shall be made with the return which shall be filed on April 15 of each year, at which time all taxes for that year are due. Dividends paid or credited to policyholders or contract holders and refunds, savings, savings coupons and similar returns or credits applied or credited to payment of premiums for existing, new or additional insurance shall, in the amount so used, constitute premiums subject to tax under this section for the year in which so applied or credited. E. Exempted from the tax imposed by Subsection B of this section are premiums attributable to insurance or contracts purchased by the state or any political subdivision and payments received by a health maintenance organization from the federal secretary of health and human services pursuant to a contract issued under the provisions of 42 U.S.C. Section 1395 mm(g)."

Services of process in any action against a person to recover the tax, fee or penalty may be made upon the superintendent as attorney for service of process as provided in Section 59A-5-32 NMSA 1978."

Section 17

Section 17. Section 59A-7-10 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 116) is amended to read:

"59A-7-10. LIMIT OF RISK.--

A. No insurer shall, other than as stated in this section, retain any risk on any one subject of insurance, whether located or to be performed in this state or elsewhere, in an amount exceeding ten percent of its surplus to policyholders.

B. No domestic Lloyds plan insurer shall retain any risk on any one subject of insurance in an amount in excess of ten percent of the sum of its surplus as to policyholders plus additional liability assumed by individual underwriters in the articles of agreement and policies or contracts of insurance.

C. No insurer shall retain as to title insurance risk on any one subject of insurance in an amount exceeding fifty percent of its surplus as to policyholders. If the insurer also transacts other kinds of insurance, its "surplus as to policyholders" for the purposes of this subsection shall be such reasonable proportion of the insurer's general surplus as to policyholders as may be allocated to title insurance in relation to premium income or other reasonable basis approved by the superintendent.

D. A "subject of insurance" for the purposes of this section means the following:

(1) as to insurance covering damage or loss of real or personal property, all real or personal property insured by an insurer which could reasonably be subject to loss or damage from the same occurrence of an insured hazard; and

(2) as to all other types of insurance, all policies issued by the same insurer applicable to a single insured exposure or occurrence.

E. Reinsurance ceded as authorized by Section 59A-7-11 NMSA 1978 shall be deducted in determining risk retained; but as to surety risks reinsurance shall be allowed as a deduction only if such reinsurance is with an insurer authorized to transact such insurance in this state, and is in such form as to enable the obligee or beneficiary to maintain an action thereon against he reinsured jointly with the reinsurer, and upon recovering judgment against the reinsured to have recovery against the reinsurer for payment to the extent in which it may be liable under such reinsurance and in discharge thereof. As to surety risks, deduction shall also be made of the amount assumed by any authorized cosurety and the value of any security deposited, pledged or held subject to the surety's consent and for the surety's protection.

F. As to alien insurers, this section relates only to risks and surplus to policyholders of the insurer's United States branch.

G. "Surplus as to policyholders" for the purposes of this section, in addition to the insurer's paid-in capital stock, if any, and surplus, includes also any voluntary reserves which are not required by law, and shall be determined from the last sworn financial statement of the insurer on file with the insurance department, or by the last report of examination of the insurer, whichever is the more recent at time of assumption of risk.

H. This section does not apply to life or health insurance, annuities, insurance of wet marine and transportation risks, workers' compensation insurance, or employers' liability coverages."

Section 18

Section 18. Section 59A-7-11 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 117) is amended to read:

"59A-7-11. REINSURANCE.--

A. An insurer may reinsure all or any part of a particular risk or of a particular class of risks in another insurer, or accept such reinsurance from another insurer. No domestic insurer shall so reinsure with an insurer not authorized to transact insurance in this state unless the unauthorized insurer is authorized to transact insurance in another state and conforms to the same standards of solvency as would be required if at the time such reinsurance is effected the reinsurer was so authorized in this state; or unless, in the case of a group of individual, unincorporated alien insurers, it has assets held in trust for the benefit of its United States policyholders in amount not less than one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000), and is authorized to transact insurance in at least one state; or unless with the superintendent's approval in advance. With the superintendent's approval, a domestic insurer may reinsure all or substantially all of its risks in another insurer, or similarly reinsure the risks of another insurer, as provided in Section 59A-34-40 NMSA 1978.

B. Credit for reinsurance shall be allowed as an asset or as a deduction from liability to any ceding insurer for reinsurance lawfully ceded only when the reinsurance is payable by the assuming insurer on the basis of the liability of the ceding insurer under the contracts reinsured without diminution because of the insolvency of the ceding insurer directly to the ceding insurer or to its domiciliary liquidator or receiver, except where the assuming insurer with the consent of the direct insured or insureds has assumed such policy obligations of the ceding insurer as direct obligations of the assuming insurer to the payees under such policies and in substitution for the obligations of the ceding insurer to such payees, and the reinsurer meets the requirements of Paragraph (1), (2), (3) or (4) of this subsection. If meeting the requirements of Paragraph (3) of this subsection, the requirements of Paragraph (5) of this subsection must also be met.

(1) Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer which is authorized to transact insurance or reinsurance in this state.

(2) Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer which is accredited as a reinsurer in this state. An accredited reinsurer is one which:

(a) files with the superintendent evidence of its submission to this state's jurisdiction;

(b) submits to this state's authority to examine its books and records;

(c) is licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in at least one state, or in the case of a United States branch of an alien assuming insurer is entered through and licensed to transact insurance or reinsurance in at least one state;

(d) files annually with the superintendent a copy of its annual statement filed with the insurance department of its state of domicile and a copy of its most recent audited financial statement; and either 1) maintains a surplus as regards policyholders in an amount which is not less than twenty million dollars ($20,000,000) and whose accreditation has not been denied by the superintendent within ninety days of its submission; or 2) maintains a surplus as regards policyholders in amount less than twenty million dollars ($20,000,000) and whose accreditation has been approved by the superintendent.

(e) No credit shall be allowed a ceding insurer, if the assuming insurer's accreditation has been revoked by the superintendent after notice and hearing.

(3) Credit shall be allowed when the following requirements are met:

(a) the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer which maintains a trust fund in a qualified United States financial institution, as defined in Paragraph (2) of Subsection D of this section, for the payment of the valid claims of its United States policyholders and ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest. The assuming insurer shall report annually to the superintendent information substantially the same as that required to be reported on the national association of insurance commissioners annual statement form by licensed insurers to enable the superintendent to determine the sufficiency of the trust fund. In the case of a single assuming insurer, the trust shall consist of a trusteed account representing the assuming insurer's liabilities attributable to business written in the United States, and, in addition, the assuming insurer shall maintain a trusteed surplus of not less than twenty million dollars ($20,000,000). In the case of a group of individual unincorporated underwriters, the trust shall consist of a trusteed account representing the group's liabilities attributable to business written in the United States and, in addition, the group shall maintain a trusteed surplus of which one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) shall be held jointly for the benefit of United States ceding insurers of any member of the group; and the group shall make available to the superintendent an annual certification of the solvency of each underwriter by the group's domiciliary regulator and its independent public accounts;

(b) in the case of a group of incorporated insurers under common administration which complies with the filing requirements contained in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, and which has continuously transacted an insurance business outside the United States for at least three years immediately prior to making application for accreditation, and submits to this state's authority to examine its books and records and bears the expense of the examination, and which has aggregate policyholders' surplus of ten billion dollars ($10,000,000,000); the trust shall be in an amount equal to the group's several liabilities attributable to business ceded by United States ceding insurers to any member of the group pursuant to reinsurance contracts issued in the name of such group; plus the group shall maintain a joint trusteed surplus of which one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) shall be held jointly and exclusively for the benefit of the United States ceding insurers of any member of the group as additional security for any such liabilities, and each member of the group shall make available to the superintendent an annual certification of the member's solvency by the member's domiciliary regulator and its independent public accountant;

(c) such trust shall be established in a form approved by the superintendent. The trust instrument shall provide that contested claims shall be valid and enforceable upon the final order of any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States. The trust shall vest legal title to its assets in the trustees of the trust for its United States policyholders and ceding insurers, their assigns and successors in interest. The trust and the assuming insurer shall be subject to examination as determined by the superintendent. The trust described herein must remain in effect for as long as the assuming insurer shall have outstanding obligations due under the reinsurance agreements subject to the trust; and

(d) no later than February 28 of each year the trustees of the trust shall report to the superintendent in writing setting forth the balance of the trust and listing the trust's investments at the preceding year end and shall certify the date of termination of the trust, if so planned, or certify that the trust shall not expire prior to the next following December 31.

(4) Credit shall be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of Paragraph (1), (2) or (3) of this subsection but only with respect to the insurance of risks located in jurisdictions where such reinsurance is required by applicable law or regulation of that jurisdiction.

(5) If the assuming insurer is not licensed or accredited to transact insurance or reinsurance in this state, the credit permitted by Paragraph (3) of this subsection shall not be allowed unless the assuming insurer agrees in the reinsurance agreements:

(a) that in the event of the failure of the assuming insurer to perform its obligations under the terms of the reinsurance agreement, the assuming insurer, at the request of the ceding insurer, shall submit to the jurisdiction of any court of competent jurisdiction in any state of the United States, will comply with all requirements necessary to give such court jurisdiction and will abide by the final decision of such court or of any appellate court in the event of an appeal; and

(b) to designate the superintendent or a designated attorney as its true and lawful attorney upon whom may be served any lawful process in any action, suit or proceeding instituted by or on behalf of the ceding company. This provision is not intended to conflict with or override the obligation of the parties to a reinsurance agreement to arbitrate their disputes, if such an obligation is created in the agreement.

C. A reduction from liability for the reinsurance ceded by an insurer to an assuming insurer not meeting the requirements of Subsection B of this section shall be allowed in an amount not exceeding the liabilities carried by the ceding insurer and such reduction shall be in the amount of funds held by or on behalf of the ceding insurer, including funds held in trust for the ceding insurer, under a reinsurance contract with such assuming insurer as security for the payment of obligations thereunder, if such security is held in the United States subject to withdrawal solely by, and under the exclusive control of, the ceding insurer; or, in the case of a trust, held in a qualified United States financial institution, as defined in Paragraph (2) of Subsection D. This security may be in the form of:

(1) cash;

Letters of credit meeting applicable standards of issuer acceptability as of the dates of their issuance or confirmation shall, notwithstanding the issuing or confirming institution's subsequent failure to meet applicable standards of issuer acceptability, continue to be acceptable as security until their expiration, extension, renewal, modification or amendment, whichever first occurs; or

(4) any other form of security acceptable to the superintendent.

D. A "qualified United States financial institution" means:

(1) for purposes of Paragraph (3) of Subsection C, an institution that:

(a) is organized or, in the case of a United States office of a foreign banking organization, licensed, under the laws of the United States or any state thereof;

(b) is regulated, supervised and examined by United States federal or state authorities having regulatory authority over banks and trust companies; and

(2) for purposes of those provisions of this section specifying those institutions that are eligible to act as a fiduciary of a trust, an institution that:

(a) is organized or, in the case of a United States branch or agency office of a foreign banking organization, licensed, under the laws of the United States or any state thereof and has been granted authority to operate with fiduciary powers; and

(b) is regulated, supervised and examined by federal or state authorities having regulatory authority over banks and trust companies.

E. No insurer shall accept reinsurance of risk of any kind of insurance it is not authorized to transact directly in this state, if an authorized insurer, or in another state if the insurer does not hold a certificate of authority in this state.

F. Upon the superintendent's request an insurer shall furnish the superintendent with copies of its reinsurance treaties then in effect, and promptly inform the superintendent in writing of cancellation or other material change in its reinsurance treaties or arrangements.

G. No person shall have any rights against the reinsurer which are not expressly stated in the reinsurance contract or in a written agreement between such person and the reinsurer.

H. This section does not apply to wet marine and transportation insurance."

Section 20

Section 20. Section 59A-8-5 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 122) is amended to read:

"59A-8-5. STANDARD VALUATION LAW, LIFE INSURANCE AND ANNUITIES.--

A. This subsection shall apply to only those policies and contracts issued prior to the operative date of Section 59A-20-31 NMSA 1978.

The legal minimum standard for valuation of life insurance contracts issued before the first day of January, 1926, shall be the method and basis of valuation heretofore applied by the insurer in the valuation of such contracts, and for life insurance contracts issued on or after this date shall be the American experience table of mortality, with interest at the rate of three and one-half percent a year; or any other basis not producing a lower net value; provided, however, that the insurer may provide for not more than one-year preliminary term insurance by incorporating in the contracts a clause plainly showing that the first year's insurance under such policies is term insurance.

Except as otherwise provided in Paragraphs (2), (3), (4) and (5) of Subsection B of this section and in Subsections C, D, and E of this section for group annuity and pure endowment contracts, the legal minimum standard for the valuation of annuities shall be the American experience table of mortality, with interest at the rate of five percent a year for group annuity and pure endowment contracts and four percent a year for other annuities.

(d) for group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies - the group annuity mortality table for 1951, any modification of such table approved by the superintendent, or, at the option of the insurer, any of the tables or modifications of tables specified for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

(e) for total and permanent disability benefits in or supplementary to ordinary policies or contracts: 1) for policies or contracts issued on or after January 1, 1966 the tables of period 2 disablement rates and the 1930 to 1950 termination rates of the 1952 disability study of the society of actuaries, with due regard to the type of benefit or any tables of disablement rates and termination rates, adopted after 1980 by the national association of insurance commissioners, that are approved by regulation promulgated by the superintendent for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such policies; 2) for policies or contracts issued on or after January 1, 1961 and prior to January 1, 1966 either such tables or, at the option of the insurer, the class (3) disability table (1926); and 3) for policies issued prior to January 1, 1961 the class (3) disability table (1926). (2) Except as provided in Paragraphs (3), (4) and (5) of this subsection and in Subsections C, D and E of this section, the minimum standard for the valuation of all individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued on or after the operative date of this paragraph, as defined herein, and for all annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after such operative date under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall be the commissioners reserve valuation methods defined in Paragraphs (1) and (2) of Subsection E of this section and the following tables and interest rates:

(a) for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued prior to July 1, 1977, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts, the 1971 individual annuity mortality table, or any modification of this table approved by the superintendent, and six percent interest for single premium immediate annuity contracts, and four percent interest for all other individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

(b) for individual single premium immediate annuity contracts issued on or after July 1, 1977, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts - the 1971 individual annuity mortality table, or any individual annuity mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the national association of insurance commissioners, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the superintendent for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such contracts, or any modification of these tables approved by the superintendent, and seven and one-half percent interest;

(c) for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued on or after July 1, 1977, other than single premium immediate annuity contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts - the 1971 individual annuity mortality table, or any individual annuity mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the national association of insurance commissioners, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the superintendent for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such contracts, or any modification of these tables approved by the superintendent, and five and one-half percent interest for single premium deferred annuity and pure endowment contracts and four and one-half percent interest for all other such individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

(d) for all annuities and pure endowments purchased prior to July 1, 1977, under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits purchased under such contracts - the 1971 group annuity mortality table, or any modification of this table approved by the superintendent, and six percent interest; and

(e) for all annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after July 1, 1977, under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits purchased under such contracts - the 1971 group annuity mortality table, or any group annuity mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the national association of insurance commissioners, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the superintendent for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such annuities and pure endowments, or any modification of this table approved by the superintendent, and seven and one-half percent interest.

(f) After July 1, 1973, any insurer may file with the superintendent a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this paragraph after a specified date before January 1, 1979, which shall be the operative date of this paragraph for such insurer, provided that an insurer may elect a different operative date for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts from that elected for group annuity and pure endowment contracts. If an insurer makes no such election, the operative date of this paragraph for such insurer shall be January 1, 1979.

(3) The interest rates used in determining the minimum standard for the valuation of:

(a) all life insurance policies issued in a particular calendar year, on or after the operative date of Subsection F of Section 59A-20-31 NMSA 1978;

(b) all individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued in a particular calendar year on or after January 1, 1982;

(c) all annuities and pure endowments purchased in a particular calendar year on or after January 1, 1982 under group annuity and pure endowment contracts; and

(d) the net increase, if any, in a particular calendar year after January 1, 1982, in amounts held under guaranteed interest contracts shall be the calendar year statutory valuation interest rates as defined in Paragraph (4) of this subsection.

(4) The calendar year statutory valuation interest rates shall be determined as follows and the results rounded to the nearest one-quarter of one percent:

(a) for life insurance,

$$I = .03 + W (R1 - .03) + W/2 (R2 - .09);$$

(b) for single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options,

$$I = .03 + W (R - .03)$$

where R1 is the lesser of R and .09, R2 is the greater of R and .09, R is the reference interest rate defined in Subsection D of this section, and W is the weighting factor defined in Subsection C of this section;

(c) for other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on an issue year basis, except as stated in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, the formula for life insurance stated in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph shall apply to annuities and guaranteed interest contracts with guarantee durations in excess of ten years and the formula for single premium immediate annuities stated in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph shall apply to annuities and guaranteed interest contracts with guarantee duration of ten years or less;

(d) for other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the formula for single premium immediate annuities stated in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph shall apply; and

(e) for other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a change in fund basis, the formula for single premium immediate annuities stated in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph shall apply.

(5) However, if the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for any life insurance policies issued in any calendar year determined without reference to this sentence differs from the corresponding actual rate for similar policies issued in the immediately preceding calendar year by less than one-half of one percent, the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for such life insurance policies shall be equal to the corresponding actual rate for the immediately preceding calendar year. For purposes of applying the immediately preceding sentence, the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for life insurance policies issued in a calendar year shall be determined for 1980 (using the reference interest rate defined for 1979) and shall be determined for each subsequent calendar year regardless of when Subsection F of Section 59A-20-31 NMSA 1978 becomes operative.

C. The weighting factors referred to in the formulas stated above are given in the following tables:

(1) Weighting Factors for Life Insurance:

Guarantee Duration (Years)	Weighting Factors
10 or less	.50
More than 10, but not more than 20	.45
More than 20	.35

For life insurance, the guarantee duration is the maximum number of years the life insurance can remain in force on a basis guaranteed in the policy or under options to convert to plans of life insurance with premium rates or nonforfeiture values or both which are guaranteed in the original policy;

(2) Weighting factor for single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options:

3) Weighting factors for other annuities and for guaranteed interest contracts, except as stated in Paragraph (2) of this subsection, shall be as specified in the tables set forth in Subparagraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this paragraph, according to the rules and definitions set forth in Subparagraphs (d), (e) and (f) of this paragraph:

(a) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on an issue year basis:

Guarantee Duration	Weighting Factor for Plan Type
(Years)	A	B	C
5 or less:	.80	.60	.50
More than 5, but not more than 10:	.75	.60	.50
More than 10, but not more than 20:	.65	.50	.45
More than 20:	.45	.35	.35

(b) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on a change in fund basis, the factors shown in the table set forth in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph incrased by:

Plan Type
.15	.25	.05

(c) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on an issue year basis (other than those with no cash settlement options) which do not guarantee interest on considerations received more than one year after issue or purchase and for annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on a change in fund basis which do not guarantee interest rates on considerations received more than twelve months beyond the valuation date, the factors shown in the table set forth in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph or derived as required in the table set forth in Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph increased by:

Plan Type

A B C

.05 .05 .05

(d) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, the guarantee duration is the number of years for which the contract guarantees interest rates in excess of the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for life insurance policies with guarantee duration in excess of twenty years. For other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the guarantee duration is the number of years from the date of issue or date of purchase to the date annuity benefits are scheduled to commence.

Plan Type A: At any time policyholder may withdraw funds only: with an adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurer; or without such adjustment but in installments over five years or more; or as an immediate life annuity; or no withdrawal permitted.

Plan Type B: Before expiration of the interest rate guarantee, policyholder may withdraw funds only: with an adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurer; or without such adjustment but in installments over five years or more; or no withdrawal permitted. At the end of interest rate guarantee, funds may be withdrawn without such adjustment in a single sum or installments over less than five years.

Plan Type C: Policyholder may withdraw funds before expiration of interest rate guarantee in a single sum or installments over less than five years either: without adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurer; or subject only to a fixed surrender charge stipulated in the contract as a percentage of the fund.

(f) An insurer may elect to value guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options and annuities with cash settlement options on either an issue year basis or on a change in fund basis. Guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options and other annuities with no cash settlement options must be valued on an issue year basis. As used in Subsections B, C and D of this section, an issue year basis of valuation refers to a valuation basis under which the interest rate used to determine the minimum valuation standard for the entire duration of the annuity or guaranteed interest contract is the calendar year valuation interest rate for the year of issue or year of purchase of the annuity or guaranteed interest contract, and the change in fund basis of valuation refers to a valuation basis under which the interest rate used to determine the minimum valuation standard applicable to each change in the fund held under the annuity or guaranteed interest contract is the calendar year valuation interest rate for the year of the change in the fund.

D. The reference interest rate referred to in Paragraph (4) of Subsection B of this section shall be defined as follows:

(1) for all life insurance, the lesser of the average over a period of thirty-six months and the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year next preceding the year of issue, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's investors service, incorporated;

(2) for single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or year of purchase, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's investors service, incorporated;

(3) for other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a year of issue basis, except as stated in Paragraph (2) of this subsection, with guarantee duration in excess of ten years, the lesser of the average over a period of thirty-six months and the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's investors service, incorporated;

(4) for other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a year of issue basis, except as stated in Paragraph (2) of this subsection, with guarantee duration of ten years or less, the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's investors service, incorporated;

(5) for other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's investors service, incorporated;

(6) for other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a change in fund basis, except as stated in Paragraph (2) of this subsection, the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of the change in the fund, of the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's investors service, incorporated; and

(7) in the event that the national association of insurance commissioners determines that the monthly average of the composite yield on seasoned corporate bonds, as published by Moody's investors service, incorporated is no longer appropriate for the determination of the reference interest rate, then an alternative method for determination of the reference interest rate, which is adopted by the national association of insurance commissioners and approved by regulation promulgated by the superintendent may be substituted.

E. The reserve valuation method shall be defined as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph and Paragraph (2) of this subsection, reserves according to the national association of insurance commissioners reserve valuation method, for the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums, shall be the excess, if any, of the present value, at the date of valuation, of such future guaranteed benefits provided for by such policies, over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor. The modified net premiums for any such policy shall be such uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for such benefits that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of such benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of Subparagraph (a) over Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph, as follows:

(a) a net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of such benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due; provided, however, that such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen-year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age of one year higher than the age at issue of such policy; and

(b) a net one-year term premium for such benefits provided for in the first policy year.

Provided that for any life insurance policy issued on or after January 1, 1985 for which the contract premium in the first policy year exceeds that of the second year and for which no comparable additional benefit is provided in the first year for such excess and which provides an endowment benefit or a cash surrender value or a combination thereof in an amount greater than such excess premium, the reserve according to the commissioners reserve valuation method as of any policy anniversary occurring on or before the assumed ending date defined herein as the first policy anniversary on which the sum of any endowment benefit and any cash surrender value then available is greater than such excess premium shall, except as otherwise provided in Subparagraph (e) of this paragraph, be the greater of the reserve as of such policy anniversary calculated as described previously in this paragraph and the reserve as of such policy anniversary calculated as previously described in this paragraph, but with: the value defined in Subparagraph (a) of this paragraph being reduced by fifteen percent of the amount of such excess first year premium; all present values of benefits and premiums being determined without reference to premiums or benefits provided for by the policy after the assumed ending date; the policy being assumed to mature on such date as an endowment; and the cash surrender value provided on such date being considered as an endowment benefit. In making the above comparison the mortality and interest bases stated in Paragraphs (1), (3), (4) and (5) of Subsection B of this section and in Subsections C and D of this section shall be used.

Reserves according to the commissioners reserve valuation method for: 1) life insurance policies providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums; 2) group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended; 3) disability and accidental death benefits in all policies and contracts; and 4) all other benefits, except life insurance and endowment benefits in life insurance policies and benefits provided by all other annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall be calculated by a method consistent with the principles of this paragraph, except that any extra premiums charged because of impairments or special hazards shall be disregarded in the determination of modified net premiums;

(c) in no event shall an insurer's aggregate reserves for all life insurance policies excluding disability and accidental death benefits, be less than the aggregate reserves calculated in accordance with the methods set forth in this paragraph and Paragraph (2) of this subsection and the mortality table or tables and rate or rates of interest used in calculating nonforfeiture benefits for such policies;

(d) reserves for any category of policies, contracts or benefits as established by the superintendent, may be calculated, at the option of the insurer, according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for such category than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided, but the rate or rates of interest used for policies and contracts, other than annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall not be higher than the corresponding rate or rates of interest used in calculating any nonforfeiture benefits provided for therein.

Any such insurer which at any time shall have adopted any standard of valuation producing greater aggregate reserves than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided may, with the approval of the superintendent, adopt any lower standard of valuation, but not lower than the minimum herein provided; but, for the purpose of this section, the holding of additional reserves previously determined by a qualified actuary to be necessary to render the opinion required by Section 59A-8-7 NMSA 1978 shall not be deemed to be the adoption of a higher standard of valuation;

(e) if in any contract year the gross premium charged by an insurer on any policy or contract is less than the valuation net premium for the policy or contract calculated by the method used in calculating the reserve thereon but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest, the minimum reserve required for such policy or contract shall be the greater of either the reserve calculated according to the mortality table, rate of interest, and method actually used for such policy or contract, or the reserve calculated by the method actually used for such policy or contract but using the minimum standards of mortality and rate of interest and replacing the valuation net premium by the actual gross premium in each contract year for which the valuation net premium exceeds the actual gross premium. The minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest referred to in this paragraph are those standards stated in Paragraphs (1), (3), (4) and (5) of Subsection B of this section.

Provided that for any life insurance policy issued on or after January 1, 1985 for which the gross premium in the first policy year exceeds that of the second year and for which no comparable additional benefit is provided in the first year for such excess and which provides an endowment benefit or a cash surrender value or a combination thereof in an amount greater than such excess premium, the foregoing provisions of Subparagraph (e) of this paragraph shall be applied as if the method actually used in calculating the reserve for such policy were the method previously described in this paragraph ignoring the unnumbered paragraph immediately following Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph. The minimum reserve at each policy anniversary of such a policy shall be the greater of the minimum reserve calculated in accordance with the method previously described in this paragraph, including the unnumbered paragraph immediately following Subparagraph (b), and the minimum reserve calculated in accordance with Subparagraph (e), of this paragraph; and

(f) in the case of any plan of life insurance which provides for future premium determination, the amounts of which are to be determined by the insurer based on then estimates of future experience, or in the case of any plan of life insurance or annuity which is of such a nature that the minimum reserves cannot be determined by the methods described in Paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection, the reserves which are held under any such plan must: 1) be appropriate in relation to the benefits and the pattern of premiums for that plan; and 2) be computed by a method which is consistent with the principles of this standard valuation law, as determined by regulations promulgated by the superintendent.

(2) This paragraph shall apply to all annuity and pure endowment contracts other than group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer (including a partnership or sole proprietorship) or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, as now or hereafter amended.

Reserves according to the commissioners annuity reserve method for benefits under annuity or pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts, shall be the greatest of the respective excesses of the present values, at the date of valuation, of the future guaranteed benefits, including guaranteed nonforfeiture benefits, provided for by such contracts at the end of each respective contract year, over the present value, at the date of valuation, of any future valuation considerations derived from future gross considerations, required by the terms of such contract, that become payable prior to the end of such respective contract year. The future guaranteed benefits shall be determined by using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate or rates, specified in such contracts for determining guaranteed benefits. The valuation considerations are the portions of the respective gross considerations applied under the terms of such contracts to determine nonforfeiture values."

Section 21

Section 21. Section 59A-8-6 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 123) is amended to read:

"59A-8-6. ANNUAL VALUATION--RESERVES.--

A. The superintendent shall annually value, or cause to be valued, the reserve liabilities (hereinafter called reserves) for all outstanding life insurance policies and annuity and pure endowment contracts of every life insurer authorized to do business in this state, except that as to an alien insurer the valuation shall be limited to its United States business. The superintendent may certify the amount of any such reserves, specifying the mortality table or tables, rate or rates of interest and methods (net level premium method or other) used in calculation of such reserves.

B. In calculating such reserves the superintendent may use group methods and approximate averages for fractions of a year or otherwise. In lieu of valuation of reserves herein required of a foreign or alien insurer, the superintendent may accept any valuation made, or caused to be made, by the insurance supervisory official of any state or other jurisdiction when such valuation complies with the minimum standard herein provided and if the official of such state or jurisdiction accepts as sufficient and valid for all legal purposes the certificate of valuation of the superintendent when such certificate states the valuation to have been made in a specified manner according to which the aggregate reserves would be at least as large as if they had been computed in the manner prescribed by the law of that state or jurisdiction.

C. The insurer may increase the standards of mortality in particular cases of invalid lives and other extra hazards.

D. For all health insurance policies the insurer shall maintain an active life reserve which shall place a sound value on its liabilities under such policies and be not less than the reserve according to appropriate standards set forth in regulations issued by the superintendent and in no event less in the aggregate than the pro rata gross unearned premiums for such policies.

E. In no event shall the aggregate reserves for all polices, contracts and benefits be less than the aggregate reserves determined by the qualified actuary to be necessary to render the opinion required by Section 59A-8-7 NMSA 1978."

The superintendent by regulation shall define the specifics of this opinion and add any other items deemed to be necessary to its scope.

C. Every life insurer, except as exempted by or pursuant to regulation, shall also annually include in the opinion required by Subsection B of this section, an opinion of the same qualified actuary as to whether the reserves and related actuarial items held in support of the policies and contracts specified by the superintendent by regulation, when considered in light of the assets held by the insurer with respect to the reserves and related actuarial items, including but not limited to the investment earnings on the assets and the considerations anticipated to be received and retained under the policies and contracts, make adequate provision for the insurer's obligations under the policies and contracts, including but not limited to the benefits under and expenses associated with the policies and contracts. The superintendent may provide by regulation for a transition period for establishing any higher reserves which the qualified actuary may deem necessary in order to render the opinion required by this section.

D. Every opinion required by Subsection C of this section shall be governed by the following provisions:

(1) a memorandum, in form and substance acceptable to the superintendent as specified by regulation, shall be prepared to support each actuarial opinion; and

(2) if the insurer fails to provide a supporting memorandum at the request of the superintendent determines that the supporting memorandum provided by the insurer fails to meet the standards prescribed by the regulations or is otherwise unacceptable to the superintendent, the superintendent may engage a qualified actuary at the expense of the insurer to review the opinion and the basis for the opinion and prepare such supporting memorandum as is required by the superintendent.

E. Every opinion required by this section shall be governed by the following provisions:

(1) the opinion shall be submitted with the annual statement reflecting the valuation of such reserve liabilities for each year ending on or after December 31, 1994;

(2) the opinion shall apply to all business in force, including individual and group health insurance plans in form and substance acceptable to the superintendent as specified by regulation;

(3) the opinion shall be based on standards adopted from time to time by the actuarial standards board and on such additional standards as the superintendent may by regulation prescribe;

(4) in the case of an opinion required to be submitted by a foreign or alien insurer, the superintendent may accept the opinion filed by that insurer with the insurance supervisory official of another state if the superintendent determines that the opinion reasonably meets the requirements applicable to an insurer domiciled in this state;

(5) for the purposes of this section, "qualified actuary" means a member in good standing of the American academy of actuaries who meets the requirements set forth in such regulations;

(6) except in cases of fraud or willful misconduct, the qualified actuary shall not be liable for damages to any person, other than the insurer and the superintendent, for any act, error, omission, decision or conduct with respect to the actuary's opinion;

(7) disciplinary action by the superintendent against the insurer or the qualified actuary shall be defined in regulations by the superintendent; and

(8) any memorandum in support of the opinion, and any other material provided by the insurer to the superintendent in connection therewith, shall be kept confidential by the superintendent and shall not be made public and shall not be subject to subpoena, other than for the purpose of defending an action seeking damages from any person by reason of any action required by this section or by regulations promulgated hereunder; provided, however, that the memorandum or other material may otherwise be released by the superintendent, with the written consent of the insurer, or to the American academy of actuaries upon request stating that the memorandum or other material is required for the purpose of professional disciplinary proceedings and setting forth procedures satisfactory to the superintendent for preserving the confidentiality of the memorandum or other material. D. If the alleged violator fails to comply with the superintendent's order after expiration of the twenty-day period to request a hearing referred to in Subsection A of this section or after hearing referred to in Subsection C of this section, the superintendent may cause an action for injunction to be filed in the district court of the county in which the violation occurred.

E. No order of the superintendent pursuant to this section or order of court to enforce it, shall in any way relieve or absolve any person affected by such order from any other liability, penalty or forfeiture applicable under law.

C. Any insured may in writing request the insurer to review the manner in which its filing has been applied as to insurance afforded him. If the insurer fails to make such review and grant appropriate relief within thirty days after such request is received, the insured may file a written complaint and request for a hearing with the superintendent, stating grounds relied upon. If the complaint charges a violation of the Insurance Code and the superintendent finds that the complaint was made in good faith and that the insured would be aggrieved if the violation is proved, he shall hold a hearing, with notice to the insured and insurer stating the grounds of complaint. If upon such hearing the superintendent finds the complaint justified, he shall order the insurer to correct the matter complained of within a reasonable time specified but not less than twenty days after a copy of his order was mailed to or served upon the insurer."

For urposes of this section and Section 59A-34-44 NMSA 1978, a material acquisition, or aggregate of any series of acquisitions during any thirty-day period, or disposition, or aggregate of any series of dispositions during any thirty-day period, is one that involves more than five percent of the reporting insurer's total admitted assets as reported in its most recent financial statement filed with the superintendent.

B. Asset acquisitions subject to the provisions of Section 59A-34-44 NMSA 1978 include every purchase, lease, exchange, merger, consolidation, succession or other acquisition other than the construction or development of real property by or for the reporting insurer or the acquisition of materials for such purpose. For purposes of this section, an insurer is deemed to have ceded substantially all of its direct and assumed business to a pool if the insurer has less than one million dollars ($1,000,000) of total direct plus assumed written premiums during a calendar year that are not subject to the pooling agreement or arrangement and the net income of the business not subject to the pooling agreement or arrangement represents less than five percent of the insurer's capital and surplus. A. No nonrenewal, cancellation or revision of a ceded reinsurance program need be reported pursuant to Section 59A-34-44 NMSA 1978 if the nonrenewal, cancellation or revision is not material. For purposes of this section and Section 59A-34-44 NMSA 1978, a material nonrenewal, cancellation or revision is one that, on an annualized basis as indicated in the insurer's most recently filed financial statement, affects more than fifty percent of an insurer's ceded written premium for property or casualty business, including accident and health business when written by a casualty insurer, or affects more than fifty percent of the total reserve credit taken for business ceded for life, annuity, or accident and health business written by an insurer other than a casualty insurer; but the transaction is not material if the insurer's ceded written premium or the total reserve credit taken for business ceded represents, on an annualized basis, less than ten percent of direct plus assumed written premium or ten percent of the statutory reserve requirement prior to any cession, respectively.

B. Notwithstanding the provisions of Subsection A of this section, and without regard to which part has initiated the nonrenewal, cancellation or revision of ceded reinsurance, a report is to be filed whenever:

(1) the entire cession has been canceled, nonrenewed or revised, and ceded indemnity and loss adjustment expense reserves after any nonrenewal, cancellation or revision represent less than fifty percent of the comparable reserves that would have been ceded had the nonrenewal, cancellation or revision not occurred;

(2) an authorized or accredited reinsurer has been replaced on an existing cession by an unauthorized or nonaccredited reinsurer; or

(3) previously established collateral requirements for unauthorized or nonaccredited reinsurers have been reduced or waived, either as to an existing reinsurer or reinsurers or to one or more reinsurers newly participating in an existing cession.

C. The following information is required to be disclosed in the report of a material nonrenewal, cancellation or revision of a ceded reinsurance program:

(1) the effective date of the nonrenewal, cancellation or revision;

(2) a description of the transaction with an identification of the initiator thereof;

(4) if applicable, the identity of the replacement reinsurers.

D. Insurers are required to report all material nonrenewals, cancellations or revisions of ceded reinsurance programs on a non-consolidated basis unless the insurer is part of a consolidated group of insurers which utilizes an intercompany pooling agreement or arrangement or a one hundred percent reinsurance agreement under which the ceding company has ceded substantially all of its direct and assumed business to a pool, and the group reports in accordance with Section 59A-34-44 NMSA 1978 on behalf of the members of the group on a consolidated basis. For purposes of this subsection an insurer is deemed to have ceded substantially all of its direct and assumed business to a pool if the insurer has less than one million dollars ($1,000,000) of total direct plus assumed written premiums during a calendar year that are not subject to the pooling agreement or arrangement and the net income of the business not subject to the pooling agreement or arrangement represents less than five percent of the insurer's capital and surplus. If a group of insurers reports on a consolidated basis as allowed by this subsection, the report shall identify every insurer that is a member of the group."

Section 71

Control shall be presumed to exist if any person, directly or indirectly, owns, controls, holds with the power to vote or holds ten or more percent of the voting securities of any other person. This presumption may be rebutted by a showing, in the manner provided by Section 59A-37-19 NMSA 1978, that control does not in fact exist. The superintendent may determine, after furnishing all persons in interest notice and an opportunity to be heard, that control exists in fact, notwithstanding the absence of a presumption to that effect, provided that the determination is based on specific findings of fact in its support;

D. "insurance holding company" is a person which controls an insurer; "insurance holding company system" means a combination of two or more affiliated persons, at least one of which is an insurer;

E. "insurer" means a person which undertakes, under contract, to indemnify a person against loss, damage or liability arising from an unknown or contingent future event. I. "voting security" means a certificate evidencing the ownership or indebtedness of a person, to which is attached a right to vote on the management or policymaking of that person and includes any security convertible into or evidencing a right to acquire such a voting security."

Section 72

Section 72. Section 59A-37-3 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 618) is repealed and a new Section 59A-37-3 NMSA 1978 is enacted to read:

"59A-37-3. SUBSIDIARIES OF INSURERS.--

(12) owning a corporation or corporations engaged or organized to engage exclusively in one or more of the businesses specified in this section.

B. In addition to investments in common stock, preferred stock, debt obligations and other securities permitted under all other sections of The Insurance Holding Company Law, a domestic insurer may also:

(1) invest, in common stock, preferred stock, debt obligations and other securities of one or more subsidiaries, amounts which do not exceed the lesser of ten percent of such insurer's assets or fifty percent of such insurer's surplus as regards policyholders, provided that after such investments, the insurer's surplus as regards policyholders shall be reasonable in relation to the insurer's outstanding liabilities and adequate to its financial needs. In calculating the amount of such investments, investments in domestic or foreign insurance subsidiaries shall be excluded, and there shall be included:

(a) total net monies or other consideration expended and obligations assumed in the acquisition or formation of a subsidiary, including all organizational expenses and contributions to capital and surplus of such subsidiary whether or not represented by the purchase of capital stock or issuance of other securities; and

(b) all amounts expended in acquiring additional common stock, preferred stock, debt obligations and other securities and all contributions to the capital or surplus, of a subsidiary subsequent to its acquisition or formation;

(2) invest any amount in common stock, preferred stock, debt obligations and other securities of one or more subsidiaries engaged or organized to engage exclusively in the ownership and management of assets authorized as investments for the insurer, provided that each such subsidiary agrees to limit its investments in any asset so that such investments will not cause the amount of the total investment of the insurer to exceed any of the investment limitations specified in Paragraph (1) of this subsection or in Chapter 59A, Article 9 NMSA 1978 applicable to the insurer. For the purpose of this paragraph, "the total investment of the insurer" shall include:

(a) any direct investment by the insurer in an asset; and

C. Investments in common stock, preferred stock, debt obligations or other securities of subsidiaries made pursuant to Subsection B of this section shall not be subject to the any of the otherwise applicable restrictions or prohibitions contained in the Insurance Code applicable to such investments of insurer.

D. Whether any investment pursuant to Subsection B of this section meets the applicable requirements thereof is to be determined before such investment is made, by calculating the applicable investment limitations as though the investment had already been made, taking into account the then outstanding principal balance on all previous investments in debt obligations, and the value of all previous investments in equity securities as of the day they were made, net of any return of capital invested, not including dividends.

E. If an insurer ceases to control a subsidiary, it shall dispose of any investment therein made pursuant to this section within three years from the time of the cessation of control or within such further time as the superintendent may prescribe, unless at any time after the investment shall have been made, the investment shall have met the requirements for investment under any other section of the Insurance Code, and the insurer has notified the superintendent thereof."

B. For the purposes of this section and Sections 59A-37-5 through 59A-37-10 NMSA 1978:

(1) after the change of control, the domestic insurer would not be able to satisfy the requirements for the issuance of a certificate of authority to write the line or lines of insurance for which it is presently authorized;

(2) the effect of the merger or other acquisition of control would be substantially to lessen competition in insurance in this state or tend to create a monopoly therein;

(3) the financial condition of any acquiring party is such as might jeopardize the financial stability of the insurer, or prejudice the interests of its policyholders or the interests of any remaining securityholders who are unaffiliated with the acquiring party;

(4) the plans or proposals which the acquiring party has to liquidate the insurer, sell its assets or consolidate or merge it with any other person, or to make any other material change in its business or corporate structure or management, are unfair and unreasonable to policyholders of the insurer and not in the public interest;

"59A-37-20. TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES.--

A. Transactions within a holding company system to which an insurer subject to registration is a party shall be subject to the following standards:

(1) the terms shall be fair and reasonable;

(2) charges or fees for services performed shall be reasonable;

(3) expenses incurred and payment received shall be allocated to the insurer in conformity with customary insurance accounting practices consistently applied;

(4) the books, accounts and records of each party to all such transactions shall be so maintained as to clearly and accurately disclose the nature and details of the transactions, including such accounting information as is necessary to support the reasonableness of the charges or fees to the respective parties; and

(5) the insurer's surplus as regards policyholders following any dividends or distributions to shareholder affiliates shall be reasonable in relation to the insurer's outstanding liabilities and adequate to its financial needs.

B. The following transactions involving a domestic insurer and any person in its holding company system may not be entered into unless the insurer has notified the superintendent in writing of its intention to enter into such transactions at least thirty days prior thereto, or such shorter period as the superintendent may permit, and the superintendent has not disapproved it within that period:

(1) sales, purchases, exchanges, loans or extensions of credit, guarantees or investments, provided the transactions are equal to or exceed:

(a) with respect to nonlife insurers, the lesser of three percent of the insurer's admitted assets or twenty-five percent of surplus as regards policyholders as of December 31 next preceding; or

(b) with respect to life insurers, three percent of the insurer's admitted assets as of December 31 next preceding;

(2) loans or extensions of credit to any person who is not an affiliate, where the insurer makes loans or extensions of credit with the agreement or understanding that the proceeds of the transactions, in whole or in substantial part, are to be used to make loans or extensions of credit to, to purchase assets of, or to make investments in, any affiliate of the insurer making the loans or extensions of credit, provided the transactions are equal to or exceed:

(a) with respect to nonlife insurers, the lesser of three percent of the insurer's admitted assets or twenty-five percent of surplus as regards policyholders as of December 31 next preceding; or

(b) with respect to life insurers, three percent of the insurer's admitted assets as of December 31 next preceding;

(3) reinsurance agreements or modifications thereto in which the reinsurance premium or a change in the insurer's liabilities equals or exceeds five percent of the insurer's surplus as regards policyholders, as of December 31 next preceding, including those agreements which may require as consideration the transfer of assets from an insurer to a non-affiliate, if an agreement or understanding exists between the insurer and non-affiliate that any portion of such assets will be transferred to one or more affiliates of the insurer;

(4) all management agreements, service contracts and all cost-sharing arrangements; and

(5) any material transactions, specified by regulation, which the superintendent determines may adversely affect the interests of the insurer's policyholders.

Nothing contained in this subsection shall be deemed to authorize or permit any transactions which, in the case of an insurer not a member of the same holding company system, would be otherwise contrary to law.

C. A domestic insurer may not enter into transactions which are part of a plan or series of like transactions with persons within the holding company system if the purpose of those separate transactions is to avoid the statutory threshold amount and thus avoid the review that would occur otherwise. If the superintendent determines that such separate transactions were entered into over any twelve-month period for that purpose, he may exercise his authority under Section 59A-37-26 NMSA 1978.

D. The superintendent, in reviewing transactions pursuant to Subsection B of this section, shall consider whether the transactions comply with the standards set forth in Subsection A of this section and whether they may adversely affect the interests of policyholders.

E. The superintendent shall be notified within thirty days of any investment of the domestic insurer in any one corporation if the total investment in such corporation by the insurance holding company system exceeds ten percent of the corporation's voting securities."

"59A-37-22. DIVIDENDS AND OTHER DISTRIBUTIONS.--

A. No domestic stock insurer shall declare or distribute any dividend to shareholders, other than a pro rata distribution of any class of the insurer's own securities, except out of earned surplus. For purposes of this section, "earned surplus" means the portion of the surplus that represents the net earnings, gains or profits, after deduction of all losses, that have not been distributed to the shareholders as dividends or transferred to stated capital or capital surplus or applied to other purposes permitted by law, but does not include twenty-five percent of the unrealized appreciation of assets.

B. No domestic insurer shall pay an extraordinary dividend or make any other extraordinary distribution to its shareholders until:

(1) thirty days after the superintendent has received notice of the declaration thereof and has not within such period disapproved such payment; or

(2) the superintendent shall have approved such payment within the thirty-day period.

C. For the purposes of Sections 59A-37-20 through 59A-37-22 NMSA 1978, an extraordinary dividend or distribution includes any dividend or distribution of cash or other property, whose fair market value together with that of other dividends or distributions made within the preceding twelve months exceeds the lesser of ten percent of the insurer's surplus as regards policyholders as of December 31 next preceding or the net gain from operations of the insurer, if the insurer is a life insurer, or the net investment income, if the insurer is not a life insurer, not including realized capital gains, for the twelve-month period ending December 31 next preceding, but shall not include pro rata distributions of any class of the insurer's own securities.

D. In determining whether a dividend or distribution is extraordinary:

(1) an insurer other than a life insurer may carry forward net income from the previous three calendar years that has not already been paid out as dividends, which carry-forward shall be computed by taking the net income from the second, third and fourth preceding calendar years, not including realized capital gains, less dividends paid in the third, second and immediate preceding calendar years; and

(2) a life insurer may carry forward net gains from operations not including realized capital gains from the previous two calendar years that have not already been paid out as dividends, which carry-forward shall be computed by taking the net gain from the second and third preceding calendar years, not including realized capital gains, less dividends paid in the second and immediate preceding calendar years.

E. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an insurer may declare an extraordinary dividend or distribution which is conditioned upon the superintendent's approval thereof, and such a declaration shall confer no rights upon shareholders until:

(1) the superintendent has approved the payment of the dividend or distribution; or

(2) the superintendent has not disapproved the payment within thirty days after he has received notice of the declaration."

Section 85

Section 85. Section 59A-37-23 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 638) is amended to read:

"59A-37-23. EXAMINATIONS.--

A. Pursuant to general powers of investigation and examination vested in the superintendent under Chapter 59A, Article 4 NMSA 1978, the superintendent may order any insurer registered under Section 59A-37-11 NMSA 1978 to produce such records, books or other information papers in the possession of the insurer or its affiliates as are necessary to ascertain the insurer's financial condition or its compliance with Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978. If the insurer fails to comply with the order the superintendent may examine its affiliates to obtain the information.

B. The examination shall be conducted and otherwise be subject to applicable provisions of Chapter 59A, Article 4 NMSA 1978."

Section 86

Section 86. Section 59A-37-25 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 640) is amended to read:

"59A-37-25. ENFORCEMENT--VOTING SECURITIES--CIVIL PROCEEDINGS.--

A. Whenever it appears to the superintendent that any insurer or any director, officer, employee or agent thereof has committed or is about to commit a violation of Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978 or of any rule, regulation or order of the superintendent hereunder, the superintendent may apply to the district court for the county in which the principal office of the insurer is located or, if such insurer has no such office in this state, then to the district court for Santa Fe county, for an order enjoining the insurer or the director, officer, employee or agent thereof from violating or continuing to violate that article or any rule, regulation or order, and for such other equitable relief as the nature of the case and the interest of the insurer's policyholders, creditors and shareholders or the public may require.

B. No security which is the subject of any agreement or arrangement regarding acquisition, or which is acquired or to be acquired, in contravention of the provisions of Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978 or of any rule, regulation or order of the superintendent hereunder may be voted at any shareholders' meeting, or may be counted for quorum purposes, and any action of shareholders requiring the affirmative vote of a percentage of shares may be taken as though such securities were not issued and outstanding; but no action taken at any such meeting shall be invalidated by the voting of such securities, unless the action would materially affect control of the insurer or unless the courts of this state have so ordered. If an insurer or the superintendent has reason to believe that any security of the insurer has been or is about to be acquired in contravention of the provisions of that article or of any rule, regulation or order of the superintendent hereunder, the insurer or the superintendent may apply to the district court for Santa Fe county or to the district court for the county in which the insurer has its principal place of business to enjoin any offer, request, invitation, agreement or acquisition made in contravention of Sections 59A-37-4 through 59A-37-10 NMSA 1978, or any rule, regulation or order of the superintendent thereunder, to enjoin the voting of any security so acquired, to void any vote of such security already cast at any meeting of shareholders, and for such other equitable relief as the nature of the case and the interests of the insurer's policyholders, creditors and shareholders or the public may require.

C. In any case where a person has acquired or is proposing to acquire any voting securities in violation of Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978 or any rule, regulation or order of the superintendent hereunder, the district court for the county in which the insurer has its principal place of business may, on such notice as the court deems appropriate, upon the application of the insurer or the superintendent, seize or sequester any voting securities of the insurer owned directly or indirectly by the person, and issue such orders with respect thereto as may be appropriate to effectuate the provisions of that article. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, for the purpose of that article, the situs of the ownership of the securities of domestic insurers shall be deemed to be in this state."

Section 87

Section 87. Section 59A-37-26 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 641) is amended to read:

"59A-37-26. ENFORCEMENT, CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS--ENALTY.--

A. Any insurer failing, without just cause, to file any registration statement as required in Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978 shall be required, after notice and hearing, to pay a penalty of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each day's delay, not to exceed a total penalty of ten thousand dollars ($10,000). The superintendent may reduce the penalty if the insurer demonstrates to the superintendent that the imposition of the penalty would constitute a financial hardship to the insurer.

B. Every director or officer of an insurance holding company system who knowingly violates, participates in, or assents to, or who knowingly permits any officer or agent of the insurer to engage in transactions or make investments which have not been properly reported or submitted pursuant to Section 59A-37-11 NMSA 1978, Subsection B of Section 59A-37-20 NMSA 1978, or Section 59A-37-22 NMSA 1978, or which violate Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978, shall pay, in their individual capacity, a penalty of not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per violation, after notice and hearing before the superintendent. In determining the amount of the penalty, the superintendent shall take into account the appropriateness of the penalty with respect to the gravity of the violation, the history of previous violations, and such other matters as justice may require.

C. Whenever it appears to the superintendent that any insurer subject to the provisions of Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978 or any director, officer, employee or agent thereof has engaged in any transaction or entered into a contract which is subject to the provisions of Sections59A-37-20 through 59A-37-22 NMSA 1978 and which would not have been approved had the approval been requested, the superintendent may order the insurer to cease and desist immediately any further activity under that transaction or contract. After notice and hearing the superintendent may also order the insurer to void any contracts and restore the status quo if the action is in the best interes of the policyholders, creditors or the public.

D. Whenever it appears to the superintendent that any insurer or any director, officer, employee or agent thereof has committed a willful violation of Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978, the superintendent may cause criminal proceedings to be instituted in the district court for the county in which the principal office of the insurer is located or if such insurer has no such office in the state, then in the district court for Santa Fe county against the insurer or the responsible director, officer, employee or agent thereof. Any insurer which willfully violates that article may be fined not more than twenty thousand dollars ($20,000). Any individual who willfully violates that article may be fined not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000).

E. Any officer, director, or employee of an insurance holding company system who willfully and knowingly subscribes to or makes or causes to be made any false statements or false reports or false filings with the intent to deceive the superintendent in the performance of his duties under Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978, upon conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned for not more than twenty years or fined not more than one million ($1,000,000), or both. Any fines imposed shall be paid by the officer, director or employee in his individual capacity."

Section 88

Section 88. Section 59A-37-27 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 642) is amended to read:

"59A-37-27. RECEIVERSHIP--RECOVERY OF DISTRIBUTIONS.--

A. Whenever it appears to the superintendent that any person has committed a violation of Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978 which so impairs the financial condition of a domestic insurer as to threaten insolvency or make the further transaction of business by it hazardous to its policyholders, creditors, shareholders or the public, then the superintendent may proceed as provided in Chapter 59A, Article 41 NMSA 1978, to take possession of the property of such domestic insurer and to conduct the business thereof.

B. If an order for liquidation or rehabilitation of a domestic insurer has been entered for any reason, the receiver appointed under such order shall have a right to recover on behalf of the insurer:

(1) from any parent corporation or holding company or person or affiliate who otherwise controlled the insurer, the amount of distributions, other than distributions of shares of the same class of stock, paid by the insurer on its capital stock;

(2) any payment in the form of a bonus, termination settlement or extraordinary lump-sum salary adjustment made by the insurer or its subsidiary to a director, officer or employee; or

(3) any payment on a surplus note entered into pursuant to Section 59A-34-23 NMSA 1978, where the distribution or payment pursuant to Paragraph (1), (2) or (3) of this subsection is made at any time during the two years preceding the petition for liquidation, conservation or rehabilitation, as the case may be, subject to the limitations of Subsections C, D, and E of this section.

C. No such distribution shall be recoverable if the parent or affiliate shows that when paid, the distribution was lawful and reasonable, and that the insurer did not know and could not reasonably have known that the distribution might adversely affect the ability of the insurer to fulfill its contractual obligations.

D. Any person who was a parent corporation or holding company or a person who otherwise controlled the insurer or affiliate at the time such distributions were paid shall be liable up to the amount of distributions or payments under Subsection B of this section which the person received. Any person who otherwise controlled the insurer at the time the distributions were declared shall be liable up to the amount of distributions he would have received if they had been paid immediately. If two or more persons are liable with respect to the same distributions, they shall be jointly and severally liable.

E. The maximum amount recoverable under this section shall be the amount needed in excess of all other available assets of the impaired or insolvent insurer to pay the contractual obligations of the impaired or insolvent insurer and to reimburse any guaranty associations.

F. To the extent that any person liable under Subsection D of this section is insolvent or otherwise fails to pay claims due from it pursuant to this section, its parent corporation or holding company or person who otherwise controlled it at the time the distribution was paid shall be liable for any resulting deficiency in the amount recovered from its subsidiary."

Section 89

Section 89. Section 59A-37-28 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 643) is amended to read:

"59A-37-28. SUSPENSION, REVOCATION, NONCONTINUANCE OF CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY.--Whenever it appears to the superintendent that any person has violated a provision of Chapter 59A, Article 37 NMSA 1978 which makes the continued operation of an insurer contrary to the interests of policyholders or the public, the superintendent may, after giving notice and an opportunity to be heard, suspend, revoke or refuse to continue the insurer's certificate of authority to do business in this state for such period as he finds necessary for protection of policyholders or the public. Any such order shall be accompanied by specific findings of fact and conclusions of law."

Section 90

Section 90. Section 59A-41-24 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 716) is amended to read:

"59A-41-24. HAZARDOUS FINANCIAL CONDITION, DETERMINATION.--

A. For the purposes of Sections 59A-41-25 and 59A-41-26 NMSA 1978, an insurer may be deemed to be in a hazardous financial condition when the superintendent has determined, after notice and hearing, that the loss experience of the insurer, when reviewed in conjunction with the kinds and characteristics of risks insured, or the insurer's financial condition, or its ownership, or the ratio of its annual premium volume in relation to its policyholders' surplus, would make further assumption of risks by the insurer hazardous to those persons doing business with the insurer or to the general public.

B. The following items may be considered by the superintendent to determine whether the continued operation of any insurer transacting an insurance business in this state is hazardous to the policyholders, creditors or the general public:

(1) findings reported in financial condition and market conduct examination reports;

(2) the national association of insurance commissioners insurance regulatory information system and its related reports;

(3) ratios of commission expense, general insurance expense, policy benefits and reserve increases to annual premium and net investment income;

(4) the value, liquidity or diversity of the insurer's asset portfolio when viewed in light of current economic conditions with regard to assuring the company's ability to meet its outstanding obligations as they mature;

(5) the adequacy, reliability and soundness of the insurer's reinsurance program as well as the financial condition of the assuming reinsurer and the ability of the assuming reinsurer to perform under its reinsurance agreements;

(6) the insurer's operating loss in the last twelve-month period or any shorter period of time, including net capital gain or loss, change in non-admitted assets, and cash dividends paid to shareholders, in comparison to such insurer's remaining surplus as regards policyholders in excess of the minimum required;

(7) whether any affiliate, subsidiary or reinsurer is insolvent, threatened with insolvency or delinquent in payment of its monetary or other obligation;

(8) contingent liabilities, pledges or guaranties which may affect the solvency of the insurer;

(9) whether any person having control of an insurer is delinquent in transmitting or paying net premiums to such insurer;

(10) the age and collectibility of receivables;

(11) whether the management of an insurer, including officers, directors or any other person who directly or indirectly controls the operation of such insurer, fails to possess and demonstrate the competence, fitness and reputation deemed necessary to serve the insurer in such position;

(12) whether management of an insurer has failed to respond to inquiries relative to the condition of the insurer or has furnished false or misleading information concerning an inquiry;

(13) whether management of an insurer has filed with any regulatory authority or released to lending institutions or to the general public any false or misleading financial statements, or has made a false or misleading entry or has omitted an entry of material amount in the books of the insurer;

(14) whether the insurer has grown so rapidly and to such an extent that it lacks adequate financial and administrative capacity to meet its obligations in a timely manner;

(15) whether the company has experienced or will experience in the foreseeable future cash flow or liquidity problems; or

(16) such other material information and data as the superintendent may deem relevant.

C. For the purposes of making a determination of an insurer's financial condition under this section, the superintendent may:

(1) disregard any credit or amount receivable resulting from transactions with a reinsurer which is insolvent, impaired or otherwise subject to a delinquency proceeding;

(2) make appropriate adjustments to asset values attributable to investments in or transactions with parents, subsidiaries or affiliates;

(3) refuse to recognize the stated value of accounts receivable if the ability to collect receivables is highly speculative in view of the age of the account or the financial condition of the debtor; or

(4) increase the insurer's liability in an amount equal to any contingent liability, pledge or guarantee not otherwise included if there is a substantial risk that the insurer will be called upon to meet the obligation undertaken within the next twelve-month period."

Section 91

Section 91. Section 59A-41-25 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 717) is amended to read:

"59A-41-25. REQUIREMENTS OF INSURER IN HAZARDOUS FINANCIAL CONDITION.--

A. Whenever he finds an insurer authorized to transact insurance in this state to be in hazardous financial condition, as referred to in Section 59A-41-24 NMSA 1978, the superintendent may order the insurer to take such action as he deems reasonably necessary to rectify the hazardous condition, including but not limited to one or more of the following measures:

(1) require the insurer to reduce the volume of new business being accepted to an amount, for the period of time, and in a manner prescribed in the superintendent's order;

(2) require submission of reinsurance contracts for approval and make such further requirements as to the insurer's reinsurance arrangements as the superintendent deems necessary;

(3) require the insurer to bulk-reinsure all or any part of its New Mexico business with another insurer authorized to transact such business in this state;

(4) require a contribution to the insurer's surplus on such terms, in such amount, and in such manner as the superintendent deems necessary;

(5) require the insurer to maintain with the superintendent a special eposit in cash or securities eligible for investment of funds of a like domestic insurer under Chapter 59A, Article 9 NMSA 1978 and in amount not less than the lesser of:

(a) the amounts required to be maintained as: 1) reserves for losses and loss adjustment expenses on New Mexico business; and 2) reserves for unearned premiums on New Mexico business. In determining the amount of deposit required, the reserves for losses, loss adjustment expenses and unearned premiums shall be reduced only for reinsurance ceded to authorized or accredited reinsurers which maintain with an independent custodian cash or marketable securities in amount not less than the sum of the reinsurer's reserves for losses, loss adjustment expenses and unearned premiums as to reinsurance assumed; or

(b) five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000). Any deposit required by this paragraph shall be for the protection and benefit only of New Mexico policyholders or claimants, or both, and shall not be withdrawn until the superintendent terminates the requirement of the deposit. This paragraph shall not apply as to any domestic insurer, and Subparagraph (b) of this paragraph shall not apply as to any life insurer;

(6) require the insurer to reduce general insurance and commission expenses by specified methods;

(7) require the insurer to suspend or limit the declaration and payment of dividends to its stockholders or to its policyholders;

(8) require the insurer to file reports in a form acceptable to the superintendent concerning the market value of an insurer's assets;

(9) require the insurer to limit or withdraw from certain investments or discontinue certain investment practices to the extent the superintendent deems necessary;

(10) require the insurer to document the adequacy of premium rates in relation to the risks insured; or

(11) require the insurer to file, in addition to regular annual statements, interim financial reports on the form adopted by the national association of insurance commissioners or on such format as required by the superintendent.

B. The insurer may request a hearing to review the order in accordance with Chapter 59A, Article 4 NMSA 1978; however, the superintendent shall give written notice of the hearing not less than ten days in advance of the hearing, and the hearing shall be held privately unless the insurer requests a public hearing, in which case the hearing shall be public."

Section 92

Section 92. Section 59A-41-41 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 733) is amended to read:

"59A-41-41. TIME TO FILE CLAIMS.--

A. If upon entry of an order of liquidation of a domestic insurer or United States branch of an alien insurer domiciled in this state under Chapter 59A, Article 41 NMSA 1978 or at any time thereafter during liquidation proceedings the insurer is not clearly solvent, the court shall, upon a hearing after such notice as it deems proper, make and enter an order adjudging the insurer to be insolvent.

B. After entry of order of insolvency and regardless of any prior notice given to creditors, the superintendent shall notify all persons who may have claims against the insurer to file such claims, at a place and within the time specified in the notice, or that such claims may be forever barred. The time specified in the notice shall be fixed by the court for filing of claims, which shall be not less than six months after entry of the order of insolvency. The notice shall be given in such manner and for such reasonable period of time as the court may order.

C. The liquidator may permit a claimant making a late filing to share in distributions, whether past or future, as if he were not late, to the extent that any such payment will not prejudice the orderly administration of the liquidation, under the following circumstances:

(1) the existence of the claim was not known to the claimant and the claim was filed as promptly thereafter as reasonably possible after learning of it;

(2) a transfer to a creditor was avoided under Sections 59A-41-42 through 59A-41-43.1 NMSA 1978, or was voluntarily surrendered under Section 59A-41-43.3 NMSA 1978 and the filing satisfies the conditions of Section 59A-41-43.3 NMSA 1978;

(3) the valuation of security held by a secured creditor shows a deficiency, which is filed within thirty days after the valuation and deficiency is determined by the court in accordance with the provisions of Subsection D of Section 59A-41-22 NMSA 1978; or

(4) the claim is from a guaranty association for reimbursement of covered claims paid or expenses incurred subsequent to the last day for filing where such payments were made and expenses incurred as provided by law."

Section 93

Section 93. Section 59A-41-43 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 735) is amended to read:

"59A-41-43. FRAUDULENT TRANSFER AFTER PETITION.--

A. After a petition for rehabilitation or liquidation has been filed a transfer of any of the real property of the insurer made to a person acting in good faith shall be valid against the receiver if made for a present fair equivalent value, or, if not made for a present fair equivalent value, then to the extent of the present consideration actually paid therefor, for which amount the transferee shall have a lien on the property so transferred. The commencement of a proceeding in rehabilitation or liquidation shall be constructive notice upon the recording of a copy of the petition for or order of rehabilitation or liquidation with the recorder of deeds in the county where any real property in question is located. The exercise by a court of the United States or any state or jurisdiction to authorize or effect a judicial sale of real property of the insurer within any county in any state shall not be impaired by the pendency of such a proceeding unless the copy is recorded in the county prior to the consummation of the judicial sale.

B. After a petition for rehabilitation or liquidation has been filed and before either the receiver takes possession of the property of the insurer or an order of rehabilitation or liquidation is granted:

(1) a transfer of any of the property of the insurer, other than real property, made to a person acting in good faith shall be valid against the receiver if made for a present fair equivalent value, or, if not made for a present fair equivalent value, then to the extent of the present consideration actually paid therefor, for which amount the transferee shall have a lien on the property so transferred;

(2) a person indebted to the insurer or holding property of the insurer may, if acting in good faith, pay the indebtedness or deliver the property, or any part thereof, to the insurer or upon his order, with the same effect as if the petition were not pending;

(3) a person having actual knowledge of the pending rehabilitation or liquidation shall be deemed not to act in good faith; and

(4) a person asserting the validity of a transfer under this section shall have the burden of proof. Except as elsewhere provided in this section, no transfer by or on behalf of the insurer after the date of the petition for liquidation by any person other than the liquidator shall be valid against the liquidator.

C. Nothing in Chapter 59A, Article 41 NMSA 1978 shall impair the negotiability of currency or negotiable instruments.

D. Nothing in this section shall be constructed to give authority to any person to act on behalf of a receiver."

Section 94

Section 94. A new section of the Insurance Code, Section 59A-41-43.1 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"59A-41-43.1. VOIDABLE PREFERENCES AND LIENS.--

(1) A preference is a transfer of any of the property of an insurer to or for the benefit of a creditor, for or on account of an antecedent debt, made or suffered by the insurer within one year before the filing of a successful petition for rehabilitation or liquidation under Chapter 59A, Article 41 NMSA 1978, the effect of which transfer may be to enable the creditor to obtain a greater percentage of this debt than another creditor of the same class would receive. If a liquidation order is entered while the insurer is already subject to a rehabilitation order, then such transfers shall be deemed preferences if made or suffered within one year before the filing of the petition for rehabilitation, or within two years before the filing of the petition for liquidation, whichever time is shorter.

(2) Any preference may be avoided by the rehabilitator or liquidator if:

(a) the insurer was insolvent at the time of the transfer;

(b) the transfer was made within four months before the filing of the petition;

(c) the creditor receiving it or to be benefited thereby or his agent acting with reference thereto had, at the time when the transfer was made, reasonable cause to believe that the insurer was insolvent or was about to become insolvent; or

(d) the creditor receiving it was an officer, or any employee or attorney or other person who was in fact in a position of comparable influence in the insurer to an officer, whether or not he held such position, or any shareholder holding directly or indirectly more than five percent of any class of any equity security issued by the insurer, or any other person, firm, corporation, association or aggregation of persons with whom the insurer did not deal at arm's length.

(3) Where the preference is voidable, the rehabilitator or liquidator may recover the property or, if it has been converted, its value from any person who has received or converted the property; except where a bona fide purchaser or lienor has given less than fair equivalent value, he shall have a lien upon the property to the extent of the consideration actually given by him. Where a preference by way of lien or security title is voidable, the court may on due notice order the lien or title to be preserved for the benefit of the estate, in which event the lien or title shall pass to the liquidator.

B.

(1) A transfer of property other than real property shall be deemed to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings on a simple contract could become superior to the rights of the transferee.

(2) A transfer of real property shall be deemed to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent bona fide purchaser from the insurer could obtain rights superior to the rights of the transferee.

(3) A transfer which creates an equitable lien shall not be deemed to be perfected if there are available means by which a legal lien could be created.

(4) A transfer not perfected prior to the filling of a petition for liquidation shall be deemed to be made immediately before the filing of the successful petition.

(5) The provisions of this subsection apply whether or not there are or were creditors who might have obtained liens or persons who might have become bona fide purchasers.

C.

(1) A lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings upon a simple contract is going one arising in the ordinary course of such proceedings upon the entry or docketing of a judgment or decree, or upon attachment, garnishment, execution, or like process, whether before, upon, or after judgment or decree and whether before or upon levy. It does not include liens which under applicable law are given a special priority over other liens which are prior in time.

(2) A lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings could become superior to the rights of a transferee, or a purchaser could obtain rights superior to the rights of transferee ithin the meaning of Subsection B of this section, if such consequences would follow only from the lien or purchase itself, or from the lien or purchase followed by any step wholly within the control of the respective lienholder or purchaser, with or without the aid of ministerial action by public officials. Such a lien could not, however, become superior and such a purchase could not create superior rights for the purpose of Subsection B of this section through any acts subsequent to the obtaining of such a lien or subsequent to such a purchase which require the agreement or concurrence of any third party or which require any further judicial action or ruling.

D. A transfer of property for or on account of a new and contemporaneous consideration which is deemed under Subsection B of this section to be made or suffered after the transfer because of delay in perfecting it does not thereby become a transfer for or on account of an antecedent debt if any acts required by the applicable law to be performed in order to perfect the transfer as against liens or bona fide purchasers' rights are performed within twenty-one days or any period expressly allowed by law, whichever is less. A transfer to secure a future loan, if such a loan is actually made, or a transfer which becomes security for a future loan, shall have the same effect as a transfer for on account of a new and contemporaneous consideration.

E. If any lien deemed voidable under Paragraph (2) of Subsection A of this section has been dissolved by the furnishing of a bond or other obligation, the surety on which has been indemnified directly or indirectly by the transfer of or the creation of a lien upon any property of an insurer before the filing of a petition under Chapter 59A, Article 41 NMSA 1978 which results in a liquidation order, the indemnifying transfer or lien shall also be deemed voidable.

F. The property affected by any lien deemed voidable under Subsections A and E of this section shall be discharged from such lien, and that property and any of the indemnifying property transferred to or for the benefit of a surety shall pass to the liquidator, except that the court may on due notice order any such lien to be preserved for the benefit of the estate and the court may direct that such conveyance be executed as may be proper or adequate to evidence the title of the liquidator.

G. The court before which the rehabilitation or liquidation proceeding is pending shall have summary jurisdiction of any proceeding by the liquidator to hear and determine the rights of any parties under this section. Reasonable notice of any hearing in the proceeding shall be given to all parties in interest, including the obligee of a releasing bond or other like obligation. Where an order is entered for the recovery of indemnifying property in kind or for the avoidance of an indemnifying lien, the court, upon application of any party in interest, shall in the same proceeding ascertain the value of the property or lien, and if the value is less than the amount for which the property is indemnity or less than the amount of the lien, the transferee or lienholder may elect to retain the property or lien upon payment of its value, as ascertained by the court, to the rehabilitator or liquidator, within such reasonable times as the court shall fix.

H. The liability of the surety under a releasing bond or other like obligation shall be discharged to the extent of the value of the indemnifying property recovered or the indemnifying lien nullified and avoided by the rehabilitator or liquidator, or where the property is retained under Subsection G of this section to the extent of the amount paid to the rehabilitator or liquidator.

I. If a creditor has been preferred, and afterward in good faith gives the insurer further credit without security of any kind, for property which becomes a part of the insurer's estate, the amount of the new credit remaining unpaid at the time of the petition may be set off against the preference which would otherwise be recoverable from him.

J. If an insurer shall, directly or indirectly, within four months before the filing of a successful petition for rehabilitation or liquidation under Chapter 59A, Article 41 NMSA 1978, or at any time in contemplation of a delinquency proceeding, pay money or transfer property to an attorney-at-law for services rendered or to be rendered, the transactions may be examined by the court on its own motion or shall be examined by the court on petition of the rehabilitator or liquidator and shall be held valid only to the extent of a reasonable amount to be determined by the court, and the excess may be recovered by the rehabilitator or liquidator for the benefits of the estate; provided that where the attorney is in a position of influence in the insurer or an affiliate thereof payment of any money or the transfer of any property to the attorney-at-law for services rendered or to be rendered shall be governed by the provisions of Subparagraph (d) of Paragraph (2) of Subsection A."

Section 95

Section 95. A new section of the Insurance Code, Section 59A-41-43.2 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"59A-41-43.2. LIABILITY FOR PARTICIPATION IN FRAUDULENT TRANSFER OR VOIDABLE PREFERENCE.--

A. Every officer, manager, employee, shareholder, member, subscriber, attorney or any other person acting on behalf of the insurer who knowingly participates in giving any preference or in any fraudulent transfer when he has reasonable cause to believe the insurer is or is about to become insolvent at the time of the preference or transfer shall be personally liable to the rehabilitator or liquidator for the amount of the preference or transfer. It shall be a rebuttable presumption that such was the case if the transfer was made within four months before the date of filing of a successful petition for rehabilitation or liquidation.

B. Every person receiving any property from the insurer or the benefit thereof as a voidable preference or as a fraudulent transfer shall be personally liable therefor and shall be bound to account to the rehabilitator or liquidator.

C. Nothing in this section shall prejudice any other claim by the rehabilitator or liquidator against any person."

Section 96

Section 96. A new section of the Insurance Code, Section 59A-41-43.3 NMSA 1978, is enacted to read:

"59A-41-43.3. CLAIMS OF HOLDERS OF VOID OR VOIDABLE RIGHTS.--

A. No claims of a creditor who has received or acquired a preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment or encumbrance voidable under Chapter 59A, Article 41 NMSA 1978 shall be allowed unless he surrenders the preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment or encumbrance. If the avoidance is effected by a proceeding in which a final judgment has been entered, the claim shall not be allowed unless the money is paid or the property is delivered to the rehabilitator or liquidator within thirty days from the date of the entering of the final judgment, except that the court having jurisdiction over the rehabilitation or liquidation may allow further time if there is an appeal or other continuation of the proceeding.

B. A claim allowable under Subsection A of this section by reason of the avoidance, whether voluntary or involuntary, or a preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment or encumbrance may be filed as an excused late filing under Section 59A-41-41 NMSA 1978 if filed within thirty days from the date of the avoidance, or within the further time allowed by the court under Subsection A of this section."

Section 97

Section 97. Section 59A-41-44 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 736) is amended to read:

"59A-41-44. PRIORITIES IN DISTRIBUTION.--The priority of claims and order of distribution of the insurer's assets on liquidation shall be as stated in this section. The first fifty dollars ($50.00) of the amount allowed on each property, casualty or fidelity claim in the classes under Subsections B through F of this section, shall be deducted from the claim and included in the class under Subsection I of this section. Claims may not be cumulated by assignment to avoid application of the fifty dollar ($50.00) deductible provision. Subject to the fifty dollar ($50.00) deduction, every claim in each class shall be paid in full or adequate funds retained for payment before the members of the next class receive any payment. No subclasses shall be established within any class. Subject to the foregoing, the order of distribution and of priority shall be as follows:

A. administration costs. The costs and expenses of administration, including but not limited to the actual and necessary costs of preserving or recovering the assets of the insurer, compensation for all services rendered in the liquidation, necessary filing fees, fees and mileage payable to witnesses, attorney's fees in reasonable amount and the reasonable expenses of a guaranty association for unallocated loss adjustment expense;

B. wages. Debts due to employees of the insurer for services performed, not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) to each employee, and earned within three months before commencement of delinquency proceedings. The insurer's officers shall not be entitled to the benefit of this priority. Such priority shall be in lieu of any other similar priority authorized by law as to wages or compensation of employees;

C. loss claims. All claims under policies or contracts for losses incurred, including third party claims and all claims of guaranty associations not specified in Subsection A of this section. That portion of any loss for which indemnification is provided by other benefits or advantages recovered or recoverable by the claimant shall not be included in this class, other than benefits or advantages recovered or recoverable in discharge of familial obligations of support or by way of succession at death or as proceeds of life insurance, or as gratuities. No payment made by an employer to his employee shall be treated as a gratuity;

D. unearned premiums. Claims under nonassessable policies for unearned premiums or other premium refunds;

E. residual classification. All other claims, including claims of the federal or any state or local government, not falling within other classes under this section. Claims, including those of any governmental body, for a penalty or forfeiture, shall be allowed in this class only to the extent of the pecuniary loss sustained from the act, transaction or proceeding out of which the penalty or forfeiture arose, with reasonable and actual costs occasioned thereby. The remainder of such claims shall be postponed to the class of claims under Subsection K of this section;

F. judgments. Claims based solely on judgments. If a claimant files a claim and bases it both on the judgment and on the underlying facts, the claim shall be considered by the liquidator, who shall give the judgment such weight as he deems appropriate. The claim as allowed shall receive the priority it would receive in absence of the judgment. If the judgment is larger than the allowance on the underlying claim, the remaining portion of the judgment shall be treated as if it were a claim based solely on a judgment, except that, to the extent such judgment was obtained through fraud or collusion, it shall be disallowed;

G. interest on claims already paid. Interest at the legal rate compounded annually on all claims in the classes under Subsections A through I of this section, from date of petition for liquidation or the date on which the claim becomes due, whichever is later, until the date on which the dividend is declared. The liquidator, with the court's approval, may make reasonable classifications of claims for purposes of computing interest, may make approximate computations and may ignore certain classifications and time periods as de minimis;

H. miscellaneous subordinated claims. The remaining claims or portions of claims not already paid, with interest as in Subsection G of this section:

(1) the first fifty dollars ($50.00) of each claim in the classes under Subsections B through F of this section, subordinated under this section;

(2) claims subordinated by Section 59A-41-45 NMSA 1978;

(3) claims filed late except as provided otherwise in Subsection C of Section 59A-41-41 NMSA 1978;

(4) portions of claims subordinated under Subsection E of this section;

(5) claims or portions of claims payment of which is provided by other benefits or advantages recovered or recoverable by the claimant; and

(6) claims not otherwise provided for in this section;

I. preferred ownership claims. Surplus or contribution notes, or similar obligations, and premium refunds on assessable policies. Interest at the legal rate shall be added to each claim, as in Subsections G and H of this section; and

J. proprietary claims. The claims of shareholders or other owners."

Section 98

Section 98. Section 59A-42-3 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1984, Chapter 127, Section 752) is amended to read:

"59A-42-4. DEFINITIONS.--As used in Chapter 59A, Article 42 NMSA 1978:

The association may make application to the court for reimbursement of such claims and expenses and upon proper application the court shall order appropriate disbursements to be made in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 59A, Article 41 NMSA 1978 in effect at the time the application is acted upon by the court.

Money in the fund shall be invested by the state treasurer as other state funds are invested. Any unexpended or unencumbered balance remaining in the fund at the end of any fiscal year shall not revert.

B. Money in the sole community provider fund is appropriated to the human services department to make sole community provider hospital payments pursuant to the state medicaid program. No sole community provider hospital payments or money in the sole community provider fund shall be used to supplant any general fund support for the state medicaid program.

C. Money in the sole community provider fund shall be remitted back to the individual counties from which it came if federal medicaid matching funds are not received for medicaid sole community provider hospital payments."

Section 19

Section 19. Section 27-10-2 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1991, Chapter 212, Section 2) is amended to read:

"27-10-2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.--

A. Access to health care reduces long-term medical and social costs. The effectiveness of statewide health care has been decreased by excessive fragmentation and failure to maximize the use of existing in-state revenues and to develop effective ways of drawing upon potential federal revenue sources. An effective statewide health care system must retain local health care efforts, stimulate local innovations for meeting particular health care needs and use existing resources to expand health care options, especially for those citizens unable to pay for their own care.

B. The purpose of the county-supported medicaid fund is to leverage existing resources to better address the state's health care needs. The county-supported medicaid fund will be used to accomplish this purpose by using local revenues to support the state medicaid program and to institute primary care health care services pursuant to Section 24-1A-3.1 NMSA 1978."

Section 20

Section 20. Section 27-10-3 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1991, Chapter 212, Section 3, as amended) is amended to read:

"27-10-3. COUNTY-SUPPORTED MEDICAID FUND CREATED--USE--APPROPRIATION BY THE LEGISLATURE.--

A. There is created in the state treasury the "county-supported medicaid fund". The fund shall be invested by the state treasurer as other state funds are invested. Income earned from investment of the fund shall be credited to the county-supported medicaid fund. The fund shall not revert in any fiscal year.

B. Money in the county-supported medicaid fund is subject to appropriation by the legislature to support the state medicaid program and to institute primary care health care services pursuant to Subsection E of Section 24-1A-3.1 NMSA 1978. Of the amount appropriated each year, nine percent shall be appropriated to the department of health to institute primary care health care services pursuant to Subsection E of Section 24-1A-3.1.

C. Up to three percent of the county-supported medicaid fund each year may be expended for administrative costs related to medicaid or developing new primary care health care centers or facilities.

D. In the event federal funds for medicaid are not received by New Mexico for any eighteen-month period, the unencumbered balance remaining in the county-supported medicaid fund and the sole community provider fund at the end of the fiscal year following the end of any eighteen-month period shall be paid within a reasonable time to each county for deposit in the county indigent hospital claims fund in proportion to the payments made by each county through tax revenues or transfers in the previous fiscal year as certified by the local government division of the department of finance and administration. The department will provide for budgeting and accounting of payments to the fund."

Section 21

Section 21. Section 27-10-4 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1991, Chapter 212, Section 4, as amended) is amended to read:

"27-10-4. ALTERNATIVE REVENUE SOURCE TO IMPOSITION OF COUNTY HEALTH CARE GROSS RECEIPTS TAX--TRANSFER TO COUNTY-SUPPORTED MEDICAID FUND.--

A. In the event a county does not enact an ordinance imposing a county health care gross receipts tax pursuant to Section 7-20D-3 NMSA 1978, the county shall, by ordinance to be effective July 1, 1993, dedicate to the county-supported medicaid fund an amount equal to a gross receipts tax rate of one-sixteenth of one percent applied to the taxable gross receipts reported during the prior fiscal year by persons engaging in business in the county. For purposes of this subsection, a county may use funds from any existing authorized revenue source of the county.

B. For each county that has in effect an ordinance enacted pursuant to Subsection A of this section on July 1 of each year, the taxation and revenue department shall certify to the county by September 15, 1993 and by September 15 of each subsequent fiscal year the amount of gross receipts reported for the county for purposes of the gross receipts tax during the prior fiscal year. Upon certification by the department, any county enacting an ordinance pursuant to Subsection A of this section shall transfer to the county-supported medicaid fund by the last day of March, June, September and December of each year an amount equal to a rate of one-sixty-fourth of one percent applied to the certified amount.

C. The requirements of an ordinance enacted pursuant to this section may be terminated for a county only on the effective date of an ordinance enacted by the county imposing the county health care gross receipts tax; provided that if the effective date of the ordinance imposing the tax is January 1, the termination does not apply to the payments required for September and December of that year."

Section 22

Section 22. EFFECTIVE DATE.--

A. The effective date of the provisions of Sections 3, 6, 10, 15, 16 and 18 of this act is the date that the human services department is notified in writing that the amendment to the state medicaid plan has been approved by the federal health care financing administration. Any order issued under this section may require such steps to be taken as may be necessary to avoid, correct or remove the imminent danger and prohibit the employment of any individual in locations or under conditions where the danger exists, except individuals whose presence is necessary to avoid, correct or remove such imminent danger or to maintain the capacity of a continuous process operation to resume normal operations without a complete cessation of operations or, where a cessation of operations is necessary, to permit such to be accomplished in a safe and orderly manner.

"50-9-16. VARIANCES--TEMPORARY VARIANCES.--

A. The department may grant an individual variance from any regulation adopted pursuant to the Occupational Health and Safety Act setting health or safety standards whenever it is found by a preponderance of the evidence that the conditions, practices, means, methods, operations or processes used by the petitioner will provide employment and places of employment to his employees which are as safe and healthful as those that would prevail if he complied with the existing regulation.

B. No variance shall be granted until the department has considered the relative interests of the petitioner, his employees and the general public. The order so issued shall describe the conditions the employer must maintain and the practices, means, methods, operations and procedures which he must adopt and utilize to the extent they differ from the regulation in question. The secretary may at any time on his own motion, or upon application by an employer or employee after six months have elapsed from the date of issuance of the order granting a variance, after a hearing, modify or revoke such order.

C. A petitioner for a variance shall file a petition with the department in the manner prescribed by regulation. The department shall give the affected employees prompt notice of the application for a variance and an opportunity to request a hearing. When properly filed, the secretary shall promptly investigate the petition and provide for the disposition thereof.

D. The department may grant the variance without hearing when no hearing has been requested by either employees or employer and if it deems that no substantial public interest is involved. If the department is opposed to the granting of the variance, then a hearing shall be held upon the request of the petitioner. A record shall be made of the hearing. In the hearing, the burden of proof shall be upon the petitioner.

E. Any employer may apply to the department for a temporary order granting a variance from a regulation promulgated under the Occupational Health and Safety Act by submitting a petition to the department in the manner prescribed by regulation. A temporary variance may be granted only if the employer establishes:

(1) that he is unable to comply with a regulation by its effective date because of unavailability of professional or technical personnel or of materials and equipment needed to come into compliance with the regulation or because necessary construction or alteration of facilities cannot be completed by the effective date;

(2) that he is taking all available steps to safeguard his employees against the hazards covered by the regulation; and

(3) that he has an effective program for coming into compliance with the regulation as quickly as practicable.

F. Any temporary order issued under this section shall prescribe the practices, means, methods, operations and processes which the employer must adopt and use while the order is in effect and state in detail his program for coming into compliance with the regulation. Such a temporary variance may be granted only after notice to employees and an opportunity for a hearing. Provided that the department may issue one interim order to be effective until a decision is made or a decision rendered if a hearing is requested. No temporary variance may be in effect for longer than the period needed by the employer to achieve compliance with the regulation or one year, whichever is shorter, except that such variance may be renewed not more than twice, so long as the requirements of this subsection are met and if an application for renewal is filed at least ninety days prior to the expiration date of the variance. No renewal of a temporary variance may remain in effect for longer than one hundred eighty days.

G. The department is authorized to grant a variance from any regulation whenever it determines that such a variance is necessary to an employer to participate in an experiment approved by the department designated to demonstrate or validate new and improved techniques to safeguard the health or safety of workers.

H. The department shall keep an appropriately indexed record of all variances granted under this section. The record shall be open for public inspection."

Section 15

Section 15. Section 50-9-17 NMSA 1978 (being Laws 1972, Chapter 63, Section 16, as amended) is amended to read:

"50-9-17. ENFORCEMENT.--

A. If as a result of investigation the department has good cause to believe that any employer is violating any provision of the Occupational Health and Safety Act or any regulation of the board, the department shall send prompt notice of the violation by certified mail to the employer believed to be in violation. The citation shall describe with particularity the provision of the Occupational Health and Safety Act or regulation alleged to have been violated.
The notice shall also state the time for abatement of the violation. Each citation issued pursuant to this section, or a copy thereof, shall be promptly and prominently posted by the cited employer, as prescribed in regulations issued by the board, at or near the place where the violation occurred. No citation may be issued under this section after the expiration of six months following the occurrence of any violation. The board may issue a regulation prescribing procedures for the use of a notice in lieu of a citation with respect to de minimis violations that have no direct or immediate relationship to safety or health.

B. If the department issues a citation under Subsection A of this section, it shall, within a reasonable time after issuance of the citation, notify the employer by certified mail of the penalty, if any, proposed to be assessed and that the employer has fifteen working days within which to notify the department in writing that he wishes to contest the citation or proposed penalty. If, within fifteen working days from the receipt of the notice issued by the department, the employer fails to notify the department that he intends to contest the citation or proposed penalty and no notice is filed by an employee or employee representative as provided by Subsection D of this section within such time, the citation and the assessment of penalty, if any, as proposed shall be deemed the final order of the commission and not subject to review by any court or agency.

C. If the department has reason to believe that an employer has failed to correct a violation for which a citation has been issued within the abatement period permitted, which period shall not begin to run until the entry of a final order by the commission in the case of any review proceedings under this section initiated by the employer in good faith and not solely for delay or avoidance of penalties, the department shall notify the employer by certified mail of such failure to correct and of the penalty proposed to be assessed by reason of such failure and that the employer has fifteen working days within which to notify the department in writing that he wishes to contest the department's notification or the proposed assessment of penalty. If, within fifteen working days from the receipt of notification issued by the department, the employer fails to notify the department that he intends to contest the notification or proposed assessment of penalty, the notification and assessment as proposed shall be deemed a final order of the commission and not subject to review by any court or department.

D. If any employer notifies the department in writing that he intends to contest the citation issued to him under Subsection A or notification issued under Subsection B or C of this section, or if, within fifteen working days of the receipt of notice under this section, any employee of an employer so cited or any such employee's representative files a notice with the department alleging that the period of time fixed in the citation for the abatement of the violation is unreasonable, the department shall provide prompt opportunity for informal administrative review. If the matter is not successfully resolved at the informal administrative review, the petitioner may request a hearing before the commission within fifteen days after the administrative review. The commission shall afford an opportunity for a hearing within thirty days after receipt of such petition. The commission shall thereafter issue an order, based on findings of fact, affirming, modifying or vacating the department's citation or the proposed penalty fixed by the department or directing other appropriate relief.

E. At any time prior to the expiration of an abatement period, an employer may notify the department in writing that he is unable to take the corrective action required within the period of abatement. The department shall provide prompt opportunity for informal administrative review. If the matter is not successfully resolved at the informal administrative review, the petitioner may request a hearing before the commission after the administrative review. The commission shall afford prompt opportunity for a hearing after receipt of such petition. The only grounds for modifying an abatement period under this subsection are a showing by the employer of a good-faith effort to comply with the abatement requirement of a citation and that abatement has not been completed because of factors beyond the employer's control.

F. Affected employees or their representatives shall be provided an opportunity to participate as parties at both informal administrative review and commission hearings under this section.

G. Any person, including the department, adversely affected by an order of the commission issued under this section may obtain a review of the order in the court of appeals by filing a notice of appeal in such court within thirty days after issuance of the commission's order. Every person who participated as a party in the proceeding before the commission shall be made a party to the appeal, but the commission shall not be deemed a real party in interest and shall not be so named. The findings of the commission with respect to questions of fact, as supported by substantial evidence, shall be conclusive. Upon appeal, the court may set aside action of the commission only if found to be:

(1) arbitrary, capricious or an abuse of discretion;

(2) not supported by substantial evidence; or

(3) beyond the scope of its legal authority."

If the purchaser no longer owns the security, he shall recover damages. Damages are the amount that would be recoverable upon a tender less the value of the security when the purchaser disposed of it and interest at the legal rate of this state from the date of disposition of the security. Tender requires only notice of willingness to exchange the security for the amount specified.

B. A person who offers or sells a security in violation of Subsection B of Section 58-13B-30 NMSA 1978 is not liable under Subsection A of this section if the purchaser knew that a statement of a material fact was untrue or that there was an omission of a statement of a material fact.

The person selling the security may sue to recover the security, plus any income received by the purchaser on the security upon tender of the consideration received, costs and reasonable attorneys' fees, or for damages if the purchaser no longer owns the security. Damages are the excess of the value of the security when the purchaser acquired it or disposed of it, whichever is greater, over the consideration paid for the security, plus interest at the legal rate from the date of disposition. Tender requires only notice of willingness to pay the amount specified in exchange for the security.

D. A person who purchases a security in violation of Subsection B of Section 58-13B-30 NMSA 1978 is not liable under Subsection C of this section if the seller knew that a statement of a material fact was untrue or that there was an omission of a statement of a material fact.

Damages are the difference between the price at which the securities were purchased or sold and the market value the securities would have had at the time of the person's purchases or sale in the absence of the act or transaction, plus interest at the legal rate of this state from the date of the act or transaction and reasonable attorneys' fees.

F. A person who directly or indirectly controls another person who is liable under Subsection A, B, C, D or E of this section, a partner, officer or director of the person liable, a person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions, any agent of the person liable, an employee of the person liable if the employee materially aids in the act, omission or transaction constituting the violation and a broker-dealer or sales representative who materially aids in the act, omission or transaction constituting the violation, are also liable jointly and severally with and to the same extent as the other person, but it is a defense that they did not know, and in the exercise of reasonable care could not have known, of the existence of the facts by which the liability exists. Contribution among the several persons liable is the same as in cases arising out of breach of contract.

G. The legal rate of interest as used in the New Mexico Securities Act of 1986 shall be the rate set by Subsection A of Section 56-8-4 NMSA 1978 or its successor statutes.

H. In any action brought pursuant to the New Mexico Securities Act of 1986, other than one brought by the state of New Mexico, if it appears to the court that the suit was groundless or brought for purposes of harassment, the plaintiffs may be liable for court costs and reasonable attorneys' fees incurred by the defendant." CHAPTER 333

RELATING TO RULES OF EVIDENCE OF THE DISTRICT COURT; PROVIDING FOR PROCEDURES TO DETERMINE COMPETENCY OF WITNESSES WITH MENTAL RETARDATION; ENACTING A NEW SECTION OF THE NMSA 1978.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

Section 1

Section 1. WITNESSES WITH MENTAL RETARDATION--COMPETENCY EVALUATION.--

A. As used in this section:

(1) "witness with mental retardation" means a witness in a proceeding whom the court has found after hearing, as provided in Subsection B of this section, to have mental retardation; and

(2) "mental retardation" means substantial limitations in present functioning characterized by significantly subaverage intellectual functioning, existing concurrently with related limitations in two or more of the following applicable skill areas: communication, self-care, home living, social skills, community use, self-direction, health and safety, functional academics, leisure and work.

B. In any judicial proceeding wherein a witness with mental retardation may or will testify, the court on its own motion or on motion of the proponent of the witness with mental retardation, and after hearing, may order the use of one of the alternative procedures for determining competency to testify or for taking the testimony of the witness with mental retardation described below, provided that the court finds at the time of the order, by a preponderance of the evidence in the case, that the witness with mental retardation is likely, as a result of submitting to usual procedures for determining competency or as a result of testifying in open court:

(1) to suffer unreasonable and unnecessary mental or emotional harm; or

(2) to suffer a temporary loss of or regression in cognitive or behavioral functioning or communicative abilities such that his ability to testify will be significantly impaired.

C. If the court orders the use of an alternative procedure pursuant to this section, the court shall make and enter specific findings on the record describing the reasons for such order.

D. A court that makes findings in accordance with Subsection B of this section may order any of the following suitable alternative procedures for determining the competency to testify or for taking the testimony of the witness with mental retardation:

(1) taking the testimony of the witness with mental retardation while permitting a person familiar to the witness such as a family member, clinician, counselor, social worker or friend to sit near or next to him;

(2) taking the testimony of the witness with mental retardation in court but off the witness stand;

(3) if the proceeding is a bench proceeding, taking the testimony of the witness with mental retardation in a setting familiar to the witness;

(4) if the proceeding is a jury trial, videotaping of testimony, out of the presence of the jury or in a location chosen by the court or by agreement of the parties; or

(5) the procedure set forth in Paragraph (1) in combination with Paragraph (2), (3) or (4) of this subsection.

E. Testimony taken by a videotape pursuant to an order under Subsection B of this section shall be taken in the presence of the judge, counsel for all parties and such other persons as the court may allow. Counsel shall be given the opportunity to examine, confront or cross-examine the witness with mental retardation to the same extent as would be permitted if ordinary procedures had been followed, subject to such protection of the mentally retarded witness as the judge deems necessary.

F. An order issued under Subsection B of this section that the testimony of the witness with mental retardation be videotaped out of the presence of the jury shall provide that the videotape be shown in court to the jury in the presence of the judge, the parties and the parties' counsel. At such courtroom showing, the audio portion of the video shall be entered into the record as would any oral testimony and shall be treated in all respects as oral testimony to the jury.

G. The videotape or giving of testimony taken by an alternative procedure pursuant to an order issued under Subsection B of this section shall be admissible as substantive evidence to the same extent as and in lieu of live testimony by the witness in any proceeding for which the order is issued or in any related proceeding against the same party when consistent with the interests of justice, provided that such an order is entered or re-entered based on current findings at the time when, or within a reasonable time before, the videotape or testimony is offered into evidence, and provided, in the case of a related criminal proceeding, that the requirements of Subsection E of this section were satisfied when the videotape was recorded or the alternative procedure was used.

H. Whenever, pursuant to an order issued under Subsection B of this section, testimony is recorded on videotape, the court shall ensure that:

(1) the recording equipment is capable of making an accurate recording and is operated by a competent operator;

(2) the recording is in color and is taken in well-lit conditions;

(3) the presence of the presiding judge, the attorneys, the defendant or parties, if in the room, and all other persons present is stated on the recording;

(4) the witness with mental retardation is visible at all times and, to the extent reasonably possible, the recording shows all persons present in the room as a jury would perceive them in open court;

(5) every voice on the recording is audible and identifiable;

(6) the recording is accurate, undistorted in picture or sound quality and has not been altered except as ordered by the court; and

(7) each party is afforded the opportunity to view the recording before it is shown in the courtroom.

I. The fact that the witness with mental retardation has been found in a court proceeding to be incompetent to make informed decisions of a personal, medical or financial nature, or is under a guardianship or conservatorship shall not preclude the witness from testifying if found competent to testify and, further, shall not preclude a determination of competency to testify.

J. The use of alternative procedures shall not be denied because they may take significantly more time than conventional procedures.

K. Expert opinion shall be admissible at any hearing held pursuant to this section, including hearings to determine the competency of a witness with mental retardation to testify.

L. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the court from using other appropriate means, consistent with this section and other laws and with the defendant's rights, to protect a witness with mental retardation from trauma during a court proceeding. HB 988

A tax imposed pursuant to this section shall be imposed by the enactment of one or more ordinances, each imposing any number of municipal gross receipts tax rate increments, but the total municipal gross receipts tax rate imposed by all ordinances shall not exceed an aggregate rate of one and one-fourth percent of the gross receipts of a person engaging in business. C. The governing body of a municipality may, at the time of enacting an ordinance imposing the tax authorized in Subsection A of this section, dedicate the revenue for a specific purpose or area of municipal government services, including but not limited to police protection, fire protection, public transportation or street repair and maintenance. If the governing body proposes to dedicate such revenue, the ordinance and, if any election is held, the ballot shall clearly state the purpose to which the revenue will be dedicated, and any revenue so dedicated shall be used by the municipality for that purpose unless a subsequent ordinance is adopted to change the purpose to which dedicated or to place the revenue in the general fund of the municipality.

(1) if the governing body chooses to provide in the ordinance that it shall not be effective until the ordinance is approved by the majority of the registered voters voting on the question at an election to be held pursuant to the provisions of a home-rule charter or on a date set by the governing body and pursuant to the provisions of the Municipal Election Code governing special elections; or

(2) if the ordinance does not contain a mandatory election provision as provided in Paragraph (1) of this subsection, upon the filing of a petition requesting such an election if the petition is filed:

G. Any municipality that has lawfully imposed by the requirements of the Special Municipal Gross Receipts Tax Act a rate of at least one-fourth of one percent shall be deemed to have imposed one-fourth of one percent municipal gross receipts tax pursuant to this section. Any rate of tax deemed to be imposed pursuant to this subsection shall continue to be dedicated to the payment of outstanding bonds issued by the municipality that pledged the tax revenues by ordinance until such time as the bonds are fully paid. A municipality may by ordinance change the purpose for any rate of tax deemed to be imposed at any time the revenues are not committed to payment of bonds.

H. Any law which imposes or authorizes the imposition of a municipal gross receipts tax or which affects the municipal gross receipts tax, or any law supplemental thereto or otherwise appertaining thereto, shall not be repealed or amended or otherwise directly or indirectly modified in such a manner as to impair adversely any outstanding revenue bonds which may be secured by a pledge of such municipal gross receipts tax unless such outstanding revenue bonds have been discharged in full or provision has been fully made therefor."

Section 3

Section 3. GENERAL PROVISIONS.--

A. Amounts set out under column headings are expressed in thousands of dollars.

B. Amounts set out under column headings "General Fund", "Internal Service Funds/Interagency Transfers" and "Other State Funds" are appropriated from the source indicated by the column heading. Amounts set out under the column heading "Federal Funds" are provided for information only and are not appropriations. All amounts designated as "Totals" are also provided for information and are not appropriations.

C. For the eighty-second fiscal year, appropriations are made as set out in Section 4 of the General Appropriation Act of 1993 from the general fund, internal service funds/interagency transfers or other state funds as indicated to state agencies named or for the purposes expressed, or so much as may be necessary, within available revenues and unencumbered balances.

D. Unencumbered balances in state agency accounts remaining at the end of the eighty-first and eighty-second fiscal years from appropriations made from the general fund shall revert to the general fund unless otherwise indicated in the General Appropriation Act of 1993 or otherwise provided by law. Unencumbered balances of revenues from sources other than the general fund remaining in state agency accounts at the end of the eighty-second fiscal year shall remain to the credit of the state agency, but shall not be expended unless appropriated by the legislature.

E. Expenditure of eighty-second fiscal year appropriations shall not exceed the amounts authorized in the General Appropriation Act of 1993. Expenditures shall be made only in accordance with budgets approved by the state budget division in accordance with the provisions of Section 6-3-7 NMSA 1978.

F. The state budget division shall monitor revenue received by state agencies from sources other than the general fund and shall order reductions in the operating budget of any state agency whose revenue from such sources is not meeting budgeted projections.

G. Except as otherwise specifically stated in the General Appropriation Act of 1993, appropriations are made in this act for the expenses of state agencies and for other purposes as required by existing law. If any other act of the forty-first legislature, first session, approved by the governor, changes existing law with regard to the name or responsibilities of a state agency or the name or purpose of a fund or distribution, the appropriation made in the General Appropriation Act of 1993 shall be transferred from the state agency, fund or distribution to which an appropriation has been made as required by existing law to the appropriate state agency, fund or distribution provided by the new law.

H. During the eighty-second fiscal year, the department of finance and administration shall prepare and present quarterly revenue estimates to the legislative finance committee. If at any time these revenue estimates indicate that the state will be in a deficit position, the department shall present a contingency plan that outlines the methods by which the administration intends to address the deficit.

I. Authorization for category transfers, division transfers and budget increases for the eighty-second fiscal year are specifically set forth in Section 4 of the General Appropriation Act of 1993.

J. The state budget division may approve budget increases for the eighty-second fiscal year for state agencies whose revenues from federal funds, from state board of finance loans, from revenues appropriated by acts of the legislatue or from gifts, donations, bequests, insurance settlements, refunds or payments into revolving funds which exceed specifically appropriated amounts. Such gifts, donations, bequests, insurance settlements, refunds and payments into revolving funds are appropriated. In approving a budget increase from federal funds, the director of the state budget division shall advise the legislative finance committee as to the source of the federal funds and the source and amount of any matching funds required.

K. For the eighty-second fiscal year, the number of permanent and term full-time equivalent positions specified for each agency shall be exceeded only in accordance with the provisions of the General Appropriation Act of 1993 unless additional personnel are authorized by other acts of the legislature. In case of an emergency or availability of federal funds, other state funds, internal service funds or interagency transfers that do not affect the general fund and in conjunction with the state personnel office or the agency's governing personnel office, the state budget division may approve additional term positions beyond the number specified in the General Appropriation Act of 1993 or other acts of the legislature. In approving such increases, the state budget division shall file with the legislative finance committee a written statement of the conditions under which the additional positions are approved, along with the duration of the emergency or availability of funds. The operating budget for each agency shall reflect the number of positions authorized by the legislature. It is not the intent of this provision to prohibit intraagency position transfers.

L. Eighty-second fiscal year compensation increases are included in appropriations contained in Section 4 of the General Appropriation Act of 1993 as follows:

(a) classified employees in agencies governed by the State Personnel Act shall receive a salary increase equivalent to three percent of the midpoint value of their salary range effective on the first full pay period after the anniversary date of their appointment to current class if their job performance has been at least satisfactory; this increase is intended to move employees within their assigned salary range in recognition of their increased skills and competency on the job; and no incumbent's salary may exceed the maximum of the salary range and incumbents whose salary falls at or above the range maximum on their anniversary date shall not be eligible for this increase; employees whose salaries are equal to or above their respective salary range maximum shall receive a one-time lump-sum payment equivalent to three percent of their salary range midpoint, subject to satisfactory job performance and effective the first full pay period following the employee's anniversary date. Under this provision lump-sum payments in combination with any increase to an employee's base salary, shall not exceed a total of three percent of the employee's salary range midpoint during the eighty-second fiscal year;

(b) all district attorney employees other than temporary employees, term employees and employees whose salaries are set by statute shall receive a salary increase equivalent to three and one-half percent of the midpoint value of their salary range effective on the anniversary date of their appointment to current class if their job performance has been evaluated as fully effective;

(c) all judicial employees other than temporary employees and employees whose salaries are set by statute shall be eligible for increases on their hire date in accordance with the judicial compensation plan provided that the average increase for all judicial employees shall not exceed three and one-half percent;

(d) state police officers shall progress on a career ladder as established by the state police career pay plan; and

(e) the appropriations in Subsections J and K of Section 4 of the General Appropriation Act of 1993 for higher education and public school support are sufficient to provide an average three and one-half percent cost-of-living salary increase for public school and higher education employees.

M. Except for gasoline credit cards used solely for operation of official vehicles, none of the appropriations contained in the General Appropriation Act of 1993 may be expended for payment of credit card invoices.

N. To prevent unnecessary spending, expenditures from the General Appropriation Act of 1993 for gasoline for state-owned vehicles at public gasoline service stations shall be made only for self-service gasoline; provided that an agency head may provide exceptions from the requirement to accommodate disabled persons or for other reasons the public interest may require.

O. The same appropriations with the same extensions and limitations as are indicated in the General Appropriation Act of 1993 for the eighty-second fiscal year shall continue every fiscal year subsequent to the eighty-second fiscal year unless otherwise provided by law. Laws 1992, Chapter 94, Section 4 is repealed effective July 1, 1993.
